INVOCATION

The Invocation was delivered by Rev. Dr. Jacques Andre DeGraff, Associate Pastor, Canaan Baptist Church, 132 W. 116th St. N.Y. 10026.

To some you are the Creator; to others you are my higher power, but I come in the tradition of the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob on this afternoon and we bow our heads and incline our ears and hearts to you just to say thank you, thank you for this opportunity to serve in the great chamber of the greatest city in the world.

We are reminded of the song that was sung by a young singer who said, "He's got the whole world in his hands."
And on this day, as we face danger in Times Square, we are reminded of the dangers of being a democratic body in a mean and sin-sick world.

We as, Father God, that you would consider the men and women who serve here, remember who they are and where they came from and remind them of what they came to do.

Father God, we too want to salute and to recognize those whose careers in this room are winding down; we appreciate their sacrifice and their service and their contributions.

And while you're passing out blessings, Father God, we pause for one more request and that is, in the tradition of this body, it has been more about deliberation and consideration; it has also been about setting example; not just for New York; not just for the nation, but for the world that watches what we say and do in this room, and in that tradition we have always been barrier-breakers and precedent-setters and so we looked to Astoria at a time for leadership and saw an Italo-American from Astoria, and then looked at Chelsea for leadership and we saw an Irish-American gay person for leadership; we looked at East Harlem and found a Latina, a voice and a vibrant leadership and so now those who once sat in the back of the bus are looking for a coalition of courage that might join together to provide new leadership in 2018.

But Father God, whatever you do and however you do it, we ask that you would bless this place with the sunshine of harmony and the melody of justice, empower each person under the sound of my voice to remember whose they are why they're here.

We know that as they do these things I am convinced and convicted that the best is yet to come.

God bless you and may God bless America.
Council Member Perkins moved to spread the Invocation in full upon the record.

During the Communication from the Speaker segment of this Meeting, the Speaker (Council Member Mark-Viverito) asked for a Moment of Silence in memory of the following individuals:

Maurice “Mickey” Carroll, New York political reporter and pollster, died on December 6, 2017 at the age of 86. The Speaker (Council Member Mark-Viverito) noted that he was not only a renowned figure in local politics and journalism but he was also a mentor to many at City Hall.

James F. Hanley, long-time commissioner of the city’s Office of Labor Relations, died on December 6, 2017 at the age of 69. The Speaker (Council Member Mark-Viverito) called him a fearless leader and an extraordinary public servant who proudly represented the hardworking laborers of New York City.

Also during the Communication from the Speaker segment of this Meeting, the Speaker (Council Member Mark-Viverito) mentioned the explosion at the Port Authority Bus Terminal that took place earlier in the day. She thanked the first responders at the scene for saving lives through their quick action. The Speaker (Council Member Mark-Viverito) expressed her gratitude for their commitment and professionalism.

ADOPTION OF THE MINUTES

On behalf of Council Member Cabrera, the Public Advocate (Ms. James) moved that the Minutes of the Stated Meeting of October 31, 2017 be adopted as printed.

Report of the Committee on Civil Rights

Report for Int. No. 1186-A

Report of the Committee on Civil Rights in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to amending the definitions of sexual orientation and gender in the New York City human rights law.

The Committee on Civil Rights, to which the annexed amended proposed local law was referred on May 25, 2016 (Minutes, page 1472), respectfully

REPORTS:

I. Introduction

Today, the Committee on Civil Rights, chaired by Council Member Darlene Mealy, will hold a hearing on Proposed Introduction No. 1186-A (“Int. 1186-A,”) a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to amending the definitions of sexual orientation and gender in the New York City human rights law. Int. 1186 was originally heard at a hearing of this committee on June 19, 2017, at which the Committee received testimony from representatives of the New York City Commission on Human Rights, and various advocates, stakeholders, and members of the public.

I. Background

Since the definitions of sexual orientation and gender in the City’s human rights law were drafted, society’s understanding of sexual orientation, gender, and gender identity has evolved. According to the American Psychological Association, “research over several decades has demonstrated that sexual orientation ranges along a continuum, from exclusive attraction to the other sex to exclusive attraction to the same sex.” Moreover, new research has challenged the common assumption that every individual possesses some type or category of sexual attraction. Asexuality is an emerging identity category, and one prominent study has suggested that up to one percent of the population reports feeling no sexual attraction to others.

Int. 1186-A would update the language in the Human Rights Law, to better capture the current understanding of sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression.

Analysis of Legislation

Section one of Int. 1186-A amends subdivision 20 of section 8-102 of the Administrative Code, which defines certain terms used in the Human Rights Law, by amending the definitions for the terms “sexual orientation” and “gender.”

Int. 1186-A would take effect 120 days after it becomes law.

II. Conclusion

The Committee looks forward to discussing the aforementioned proposed legislation, which relates to issues of vital importance to the rights of New Yorkers.

PROPOSED INTRO. NO.: 1186-A

COMMITTEE: Civil Rights

TITLE: A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to amending the definitions of sexual orientation and gender in the New York City Human Rights Law.

Sponsor: By Council Members Dromm, Chin, Mendez, Johnson, Vacca, Menchaca, Torres and Rodriguez.

SUMMARY OF LEGISLATION: Proposed Int. No. 1186-A would amend the definition of sexual orientation in New York City’s Human Rights Law (Human Rights Law) to include an individual’s actual or perceived romantic, physical or sexual attraction to other persons, or lack thereof, on the basis of gender. The definition would additionally establish that a continuum of sexual orientation exists and includes, but is not limited to, asexuality and pansexuality (in addition to heterosexuality, bisexuality and homosexuality). In addition, the definition of gender in the Human Rights Law would be expanded to include a person’s actual or perceived gender identity and gender expression, including a person’s actual or perceived gender-related, self-image, appearance, behavior or expression, or other gender-related characteristics, regardless of that person’s assigned sex at birth.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This local law would take effect 120 days after enactment.

Report of the Committee on Contracts

Report for Int. No. 752-C

Report of the Committee on Contracts in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to information regarding the workforce for certain construction projects.

The Committee on Contracts, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on April 16,
2015 (Minutes, page 1292), respectfully

REPORTS:

I. INTRODUCTION

On December 7, 2017 the Committee on Contracts, chaired by Council Member Helen Rosenthal, will vote on Proposed Introduction Number 752-C (Proposed Int. No. 752-C), a local law amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to information regarding the workforce for certain construction projects. Proposed Int. 752-C was previously heard by the Committee on September 13, 2017. At that hearing the Committee received testimony from the Mayor’s Office of Contract Services (MOCS), the Department of Small Business Services, advocates, and interested members of the public.

II. BACKGROUND

New York City is home to thousands of small businesses, including a significant number owned by minorities and women. According to the U.S. Small Business Administration, there has been a 31.9% increase in minority business ownership in New York State in recent years,1 with much of this increase driven by businesses in New York City. Despite the large presence of M/WBEs in the City, these businesses have traditionally struggled with participation in the City contracting process.

The City’s M/WBE program was originally established following a 1989 voter referendum approving the establishment of a program to assist M/WBEs.2 Pursuant to this referendum, in 1991, the Council enacted Local Law 61, which in part created the Division of Economic and Financial Opportunity within SBS, and authorized the Division to create an M/WBE program.3 The City rules for the program provided that it would expire on June 30, 1998, unless the SBS Commissioner extended the program based on a finding that a continuation was necessary to address the impact of discrimination on opportunities for certified M/WBEs.4

2 Pursuant to City of Richmond v. J.A. Croson Company, 488 U.S. 469 (1989), a United States Supreme Court case, a municipality may only create a race-based program if it demonstrates historical and societal discrimination against minority businesses.
4 Mason Tillman Associates, Ltd., City of New York Disparity Study 11-3 (Jan. 2005), available at
After six years, the program expired in June 1998 as the City failed to conduct the required disparity study to determine the program’s continued necessity.\(^5\)

Despite the appropriation of funds by the Council for a new disparity study in 2000, 2001, and 2002, no study was conducted.\(^6\) Finally, in 2003, Medgar Evers College-CUNY was contracted to conduct a new study, which it commissioned from Mason Tillman Associates.\(^7\) Specifically, the study would examine the City’s procurement from 1997 to 2002 and determine whether a disparity existed between the availability of qualified M/WBEs and the utilization of M/WBEs in procurement during this time period.\(^8\) Released in January 2005, the study revealed significant demographic disparities among the business owners with whom the City contracts for purposes of receiving various goods and services. The study revealed that the City contracts with M/WBEs at drastically lower rates than businesses not owned by women or minorities.\(^9\) Further, the study examined the number of M/WBEs that operate in the city compared to their rates of procurement of government contracts and found substantial underutilization.\(^10\) The study revealed that M/WBEs were underutilized in the awarding of both prime contracts and subcontracts.\(^11\)

Accordingly, that same year, the Council passed Local Law 129 of 2005, which re-established the City’s M/WBE program.\(^12\) The M/WBE program was designed to “address the impact of discrimination on the city's procurement process, and to promote the public interest in avoiding fraud and favoritism in the procurement process, increasing competition for city business, and lowering contract costs.”\(^13\) Local Law 129 set aspirational goals for City agencies to increase their contracting with M/WBEs. These goals set target percentages for certain types of contracts\(^14\), but initially, the law only applied to contracts valued at $1 million or less. Significantly, Local Law 129 created an M/WBE certification program, which provides greater access to information about contracting opportunities through classes, networking events, targeted solicitations, and includes an online directory for certified businesses within the City that promote M/WBE businesses to purchasers.\(^15\)

After the program’s creation, certified M/WBE firms won more than three billion dollars in City contracts by 2012.\(^16\) Notwithstanding the successes of the M/WBE program under Local Law 129, amendments were made to strengthen the program. In 2013, the Council enacted, and Mayor Bloomberg signed into law, Local Law 1.\(^17\) Local Law 1 made a number of significant changes to the city’s M/WBE program, including: (i) removing the requirement that M/WBE goals only apply to contracts valued at one million dollars or less; (ii) the creation of “M/WBE stat,” an accountability program that requires agency M/WBE officers to convene quarterly to discuss progress with reaching M/WBE goals; (iii) requiring M/WBE reports from MOCS on a quarterly basis instead of semi-annually (as was required under Local Law 129 of 2005); and (iv) overall, improving and increasing education and outreach regarding the M/WBE program and city contracting.\(^18\)

The City has continued to make strides in increasing contracting opportunities and workforce development goals for minority and women owned businesses. Additionally, the Administration has established several programs to aid M/WBEs. In September of 2016, the Mayor announced the creation of a new Mayor’s Office of M/WBEs, and announced a goal of awarding at least 30 percent of all City contracts to M/WBEs by 2021.\(^{19}\)

In June of 2017, the Administration announced the launch of a $10 million Bond Collateral Assistance Fund for M/WBEs and small businesses. This program allows eligible business to apply for collateral assistance of as much as $500,000, or 50 percent of the contract amount, to meet cash collateral bond requirements.\(^{20}\) Additionally, in 2017, the Department of Small Business Services reported that 112 participants had graduated from its “Strategic Steps for Growth” program, which began in 2010. This program accepts eligible entrepreneurs for an eight-month business education program taught by faculty from New York University’s Stern School of Business. In order to qualify, participants must be women or minorities who have operated their companies for at least three years with a minimum of $500,000 per year, and participants pay $1,000 of the program’s $10,000 tuition, with the remainder subsidized by Citi Community Development and NYU.\(^{21}\)

The legislation below seeks to further improve the City’s efforts related to minority- and women-owned business enterprise (M/WBE) goals in workforce development.

III. PROPOSED INT. NO. 752-C

Under the New York City Charter, certain contractors are required to submit employment reports containing information such as “employment practices, policies, procedures, statistics and collective bargaining agreements.”\(^{22}\) The basis for this requirement is an Executive Order directing the agency predecessor to SBS’s Division of Labor Services (DLS) to verify that contractors are in compliance with their nondiscrimination obligations under federal, state, and local law and executive orders.\(^{23}\) The monetary threshold for applicable contracts is established through rules promulgated by SBS.\(^{24}\) For construction contracts, this threshold is any contract above $1,000,000 for prime contractors and $750,000 for subcontractors.\(^{25}\) Upon receipt of the report by SBS, DLS will conduct a review of the contractor’s current employment policies, practices, and procedures.

This bill would require covered developers to submit to an agency designated by the Mayor workforce disclosure records on the number of hours worked, job title, full or part-time designation and gross wages of individuals working on covered projects. Covered developers would also need to provide workforce disclosure records for the gender and race or ethnic group of employees when such information is voluntarily provided for the purpose of reporting to the city.

By no later than October 31, 2021 the mayoral agency designated to administer this program would be required to make such information available online only when it could be sufficiently anonymized, and, beginning no later than October 31, 2022, publish such information in a report every five years.

This local law would go into effect 180 days after it becomes law.

The term “covered project” means: (i) a construction project that is funded in whole or in part with city financial assistance, other than a tax abatement or exemption, expected to have a present value of $1,000,000 or more where the agreement for providing any part of such assistance is executed, renewed or substantially amended on or after the effective date of the local law that added this chapter; and (ii) a construction project that is funded in whole or in part with city financial assistance in the form of tax abatements or exemptions, where the project has a total estimated cost certified by the applicant of $5,000,000 or more, where the application for such benefits is made on or after the effective date of the local law that added this chapter. The term “covered project” does not include a construction project by a not for profit developer that is intended to provide a site exclusively for the provision of human services including social services such as day care, foster care, home care, homeless assistance, housing and shelter assistance, supportive housing, preventive services, youth services, and senior centers; health or medical services including those provided by health maintenance organizations; legal services; employment assistance services, vocational and educational programs; and recreation programs.

Construction work. The term “construction work” means construction, alteration or demolition work, except that the term excludes (i) architectural, engineering, legal, accounting or other professional services; (ii) clerical or other similar office support services; and (iii) the managing, directing or supervising of construction, rehabilitation, alteration or demolition work.

Financial assistance. The term “financial assistance” means money or any other thing of value, including, but not limited to, cash payments; grants or other subsidies; loans; bond financing; tax abatements or exemptions; tax increment financing; environmental remediation costs; real property conveyance for less than market value; and write-downs in the market value of buildings, lands or leases or the cost of capital improvements related to real property that, under ordinary circumstances, the city would not pay for. The term “financial assistance” includes both discretionary and as-of-right assistance.

§ 22-1102 Disclosure requirements. a. Beginning on July 1, 2021, each covered developer for a covered project shall provide workforce disclosure records consisting of the following information for such project to the administering agency on at least an annual basis with respect to covered projects that receive city financial assistance on or after such date:
1. For each individual employed or otherwise engaged to perform construction work by the covered developer or any covered contractor during the prior year:

(a) the number of hours worked;
(b) job title;
(c) full-time or part-time designation; and
(d) gross wages.

2. For each individual employed or otherwise engaged to perform construction work by the covered developer or covered contractor who has voluntarily disclosed the following information to such covered developer and covered contractor for the purpose of reporting under this section:

(a) gender; and
(b) race or ethnic group.

3. For each job title, where such information is made available to such covered developer:

(a) the total number of individuals employed or otherwise engaged to perform project work by the covered developer or any covered contractor during the prior year, disaggregated by gender, race or ethnic group, full-time or part-time designation;
(b) the average number of hours worked by such individuals; and
(c) the average compensation of such individuals.

b. The information required by subdivision a of this section shall be submitted electronically to the administering agency in a form and manner to be determined by the administering agency.

§ 22-1103 Reporting on covered projects. a. By no later than October 31, 2021, the administering agency shall make data received pursuant to section 22-1102 of this chapter publicly available online where such data can be anonymized.

b. By no later than October 31, 2022 and every five years thereafter, the administering agency shall submit to the mayor and the council, and post publicly on the city’s website a report providing details concerning the workforce of covered projects.

§ 22-1104 Designation of administering agency. The mayor shall, in writing, designate one or more offices or agencies to administer and enforce the provisions of this chapter and may, from time to time at the mayor’s discretion, change such designation. Within 10 days after such designation or change thereof, a copy of such designation or change thereof shall be published on the city’s website and on the website of each such office or agency, and shall be electronically submitted to the speaker of the council.

§2. This local law takes effect 180 days after it becomes law, except that before such effective date (i) the mayor may designate an administering agency, as defined herein, in accordance with section 22-1104 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as set forth in this local law, and (ii) the head of such administering agency may take such measures as are necessary for implementation of this local law, including the promulgation of rules.
Report of the Committee on Education

Report for Int. No. 1486-A

Report of the Committee on Education in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring the department of education to report information on school applications, offers of admission, enrollment and school seats available

The Committee on Education, to which the annexed proposed local law was referred on February 28, 2017 (Minutes, page 643), respectfully

REPORTS:

Introduction

On December 7, 2017, the Committee on Education, chaired by Council Member Daniel Dromm, voted on Introduction No. 1486-A, sponsored by Council Member Ben Kallos. The bill would require the Department of Education (DOE) to report information on applications, offers of admission, enrollment, and anticipated seats available in DOE schools. A hearing was previously held on this bill on February 28, 2017. At that hearing, the Committee heard from representatives from the DOE, the School Construction Authority (SCA), elected officials, union leaders, advocates, educators, and parents. On December 7, 2017, the Committee passed Introduction No. 1486-A by a vote of fifteen in the affirmative, zero in the negative, with zero abstentions.

Background

Overcrowding Crisis

Overcrowded schools, where student enrollment exceeds school capacity (the total number of students that a school can accommodate), are a perennial and critical problem in New York City.¹ According to the Preliminary Mayor’s Management Report (PMMR) for Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, 59% of elementary schools, 22% of middle schools, and 36% of high schools exceed capacity.² (For a map of utilization rate by district, see Figure 1 in Appendix.) Perhaps even more startling, 54% of elementary and middle school students and 47% of high school students citywide attend schools that exceed capacity.³ Further, the average school utilization rate across the city is 106% for elementary schools, 79% for middle schools, and 92% for high schools.⁴

The school overcrowding crisis is likely to worsen over the coming years without adequate intervention. According to Department of City Planning (DCP) estimates, New York City’s school-age population, which stood at 1.26 million in 2010, is expected to grow to approximately 1.34 million by 2040, an increase of 6.5%.\(^5\) In addition, Mayor de Blasio has proposed a 10-year plan to build or preserve 200,000 affordable housing units across all five boroughs of New York City.\(^6\) Achieving the Mayor’s Housing New York goals requires some changes to zoning regulations, including Zoning for Quality and Affordability, (ZQA)\(^7\) and Mandatory Inclusionary Housing (MIH)\(^8\), which are being used in rezoning a number of communities across the City. Rezonings are required to undergo an environmental review process, which analyzes the impact of the new development on school capacity. However, the environmental review process may not capture the full extent of the impacts, especially for housing projects. For example, the CEQR Technical Manual identifies two criteria that determine if a rezoning will have a “significant adverse impact” on school capacity: (1) the utilization rate increases by 5% or more, or (2) the utilization rate crosses the threshold from below 100% to above 100%.\(^9\) Thus, a rezoning can increase the utilization rate from 110% to 114.9% and still be deemed to have no impact on school capacity. This is especially problematic when multiple rezonings lead to a larger cumulative increase in school capacity. These rezonings are likely to have an impact on school overcrowding in certain neighborhoods. For example, the East New York rezoning proposal projects a net increase of 3,569 students in Community School District 19, including approximately 1,882 elementary school students, 778 intermediate school students, and 909 high school students.\(^10\) However, the Five Year Capital Plan for FY 2015-2019 only identifies a need for 1,000 Public School (PS)/Intermediate School (IS) seats for District 19, which certainly will result in existing schools becoming more crowded.\(^11\)

Causes of Overcrowding

As noted above, enrollment growth is a leading cause of school overcrowding, but it is not the only one. Enrollment fluctuates from year to year due primarily to changes in birth rates, increases and decreases in immigration, as well as migration of City residents to other areas.

