Dear Bushwick Residents:

L Train - NO SERVICE AT THE WILSON AVENUE STATION from Monday, April 18, 2016 to Tuesday May 31, 2016.

In October 2014 the MTA NYC Transit's construction project was presented to Community Board #4.

The L Wilson Avenue Station was completed in 1928. The ongoing station project will restore the exterior façade of the station entrance based on historic photographs and original drawings for the station design, including the replacement and installation of doors and windows. The interior finishes of the station entrance will be repaired and replicated where missing. An ADA ramp will provide access to the station for the Manhattan-bound platform.

During the period of Monday April 18, 2016 to Tuesday May 31, 2016 the L train will not stop at the Wilson Avenue Station in either direction.

A loop shuttle bus will operate continuously between the Wilson Avenue and Broadway Junction stations, stopping at the Bushwick-Avenue-Aberdeen Street L Station as well. This fare-free shuttle bus will operate every 5 minutes from 7:00AM to 9:00PM every day and every 10 minutes at other times.

Once normal train service is restored to the Wilson Avenue station, customers will be able to safely access the station. However, work at the station will continue until the summer of 2016.

Notices will be posted at the Wilson Avenue station and along the L lines in order to inform customers of this service plan.

Visit www.mta.info for any additional changes to service.
