No Relationship to Violation (NRV)

Where a work permit is being sought by a tenant/lessee or an owner for a commercial space that neither addresses the existing work without a permit violation, nor is connected to the violation in any way. The permit being sought must be to the benefit of an occupant not sited in the notice of violation. For residential spaces this applies only to condominium or residential cooperative owners for work inside individual units where the notice of violation was issued for a shared common space.