The following table shows yearly fluctuations in enrollment from 2006 to 2016, but an overall increase in enrollment for the 10-year period:

Student enrollment can also be directly impacted by changes in policy, such as the expansion of pre-kindergarten (pre-K) programs and charter schools. Under Mayor de Blasio’s Pre-K for All initiative, pre-K enrollment has grown from approximately 20,000 children in 2013-2014 to 70,400 in the 2016-2017 school year—a significant increase of more than 50,000 students in just 3 years. Similarly, enrollment in charter schools in New York City has increased tremendously in the past 10 years, from under 20,000 in 2007 to more than 119,000 in 2017. Although not all pre-K or charter school seats are located in DOE facilities, the rapid expansion of both has added significantly to the need for new school capacity. Added pressure on school capacity was generated with a 2014 change in State law that requires New York City to provide new and expanding charter schools with free space in public schools or else pay rental costs for private space.

Other policy decisions can have an impact on school overcrowding not by increasing or decreasing overall student enrollment, but rather by shifting students from one school to another. For example, an unintended consequence of former Mayor Michael Bloomberg’s policy of closing or phasing out large, low-performing high schools instituted was that many students were displaced to surrounding schools, thereby significantly increasing enrollment in those schools, in some cases by more than 20%.

The policy of co-locating several schools within a single school building also impacts capacity. Each co-located school needs its own administrative offices, spaces to provide services for students with disabilities, and other specialized spaces, so instructional space is often lost as regular classrooms are converted for administrative and other uses.

The SCA has also committed to removing all trailers, called Transportable Classroom Units (TCUs), from schoolyards. In the past, TCUs were widely used to provide additional classroom space at overcrowded schools. While some TCUs have been removed in recent years, 260 still remain, serving thousands of students and increasing the need for new seats.

Other factors beyond the control of officials, such as the increasing number of special education students, also have an impact on capacity. The number of students with disabilities affects space usage because special education classes are significantly smaller than general education classes (particularly self-contained classes, which contain between 6 and 15 students), and are often housed in rooms designed for more students. Many students with disabilities also receive mandated services, such as physical or occupational therapy or counseling, which require dedicated space. According to the latest PMMR data, in the 2-year period from FY 2014 to FY 2016 the number of public school-age special education students grew from 192,110 to 206,839, an increase of 14,729 students or approximately 7.7%.

Impact of Overcrowding

School overcrowding shortchanges students in multiple ways. In overcrowded schools, specialized spaces such as science labs, libraries, music, and art rooms are often converted into regular classrooms, negatively impacting instruction for students in these subjects. In 2011, the Council passed legislation requiring the DOE to report on capacity and utilization data in an attempt to enhance transparency around this issue. Yet, some schools with severe overcrowding continue to have to use hallways, closets, stairwells, gymnasiums and other spaces not intended for instruction as makeshift classrooms.

In overcrowded schools, multiple lunch periods are needed to accommodate all students, with lunch periods sometimes starting before 10 a.m. and continuing into the mid-afternoon. A 2014 review conducted by WNYC and the Daily News found that as many as 40% of the City public schools started lunch periods by 10:45 in the morning. Students who eat lunch so early in the morning are likely to be hungry by afternoon and less engaged and able to focus on schoolwork.

Research shows that overcrowded environments are not conducive to learning and have a negative impact on both students and teachers. Crowding causes stress and is found to have an effect on interpersonal behaviors, mental health and motivation. Crowded schools are also noisier, with greater exposure to noise affecting children’s reading abilities, cognitive development and attention. Teachers in noisy schools are more fatigued and less patient than teachers in quieter schools, and they lose instruction time due to noise distractions.

Overcrowded schools also tend to have larger class sizes, which can have a negative effect on student learning. A considerable body of research has shown that larger classes are detrimental to student engagement, achievement levels, and graduation rates.

Some research has linked lower student achievement with overcrowding. One study found that students in overcrowded New York City schools scored 2 to 9 percentage points lower on math and reading exams than those in underutilized schools. A more recent study tracking thousands of students in the Los Angeles Unified School District found significant achievement gains, equivalent to about 65 days of additional instruction per year, for elementary students “who escaped severe overcrowding by moving to a new elementary school.”

Efforts to Address Overcrowding

A 2016 DOE report, Space Overutilization in New York City Public Schools: Report on the 2014-2015 School Year, describes the methods used to address school overcrowding: “The DOE uses various strategies to alleviate overcrowding and to address increases in enrollment. These strategies include new construction, rezoning the catchment areas of zoned schools, helping principals program their instructional space more efficiently, repurposing and creating capacity through room conversion projects, and siting new or expanded schools and programs in underutilized facilities.”

The primary strategy for alleviating school overcrowding is the creation of new capacity by constructing new school buildings or annexes, leasing space, or allocating capital funding for room conversions or other capacity projects in the Five Year Capital Plan. Below is a summary of capacity projects in the current Five Year Capital Plan, followed by a description of non-capital strategies to deal with school overcrowding.

FY 2015-2019 Five Year Capital Plan

In the February 2017 Proposed Amendment for FY 2015-2019 Five Year Capital Plan (the “Proposed Amendment”), $5.91 billion, more than one-third of the total $15.45 billion Capital Plan, is dedicated to capacity projects. Capacity projects include all projects to create, expand or replace school buildings. The Proposed Amendment would increase funding for capacity by almost 4%, largely as a result of an additional $130 million increase to expand pre-K capacity and $80 million for facility replacement. Other categories under capacity include new capacity and class size reduction.

New Capacity Program - $4.48 billion

The DOE has identified a need for 82,811 new seats citywide, not including pre-K seats. (For a map of identified seats needed by district, see Figure 2 in Appendix; for a chart of enrollment and identified seats needed by district, see Figure 3 in Appendix). The Proposed Amendment includes funding for 44,324 new K-12 seats, 2,601 of which are funded for design only (the cost of constructing these seats is not currently included in the plan). Of the funded seats, 24,036 are in scope or design. However, 39 out of 84 projects, representing 20,314 seats, have not been sited. (For a map of funded seats needed that have not been sited, see Figure 4 in Appendix)

Of the 84 new capacity projects in the Proposed Amendment, 79 are elementary or middle school buildings with 41,177 seats, and 5 are grade 6-12 or high school buildings with 3,147 seats.

Pre-Kindergarten Initiative - $800 million

This funding supports the creation of pre-K seats and, as previously mentioned, is up by $130 million, or 19% in the Proposed Amendment. Pre-K capacity is created by building stand-alone pre-K buildings, adding pre-K classrooms in new buildings that are being constructed for elementary school use, or by leasing space... for pre-K centers. The SCA expects to create over 8,300 seats. Of the projects currently identified, six projects representing 558 seats have not been sited.38

Class Size Reduction Program - $490 million

Because of the adoption of the Smart Schools Bond Act, additional funding was made available to reduce class sizes system-wide; the Proposed Amendment allocates $490 million to create an additional 4,900 seats.39 Some of the criteria to be considered when choosing school buildings include: 1) High rate of overutilization per the latest Enrollment, Capacity, and Utilization Report; 2) Unfunded seat need in the sub-district where school building is located; 3) Use of Transportable Classroom Units; and 4) Geographic isolation.40 The SCA identified three Class Size Reduction projects in the January 2016 amendment to the Capital Plan: P.S.19 in District 11, Bronx; East New York Family Academy in District 19, Brooklyn; and P.S. 131 in District 29, Queens.41

Facility Replacement Program - $142 million

The Proposed Amendment allocates $142 million to the Facility Replacement Program, which will provide development of new sites for schools that must vacate their current leased locations.42 The seats will be provided through new construction or alternative leasing opportunities, similar to new capacity.43

Capital Task Force Projects

New seats are created not only through Capacity projects, but also through Capital Task Force (CTF) projects. CTF projects are small capital projects typically built by Division of School Facilities Skilled Trades or Job Order Contract contractors. They change capacity through room conversions.44

Transportable Classroom Unit (TCU) Removal - $405 million

SCA has committed to removing TCUs across the City and $405 million is allocated for the removal of all units. The Proposed Amendment would decrease the allocation for TCU removals by $45 million, or 10 percent, but leave the number of TCUs slated for removal unchanged. Several new capacity projects in the form of additions have been created in sites that currently contain TCUs. As a result of these additions, approximately 50 TCUs will be removed and the costs of those TCU removals will be included with the addition project, which allowed SCA to shift funding from the TCU removal category to the new capacity category.45

Non-Capital Strategies to Alleviate Overcrowding

The key non-capital strategies to alleviate school overcrowding include the following:

- Rezoning – Changing the zone lines of schools can help redistribute the student population among schools in a district. Shrinking a school’s zone helps alleviate overcrowding by reducing the pool of students for new admissions, while expanding the size of the zone for underutilized schools helps alleviate overcrowding at nearby schools.\textsuperscript{36}

- Programming – More efficient programming and scheduling at the school level can mitigate the effects of overutilized buildings. For example, at the high school level, use of “split sessions” or staggered schedules for students maximizes the availability of classrooms by programming more periods per day.\textsuperscript{47}

- Re-purposing Seats – Each year, the DOE puts forth a number of proposals to change the way space is utilized to better meet the specific needs of individual schools and districts. These proposals for “Significant Changes In School Utilization” require a public review process outlined in Chancellor’s Regulation A-190 and approval by the Panel for Educational Policy (PEP). Such proposals include the following:

  o Re-sittings – The relocation of students from one building to another is often used to allow for construction to improve facilities, or as a result of losing a lease.

  o Grade Reconfigurations – The expansion or truncation of a school’s grade levels can be used to address under or overutilization of buildings. For example, an underutilized K-5 school could be expanded to become a K-8 school; conversely, an overcrowded K-8 school may be truncated to a K-5 school.

  o Siting New Schools in Under-utilized Buildings – The DOE identifies buildings with a significant amount of excess space that could accommodate new district or charter schools, D75 or D79 programs, or Pre-K Centers. By opening new schools in under-utilized space, the DOE effectively adds capacity.

  o Consolidating Co-located Schools – By consolidating two co-located schools into one organization, spaces that would have been used for redundant administrative or specialized purposes may instead be used for additional classroom space, creating more overall capacity in a building to serve students.

  o School Closures – Schools may be closed based on persistently low enrollment, performance or demand. By opening a different school option in place of an extremely under-enrolled school, the DOE is able to use space more efficiently.\textsuperscript{48}

- Changes to Admissions Policy – The DOE has centralized admissions processes for most pre-K, elementary, middle and high schools. Controlling the number of students who are offered admission can be used to address overutilization by limiting admission offers.\textsuperscript{49}

School Construction Authority (SCA)

The SCA is a public benefit corporation created pursuant to state law.\textsuperscript{50} The New York State Legislature created the SCA in 1988 to streamline the City’s school construction process in response to delays and inefficiencies in the then Board of Education’s (BOE) school construction process, with schools taking 8 to 10 years to complete.\textsuperscript{51} Pursuant to changes in school governance law in 2002, management of the DOE’s capital program was further consolidated under the SCA, and the Mayor became responsible for appointing the three SCA Trustees.\textsuperscript{52} DOE staff previously involved in capital projects were relocated to the SCA, which became solely responsible for “planning, real estate, and budgeting, as well as the scoping, design and construction of new schools, additions and capital improvements to existing schools.”\textsuperscript{53}

In creating the SCA, the State Legislature exempted it from any general or special law, local law, city charter, administrative code, ordinance or resolution governing uniform land use procedures, or any other land use planning review and approval processes.\textsuperscript{54} However, the Legislature determined that the SCA would be subject to the Environmental Conservation Law, the Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation law, and zoning regulations.\textsuperscript{55}

School Planning Process

The SCA describes its planning process as follows:

The SCA’s comprehensive capital planning process includes developing and analyzing quality data, creating and updating the Department of Education’s Five-Year Capital Plans, and monitoring projects through completion. The SCA prioritizes capital projects to best meet the capacity and building improvements needs throughout the City. Additionally, the SCA assures that the Capital Plan aligns with New York State and City Department of Education mandates, academic initiatives, and budgetary resources.\textsuperscript{56}

The SCA uses the following reports and documents in the planning process to calculate the need for new capacity and inform the allocations in the Five Year Capital Plan:

- Demographic Projection Reports
- Enrollment, Capacity & Utilization Report
- Projected New Housing Starts
- Projected Public School Ratio

Demographic Projection Reports

The SCA uses two independent demographers, Grier Partnership and Statistical Forecasting LLC, to project future enrollment.\textsuperscript{57} The demographic projections take into account the birth, enrollment, and migration trends for 5 and 10 years into the future and combine it with projected housing growth to derive the total projected enrollment.\textsuperscript{58} More specifically, Statistical Forecasting says their methodology includes obtaining historical enrollment data from the SCA for each of the 32 community school districts, but excluding data from District 75, which is the citywide special education district in New York City, from their enrollment projections.\textsuperscript{59} They also obtain historical birth data from the City’s Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and use that data to project future birth rates.\textsuperscript{60} In projecting future enrollment, they also use a method to project grade progression differences. In other words, they look at the change in the number of students for each grade from one year to the next to compare the inward versus outward migration of students and whether it is stable, increasing or decreasing over time.\textsuperscript{61} The latest projections by Statistical Forecasting indicate declining citywide enrollment each year from 2015-2016 to 2024-2025.\textsuperscript{62} The Grier Partnership report also shows an overall decline in enrollment over the same period, but the report does not include a section on methodology.\textsuperscript{63}

\textit{Enrollment, Capacity & Utilization Report}

The Enrollment, Capacity, and Utilization Report (commonly known as the “Blue Book”) is published annually by the DOE and identifies the capacity of each school building based on a set of uniformly applied assumptions.\textsuperscript{64} The capacity is then compared to the building enrollment to calculate the utilization rate of each school and building. In essence, the Blue Book provides a snapshot of current school utilization and overcrowding. The information provided in the Blue Book is used to plan major capital projects that expand the capacity of school buildings and assist in making informed decisions about the placement of new schools or programs in underutilized buildings.\textsuperscript{65} The calculation to determine a building’s capacity is based on information provided by principals in the Principal Annual Space Survey, or PASS, which is conducted by the SCA and requires principals to verify the usage of rooms within each building.\textsuperscript{66} A school’s capacity, which is the total number of students that it can accommodate, is based on the functions of all rooms in the building.\textsuperscript{67} Since the 2013-2014 school year, there have been a number of changes in the Blue Book based on recommendations of the Blue Book Working Group (BBWG), which is comprised of representatives of parents, educators, elected officials, advocates, and other community stakeholders.\textsuperscript{68} The changes made resulted in a decrease of capacity for many elementary and middle schools, and an overall citywide capacity decrease by over 26,000 seats compared to the 2013-2014 Blue Book, so “a true comparison of overutilized schools cannot be made using the 2014-2015 to 2013-2014 Blue Book reports.”\textsuperscript{69} The 2014-2015 Blue Book will therefore serve as the new baseline for tracking overutilization moving forward.\textsuperscript{70}

\textit{Projected New Housing Starts}

The DOE collaborates with other City agencies to develop a comprehensive list of new housing starts and incorporates the expected increase in school-age population into its projections. Information on new housing starts is provided by DCP, Department of Buildings, and Department of Housing Preservation and Development and is incorporated in the “Projected New Housing Starts as Used in 2015-2024 Enrollment Projection” document.\textsuperscript{71} New housing units include all projects that are either in process or scheduled to be constructed over the next 5 or 10 years.\textsuperscript{72}

\textit{Projected Public School Ratio}

The SCA must then estimate the expected increase in school-age population generated by the new housing development. To do this, SCA uses the “Projected Public School Ratio” which is incorporated in the City

School Siting Process

According to the SCA, “[o]ne of the greatest challenges in building new schools in New York City is finding appropriate sites.”74 The difficulty in obtaining sites adds considerably to the timeline for school construction. Very little written information about the site selection process is available to the public, except the following excerpt from the NYC Green Schools Guide: “The SCA site selection process includes the consideration of available properties that are within the geographical and jurisdictional area of need, which meet the minimum size requirement for the targeted project.”75 SCA’s website also includes the following information on minimum requirements for new school construction: “Sites should be a minimum of 20,000 square feet and have minimum dimensions of 100 linear feet. Other factors such as zoning and surrounding uses will also be considered.”76

As previously noted, State law does not exempt the SCA from the State Environmental Quality Review Act (SEQRA) contained under the Environmental Conservation Law,77 nor from the City Environmental Quality Review (CEQR) requirements, the process for implementing SEQRA within the City.78 The purpose of SEQRA is to “provide government agencies with early assessment of environmental considerations in order to guide decision making on applications for zoning changes, permits, licenses, certificates of occupancy or other land use privileges.”79 Pursuant to SEQRA, government agencies must consider environmental factors as early as possible in the proposal for an action and must prepare an environmental impact statement (EIS) describing the short and long-term effects of the proposed action in the environmental setting.80 An important purpose of the EIS is to provide information about the effect that the proposed action will have on the surrounding community. Therefore, the law requires that a summary of the substantive comments received by the agency regarding the action and the agency’s response to those comments also be included in the statement.81 The EIS must also be posted on a publicly available internet website.82

The New York State Public Authorities Law requires that there be significant community participation prior to “new construction or building additions of an educational facility, or the acquisition of real property.”83 As part of any proposal to acquire real property, the SCA must file a site report which must include the recommended site, any alternate sites considered and reasons as to why the alternate sites were not selected. The site report must then be filed with the city board (Panel for Educational Policy), city planning commission, community school district education council (commonly known as Community Education Council or CEC) and the community board of the district where the new school will be located. The SCA must also furnish a copy of the site report or a summary thereof to any other person who requests it.84 The SCA must publish notice of the filing of the site report in a newspaper of general circulation and within 30 days after publication, a public hearing shall be held by each affected CEC and each affected community board. If more than one CEC and/or community board is affected, the hearing may be held jointly. Within 45 days after publication each affected CEC or community board, or any other person or organization, may

The SCA, after due consideration of the comments, may affirm, modify or withdraw the plan.\textsuperscript{85}

City Council Role in Site Selection

After publication of the site plan and following a public hearing, the SCA must submit the site plan to the mayor and the Council for review prior to beginning construction of educational facilities.\textsuperscript{86} The Council has 20 days from receipt of the plan to take action to disapprove the plan. If no such action is taken, the plan is deemed to be approved.\textsuperscript{87} If the mayor disapproves the action, the Council will have 20 days from notice of the disapproval to override the disapproval of the mayor with a two-thirds vote.\textsuperscript{88} However, the City may not require the SCA to “conduct any further hearings or seek any further approvals as a condition for receiving City approval.”\textsuperscript{89} If the Council or mayor disapproves the site plan the SCA may, after consultation with the DOE, revise the plan and resubmit it, or eliminate it from the Five Year Capital Plan.\textsuperscript{90} The procedure outlined above applies only to newly-constructed educational facilities, not leased facilities.

Issues and Concerns

Current levels of school overcrowding are of tremendous concern to parents, students, teachers, elected officials, and advocates. The fact that approximately half of the City’s 1.1 million public school students are in overcrowded schools, with 54% of elementary and middle school students and 47% of high school students attending schools that exceed capacity,\textsuperscript{91} is considered unacceptable to most stakeholders. Many fear that school overcrowding could become even worse without preventive action, due to projected population growth and rezoning to facilitate creation of more affordable housing. Even more immediately, the City is in the midst of a residential housing boom, with new housing development in every borough and most communities. In fact, residential construction is on pace to have its third consecutive record-breaking year, with a projected $13.4 billion in spending for 2016.\textsuperscript{92} After adjusting for inflation, this is 47% higher than the City’s previous residential boom, in 2007.\textsuperscript{93}

In addition, advocates point out that, while overcrowding occurs throughout the City, it disproportionately impacts immigrant communities.\textsuperscript{94} Further, advocates maintain that the current Five Year Capital Plan is less likely to provide funding for seats in overcrowded immigrant communities than non-immigrant communities.\textsuperscript{95}

School Planning Concerns

Although the FY 2015-2019 Five Year Capital Plan currently identifies a need of approximately 83,000 seats (an increase of over 33,000 seats from the need initially forecast by the FY 2015-2019 Capital Plan),\textsuperscript{96} many critics maintain that this is not sufficient to address both current and future overcrowding. A July 2014 audit by the City Comptroller’s office, based on 2011-2012 Blue Book data, estimated a need for 85,000 additional seats just to address existing overcrowding, not including future growth. Since that time, overcrowding has only gotten worse.

Of the almost 83,000 seat needs identified, the Five Year Capital Plan only provides funding for the construction of approximately 42,000 seats, just over half of the total need. While inadequate funding is certainly a big part of the City’s inability to mitigate school overcrowding, advocates have long pointed to the school planning and siting processes as weak links in the effort to add school capacity and maintain that flaws exist at each step in the process. Many questions persist about the accuracy of the independent demographic projections used by SCA. For example, the citywide enrollment projections by Statistical Forecasting LLC decrease each year from 2015-2016 to 2024-2025, despite DCP estimates that the student population will increase significantly over that period. Further, although demographic projections were historically done on an annual basis, the last demographic projection reports by both Statistical Forecasting and Grier Partnership were completed in May 2015.

The accuracy of the Enrollment, Capacity & Utilization Report, or Blue Book, is also an area of great concern. If overcrowding is a measure of the extent to which a school’s student population exceeds its capacity, then the way that “capacity” is measured is critical. For years, elected officials, educators, parents and others charged that the DOE’s method for determining the official capacity of a school indicated in the Blue Book was faulty, resulting in inaccurate utilization rates for schools, thereby masking the true level of school overcrowding. This charge was largely confirmed by the findings of the court in the Campaign for Fiscal Equity (CFE) lawsuit. The DOE subsequently made some changes to their formula, but criticisms of the Blue Book persisted. In response to these concerns, in February 2014 Chancellor Fariña formed a Blue Book Working Group (BBWG), including parents, educators, advocacy organizations, members of community education councils, and other stakeholders tasked with improving the Blue Book. While many of the recommendations of the BBWG have been incorporated, some of the most significant proposals have not yet been acted upon. For example, the BBWG noted that the existing Blue Book target class size for grades 4 – 12 is 28, which is actually higher than the current average class size for those grades. But, the BBWG’s recommendation to change to the target class sizes used for capacity calculations has not yet been adopted.

Concerns remain regarding new housing projections, which purport to project new housing starts for 5 and 10 years into the future. According to the “Projected New Housing Starts as Used in 2015-2024 Enrollment Projection,” the total number of new housing units citywide estimated for the 5-year period from 2015-2019 is 148,071; while the 10-year projection for the period from 2015-2024 is just 151,383. Therefore, the number of estimated housing units for the second 5-year period is just 3,312 housing units. This questionable projection illustrates the difficulty in making long-term housing estimates, which are crucial to accurate planning for space needs.

There are also concerns about the “Projected Public School Ratio” which is used to estimate the number of school-age students generated per unit of new housing. One concern is that the ratios are borough-wide rather than neighborhood-based projections, which could capture differences in birth rates, numbers of school-age children, and other relevant differences among neighborhoods that are not captured using a borough ratio. Furthermore, the ratios do not vary by the size of the unit or number of bedrooms. It is also argued that the ratios are not based on the most current data, and therefore do not reflect current population trends.

Another point of concern, as previously noted, is that zoning regulations require the EIS to include an impact on school seats only if the projected impact exceeds 5%.

School Siting Concerns

The most significant problem in siting schools is the difficulty in finding adequate sites in many neighborhoods throughout the City. Moreover, there is very little information publicly available about what is an appropriate site for a school. SCA’s website states that “Sites should be a minimum of 20,000 square feet and have minimum dimensions of 100 linear feet. Other factors such as zoning and surrounding uses will also be considered.”105 While SCA welcomes recommendations for new school sites from members of the community, and has created a form for the public to submit such recommendations, many who do submit suggestions are frustrated when they do not receive any feedback or information regarding disposition of the proposed site.

The difficulty in finding school sites becomes clear in overcrowded communities such as Bay Ridge, Brooklyn (District 20), Elmhurst, Queens (District 24) and Sunset Park, Brooklyn (District 15) that must wait years for a school to be built, even when funds have been allocated in the capital plan for that purpose. District 20 in Brooklyn has an identified seat need of 10,322 seats, of which 4,869 are funded in the current capital plan; District 24 in Queens has an identified need of 9,403 seats, of which 4,885 are funded; and District 15 in Brooklyn has an identified need of 7,546 seats, of which 3,840 are funded.106 These three districts have the highest need in the City, but also the greatest difficulty in finding sites for new schools.

Parents and advocates point to what they view as shortcomings in SCA’s siting efforts as contributing to difficulties in finding suitable school locations. Specifically, they contend that SCA has too few staff working in their Real Estate division and only one real estate firm per borough looking for sites.107 Further, they argue that SCA rarely uses eminent domain to acquire school sites.108

Finally, despite the fact that the SCA was created, in part, to expedite the school construction process, elected officials and stakeholders maintain that school construction generally, and the siting process in particular, takes too long. As noted, critics contend that SCA has insufficient staff, not only to locate school sites, but to prepare the requisite EISs and facilitate the hearing and approval process in a timely manner.

Int. No. 1486-A - Bill Analysis

Since its initial hearing, the bill has received several amendments including amending the dates on which reports are required to reflect when the relevant information will become available.

Section one of Int. No. 1486-A would provide the following definitions;

“School” would mean a school of the city school district of the city of New York that contains any combination of grades from and including pre-kindergarten through grade twelve, including early education centers with which the department contracts to provide pre-kindergarten; and “student” would mean any pupil under the age of twenty-one as of September first of the school year being reported, who does not have a high school diploma and who is enrolled in a school, excluding any child who is less than four years of age on or before December thirty-first of the school year being reported.

Section one would require the Department of Education (the DOE) to submit to the Speaker of the Council, and post conspicuously on the DOE’s website, the following reports including the following information:

1. By May 15, 2018 and annually thereafter, the DOE would be required to report for each community school district (CSD), the total number of individuals who (1) applied for admission to grades pre-kindergarten, kindergarten or six in a school located in such community school district for the following school year; and (2) received an offer of admission to grades pre-kindergarten, kindergarten or six in a school located in such CSD for the following school year; and for each school, the total number of individuals who (1) applied for admission to grades pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, six or nine in such school, as applicable, for the following school year; and (2) received an offer of admission to grades pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, six or nine in such school, as applicable, for the following school year.

2. By March 15, 2019, and annually thereafter, the DOE would be required to report for each CSD, the total number of students who enrolled in grades pre-kindergarten, kindergarten or six in a school located in such CSD in the current school year; and (b) for each school, the total number of students who enrolled in grades pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, six or nine in such school, as applicable, in the current school year.

Section one would require that the above data be disaggregated, as applicable, by CSD of residence of individuals; zip code of residence of individuals; primary home language of individuals; and grade level. Section one would also require the DOE to report, by May 15, 2018 and annually thereafter, for each school, the total number of seats anticipated to be available in the following school year.

The bill would state that none of the information in the report would violate any applicable provision of federal, state or local law relating to privacy of student information or that would interfere or otherwise conflict with law enforcement investigations and interests. The bill would also clarify that if a category contains between one and five students, or contains a number that would allow the amount of another category that is five or less to be deduced therefrom, the number should be replaced with a symbol in the report.

Section two of the bill would provide that the law would take effect immediately.

Update
On December 7, 2017, the Committee passed Introduction No. 1486-A by a vote of fifteen in the affirmative, zero in the negative, with zero abstentions.

Accordingly, this Committee recommends its adoption, as amended.

Report for Int. No. 1757-A

Report of the Committee on Education in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring the department of education to report information on student-to-student bullying, harassment, intimidation and discrimination.

The Committee on Education, to which the annexed proposed local law was referred on October 30, 2017 (Minutes, page 4423), respectfully
REPORTS:

I. Introduction

On December 7, 2017, the Committee on Education, chaired by Council Member Daniel Dromm, voted on Introduction No. 1538-A and Introduction No. 1757-A. A hearing was previously held on this legislation on October 30, 2017. At that hearing, the Committee heard testimony from representatives from the Department of Education (DOE), union leaders, advocates, educators, parents, and students. On December 7, 2017, the Committee passed Introduction No. 1538-A and Introduction No. 1757-A by a vote of fifteen in the affirmative, zero in the negative, with zero abstentions.

II. Background

On September 27, 2017, a fifteen-year-old student was killed and a sixteen-year-old student was critically injured when a classmate allegedly stabbed the students following an altercation in a history class at the Urban Assembly for Wildlife Conservation in the Bronx. Although the incident is still under investigation, according to media reports, the confrontation may have been a result of a months of bullying that had gone unreported or unaddressed. The incident has raised concerns about school climate, how schools deal with reports of bullying, and what actions the DOE takes when students indicate that they do not feel safe in the school environment.

The Committee has held two previous hearings regarding bullying this session, “The Treatment of LGBT Students, Family and Staff in the NYC Public School System,” on February 25, 2014, and “Bullying, Harassment and Discrimination in NYC Schools – Protecting LGBT and Other Vulnerable Students” on October 19, 2016. Those hearings highlighted how bullying disproportionately affects certain student populations including students with disabilities, Muslim students, students who are overweight, and lesbian, gay, bisexual, queer or questioning and gender non-conforming (LGBQ and TGNC) students. The hearings also highlighted how students who experience bullying are more likely to struggle with academics and health issues such as depression and anxiety.

Recognizing the harmful effects of bullying on student outcomes, today’s hearing will focus on what schools are doing to address the issue – through prevention, by creating a safe and respectful learning environment; through information-sharing, by ensuring that students, parents, and school staff know how to report incidents and feel comfortable doing so; and through remedial actions once incidents have been reported.

III. Laws and Regulations Regarding Bullying, Harassment, and Discrimination

Efforts have been made at the federal, state, and local levels to address the issues of bullying, intimidation, harassment, and discrimination at schools.

A. Federal Laws

The Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) contains some provisions related to bullying and harassment. Title I of ESSA requires states to include data about school climate, bullying, and harassment on their annual state report card and requires that this data be made available to the public. Additionally, ESSA requires local education agencies that access funds under ESSA to use a portion of funds they receive to support initiatives that promote student safety, such as bullying prevention programs and activities.

Other federal laws, while not focused on bullying in schools, also protect vulnerable populations from discrimination and harassment. Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, prohibits discrimination based on race, color, or national origin in programs or activities that are federally funded. Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in federally-funded education programs. It is important to note that Title IX prohibits discrimination based on students’ gender identity, including students’ transgender status. Students with disabilities are protected from discrimination by Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990.

B. State Laws and Regulations

In 2010, following action taken by the Council at the local level, New York State passed its own Dignity for All Students Act (DASA), which prohibits discrimination, harassment, and bullying towards students based on their actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender, or sex in New York State public schools and during school-sponsored events. Notably, under DASA, LGBQ and TGNC students and other vulnerable populations are explicitly protected from bullying, discrimination, and harassment. DASA defines sexual orientation as “actual or perceived heterosexuality, homosexuality or bisexuality.” Gender is defined as “actual or perceived sex and shall include a person’s gender identity or expression.” DASA requires schools to develop guidelines covering the development of nondiscriminatory instructional and counseling methods and requires that each school have a coordinator who is comprehensively trained to appropriately deal with human relations in the covered populations. Further, under DASA, all parents, students, and school staff must receive a copy of the school’s code of conduct and the process for reporting harassment, bullying, and discrimination annually, and school districts must keep current versions of their policies on their websites.

As discussed in more detail below, State law also requires schools to track and report incidents of bullying behavior. DASA requires that all public schools in the state report incidents of bullying to a public database so that school leaders and education officials can use such data to develop ways to eradicate bullying in schools. DASA includes comprehensive reporting regulations with regard to bullying, harassment, and discrimination. Schools must identify a “principal, superintendent or superintendent’s designee as the school employee charged with receiving reports of harassment, bullying or discrimination.” Also, school staff who have knowledge of a student being harassed, bullied, or discriminated against are required to inform the principal, superintendent, or superintendent’s designee within one school day, and file a written report within two school days after reporting the incident. In addition, the Commissioner is charged with developing “a procedure under which material incidents of harassment, bullying and discrimination on school grounds or at a school function are reported to the department at least on an annual basis.” It is important to note that the procedure must require that reports identify the specific nature of incidents of harassment, bullying, and discrimination whenever possible. Finally, DASA also protects individuals who report harassment, bullying, or discrimination in good faith from retaliatory action by the school district or employees.

In addition to DASA, New York State’s Safe Schools Against Violence Act (SAVE Act) requires schools to report incidents of violence and disruption on school property to the New York State Education Department (NYSED).

C. Chancellor’s Regulations

Chancellor’s Regulation A-832 outlines provisions that protect students in NYC schools from bullying, harassment, and discrimination by establishing a “procedure for the filing, investigation, and resolution of complaints of student-to-student bias-based harassment, intimidation, and/or bullying.” A-832, which was created after the Council passed the NYC DASA, but pre-dates the State’s DASA, but contains many of the same requirements as State law, such as having a designated staff member to receive reports and setting timelines for reporting alleged acts. The regulation contains additional requirements beyond what is required by State law, including that complaints of harassment, bullying, discrimination or intimidation must be reported within 24 hours and investigated promptly. Chancellor’s Regulation A-832 requires “that all staff members, including non-instructional staff,” receive training on A-832’s requirements by October 31st each year. This training includes awareness and identification of harassment, bullying and discrimination, as well as preventing and responding to such incidents and “[p]romoting a safe and supportive school climate.” Regulation A-832 also requires the designate a “Respect for All” (RFA) liaison in each school, who receives additional training; however, the regulation does not specifically mention training on DASA reporting requirements.

Chancellor’s Regulation A-832 also requires that the “Respect for All” brochure be distributed to parents and students each year and that students and staff are provided with information and training on the relevant policy and procedures by October 31st of each year. The regulation also requires each school to post a “Respect for All” poster with information about the RFA liaison in a prominent and obvious location.

Chancellor’s Regulation A-830 sets forth the DOE’s Anti-Discrimination Policy and “establishes an internal review process for employees, applicants for employment, parents of students, students, and others who do business with the DOE, use DOE facilities or otherwise interact with the DOE who wish to file complaints of unlawful discrimination or harassment, or retaliation based on such complaints.” The provisions of this regulation require staff who have knowledge of an employee discriminating against or harassing a student to orally report the alleged incident to the designee within one school day and file an A-830 complaint report with the designee within two days of orally reporting the incident. Further, supervisors are required to promptly report instances of both oral and written complaints of discrimination or discriminatory harassment by employees to the Office of Equal Opportunity. Supervisors are also required to provide school employees with the DOE’s Anti-Discrimination Policy and internal complaint procedures annually.

D. Current Methods for Tracking and Reporting Incidents: OORS, DASA, and VADIR

In accordance with federal and state laws, and DOE regulations and policies, the DOE currently tracks and reports on bullying and other school-related incidents through three different systems. A sample reporting form, included in Chancellor’s Regulation A-832, is appended to this report as Appendix A. The DOE has an Online Occurrence Reporting System (OORS), which is used to report school-related crimes and other incidents that occur on or near school property. Bullying incidents must be reported in OORS, as well as many other types of incidents including allegations of corporal punishment, verbal abuse, and suspected child abuse. Among others. According to Chancellor’s Regulation A-832, “[c]omplaints of discrimination, harassment, intimidation, and/or bullying must be entered into [OORS] within 24 hours and promptly investigated.”

OORS was updated in School Year (SY) 2013-14 to enable schools to enter student behavior data required under the State’s DASA law. Data entered in OORS references the specific infraction number under the DOE’s Discipline Code.

The school-level data that the DOE collects in OORS is then used to compile required annual reports to the New York State Education Department (NYSED). NYSED now requires two data reports on School Safety and the Educational Climate (SSEC): Violent and Disruptive Incident Reporting (VADIR) and DASA.

VADIR is used to gather data on violent and disruptive incidents in schools and uses the information to comply with State and federal reporting requirements. VADIR data is required to be submitted annually for each school on incidents involving physical injury or threat of physical injury, (e.g., homicide, sex offenses, robbery, assault, arson, kidnapping, reckless endangerment) and incidents involving weapons or that disrupt the educational process (e.g., burglary, criminal mischief, theft, bomb threat, false alarm, riot and intimidation, harassment, menacing, or bullying).

For each type of incident, schools must report the number of incidents overall; the number of incidents involving alcohol or drugs; the number of incidents on school transportation; the number of offenders (student, staff and other); and the number of victims (student, staff and other). Schools are also required to report all consequences of these incidents, that is, how many enrolled student offenders were assigned or referred to: counseling or treatment programs; teacher removal; suspension from class or activities; out-of-school suspension; transfer to alternative education program; and/or law enforcement or juvenile justice.

DASA reporting is only for “material incidents of discrimination and harassment.” Data is required to be submitted annually for each school on incidents by location (on school property or at school-sponsored functions off school grounds), by type of discrimination/harassment (involving intimidation or abuse but no verbal threat or physical contact; involving verbal threat but no physical contact; involving physical contact but no verbal threat; or involving both verbal threat and physical contact) and by offender type (student, employee or both student and employee). Data is also required for cyberbullying by type (involving intimidation or abuse but no threats or involving threats) and by offender (student, employee or both student and employee).

All of the reported incidents must be further categorized by their “nature” (i.e. based on race, ethnic group, national origin, color, religion, religious practice, disability, gender, sexual orientation, sex, weight, other), with the instruction that “[i]ncidents must be counted more than once if they involve more than one category.”

“Material incidents” are defined in State regulations as “a single verified incident or a series of related verified incidents where a student is subjected to harassment, bullying and/or discrimination by a student and/or employee on school property or at a school function,” and includes “threats, intimidation or abuse based on a person’s actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex.” DOE guidance states that this includes any incident that is determined by the DOE to be in violation of Chancellor’s Regulation A-832.

According to the DOE, an incident is in violation if, following an investigation by the school, the school determines that the actions created a hostile environment (either through physical, oral, or written acts, including cyberbullying), that:

1. have or would have the effect of unreasonably and substantially interfering with a student’s educational performance or ability to participate in or benefit from an educational program, school sponsored activity or any other aspect of a student’s education; or

(2) have or would have the effect of unreasonably and substantially interfering with a student’s mental, emotional, or physical well being; or

(3) reasonably cause or would reasonably be expected to cause a student to fear for his/her physical safety; or

(4) reasonably causes or would reasonably be expected to cause physical injury or emotional harm to a student. 56

NYSED’s VADIR and DASA data are published on NYSED’s website. 57 Notably, the DOE’s OORS data is not made publicly available; however, parents may request an OORS report for any incident related to their child. 58

IV. Efforts to Improve School Climate

The DOE has several initiatives and programs aimed at improving school climate, and school climate has been a focus of the current administration.

A. Respect for All

In 2007, the DOE launched the Respect for All (RFA) program “to build the capacity of staff and students to actively promote a community of inclusion” in DOE schools. 59 This initiative provides professional development for K-12 teachers and staff, as well as services to students intended to promote respect for diversity and counteract harassment, discrimination, and bullying. RFA provides direct services to students that fosters tolerance and inclusion. 60 In 2010, in collaboration with the Council, the DOE launched its first Respect for All Week, which was “designed to focus each school’s attention on sustaining safe, supportive, and inclusive environments, providing an opportunity to highlight and build upon their existing efforts to promote respect for diversity and prevent bias-based harassment and bullying.” 61 The DOE also gives an annual RFA Award in order “to recognize schools for their work to foster positive interpersonal and intergroup relations.” 62

B. Office of Safety and Youth Development School Climate Trainings

Through the Office of Safety and Youth Development (OSYD), the DOE offers various school climate-related professional development and training opportunities to school staff. One training offered is the Life Space Crisis Intervention (LSCI) course, which provides participants with “strategies to turn crisis situations into learning opportunities for students with chronic patterns of self-defeating behaviors; [and] builds the capacity of school personnel to teach students better ways to respond to future stressful events, thereby reducing recidivism.” 63 Additionally, OSYD offers a Collaborative Negotiation training that focuses on resolving interpersonal conflicts and teaching collaborative negotiation strategies to students to help them

56 Id.
60 Id.
avoid using violence and confrontation to resolve issues. Another training offered is a mediation training that provides participants with skills and strategies that can be used to conduct mediations in schools. LSCI, Collaborative Negotiation, and Mediation training are 30-hour graduate-level courses that are offered to school staff for professional development credit.

OSYD also offers a 25-hour graduate-level course on restorative approaches to teachers, administrators, social workers, and counselors. This course provides participants with knowledge of the restorative circle process and teaches them how to facilitate restorative circles. Additionally, participants learn how to adopt a social-emotional learning curriculum by using the restorative circle process.

OSYD also provides a mandatory two-day training for all RFA Liaisons of middle and high schools. This training is exclusively for designated members of the RFA team, and participants must “be assigned to the school on a full-time basis and must licensed and/or certified as a either a classroom teacher, school counselor, school psychologist, school nurse, school social worker, school administrator or supervisor.”

Lastly, OSYD offers the Therapeutic Crisis Intervention in Schools (TCIS) training, which is a four-day course that ends in a practical and written exam that can result in a TCIS certification. Training participants learn how to prevent and de-escalate potential behavioral crises with students, how to manage crises, and how to assist students with improving their coping strategies. Notably, the DOE provides TCIS training at schools that have high rates of 911 calls for psychological and emotional conditions.

C. Positive Learning Collaborative

In addition to RFA, in 2013, the DOE partnered with the United Federation of Teachers (UFT) to launch the Positive Learning Collaborative (PLC) initiative. PLC’s goal is to develop positive learning environments by providing teachers with strategies to address difficult student behavior. After joining PLC, all school staff participate in the four-day TCIS training. PLC has procedures that identify students who are undergoing behavioral and academic challenges, and after a student is identified, all staff members who interact with the student work together to address the student’s challenges. As of December 2016, 16 DOE schools were participating in PLC, and notably, PLC, which was at capacity, had 25 schools on its waiting list. According to UFT, preliminary results from 2015 show that schools participating in PLC experienced a 53% improvement in school culture, and a 46% decline in student suspensions by school administration and superintendent. Overall, PLC schools experienced a 40% decrease in reported behavior incidents.

67 A “restorative circle” is a practice through which participants, which may include students and school staff, gather together to talk through issues, build relationships and trust, and foster equal participation. D. ThriveNYC and Safe Public Spaces

Additionally, as part of ThriveNYC, the DOE launched several mental health support services to support students’ social-emotional development. The DOE’s Pre-K Thrive initiative, for example, provides pre-K sites with targeted support in utilizing the DOE’s Positive Behavior Guidance. This guide consists of strategies that “empower students to develop a positive self-concept, and intentionally guide students to interact respectfully and constructively with peers and adults in their community, and their environment.” The guidance also notes the prohibition of suspension and expulsion in all pre-K schools and the Early Learn NYC program. Additionally, 100 DOE high-needs schools with the most suspensions were selected to receive additional mental health services, and to partner with community-based organizations (CBOs) to provide mental health services to students and staff.

In 2016, 12 high-need DOE schools began participating in the Safe Public Spaces Program (SPS). SPS, which is a two-year pilot program, was funded by a $2 million National Institute of Justice grant and was won in partnership with the American Institutes for Research. The Safe Public Spaces Program aims to improve school climate through data driven planning, professional development, and ongoing staff support.

E. Restorative Justice

In spring 2016, with $2.4 million of funding from the Council, the DOE launched a Restorative Justice Pilot Program in 25 schools. Restorative justice practices help prevent conflict, help students develop prosocial skills, and “provide wrongdoers with the opportunity to be accountable to those they have harmed and enable them to repair the harm to the extent possible.” This pilot program was developed to improve school discipline and policies by utilizing an approach that helps students learn from their mistakes.

The pilot program has three levels of participation. Level 1 consists of 15 beginner schools that were selected through a citywide application process of 125 schools citywide with high suspension rates. Each beginner school is paired with a CBO. Level 2 consists of five experienced schools that have been implementing restorative practices for two or more years. Level 2 schools were selected from applicants who were interested in enhancing their restorative practices, and these schools are paired with CBOs who provide onsite support to staff. Lastly, Level 3 schools are “mentor schools” that have demonstrated success in implementing restorative practices. Selected by Council staff and advocates, Level 3 schools mentor and coach Level 1 and Level 2 schools.

Data provided by the DOE shows that there has been a significant decline in suspensions at the 25 schools participating in the restorative justice pilot program. In fact, a period analysis from July 1, 2015 to March 2, 2016, and July 1, 2016 to February 28, 2017, shows overall, the 25 schools experienced a 25.5% reduction in total suspensions. Moreover, there was a 41.9% reduction in principal suspensions and an 8.5% reduction in superintendent suspensions in schools participating in restorative justice. Furthermore, schools participating in the Restorative Justice Pilot Program accounted for 25% of the decline of total citywide suspensions in SY 2016-17 as of March 1, 2017.

i. Restorative Justice Funding

The Council made a significant investment in restorative justice programs beginning in Fiscal 2016 with a $2.4 million initiative. This initiative provided the groundwork for DOE to begin supporting restorative justice in schools, which largely began in Fiscal 2017 at $12.65 million. The following table sets forth funding levels for DOE’s restorative justice initiatives:

F. School Climate and Discipline Leadership Team

In February 2015, Mayor Bill De Blasio launched the School Climate and Discipline Leadership Team (SCLT), which was a one-year task force that evaluated the progress of NYC school climate reforms. The SCLT consisted of parents, principals, union representatives, representatives from the DOE, the Mayor’s Office, the City Council, the NYPD, and CBOs who were responsible for reporting to the Chancellor, Mayor, the Mayor’s Office of Criminal Justice, NYPD Commissioner, and public organizations who work with researchers. From February 2015 to February 2016, the SCLT studied best practices in NYC schools and schools in other jurisdictions, and in July 2016, the SCLT proposed various recommendations to the Mayor, Chancellor, and other relevant individuals around ways to make schools safer while decreasing suspensions, arrests, and summons.

Since then, the administration has incorporated various of the SCLT’s recommendations. For example, the administration adopted the SCLT’s recommendation of ending suspensions of students in kindergarten through second grade. The DOE now uses “more age-appropriate discipline techniques” for students in these grades. Furthermore, as recommended by the SCLT, the DOE increased data reporting and transparency on current school climate programs, such as restorative practices, to evaluate necessary amendments to such program and gather ideas on ways to expand them.

In addition, in their 2016 report, the SCLT proposed numerous mental health recommendations that were implemented by the Administration to improve school climate. As recommended by the SCLT, the Administration increased mental health services to support students in high-need schools. In fact, more than $15 million will be allocated annually, through ThriveNYC, to offer 50 or more schools mental health services for three years. Additionally, the DOE implemented “pilot mandatory reengagement restorative circles for students returning from superintendent suspensions within the 20 schools receiving Safe and Supportive Opportunity Expanded.”

G. DOE School Climate Dedicated Staff

Prior to the creation of the SCLT, the DOE had created several staffing positions specifically aimed at fostering positive school climates. In July 2015, the DOE created the Director of School Climate position within the OSYD. The Director of School Climate is tasked with developing internal capacity and systems to increase positive discipline supports in DOE schools. Additionally, the DOE developed seven Borough Field Support Centers to enhance training and coaching for school staff. With at least one Field Support

107 Id.
108 Id.
111 Id.
113 Id.
Executive Director in every borough, these individuals are responsible for school climate “initiatives, de-escalation/crisis management, school counseling support and attendance.”

V. Issues and Concerns

Despite the myriad laws, regulations, programs, and initiatives focused on addressing issues related to bullying, harassment, and discrimination, the issue — and its negative effect on students and the school environment — persists. The Committee is particularly interested in learning about how the requirements of federal, state, local laws, and DOE policies are implemented by the DOE, and how such implementation is evaluated.

A. Communication and Training About Policies and Protocols

According to advocates, communication regarding policies and protocols is not consistent across all schools. For example, although principals are required to designate at least one full-time RFA liaison at each school, advocates have noted that information about each school’s RFA liaison is not readily available. Thus, students and parents may not know who they should contact to report bullying behavior, or how to contact such individuals. Advocates also report concerns about the effectiveness of the turn-key model for trainings (whereby RFA liaisons receive training and then are responsible for training other school staff on bullying and harassment-related issues). In particular, the content of such trainings is not made publicly available.

B. Underreporting of Data By Students and Staff

As an initial concern, many students, particularly those in vulnerable populations, may not report incidents when they occur. LGBTQ and TGNC students, in particular, may not report incidents of bullying and harassment because they do not believe adults will effectively address the issue. According to the Gay, Lesbian, and Straight Education Network (GLSEN) 2015 national school climate survey, many LGBTQ students did not report incidents “because they doubted that effective intervention would occur or the situation could become worse if reported.” In fact, 57.6% of LGBTQ students who were assaulted or harassed did not inform school staff, and 63.5% of LGBTQ students who filed reports indicated that the school did nothing to address their victimization.

Moreover, even when students do report incidents, those incidents may not be reported by staff. As discussed in the Committee’s October 2016 committee report, NYC schools have historically underreported incidents of harassment, bullying, and discrimination. A 2016 report released by State Attorney General Eric

122 Id.
Schneiderman highlighted this issue. Along with the underreporting of incidents in NYC schools, the report stated that schools also demonstrated confusion on how to report incidents. The most frequent incident classification reported was “other” (441 incidents), followed by gender (431 incidents) and sexual orientation (284 incidents). The report highlighted that this issue is exacerbated by a lack of information provided to staff on how to classify and report incidents as well schools’ failing to inform students, staff, and parents about school guidelines, policies, and procedures for reporting incidents. The report noted that this was of particular concern for parents of English Language Learners, especially those parents who did not speak or read English.

According to the most recent DASA data available, 765 DOE schools reported zero material incidents of bullying, harassment, or discrimination in SY 2015-16. 772 DOE schools reported between one and ten material incidents. The underreporting by schools and lack of awareness by school staff raises the question of how much training is provided to staff regarding DASA reporting and bullying awareness and prevention, and whether such training is effective. The underreporting of bullying, harassment, and discrimination is preventing the City and State from using such data to combat this prominent issue in public schools, while leaving certain vulnerable populations of students to deal with the consequences of such negative treatment.

C. Use of Data and Proactive Measures to Address Issues

Finally, the Committee is interested in learning more about how the DOE utilizes the wealth of data that it collects. Each year, the DOE administers the NYC School Survey to students in grades 6-12, teachers, and public school parents. The DOE’s 2017 School Survey included more than one million respondents. According to the DOE, this survey is administered to help “school leaders understand what key members of the school community say about the learning environment at each school.”

The chart appended to this report as Appendix B was developed using data from the DOE’s 2017 Student School Survey results. The chart only includes schools in which more than 35% of student respondents indicated that they disagreed or strongly disagreed with survey question 7c, which reads, “I feel safe in the hallways, bathrooms, locker rooms, and cafeteria of this school.” Notably, an additional 53 schools had 30-35% of students respond that they strongly disagreed or disagreed with the same survey question; however these schools are not included in the chart. The chart also includes information on other school climate-related questions for these 20 schools. Additionally, the chart includes the number of guidance counselors and social workers, and the student-to-guidance counselor & social worker ratio in each respective school for the 2015-16 school year, which is the most current data available.

Overall, the survey results show that students in these 20 schools do not feel safe inside of their schools. In fact, in eight of the 20 schools, more than 40% of students reported that they did not feel safe in the hallways, bathrooms, locker rooms, and cafeteria of their school. Furthermore, 81% of student respondents at P.S. 81 and 51% of student respondents at Frederick Douglass Academy V. Middle School reported that they did not feel safe in these locations. Also, many students reported that they did not feel safe inside of classrooms, including 80% of student respondent at P.S. 181, and 36% of student respondents at Bronx Design and Construction Academy.

In addition to not feeling safe, students at these 20 schools reported high rates of bullying, harassment, and intimidation. In fact, at I.S. 232, 78% of student respondents indicated that students at their schools harass, bully, or intimidate other students some or most of the time. Furthermore, 36% of respondents at that school indicated that such behavior happened most of the time. All but one of the 20 schools had more than 50% of respondents indicate that bullying, harassment, or intimidation happens some or most of the time in their schools.

Despite the high prevalence of students not feeling safe inside of their schools, each of these 20 schools had a high student-to-guidance counselor and social worker ratio during the 2015-16 school year. Bronx Design and Construction Academy, which had the lowest ratio of the 20 schools, had student-to-guidance counselor and social worker ratio of 83. I.S. 119, which had the highest ratio of the 20 schools, had a 1,190:1 student-to-guidance counselor and social worker ratio.

Notably, students at many DOE schools with low student-to-guidance counselor and social worker ratios reported higher rates of feeling safe. For example, during SY 2015-16, Harvey Milk High School, which had a student-to-guidance counselor and social worker ratio of 31, had 100% of students respond that they feel safe in the hallways, bathrooms, locker rooms, and cafeteria. Additionally, none of the students at that school indicated that they feel unsafe in their classrooms, and only 16% of these students reported that students bullied, intimidated, or harassed other students some or most of the time.

In addition to the DOE’s 2017 Student School Survey data, which demonstrates that many students feel unsafe in their schools, parent feedback data shows that many parents do not feel that their child is safe in DOE schools. In fact, at more than 30 DOE schools, including pre-k, more than 20% of parents taking the survey indicated that their child was not safe at their school.

Additionally, the DOE’s 2017 Teacher Survey data demonstrates that a significant number of DOE schools are struggling to foster a positive school climate. For example, at more than 100 DOE schools, 50% or more teachers indicated that they strongly disagreed or disagreed with question 6e, which reads “at this school, order and discipline are maintained.” Furthermore, at more than 400 DOE schools, more than 50% of teachers indicated that students at their school harass, bully, or intimidate other students some or most of the time.

VI. Analysis of Legislation

Int. No. 1757-A - A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring the department of education to report information on student-to-student bullying, harassment, intimidation and discrimination

Since its initial hearing, the bill has received several amendments such as clarifying that the reporting requirements apply to both students who were targeted by bullying behavior and those who were engaged in the bullying behavior, amending the dates on which certain information is due based on when such information will become available.

Section one of Int. 1757-A would add a new chapter 18 to title 21-A of the Administrative Code. Section one would provide the following definitions: “complaint” would mean an oral or written complaint submitted to the department that contains allegations of violations of chancellor’s regulation A-832 involving student-to-student bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination; “material incident” would mean an incident alleged in a complaint that the DOE has investigated pursuant to, and has determined to be in violation of, chancellor’s regulation A-832; “notice” would mean notice provided by the department to a parent whose child was alleged in a complaint to have been targeted by or engaged in bullying, harassment, intimidation, or discrimination in violation of chancellor’s regulation A-832, and that advises such parent of the outcome of the investigation; “school” would mean a school of the city school district of the city of New York that contains any combination of grades from and including pre-kindergarten through grade 12; “student” would mean any pupil under the age of twenty-one as of September first of the academic period being reported, who does not have a high school diploma and who is enrolled in a school; and “unique complaint” would mean a non-duplicate complaint.

The bill would require the DOE to submit a report for the preceding school semester to the Council and post such report on its website, beginning on May 31, 2018 and every six months thereafter before November 30 and May 31, respectively. The report would be required to include, for each community school district and each individual high school: (i) the total number of unique complaints; and (ii), the total number of material incidents, and the number of such material incidents that were related to each of the following categories: race, ethnicity or national origin or both, religion, gender, weight, gender identity, gender expression or sexual orientation, or any combination thereof and disability.

The legislation would also require the DOE to report, beginning on November 30, 2018 and annually thereafter, a description of any resources and support provided by the DOE to schools related to preventing, reporting and addressing incidents of student-to-student bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination; a description of any trends reflected in the data, including any trends related to the types of incidents determined by the department to be material incidents of student-to-student bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination in violation of chancellor’s regulation A-832; a description of any recommendations to address any such trends, including, but not limited to, additional training for relevant staff members; and, for each school, whether such school has completed the training required pursuant to chancellor’s regulation A-832 for (i) students; (ii) staff, including non-instructional staff and (iii) the school’s respect for all liaison.

Further, the bill would require the DOE to include in the reports beginning May 31, 2020 the following information: the total number of notices provided, disaggregated by whether notice was provided to parents of students (i) who were targeted by, or were alleged to have been targeted by, bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination or (ii) engaged in, or were alleged to have been engaged in, bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination; and the average and median number of days between the receipt of a complaint and the provision of notice related to such complaint, disaggregated by whether the notices were provided to parents of students (i) who were targeted by, or were alleged to have been targeted by, bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination or (ii) engaged in, or were alleged to have been engaged in, bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination.

Beginning with the report due on November 30, 2020, all of the November reports would be required to include: the total number of students who have been determined by the department to have been involved in two or more material incidents within a school year, disaggregated by whether students (i) were targeted by bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination or (ii) were engaged in bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination; and the total number of students identified in paragraph 1 of subdivision e for whom follow-up action was recommended, including a description of the follow-up action recommended, disaggregated by whether students (i) were targeted by bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination or (ii) were engaged in bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination.

The legislation would also provide that none of the information reported would violate any applicable provision of federal, state or local law relating to the privacy of student information.

Section two of the legislation would provide that the law would take effect immediately.
Int. No. 1538-A - A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring the department of education to post contact information for each school related to reporting incidents of bullying, harassment, intimidation and discrimination

Since its initial hearing, the bill has received several amendments including clarifying the range of school staff to whom reports may be made, including the Dignity Act Coordinator that each school is required to have under state law.

Section one of Int. No. 1538-A would add a new section to chapter 18 of title 21-A of the Administrative Code. Section one of the bill would provide the following definitions: “dignity act coordinator” would mean the person or persons identified pursuant to paragraph a of subdivision 1 of section 13 of the education law as the school employee charged with receiving reports of harassment, bullying and discrimination, and responsible for discharging the responsibilities of the dignity act coordinator pursuant to subdivision jj of section 100.2 of title 8 of the New York codes, rules and regulations; and “school” would mean a school of the city school district of the city of New York that contains any combination of grades from and including pre-kindergarten through grade 12.

The legislation would require the DOE to list on its website information regarding how students, parents, and staff may report incidents of bullying, harassment, intimidation or discrimination, including information about the school-based staff to whom such reports may be made, and email addresses the DOE has designated to receive reports, and information explaining that additional information is available on individual schools’ websites.

Further, the bill would also require the DOE to post on each school’s individual website, in addition to the information required above, contact information for the school’s designated Dignity Act Coordinator. Section one would require the DOE to update relevant information at least twice per year, as necessary.

Section two of the bill would provide that the bill takes effect 60 days after a local law amending the administrative code of the city of New York relating to requiring the department of education to report information on student-to-student bullying, harassment, intimidation and discrimination, as proposed in introduction number 1757-A, takes effect.

Report of the Committee on Finance

Report for Int. No. 1737

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving and adopting, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the establishment of the Morris Park business improvement district.

The Committee on Finance, to which the annexed proposed local law was referred on October 17, 2017 (Minutes, page 3570), respectfully

REPORTS:

INTRODUCTION

On December 11, 2017, the Committee on Finance, chaired by Council Member Julissa Ferreras-Copeland, will hold a second hearing on Introduction (Int.) Number (No.) 1737, A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the establishment of the Morris Park business improvement district, sponsored by Council Member Ferreras-Copeland and Council Member James Vacca. The Committee first considered this legislation at a hearing on October 31, 2017, at which time the Committee heard testimony from the Department of Small Business Services (SBS), as well as representatives from the Morris Park Business Improvement District (BID) Steering Committee, in support of the establishment of the BID.

BACKGROUND

Under Local Law 82 of 1990, the City Council assumed responsibility for adopting the legislation that would establish individual business improvement districts (BIDs). BIDs, which are specifically established areas, use the City’s property tax collection mechanism to approve a special tax assessment with which to fund additional services that would enhance the area and improve local business. The additional services are normally in the areas of security, sanitation, physical/capital improvements (lighting, landscaping, sidewalks, etc.), seasonal activities (Christmas lighting) and related business services (marketing and advertising). The District Management Association of a BID carries out the activities described in the BID’s district plan.

Under the process established by law, the Council previously approved Resolution (Res.) No. 1679 on October 17, 2017, which set the date for a public hearing on Int. No. 1737 as October 31, 2017. Prior to the Council’s adoption of Res. No. 1679, the City Planning Commission (“CPC”) reviewed the proposed BID and held a public hearing on July 12, 2017. The CPC approved a resolution on August 9, 2017 (Calendar No. 27), which certified the CPC’s unqualified approval of the establishment of the BID.

Res. No. 1679 directed that all notice provisions contained in the Administrative Code be complied with. Therefore, the Department of Small Business Services was directed to publish the Resolution or its summary in the City Record or a newspaper of general circulation not less than 10 nor more than 30 days before the public hearing. The Morris Park BID Steering Committee was directed to mail the Resolution or its summary to each owner of real property within the proposed extended district at the address shown on the latest City assessment roll, to such other persons as are registered with the City to receive tax bills for property within the BID, and to occupants of each building within the proposed extended district, also not less than 10 nor more than 30 days before the public hearing. Finally, the Morris Park BID Steering Committee was also directed to publish in a newspaper of general circulation a notice stating the time and place of the hearing and stating the increase in the amount to be expended annually in the District not less than 10 days prior to the hearing.

As noted, the Committee held a public hearing on October 31, 2017. The public hearing to consider both the plan itself and the enacting legislation, pursuant to the provisions of the law, was then closed without a vote. The Committee was then required wait at least 30 days before it could again consider and possibly vote to approve this legislation. The 30-day period immediately after this public hearing serves as an objection period. During this time period, any property owner was permitted to formally object to the plan by filing such objection in the Office of the City Clerk, on forms provided by the City Clerk. In the event that either at least 51 percent of the total number of property owners or owners with at least 51 percent of the assessed valuation of all the benefited real property within the district object to the plan, then the City Council is prohibited, by law, from approving such plan.

According to SBS, out of the 188 owners of record in the BID, one valid objection and one invalid objection were filed. Therefore, the Council is not prohibited from approving the plan.

As the Committee now considers this legislation after the conclusion of the objection period, without the requisite number of objections filed to prohibit the establishment of the BID, it must next answer the following four questions:

1) Were all notices of hearing for all hearings required to be held published and mailed as so required?
2) Does all the real property within the district's boundaries benefit from the establishment of the district, except as otherwise provided by the law?
3) Is all real property benefited by the district included within the district?
4) Is the establishment of the district in the best interests of the public?

If the Committee finds in the affirmative on these four questions then the legislation can be adopted.

MORRIS PARK BID

The proposed Morris Park BID (also referred to as the “District”) would be located along Morris Park Avenue in the Morris Park neighborhood of the Bronx. The BID consists of 188 properties alongside both sides of Morris Park Avenue, bounded by Unionport Road to the west and Williamsbridge Road to the east. This area is a low-density, pedestrian friendly commercial corridor, which provides neighborhood-scale retail, services and entertainment. The District includes restaurants, boutiques, and other specialized retail; health, legal, real estate and financial institutions; and beauty, hair and nail salons. There are also several houses of worship, government offices and a public library. Of the area’s 188 properties, 152 are partially or wholly commercial properties.

The District projects a first year budget of $390,000. The assessed contribution is based on a linear lot front footage. The BID’s sponsor has indicated projected assessments as follows in the first year of operation:

- Commercial and mixed-use lots would be assessed at an approximate rate of $42.50 per front foot per year, plus an additional $300 fee if the parcel occupies a corner;

IMPACT ON REVENUES AND EXPENDITURES: This local law would result in no fiscal impact upon the City's revenues or expenditures. Under the administrative code of the city of New York, proceeds authorized to be assessed by the District are collected by the City on behalf of the District. None of these proceeds are those of the City and they may not be used for any purpose other than those set forth in the BID’s District Plan. The Morris Park BID will be funded through a self-assessment by property owners within the district. The anticipated revenues from this self-assessment in Fiscal 2018 will be $390,000. This amount will cover the BID’s expenses, as proposed by its first year budget. Subsequent budgets will be determined on a yearly basis with a maximum cost of improvements to operate the BID of $3,900,000.

Report for Int. No. 1783

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving and adopting, a Local Law to amend the administrative code for the city of New York, in relation to amending a definition related to a credit against the commercial rent tax.

The Committee on Finance, to which the annexed preconsidered proposed local law was referred on December 11, 2017, respectfully

REPORTS:

I. Introduction

Today, the Committee on Finance will conduct a hearing on a Preconsidered Introduction (Intro.) No. 1783, a Local Law to amend the administrative code for the city of New York, in relation to amending a definition related to a credit against the commercial rent tax. This bill would amend a section of the Administrative Code added by Proposed Intro. 799-B, which was enacted by the Council on November 30, 2017.

II. Analysis of Preconsidered Intro. No. 1783

Section 1 of Preconsidered Intro. No. 1783 would amend §11-704.4 of the Administrative Code, as added by a local law for the year 2017 amending the Administrative Code relating to the commercial rent tax, as proposed in introduction number 799-B, by amending two definitions therein.

The term “base rent” would be redefined as “small business tax credit base rent.”

The term “total income” would include a clarification that for tenants who are limited liability companies, or other business entities not separate from their owners for purposes of federal income taxation, total income would be defined as the total income of the person that reports the activities of the tenant as its sole owner for federal income tax purposes.

Section 2 of Preconsidered Intro. No. 1783 establishes that the local law takes effect on the same date as a local law for the year 2017 amending the Administrative Code relating to the commercial rent tax, as proposed in introduction number 799-B, takes effect.

FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

PRECONSIDERED INTRO. NO: 1783

COMMITTEE: Finance
TITLE: To amend the administrative code for the city of New York, in relation to amending a definition related to a credit against the commercial rent tax

SPONSOR(S): Council Member Garodnick

SUMMARY OF LEGISLATION: This Preconsidered Intro. would make a technical adjustment to the Small Business Tax Credit against the commercial rent tax (CRT), as set forth in Proposed Intro. 799-B, which was passed by the City Council on November 30, 2017. This legislation would amend the definitions of “base rent” to use the term “small business tax credit base rent” to distinguish that base rent for purposes of the Credit is calculated differently than in other instances of the calculation of “base rent” for the CRT. The definition of “total income” would be amended to clarify that for tenants who are limited liability companies or other business entities that are not separate from their owners for federal income tax purposes, total income would be defined as total income of the person that reports the activities of the tenant as its sole owner for federal income tax purposes.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This local law would take effect on the same date as a local law for the year 2017 amending the administrative code of the city of New York relating to the commercial rent tax, as proposed in introduction number 799-B, takes effect.

IMPACT ON EXPENDITURES: It is estimated that this bill would not have an impact on expenditures.

RE: Finance Committee Agenda of December 11, 2017 - Resolution approving tax exemption for two Land Use items (Council Districts 2 and 36)

Item 1: Cooper Square Senior Housing

Cooper Square Senior Housing (the “Project”) is a United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (“HUD”) Section 202 housing project for low-income seniors, located on East 5th Street in Manhattan. The Project contains 150 one-bedroom units, and 1 two-bedroom superintendent’s unit. There is no commercial or community facility space in the building.

The Project initially received a partial Article XI tax exemption in 1983. It is now planning to prepay its original HUD mortgage with bridge financing from Enterprise Community Loan Fund and refinance the bridge loan with a Section 223(f) HUD-insured mortgage. Since the current Article XI exemption in place will terminate upon the prepayment of the original HUD mortgage, the Project is seeking an interim Article XI for the duration of the bridge financing. The Project will be subject to a five-year Regulatory Agreement with HPD restricting all of the dwelling units upon vacancy to households at or below 50% Average Median Income (AMI).

The development consists of a 6-story brick elevator building with a basement, and contains 10 one-bedroom units, 29 two-bedroom units and 13 three-bedroom units. There is no commercial or community facility space in the building. The residential building is approximately 45,000 square feet. The estimated average square footages from current ownership are 480 square feet for the one-bedroom units, 700 square feet for the two-bedroom units and 970 square feet for the three-bedroom units.

The original project-based Section 8 contract was issued for the development when the building was newly constructed in 1973. The building’s prior owner had an exemption for the property; however, the exemption was only for the particular owner and did not continue with the property upon transfer of ownership.

Saint Marks Apartments was purchased by Saint Marks Investors LLC in October 2017, as a beneficial owner, with Saint Marks Apartments HDFC as the fee owner via a nominee agreement. The principals of Saint Marks Investors LLC are also principals of the Arker Companies, who have developed more than 30 affordable housing projects in partnership with the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD). Report for Int. No. 1062-A Report of the Committee on General Welfare in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring a study on the feasibility of providing language classes to certain children in foster care.

The Committee on General Welfare, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on February 5, 2016 (Minutes, page 311), respectfully

REPORTS:

I. Introduction

On December 7, 2017, the Committee on General Welfare, chaired by Council Member Stephen Levin, will hold a hearing on Proposed Int. 1062-A, in relation to requiring a study on the feasibility of providing language classes to certain children in foster care. This will be the second hearing on the bill; the first hearing was on December 14, 2016. At that hearing, representatives from the Administration for Children’s Services (ACS), advocates, and other concerned members of the community testified. Amendments were made to the bill after the hearing.

II. Bill Analysis - Proposed Int. No. 1062-A

After the first hearing on the bill, Proposed Int. 1062-A was amended to require ACS to study the feasibility of providing language classes. Proposed Int. 1062-A would require that by January 1, 2019, ACS would complete a study regarding its ability to provide access to language classes for any child between the ages of 3 years and 12 years who was removed from the custody of parents or guardians that are limited English proficient individuals and who has been in the custody of ACS for at least 6 months. The bill would require the study to include: (1) the number of children in the foster care system meeting the criteria; (2) the languages spoken by the children; (3) the languages spoken by the individuals from whom the children were removed; (4) strategies to assess the language needs of such children; and (5) barriers to addressing the needs. Proposed Int. 1062-A would also require ACS initiate a process to identify and track whether parents or guardians of children removed pursuant to article 10 of the family court act are limited English proficient individuals. Proposed Int. 1062-A would take effect 180 days after it becomes law and is deemed repealed after the posting and submission of the report due July 1, 2019, required by subdivision b of section 21-918 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by section one of this local law.

Impact on Revenues: There would be no impact on revenues resulting from this legislation.

Based on information from ACS, we expect the agency to engage a consultant at an approximate one-time cost of $50,000. ACS can use existing resources to implement findings from the study.

SUMMARY OF LEGISLATION: Under existing law, buildings owned as cooperatives and condominiums are eligible for J-51 tax benefits only if they have an average assessed value of $30,000 or less per dwelling unit. On September 29, 2016, the Governor signed legislation authorizing New York City to increase the assessed value limitation for J-51 tax abatements. Pursuant to this legislation, Proposed Intro. No. 1764-A would increase the assessed value limitation for J-51 tax abatements to $32,000 per dwelling unit for the final assessment roll to be completed in 2017, and would further increase such limit each year by the cost-of-living adjustment percentage, up to a maximum of $35,000 per dwelling unit.

IMPACT ON REVENUES: It is estimated that there would be some impact on revenues resulting from the enactment of this legislation. The financial plan currently estimates that the foregone revenue as a result of this program in Fiscal 2017 will total $286.9 million covering 509,914 units. This reflects $205.2 million for 22,197 exemptions and $81.7 million for 80,234 abatements. Council Finance estimates that 4,280 additional units would qualify for an exemption and abatement if the ceiling was raised to $32,000 (up from $30,000), and the average assessed values would increase by $480. At full participation rate, it is estimated that the foregone revenue resulting from properties qualifying after the passage of this legislation will total $2,054,400, and increase in accordance with the cost-of-living adjustment percentage pursuant to the legislation. However, this estimate assumes that the full participation of newly eligible properties would occur after a ten-year period. As such, it is estimated that the foregone revenue resulting from properties qualifying after the passage of this legislation will be $205,440 in Fiscal 2018 and $410,880 in Fiscal 2019.

IMPACT ON EXPENDITURES: It is anticipated that there would be no impact on expenditures resulting from the enactment of this legislation because existing resources would be used by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development and the Department of Finance to implement the provisions of this local law.

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to J-51 benefit eligibility

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:
Section 1. Subdivision i-1 of section 11-243 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 48 for the year 2013, is amended to read as follows:

i-1. (a) For purposes of this subdivision, “substantial governmental assistance” shall mean:

(i) grants, loans or subsidies from any federal, state or local agency or instrumentality in furtherance of a program for the development of affordable housing approved by the department of housing preservation and development, including, without limitation, financing or insurance provided by the state of New York mortgage agency or the New York city residential mortgage insurance corporation; or

(ii) a written agreement between a housing development fund corporation and the department of housing preservation and development limiting the incomes of persons entitled to purchase shares or rent housing accommodations therein.

(b) With respect to conversions, alterations or improvements completed on or after December thirty-first, two thousand eleven:

(i) except as otherwise provided in this section with respect to multiple dwellings, buildings and structures owned and operated either by limited-profit housing companies established pursuant to article two of the private housing finance law or redevelopment companies established pursuant to article five of the private housing finance law, or with respect to a group of multiple dwellings that was developed as a planned community and that is owned as two separate condominiums containing a total of ten thousand or more dwelling units, any multiple dwelling, building or structure that is owned as a cooperative or a condominium that has an average assessed value [of thirty thousand dollars or more] per dwelling unit that exceeds the assessed valuation limitation as provided in paragraph (e) of this subdivision shall only be eligible for such benefits if the alterations or improvements for which such multiple dwelling, building or structure has applied for the benefits pursuant to this section were carried out with substantial governmental assistance, and

(ii) no benefits pursuant to this section shall be granted for the conversion of any non-residential building or structure into a class A multiple dwelling unless such conversion was carried out with substantial governmental assistance[.]

(c) If the conversions, alterations or improvements for which such multiple dwelling, building or structure has applied for benefits pursuant to this section are not completed on the date upon which such department of housing preservation and development inspects the items of work claimed in such application, the department of housing preservation and development shall require the applicant to pay two times the actual cost for any additional inspections needed to verify the completion of such conversion, alteration or improvement.

(d) The revocation of benefits granted to any multiple dwelling, building or structure pursuant to this section shall not exempt any dwelling unit therein from continued compliance with the requirements of this section or of any local law or ordinance providing for benefits pursuant to this section.

(e) Assessed value limitation. (i) For final assessment rolls to be completed prior to two thousand seventeen, the assessed value limitation shall be thirty thousand dollars.

(ii) For the final assessment roll to be completed in two thousand seventeen, the assessed value limitation shall be thirty-two thousand dollars increased by the cost-of-living adjustment percentage of two thousand seventeen. For the purposes of this computation, the cost-of-living adjustment percentage of two thousand seventeen shall be equal to the "applicable increase percentage" used by the United States commissioner of social security to determine the monthly social security benefits payable in two thousand seventeen to individuals, as provided by subsection (i) of section four hundred fifteen of title forty-two of the United States code.

(iii) For final assessment rolls to be completed in each ensuing year, the applicable assessed value limitation, cost-of-living adjustment percentage and applicable increase percentage shall all be advanced by one year, and the assessed valuation limitation shall be the previously applicable assessed value limitation increased by the new cost-of-living adjustment percentage. If there should be a year for which there is no applicable increase percentage due to a general benefit increase as defined by subdivision three of subsection (i) of section four hundred fifteen of title forty-two of the United States code, the applicable increase percentage for purposes of this computation shall be deemed to be the percentage which would have yielded that general benefit increase.

(iv) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the assessed value limitation shall not at any time exceed thirty-five thousand dollars.

Report of the Committee on Land Use

Report for Int. No. 1533-A

Report of the Committee on Land Use in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the New York city charter, in relation to publication and reporting requirements for urban renewal plans.

The Committee on Land Use, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on April 5, 2017 (Minutes, page 980), respectfully

REPORTS:

I. INTRODUCTION

On June 15, 2017, the Committee on Land Use held a hearing on Introduction Number 1533, a Local Law in relation to notice and reporting requirements for summary action involving urban renewal plans. Representatives of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD), the Department of City Planning (DCP), the City Planning Commission (CPC), the Urban Justice Center, 596 Acres, CAAV Organizing Asian Communities, and Good Old Lower East Side, testified. The bill was subsequently amended as Proposed Introduction Number 1533-A, a Local Law to amend the New York city charter, in relation to publication and reporting requirements for urban renewal plans. On December 7, 2017, the Committee voted to approve the amended legislation.

II. BACKGROUND

During the Great Depression, owners of large urban real estate holdings worried that unsanitary blighted neighborhoods would take over cities and that wealthier people would move to the suburbs, taking the city tax bases with them.¹ During this period members of the middle and upper-income classes campaigned for urban redevelopment to clear “slums” and replace aging building stock with new infrastructure, schools, sewers and downtown development.² Urban renewal efforts were blocked by the economic reality that many so-called “slum” areas were, in spite of their unsanitary or unsafe conditions, centers of profit for the property owners. Consequently, “slum” landowners were reluctant to sell their properties at low prices or at all, discouraging the efforts of redevelopers.³ However, after World War II, Congress passed the Housing Act of 1949, providing subsides for clearance of blighted areas through the use of eminent domain and the development of low and middle-income housing and community facilities.4

To take advantage of state and federal subsidies for urban development, the City Planning Commission under Robert Moses began to designate vast swaths of the city as urban renewal areas.5 An urban renewal area (URA) is an area of the City that has been designated by the City Planning Commission (CPC) and the Council as appropriate for urban renewal because it is blighted, deteriorated, or has a blighting influence on the surrounding area.6 As defined by New York State General Municipal Law (GML), urban renewal is a program established by a municipality for the redevelopment of a URA through clearance, relocation, replanning, reconstruction, rehabilitation, and concentrated code enforcement.7 To effect the provisions of urban renewal projects, cities are authorized to demolish, clear, and acquire property by condemnation and other means, and to dispose of property so cleared and acquired to an eligible sponsor consistent with an urban renewal plan.8

An urban renewal plan (URP) is a plan for an urban renewal project in a designated URA.9 At minimum, an URP must include a statement of proposed land uses within the URA, proposed land acquisition, demolition and clearance, proposed acquisitions of air rights and easements, proposed methods and techniques for urban renewal, proposed public, private or community facilities or utilities, a statement of new codes and laws necessary to effectuate the plan, and a schedule for effectuating the plan.10 In New York City, such plans are prepared by the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) and must be approved subject to ULURP by CPC and the Council.11

An URP does not change the zoning of a URA, but it may authorize HPD to impose land use requirements more restrictive than those contained in the Zoning Resolution (ZR) on properties acquired pursuant to an URP. For such requirements to be effective, HPD must include them in the instrument of conveyance between the City and the sponsor who agrees to redevelop the property in accordance with the URP.12 HPD must also record such requirements in the deed or lease for the property such that they run with the land for the duration of the URP.13 Typically, when a URP expires, the restrictions imposed by contract and recorded in the deed expire. The owner of the property is then free to develop the property as of right consistent with the ZR. This may result in new development with a substantially higher floor area ratio (FAR) than properties in the URA developed pursuant to the more restrictive requirements of the URP.14

To prevent FAR and use restrictions from lapsing at the end of an urban renewal plan, stakeholders have two tools: stakeholders can appeal to the CPC to extend the duration of the URP or they can appeal to the CPC to rezone the URA so that future development is consistent with structures developed in accordance with the URP. Extending the duration of the URP will not automatically extend land use restrictions on properties that have already been disposed to sponsors. Because URP land use restrictions are imposed by contract, a future amendment of the URP will only apply if the parties agreed at the time of sale. Otherwise, modification of the duration of restrictions in the instrument of conveyance is subject to the owner’s consent. Amending the ZR to codify restrictions in the URP does not require owner consent, but it does require ULURP, which can take a significant amount of time.15 If stakeholders don’t start the ULURP process early enough, the URP restrictions can lapse, opening a window for as-of-right development before the zoning text is amended.

Preventing out-of-scale development requires that the community and its elected officials have advance notice of when URP land use restrictions will lapse. In areas where URPs have already expired, it requires that interested parties are aware that that the characteristics of existing structures may have been determined by URP disposition contracts rather than what could otherwise be developed as-of-right pursuant to zoning.

III. DEVELOPMENT PLANS IN EXPIRED URBAN RENEWAL AREAS

Since 1949 the City has designated over 150 URAs. Sixty-four of those URAs are subject to active URPs. The City continues to acquire properties pursuant to state Urban Renewal Law, albeit on a smaller scale than in the past. The following examples illustrate impacts in URAs where URPs have expired and where developers are planning to construct buildings as-of-right pursuant to relaxed land use controls. Incongruities illustrated by the following examples are possible wherever land use restrictions under an URP are more stringent than the applicable zoning.

A. Two Bridges Urban Renewal Area

The Two Bridges Urban Renewal Area (TBURA) was designated on January 15, 1961. This area covered 14 acres along the East River in Lower Manhattan bounded by Market Street to the west, South Street to the south, Montgomery Street to the east, and Cherry Street to the north. The TBURA is located within a C6-4 zoning district, the equivalent of an R10 residential district, allowing for 10.0 FAR, exclusive of any applicable inclusionary housing bonus.

The CPC and the Board of Estimate adopted the Two Bridges Urban Renewal Plan (TBURP) in 1967. The TBURP imposed supplemental land use controls on various parcels within the TBURA. These controls were more restrictive than the existing C6-4 zoning. For example, parcel 4A had a maximum 5.0 FAR, parcel 4B had a maximum 10.0 FAR, parcel 5 had a maximum 4.4 FAR, and parcel 6A had a maximum 3.7 FAR. When the TBURP expired in 2007, the maximum FAR for all lots on the parcels went up to 10.0 and became eligible for an additional 2.0 FAR inclusionary housing bonus.

Under the TBURP, Parcel 4A/4B (hereinafter Site 4) was built out with 1 story retail structure, a 10 story residential building, and a 21 story residential building. Cherry Street Owner (an affiliate of JDS Development Group and Two Bridges Senior Apartments LLP) have acquired property in Site 4 at 247 Cherry Street to build a new mixed use, primarily residential building that would incorporate the existing 1 and 10 story structures and reach a height of 79 stories and approximately 1,008 feet. It would provide up to 660 new residential units.

The new development on Site 4 would add 615,217 gs to the site.16

Site 5 (parcel 5 of the TBURP) has two 26-story residential towers at 265 and 275 Cherry Street that were constructed in 1979 pursuant to the TBURP. Two Bridges Associates (a joint venture of CIM Group and L+M Development Partners) acquired property on the parcel at 260 South Street and now plan to build a 1,244,960 gsf mixed-use development that would include two towers on a shared base that would reach a height of 69 stories maximum height of 798 feet including mechanical screens.

Site 6 (parcel 6A), is currently occupied by a 19-story residential building located at 257 Clinton Street/275 South Street. Within this site, Starrett Development has acquired 271-283 South Street (block 246 lots 1 and 5 and lots 1000-1057) on which it plans to construct a 62-story building that would be approximately 724 feet tall and provide up to 655,463 of new residential use.

The plans for these developments only became public in 2016 after the developers filed a pre-application statement PAS with DCP stating their intent to apply for a minor modification of the Large Scale Residential Development (LSRD) covering the area. The PAS became public only after Assembly Member Alice Cancel filed a Freedom of Information Law request with DCP amid complaints from residents about overdevelopment in her district. On June 22, 2016, local, state, and federal elected officials representing the Two Bridges area wrote DCP asking that the proposed modifications be treated as major modifications of the LSRD special permit subject to ULURP. On August 11, 2016, DCP responded that it had determined that developer plans could be built as of right under the ZR and that the developers requests were indeed only minor modifications of the LSRD, limiting the input of local residents, community advocates, elected officials, and all other stakeholders to the environmental impact scoping hearing scheduled on March 27, 2017. The projects are now in the environmental review process.

B. LINCOLN SQUARE URBAN RENEWAL AREA

The Lincoln Square Urban Renewal Area (LSURA) was designated in 1957 to clear land for the development of Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, the Fordham University Lincoln Center Campus, and residential and commercial developments. The centerpiece of Robert Moses’s urban renewal efforts, the LSURA occupied 14 blocks on the Upper West Side, including one area bounded by West 60th Street to the south, Columbus Avenue to the west, Broadway to the northwest, West 66th Street to the north and Amsterdam Avenue to the east, and a second area bounded by West 66th Street to the south, Amsterdam Avenue to the east, West 70th Street to the north, and Freedom Place to the west. The Board of Estimate adopted the Lincoln Square Urban Renewal Plan (LSURP) on November 26, 1957. The LSURP imposed various land use restrictions for the 40-year duration of the plan, which expired in 1997.
Parcel 1, bounded by West 66th Street, West 70th Street, Amsterdam Avenue, and West End Avenue, was located in an R8 zoning area subject to no height limitations under the ZR. The LSURP restricted the use of Parcel 1 to multi-family residential development and imposed a maximum height of 29 stories or 300 feet, whichever was less.

Parcel 6, a 12,000 square foot parcel located at 200 Amsterdam Avenue near the northwest corner of Parcel 1, was located in the same unlimited height R8 zoning area, with a C2-5 commercial overlay. The LSURP restricted the use of Parcel 6 to an institutional use and limited the height to 4 stories or 60 feet, whichever was less. From 1971 until 2013, the Lincoln Square Synagogue occupied the site.

In 2007, Lincoln Square Synagogue, seeking a larger site to build a new synagogue, entered into a land swap with American Continental Properties (ACP), under which Lincoln Square Synagogue acquired 180 Amsterdam Avenue (Block 1158, Lot 18) in exchange for the property at 200 Amsterdam Avenue. After the exchange, ACP began acquiring development rights from as far away as West End Avenue. ACP increased the size of the 200 Amsterdam site 10-fold to 100,000 sq. ft. by merging it with the newly acquired rights in a new zoning lot. With the merged lot, developers SJP Properties, in partnership with Mitsui Fudosan America, secured as-of-right building permits to build a 55-story, 668 ft. condominium tower, the tallest on the Upper West Side. On May 15, the Committee for Environmentally Sound Development filed a zoning challenge with the Department of Buildings requesting that the permits be rescinded.

IV. ANALYSIS OF INTRODUCTION NO. 1533-A

Introduction No. 1533 would have empowered stakeholders and their elected representatives to take action to implement appropriate land use controls before the expiration of a URP. It would have done so by requiring HPD to provide advance notice of the expiration of each URP to the affected borough president, council member, and community board and by mandating the establishment of a publicly accessible online database that includes information about URPs including their duration, any extensions, and the status of acquisitions and dispositions of property pursuant to the URP.

Introduction. No. 1533-A would amend Introduction. No. 1533 by requiring that the notice of expiration of a URA be provided not less than one year in advance of such expiration and that such notice include any restrictions on use, density or design contained in such applicable URP, and the status and city planning application number of any application to change any applicable large-scale special permit or to amend such URP. The amended bill would require such notice to include a notice that upon expiration of such URP, existing zoning regulations may allow as-of-right development subject to less restrictive use and density regulations than existed under the URP.

Introduction No. 1533-A would further amend Introduction No. 1533 by expanding the requirements for the information about URAs to be posted on the City’s website. Introduction No. 1533-A would require that information about each URA be linked to the closest view of the City’s Zoning and Land use map that includes the entire area of such URA.

Introduction No. 1533-A would also add a requirement that HPD issue a report about existing and expired urban renewal plans to the speaker of the Council, the borough presidents, the affected council members, and community boards. The bill would require that the report include maps of the project boundaries of all URAs currently and formerly designated in the City, the boroughs and council districts that include real property within such project boundaries, whether such URPs are active or expired, the land use restrictions imposed pursuant to such URPs, and a notice that upon expiration of such urban renewal plans, existing zoning regulations may allow as-of-right development subject to less restrictive use, density, and design requirements.

Introduction No. 1533-A would also provide that by March 1, 2018, every lot on the City’s online zoning and land use map be linked to the website about URAs established pursuant to this bill.54

INTRODUCTION NO. 1533-A

Bill section one would add a new section 1806 to the New York City Charter as described herein.

At this point, the Speaker (Council Member Mark-Viverito) announced that the following items had been preconsidered by the Committee on Land Use and had been favorably reported for adoption.

Report for Res. No. 1761

Report of the Committee on Land Use in favor of approving a Resolution to support New York City’s application for funding for a capital project under the Restore New York Communities Initiative pursuant to the New York State Urban Development Act, for Station Plaza, in the borough of Queens.

The Committee on Land Use, to which the annexed preconsidered resolution was referred on December 11, 2017, respectfully

REPORTS:
I. Introduction

On December 7, 2017, the Committee on Land Use, chaired by Council Member David Greenfield, held a hearing on Preconsidered Res. No. 1761, a Resolution supporting New York City's application for funding for capital projects under the Restore New York Communities Initiative pursuant to the New York State Urban Development Corporation Act, for Station Plaza, in the borough of Queens. The item was approved by the committee.

II. Background

The Restore New York Communities Initiative (Restore New York), pursuant to the New York State Urban Development Act, encourages economic development and neighborhood growth by providing municipalities with financial assistance for revitalization of commercial and residential properties. The Empire State Development Corporation (ESDC) is the entity responsible for implementing this grant program. Cities, towns and villages across the State will be able to compete for funding to aid in the demolition, deconstruction, rehabilitation and/or reconstruction of vacant, abandoned, condemned and surplus properties.

Restore New York places a strong emphasis on projects in economically distressed communities. Applications for Round 5 financing under the Restore New York program are due December 15, 2017. In Round 5 the City of New York is eligible to submit one project proposal with a funding request of up to $5 million.

III. Station Plaza

The City of New York is submitting one project for funding through Restore New York located in Jamaica in Queens Community Board 12. The Site is comprised of four parcels offering a total of 40,638 square feet area. Additionally, the Site falls within several federal, state, and local zones, including the Jamaica Brownfield Opportunity Area and the South Jamaica Enterprise Zone. It is adjacent to the Jamaica Gateway Urban Renewal Area.

Located at the intersection of Archer Avenue and Sutphin Boulevard in Jamaica, Queens, Station Plaza is one of a series of three key infrastructure improvements, outlined in the 2007 Jamaica Gateway Urban Renewal Plan, meant to improve safety, alleviate traffic congestion, induce commercial investment, and integrate the area's bustling transit hub with the surrounding mixed-use district.

The Station Plaza infrastructure project will include two new public plazas, widened sidewalks, new medians, new subway entrances and circulation improvements. Jamaica is a critical transportation hub for Queens, Long Island, and all of New York City. However, the lack of amenities and the unsightly conditions in the area prevent Jamaica from reaching its full potential. These conditions create the perception of an unsafe and unfriendly area for users, which significantly discourages private investment and potential tenants from locating there and inhibits the growth of this critical regional transit asset.

This project will reduce congestion at a critical intersection, improve pedestrian safety at a facility used by thousands of commuters daily, and significantly reduce vehicle miles traveled on a regional basis by linking transportation and land use to limit patterns of sprawl.

Currently, City and State funding have helped advance critical projects in Jamaica, Queens with the intention of increasing quality jobs, supporting small businesses, promoting commercial growth and economic development, and improving livability. One example of the City’s commitment towards the revitalization and growth of Jamaica, Queens is the 21 strategic actions outlined in the Jamaica NOW Action Plan. The Plan represents approximately $153 million in public funding to address the challenges that have faced the Jamaica area in recent years by providing workforce training and small business support, initiating new mixed-use development anchored by affordable housing, and improving the livability of the neighborhood through investments in safety measures, green spaces and more.
IV. Conclusion

With the construction of Station Plaza, Jamaica will welcome a new chapter of investment for residents and visitors of this wonderful community.

Accordingly, this Committee recommends its adoption.

(The following is the text of Res. No. 1761:)

Preconsidered Res. No. 1761

Resolution to support New York City's application for funding for a capital project under the Restore New York Communities Initiative pursuant to the New York State Urban Development Act, for Station Plaza, in the borough of Queens.

By Council Members Miller and Lancman.

Whereas, The 2017-18 New York State Budget provided new funding for the Restore New York Communities Initiative (“Restore NY”), which is implemented by the New York State Empire State Development Corporation (“ESDC”) and intended to provide funding for capital projects under the New York State Urban Development Corporation Act; and

Whereas, Under Round 5 of Restore NY funding, New York City is permitted to submit applications for the funding of one capital project, receiving up to $5 million; and

Whereas, New York City has submitted a notice of intent to apply to ESDC for funding Station Plaza, in the borough of Queens; and

Whereas, Station Plaza will be located on Block 9994, Lot 38; Block 9986, Lot 70 and 73; and Block 9988, Lot 37, located in Jamaica, in the borough of Queens (“the Site”); and

Whereas, Up to $5 million is being sought by New York City in connection with the Site for demolition of four underutilized properties with a combined 40,638 square feet gross building area on parcels mapped as Public Places, adjacent to the 2007 Jamaica Gateway Urban Renewal Plan, and associated costs for hazardous material abatement and reconstruction; and

Whereas, The Jamaica Rezoning Plan, approved in September 2007, addressed zoning updates to approximately 368 blocks, aimed at promoting economic growth and development in Jamaica’s Downtown area; and

Whereas, The Site falls within several federal, state, and local zones, including the Jamaica Brownfield Opportunity Area and South Jamaica Enterprise Zone, that make it eligible for a variety of financial incentives; and

Whereas, Infrastructure improvements to the Site will improve safety, alleviate traffic congestion, induce commercial investment, and integrate the area's bustling transit hub with the surrounding mixed-use district; and

Whereas, The Site will include two new plazas, widened sidewalks, new medians, new subway entrances and circulation improvements; and

Whereas, The Council finds that the proposed Station Plaza infrastructure project is consistent with the Jamaica Gateway Urban Renewal Plan, Jamaica Rezoning Plan, and Jamaica NOW Action Plan; and

Whereas, The Council finds that the proposed financing is appropriate for Station Plaza; and

Whereas, The Council finds that using these funds for Station Plaza facilitates effective and efficient use of existing and future public resources so as to promote both economic development and preservation of community resources; and

Whereas, The Council also finds that Station Plaza will develop and enhance infrastructure in a manner that will attract, create, and sustain employment and economic development opportunities; now, therefore, be it
Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York supports New York City's application for funding for capital projects under the Restore New York Communities Initiative pursuant to the New York State Urban Development Corporation Act, for Station Plaza, in the borough of Queens.

On motion of the Speaker (Council Member Mark-Viverito), and adopted, the foregoing matter was coupled as a General Order for the day (see ROLL CALL ON GENERAL ORDERS FOR THE DAY).

Authorization to Modify the Special Street Line Provision for Parcels 2, 3 or 4

The City Planning Commission may authorize, for Parcels 2, 3 or 4, as shown on Map 1 in the Appendix to this Chapter, the modification of the definition of Major Deegan Expressway street line as set forth in paragraph (b) of Section 87-01 and associated special street line provision of paragraph (a) of Section 87-32 (Special Height and Setback Regulations in the Core Subdistrict), on condition that there shall be no less than 14 feet between the street wall of the development or enlargement and the as-built western edge of the Major Deegan Expressway. such modification will enhance the quality of the design of the development or enlargement.

Prior to granting such authorization, the City Planning Commission shall request the Department of Transportation of the State of New York to indicate within 30 days whether said agency has any plan to widen or expand the Major Deegan Expressway or its ramps.

The City Planning Commission may prescribe appropriate conditions and safeguards to promote the benefits to the surrounding area or to minimize adverse effects on the character of the surrounding area.

However, existing #buildings# to remain on the #zoning lot# need not be removed in order to comply with this requirement.

(b) A 22 foot wide walkway shall extend east of and along the #Parcel 1 building line#, linking East 149th Street and mapped parkland, or a fire apparatus access road if such road is provided adjacent to mapped parkland. In the event that a parking lot is provided east of such walkway, the easternmost seven feet of such walkway shall be densely planted with evergreen shrubs maintained at a maximum height of three feet above the adjoining walkway. Such walkway and planting strip may be interrupted to allow vehicular or pedestrian access.

(c) Any driveway located east of the #Parcel 1 building line# that extends along a sewer easement and intersects Exterior Street shall have curbs and sidewalks with a minimum width of 13 feet along each curb, which may be interrupted to allow for vehicular access to a parking lot.

Special Public Access Provisions

Special Provisions for Certain Fire Apparatus Access Roads

[NOTE: Existing 87-61 provisions moved to 87-71]

[NOTE: Existing provisions, moved from Section 87-41 and modified]
Within the Core and South Subdistricts, for Parcels 1, 2, 3, 4 and 11, where a fire apparatus access road is provided as required by New York City Fire Code Section 503.2 (Fire apparatus access roads), or its successor, the Chairperson of the City Planning Commission shall certify, in conjunction with a certification application filed pursuant to paragraph (c) of Section 62-811, the following:

(a) the road shall be constructed to minimum Department of Transportation standards for public #streets#, including two sidewalks, curbs and curb drops, lighting, signage, materials, and crosswalk, and shall meet the requirements set forth in the New York City Fire Code. For Parcels 2, 3 and 4, where a fire apparatus access road is immediately adjacent to and contiguous with the #shore public walkway#, any pedestrian path within such #shore public walkway# shall substitute for one such sidewalk, provided that at least 30 percent of such path is provided adjacent to and contiguous with the fire apparatus access road;

(b) for Parcels 2, 3, or 4, the contiguity provisions of paragraph (a) of Section 87-62 shall apply, except that where no connection for vehicular travel lanes terminating at the opposite side of a shared #lot line# exist at the time of construction, the provisions of paragraph (b) of such Section may be utilized as an interim alternative;

(c) a restrictive declaration shall be executed in accordance with the provisions of Section 87-63; and

(d) street trees shall be planted pursuant to the requirements of Section 26-41 along such fire apparatus access road as if it were a #street#.

However, the requirements of this Section shall not apply to: fire apparatus access roads on Parcels 1 and 3 that are provided pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b)(3) of Section 87-71 (Special Public Access Provisions); and to a fire apparatus access road on Parcel 11 located in the required #upland connection# within the prolongation of East 134th Street.

[ORIGINAL PROVISIONS]

Where a fire apparatus access road is provided as required by the New York City Fire Code, such road shall comply with the following requirements:

(a) the width of a paved road bed shall be 34 feet, constructed to minimum Department of Transportation standards for public #streets#, including curbs and curb drops;

(b) curbs shall be provided along each side of the entire length of such road;
(c) a minimum 13 foot paved sidewalk shall be provided adjacent to and along the entire length of the required curb;

(d) for the purposes of making the street tree requirements of Section 26.401 applicable to fire apparatus access roads, a fire apparatus access road shall be considered a street; and

(e) all such roads shall be constructed with lighting, signage, materials and crosswalks to minimum Department of Transportation standards for public streets.

87-62

Certification to Waive Supplemental Public Access Area Requirement

Contiguity of Fire Apparatus Access Road with Adjacent Zoning Lots on Parcels 2, 3 and 4

[NOTE: Existing provisions, moved to paragraph (b) of this Section]

On Parcels 2, 3 and 4, in addition to the certification provisions of Section 87-61 (Special Provisions for Certain Fire Apparatus Access Roads), a fire apparatus access road shall be provided in accordance with the provisions of this Section.

(a) Bi-Directional Road

[NOTE: Existing provisions, moved from Section 87-66 (Connection with Adjacent Zoning Lots) and modified]

On each of Parcels 2, 3 and 4, and only among such parcels, a connection for bi-directional vehicular travel lanes to an adjacent zoning lot line shall be provided. When complete, such fire apparatus access road shall provide bi-directional contiguous vehicular access from the intersection of Exterior Street and the northern boundary of Parcel 2, immediately adjacent to and contiguous with the entire southern boundary of the mapped parkland immediately adjacent to Parcel 2, immediately adjacent to and contiguous with the #shore public walkway# of Parcels 2, 3 and 4, and to within the southerly #upland connection# of Parcel 4.

Any connection of fire apparatus access roads across a shared zoning lot line must meet the grade of, and maintain the street width of, the existing adjacent fire apparatus access road. Such fire apparatus access road shall extend immediately adjacent to and contiguous with the entire #shore public walkway# of the #zoning lot#, from #lot line# to #lot line#. A connection need not be opened unless and until such declaration of restrictions, in accordance with Section 87-63, has been recorded against the adjacent #zoning lot#.

(b) Interim fire apparatus access road turnaround

[NOTE: Existing provisions of Section 87-63, modified]

When bi-directional vehicular travel lanes are constructed that terminate at a #lot line# and do not continue on the adjacent #zoning lot# at the time of their construction, an interim dead-end fire apparatus access road turnaround may be constructed as an alternative to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this Section, in accordance with the following provisions.

An applicant utilizing the provisions of this paragraph shall construct a fire apparatus access road that extends along the entire southern boundary of mapped parkland immediately adjacent to Parcel 2, entire #upland connection# and entire #shore public walkway# of the #zoning lot#, as applicable, from #lot line# to #lot line#, and shall provide an “approved turnaround area,” constructed as part of a “dead-end fire apparatus access road,” as those terms are defined in the New York City Fire Code, Section 503.2.9 (Dead-end turnarounds), or its successor.

Such turnaround area shall be constructed to dimensions no greater than required under the New York City Fire Code, Section 503.2.9, or its successor, and shall be located at the end of the fire apparatus access road, abutting the adjacent #lot line#. Such turnaround area may extend into the designated #shore public walkway#, but at no point may such turnaround area extend into the associated circulation path. Where an interim dead-end fire apparatus access road turnaround area extends into a #shore public walkways#, the area of such turnaround may be discounted from the planting requirement set forth in paragraph (c) of Section 62-62. Sidewalks shall not be required adjacent to the turnaround area. The portion of the turnaround area that lies within a #shore public walkway# shall remain clear of obstacles, shall be composed of permeable materials to the extent permissible by the Fire Commissioner and shall meet all applicable requirements set forth in the New York City Fire Code Section 503.2 (Fire apparatus access roads), or its successor. In addition, the roadbed material of a fire apparatus access road leading to a turnaround may be extended into the turnaround provided the area of the turnaround paved with such material is not wider than the roadbed leading to the turnaround. The remaining portions of the turnaround shall be paved with distinct materials to facilitate pedestrian usage.

At the time of certification pursuant to Section 87-61, the site plan shall demonstrate a suitable design for the dead-end fire apparatus access road that demonstrates both the approved turnaround area and the repurposed turnaround area outside of the roadbed upon the issuance of a notice of substantial compliance for the adjacent #zoning lot#. In addition, a conceptual site plan shall demonstrate that the proposed site plan and grading plan for required contiguous access pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this Section is compatible with future #development# on the adjoining #zoning lot#.
Such site plans shall be included as an exhibit to the declaration of restrictions recorded pursuant to Section 87-63.

Repurposing a turnaround area and providing contiguous access in accordance with an approved conceptual site plan shall not necessitate a certification pursuant to Section 62-811, provided that there are no further modifications to an approved #waterfront public access area#.

[BELOW: Original provisions of Section 87-66 (Connection with Adjacent Zoning Lots)]

The following provisions apply to #developments#, #enlargements#, alterations or changes of #use#, pursuing certification, pursuant to either Section 87-62 (Certification to Waive Supplemental Public Access Area Requirement) or 87-63 (Certification to Allow Fire Apparatus Access Road Turnaround in Shore Public Walkways).

On each of Parcels 2, 3 and 4, and only among Parcels 2, 3 and 4, a #development#, #enlargement#, alteration or change of #use#, shall provide a connection for bi-directional vehicular travel at an adjacent #zoning lot line# if such adjacent #zoning lot# has previously constructed a connection that terminates at the shared #lot line#. Any connection of fire apparatus access roads across a shared #zoning lot line# must meet the grade of, and maintain the street width of, the existing adjacent private street. In addition to such physical shared #lot line# connection, a #private road# declaration shall be provided pursuant to the provisions of Section 87-64. A connection need not be opened unless and until such declaration of restrictions, in accordance with Section 87-64, has been recorded against the adjacent #zoning lot#.

When no connection for vehicular travel terminating at the opposite side of a shared #lot line# exists, a dead-end fire apparatus access road turnaround may be constructed, pursuant to Section 87-63, which may extend into the designated #shore public walkway#. Such certification is also contingent upon providing a declaration of restrictions, in accordance with Section 87-64.

[BELOW: Original provisions of Section 87-63 (Certification to Allow Fire Apparatus Access Road Turnaround in Shore Public Walkways)]

On Parcels 2, 3 and 4, a dead-end fire apparatus access road turnaround, as defined in the New York City Fire Code, Section 503.2.5 (Dead-ends) may, by certification, extend into the designated #shore public walkway#, provided that:

(a) a declaration of restrictions has been provided, pursuant to Section 87-64;
(b) a fire apparatus access road abutting the shared #zoning lot line# between the #development#, #enlargement#, alteration or change of #use# seeking certification under this Section and Parcels 2, 3 or 4 does not exist; and

(c) the fire apparatus access road serves as a segment of a bi-directional loop road along the #shore public walkway#, providing a connection to Exterior Street at the northeast corner of Parcel 2 and a connection to Exterior Street at the southeast corner of Parcel 4.

Such turnaround shall have a diameter of 70 feet and be located at the end of the fire apparatus access road, abutting the adjacent #lot line#. At no point may the turnaround extend into the #shore public walkway# for a distance greater than 23 feet. Sidewalks shall not be required adjacent to the turnaround. The portion of the turnaround that lies within a #shore public walkway# shall remain clear of obstacles, shall be composed of permeable materials, and shall meet all applicable requirements set forth in the New York City Fire Code Section 503.1.1 (Fire apparatus access roads), or its successor. In addition, the roadbed material of a fire apparatus access road leading to a vehicular turnaround may be extended into the turnaround provided the area of the turnaround paved with such material is not wider than the roadbed leading to the turnaround. The remaining portions of the turnaround shall be paved with distinct materials to facilitate pedestrian usage. In addition, the level of the area within the turnaround shall be raised to be flush with the level of adjoining sidewalks.

For certifications proposed pursuant to Section 87-61 on Parcels 2, 3 or 4, where developments or enlargements on such parcels utilize the allowance for interim fire access turnaround, in accordance with paragraph (b) of Section 87-62 (Contiguity of Fire Apparatus Access Road with Adjacent Zoning Lots on Parcels 2, 3 and 4), any declaration of restrictions shall include that, at the time of the issuance of the notice of substantial compliance for the adjacent development, or enlargement pursuant to this Section, thereby permitting vehicular connection between zoning lots, the zoning lot containing a previously constructed fire apparatus access road turnaround area shall be responsible for the following actions on the portion of the connection on such zoning lot:

(a) repurposing the fire apparatus access road turnaround area pursuant to the requirements set forth in paragraph (b) of Section 87-62;

(b) extending all required sidewalks that had remained short of the lot line to the shared lot line to connect to the required adjacent sidewalks and enable unobstructed pedestrian movement across parcels;

(c) complying with all applicable waterfront rules, street regulations the Department of Transportation standards for public streets and the New York City Fire Code; and

(d) providing a connection with the adjacent zoning lot pursuant to Section 87-62.

[Note: Original provisions of Section 87-64 (Declaration of Restrictions)]

For any fire apparatus access road proposed for certification pursuant to Sections 87-62 or 87-63, a declaration of restrictions shall be provided to guarantee the construction, improvement, operation, maintenance and repair of such road, to guarantee that such road remains open, unobstructed and accessible to all members of the public, except as necessary to avoid public dedication, and to ensure compliance with all applicable provisions. Such declaration of restrictions shall be prepared in a form acceptable to the Department of City Planning, shall be filed and duly recorded in the Borough Office of the Register of the City of New York and indexed against the property. Filing and recording of the declaration of restrictions shall be a precondition for the Chairperson’s certification under Sections 87-62 and 87-63, where applicable.

For certifications proposed pursuant to Section 87-63, at the time a declaration of restrictions has been provided by the adjacent development, enlargement, alteration or change of use, pursuant to this Section, permitting vehicular connection between zoning lots, the zoning lot containing a previously-constructed fire apparatus access road turnaround shall be responsible for the following actions on the portion of the connection on such zoning lot:
(a) deconstructing the fire apparatus access road turnaround;

(b) re-landscaping the area that had extended into the shore public walkway, so as to create the conditions of the immediately surrounding shore public walkway, which may include any combination of tree planting, laying sod, removing pavers, or any other required landscaping action;

(c) extending all required sidewalks that had remained short of the lot line to the shared lot line to connect to the required adjacent sidewalks and enable pedestrian movement across parcels; and

(d) complying with all applicable waterfront rules, street regulations and the New York City Fire Code.

c) All of the value of the property in the Exemption Area, including both the land and any improvements (excluding those portions, if any, devoted to business, commercial or community facility use), shall be exempt from real property taxation, other than assessments for local improvements, for a period commencing upon the Effective Date and terminating upon the Expiration Date.

d) Notwithstanding any provision hereof to the contrary:

3. Nothing herein shall entitle the HDFC, the New Owner, or any past owner to a refund of any real property taxes which accrued and were paid with respect to the Exemption Area prior to the Effective Date.
4. All previous resolutions, if any, providing an exemption from or abatement of real property taxation with respect to the Exemption Area are hereby revoked as of the Effective Date.

e) In consideration of the New Exemption, the owner of the Exemption Area, for so long as the New Exemption shall remain in effect, shall waive the benefits of any additional or concurrent exemption from or abatement of real property taxation which may be authorized under any existing or future local, state or federal law, rule or regulation.

Report of the Committee on Oversight and Investigations

Report for Int. No. 1618-A

Report of the Committee on Oversight and Investigations in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the New York city charter, in relation to requiring that the department of investigation conduct public outreach campaigns and issue yearly reports on complaints received

The Committee on Oversight and Investigations, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on May 24, 2017 (Minutes, page 1618), respectfully

REPORTS:

INTRODUCTION

On December 7, 2017, the Committee on Oversight & Investigations, chaired by Council Member Vincent J. Gentile, will vote on two proposed local laws. These bills involve issues related to the Department of Investigation (DOI), as summarized below. The Committee previously held a hearing on these bills on June 19, 2017 and received testimony from the Department of Investigation, advocacy organizations, and other members of the public.

I. BACKGROUND

DOI has periodically utilized anti-corruption advertising campaigns to raise public awareness of different forms of government corruption and inform the public of how to submit complaints to DOI. The most recent campaign, released in 2016, featured print and radio advertisements containing the slogan “Bribery & Corruption Are a Trap. Don’t Get Caught Up. Report It.”1 The 2016 advertising campaign cost $312,000 and was funded through asset forfeiture money obtained from defendants subject to DOI investigations.2 Previous DOI advertising includes the 2013 campaign “See Something Crooked in NYC?” which was featured on posters throughout the New York City transit system, and the 1990s campaign, "Get the Worms Out of the Big Apple.”3

As introduced, Int. No. 1618 would have required that DOI conduct annual public outreach campaigns—via print, radio and public forums—to educate New Yorkers on how to identify different types of government corruption and publicize the mechanisms for submitting complaints to DOI. Additionally, DOI would be required to publish information annually pertaining to resolved complaints received the previous year, disaggregated by: month the complaint was submitted, agency and category of employee misconduct involved, and the mechanism through which the complaint was submitted to DOI.

The bill has been amended since its introduction. Specifically, Proposed Int. 1618-A would require DOI to conduct annual public outreach efforts, including, whenever practicable, the use of print, radio and public forums. Additionally, the reporting requirement has been amended to include yearly reporting on the number of complaints received, the mechanism through which the complaint was submitted, and a summary of relevant outreach efforts undertaken by the agency in the previous year.

b. PROP. INT. 1633-A

The City Charter empowers the Commissioner of Investigation with jurisdiction to investigate “any person or entity doing business with the city, or any person or entity who is paid or receives money from or through the city or any agency of the city.”4 This authority includes making a determination of vendor responsibility for city contracting purposes.5 In evaluating the responsibility of a prospective vendor, DOI conducts a Vendor Name Check (VNC) that is used to ascertain whether the contracting entity or any affiliated individuals have been previously subject to a DOI investigation. Under existing city rules, agency contracting officers are required to request a VNC from proposed vendors “expeditiously” and DOI is required to provide the agencies with an explanation if its review “is not completed within thirty calendar days of the request.”6 If DOI is unable to complete the vendor investigation within the 30-day period, the contracting agency is permitted to make a responsibility determination based on available information and execute a contract with the relevant vendor. At a Council Preliminary Budget Hearing in March 2017, DOI Commissioner Mark Peters testified that DOI completes approximately 94% of Vendor Name Checks within 30-days.7

As introduced, Int. 1633 would have required that whenever practicable, DOI must complete a Vendor Name Check of a prospective vendor for a City contract, 30-days prior to the commencement of the contract between the City agency and the vendor.

The bill has been amended since its introduction. Specifically, Proposed Int. 1633A includes provisions whereby the Department of Investigation maintains discretion regarding the release of information that is subject to confidentiality agreements or the release of which may hinder the integrity of ongoing investigations. Additionally, the proposed local law now includes language explicitly declaring that no private right of action is created by the statutory provisions.

4 N.Y. City Charter § 803(e).
6 N.Y. City Rules, Tit. 9, § 2-08 (f)(1).
II. ANALYSIS AND AMENDMENTS TO PROP. INT. 1618-A

Section 1 of the bill establishes a requirement that the Department of Investigation conduct annual public outreach efforts, including whenever practicable, the use of print, radio, and public forums. Additionally, the Department shall submit yearly reports on complaints received, including information on mechanism by which complaints were submitted and a summary of relevant public outreach efforts. The amended version of the bill removes reporting requirements related to data on complaints received disaggregated by agency involved and type of alleged employee misconduct.

Section 2 of the bill states that the local law takes effect 120 days after enactment.

III. ANALYSIS AND AMENDMENTS TO PROP. INT. 1633-A

Section 1 of the bill establishes that, whenever practicable, the Department of Investigation must complete required vendor background checks within 30 days. Additionally, the amended version of the bill contains provisions enabling the Department with exercise discretion as to protecting the integrity of ongoing investigations and the confidentiality of certain protected information. Finally, the amended version of the bill includes language explicitly declaring that no private right of action may be construed from the provisions included in the bill.

Section 2 of the bill states that the local law takes effect 120 days following enactment.

COMMITTEE: Oversight and Investigations

TITLE: A Local Law to amend the New York city charter, in relation to requiring that the department of investigation conduct public outreach campaigns and issue yearly annual reports on complaints received.

Sponsor: By Council Members Gentile, Dromm, Lancman, Rosenthal and Torres

SUMMARY OF LEGISLATION: Proposed Int. No. 1618-A would require the Department of Investigation (“the Department”) to conduct annual outreach campaigns to educate the public on forms of government corruption, fraud, and waste, as well as provide information regarding how the public can submit complaints to the Department. The legislation provides that such outreach campaigns are not limited to, but whenever practicable shall include the use of print, radio, and public forums. In addition, the Department would be required to post a report on its website by March 1st of each year regarding public complaints received in the previous year. These reports would include the total number of complaints disaggregated by the mechanism through which the complaint was submitted, and a summary of relevant outreach activities.
Effective Date: This local law would take effect 120 days after enactment.

Impact on Revenues: It is estimated that there would be no impact on revenues resulting from the enactment of this legislation.

Int. No. 270

By Council Members Richards and Brannan.

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to carbon accounting

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Subchapter 2 of chapter 1 of title 3 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new section 3-127 to read as follows:

§ 3-127 Carbon accounting. a. Definitions. As used in this chapter:

Carbon dioxide equivalent (CO₂e). The terms “carbon dioxide equivalent” and “CO₂e” mean the quantity of carbon dioxide gas expressed in metric tons that would have the same GWP when measured over a timescale of 100 years as a given quantity of a greenhouse gas.

Carbon emissions. The term “carbon emissions” means greenhouse gas emissions from any source, as expressed in CO₂e.

Carbon offsets. The term “carbon offset” means a project or process owned or operated by the city that captures and sequesters or chemically decomposes a greenhouse gas from the atmosphere, as expressed in CO₂e.

Carbon mitigation. The term “carbon mitigation” means a project or process owned or operated by an entity other than the city the expenses of which are paid in whole or in part from the city treasury that captures and sequesters or chemically decomposes a greenhouse gas prior to its release into the atmosphere, or results in a reduction of greenhouse gas emissions from any source by the replacement or retrofit of mechanical or electrical equipment or by conversion to an alternative source of energy. Carbon mitigation shall be measured as the reduction of the pre-mitigation release of greenhouse gas into the atmosphere, as expressed in CO₂e, for the entire useful life of any mechanical or electrical equipment used to achieve such mitigation, as appropriate, prorated by the percentage of funds used to finance such mitigation that were paid from the city treasury.

Global warming potential (GWP). The terms “global warming potential” and “GWP” mean the total infrared radiation energy that a greenhouse gas absorbs over a period of time compared to carbon dioxide. The GWP value for any particular greenhouse gas shall be equal to the value for such gas as listed in column “GWP 100-year” of table 8.A.1, Radiative efficiencies (REs), lifetimes/adjustment times, AGWP and GWP values for 20 and 100 years, and AGTP and GTP values for 20, 50 and 100 years, of Climate Change 2013: The Physical Science Basis. Contribution of Working Group I to the Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change as published on September 30, 2013.
Greenhouse gas. The term “greenhouse gas” means a gas that absorbs infrared radiation in the atmosphere, and specifically any gas listed in table 8.A.1, Radiative efficiencies (REs), lifetimes/adjustment times, AGWP and GWP values for 20 and 100 years, and AGTP and GTP values for 20, 50 and 100 years, of Climate Change 2013: The Physical Science Basis. Contribution of Working Group I to the Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change as published on September 30, 2013.

Net carbon impact. The term “net carbon impact” means an amount equal to the carbon emissions less the carbon offsets and carbon mitigation that would be generated by a unit of appropriation, by an agency, or by the entire city government, respectively.

b. Preliminary budget accounting. Not later than the day the mayor submits the preliminary budget to the council pursuant to section 236 of the charter, the mayor shall submit to the council an accounting of the carbon emissions, carbon offsets, carbon mitigation and net carbon impact that would be generated by each unit of appropriation in the preliminary budget, by each agency, and by the entire city government. The second and subsequent annual reports submitted pursuant to this subdivision shall also include, where appropriate, the changes from the adopted budget for previous year to the carbon emissions, carbon offsets, carbon mitigation and net carbon impact that would be generated by each unit of appropriation in the preliminary budget, by each agency, and by the entire city government with an explanation of the cause of such changes.

c. Executive budget accounting. Not later the day the mayor submits the executive budget to the council pursuant to section 249 of the charter, the mayor shall submit to the council an accounting of the carbon emissions, carbon offsets, carbon mitigation and net carbon impact that would be generated by each unit of appropriation in the executive budget, by each agency, and by the entire city government. The second and subsequent annual reports submitted pursuant to this subdivision shall also include, where appropriate, the changes from the adopted budget for previous year to the carbon emissions, carbon offsets, carbon mitigation and net carbon impact that would be generated by each unit of appropriation in the executive budget, by each agency, and by the entire city government, with an explanation of the cause of such changes.

d. Methodology. The director of the office of long-term planning and sustainability shall establish the methodology by which carbon emissions, carbon offsets and carbon mitigation shall be calculated. A description of the methodology shall be included with each report submitted pursuant to subdivisions b or c of this section.

§ 2. This local law takes effect immediately.

Report of the Committee on Public Safety

Report for Int. No. 1611-A

Report of the Committee on Public Safety in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring the police department to submit reports on clearance rates of index crimes.

The Committee on Public Safety, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on May 10, 2017 (Minutes, page 1342), respectfully

REPORTS:
I. INTRODUCTION

On December 7, 2017 the Committee on Public Safety, chaired by Council Member Vanessa Gibson, will vote on Proposed Introductory Number 1611-A (Prop. Int. 1611-A), in relation to requiring the police department to submit records on clearance rates of index crimes and Proposed Introductory Number 1664-A (Prop. Int. 1664-A) in relation to requiring the police department to report on the number of arrests and summons returnable to the Transit Adjudication Bureau for subway fare evasion. The Committee previously held a hearing on these two bills on October 16, 2017 where members of the New York City Police Department (NYPD or the department) and the public provided testimony.

BACKGROUND

a. PROP. INT. 1611-A

In recent years, several reports indicated the growing need for allocating more detectives and investigators in boroughs that experience more crime. In 2016, the New York Times reported that out of the City’s 77 police precincts, the 40th precinct in the South Bronx had the highest murder rate, but the fewest detectives per violent crime, reflecting disparities in staffing that effect neighborhoods outside of Manhattan. In an analysis of the NYPD's deployment data, the New York Times found that precinct detective squads and homicide squads were desperately understaffed in parts of the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Queens, effecting their ability to investigate and clear cases. New York City Council Speaker, Melissa Mark-Viverito, Public Advocate, Letitia James and other elected officials called on the department to address inequalities in how it deploys investigative resources in poor, predominantly black and Hispanic neighborhoods.

Prop. Int. No. 1611-A would require the police department to report quarterly on the clearance rate of major crimes, disaggregated by borough. The bill would require clearance rates for the seven index crimes, which include homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, and burglary. This report would document and identify any disparities that exist across the city.

b. PROP. INT. 1664-A

The NYPD can enforce fare evasion or “jumping the turnstile” in two ways. The NYPD may issue a civil summons, pursuant to the Transit Adjudication Bureau (TAB) rules, where an individual would be fined $100 or, pursuant to the New York State Penal Law, where an individual can be arrested for “theft of services”, a class A misdemeanor punishable by up to a year in prison. According to the State Division of Criminal Justice Services, as of June 2017 the NYPD stopped more than 30,000 New Yorkers for jumping the turnstile. Of those who were stopped, nearly three-quarters were issued a summons for violating the transit rules against fare evasion. During the same period, 8,625 people were arrested for “theft of services” pursuant to the penal law; 89% of which were black or Latino. While many have raised concerns about the collateral consequences an arrest for fare evasion may lead to, including the possibility of deportation, the NYPD maintains that those arrested “ha[ve] underlying circumstances such as an active warrant or being designated as a ‘transit recidivist’ - a designation for chronic offenders”. According to NYPD policy, an individual is arrested for theft of services, or a criminal offense, rather than issued a civil summons returnable to TAB, if the person is classified as a “transit recidivist.” In August of 2016 the department revised their policy and a “transit recidivist” is now (1) anyone who has a prior arrest for a sex crime in the transit system; (2) any prior felony or misdemeanor arrest in the transit system in the last two years; (3) three or more violation arrests in the transit system in the last five years; (4) 3 or more TAB summonses within the last 2 years; or (5) on parole or probation. MTA board member David Jones has made several requests to the NYPD for data on fare evasion.

Prop. Int.1664-A, would require the police department to report on the number of arrests and summons issued for subway fare evasion. The report would include this data disaggregated by subway station where the arrest was made, the transit bureau of arresting officers, and the age range, race, and sex of the arrestee. In addition it would require the department to publish the criteria they use to determine whether an individual receives a criminal or civil charge.

II. ANALYSIS AND AMENDMENT TO PROP. INT. 1611-A

Section 1 of the bill defines the term “clearance rate” as the number of specific crimes where at least one person has been arrested, not including voided arrest, divided by the total number of such crimes. In addition, it would require the department to publish a report for the clearance rate for the seven major index crimes, including homicide, rape, robbery, felony assault, burglary, grand larceny and auto theft. The prior version of the bill required this information be disaggregated by police unit, whereas the current version of the bill requires disaggregation by borough. In addition, the prior version defined clearance rate as those crimes where at least one person was arrested and turned over for prosecution, whereas the current version excludes voided arrests.

Section 2 of the bill states that the local law takes effect immediately.

III. ANALYSIS AND AMENDMENTS TO PROP. INT. 1664-A

Section 1 of the bill requires the NYPD to publish a quarterly report online containing data on the arrests and summonses for subway fare evasion. The report would include the total number of arrests under penal law section 165.15 that occurred in a subway station, disaggregated by the transit bureau district, the subway station, demographics of the arrestee, and whether the arrests was issued a desk appearance ticket or the officer conducted a live arrest. The department would also be required to provide the same information for summons returnable to the TAB. In addition, the bill would require the NYPD to publish their criteria with respect to determining whether an individual is issued a summons returnable to TAB or a criminal summons. The prior version of the bill disaggregated the arrests and civil summonses by officer’s police precinct, whereas the current version requires the officer’s transit district. The current version no longer requires the NYPD to publish the reason the individual was issued a criminal summons, but instead requires the department to publish the criteria they use to issue an individual a criminal verses a civil summons. Finally, the current version requires the NYPD to disaggregate the age of the offender by age group including those that are under 18 years of age.

Section 2 of the bill states that the local law takes effect immediately.

The Committee on Rules, Privileges and Elections, to which the annexed Mayor’s Message was referred on December 11, 2017 and which same Mayor’s Message was coupled with the resolution shown below, respectfully

REPORTS:

Topic 1: New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission – (Candidate nominated by the Mayor for appointment, upon the advice and consent of the Council)

Anne Holford-Smith [Preconsidered M-562]

In a letter dated November 29, 2017, Mayor Bill de Blasio formally submitted Anne Holford-Smith’s name to the Council of the City of New York, for its advice and consent, regarding their nomination for appointment to the Landmarks Preservation Commission.
Pursuant to the New York City Charter ("Charter") §3020, the New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission ("LPC") is responsible for establishing and regulating landmarks, portions of landmarks, landmark sites, interior landmarks, scenic landmarks, and historic districts. The LPC also regulates alterations to designated buildings.

The LPC consists of eleven (11) members. The membership of this commission must include at least three architects, one historian qualified in the field, one city planner or landscape architect, and one realtor; and shall include at least one resident from each of the five boroughs. The mayor appoints the members of the LPC with the advice and consent of the Council. When appointing a member to this commission who must be an architect, historian, city planner, or landscape architect, the mayor may consult with the Fine Arts Federation of New York or any other similar organization. These members are appointed for staggered three-year terms. Each member continues to serve as a commissioner until his or her successor is appointed and qualified. The mayor also designates one member to serve as the LPC Chair, and designates another member to serve as LPC Vice Chair. These particular LPC members shall serve until a successor is designated. The LPC members, with the exception of the Chair, serve without compensation, but are reimbursed for necessary expenses incurred in the course of performing their duties. The current Chair's salary is $192,198.

The LPC must appoint a full-time executive director and may also employ technical experts and other employees necessary to perform day-to-day operations within the appropriations therefor.

As enumerated in the Charter, the LPC is required to provide opportunities for comment in advance of any hearing, regarding a proposed landmark designation, landmark site, interior landmark, scenic landmark, or historic district. Notices of proposed designations must be sent to the New York City Planning Commission ("CPC"), all affected Community Boards, and the Office of the Borough President, for the borough where the property or district is located.

The LPC also has a duty to provide certain notices to the Council. The LPC is required to file a copy of any designation with the Council and the CPC, within ten days of making the designation. Furthermore, within 60 days after such filing, CPC must hold a public hearing on any such designation of a historic district and submit a report to the Council, with respect to the relation of any such designation to the Zoning Resolution, projected public improvements, and any plans for the development, growth, improvement or renewal of the area involved, whether it relates to the designation of a historic district or a landmark. The CPC must include in this report, its recommendation, if any, for the Council’s action with respect to the historic district designation.

The Council may modify or disapprove of any LPC designation by a majority vote, within 120 days from date that a copy of such designation is filed with the Council, provided that either the CPC has submitted the required report on the designation or at least sixty days has elapsed since the filing of the designation with the Council. The Council’s vote shall be filed with the mayor, by the Council. The mayor has five days following the filing of the Council’s vote, to disapprove of the Council’s action. If the mayor fails to disapprove of the Council’s action during this time, the Council’s action becomes final. If the mayor disapproves of the Council’s action, the mayor must file his/her disapproval with the Council. Thereafter, the Council may choose to override the mayor’s disapproval within ten days of the filing of the mayor’s disapproval, with a two-thirds vote from the Council.

In addition to the designation of landmarks, pursuant to Administrative Code § 25-303(i), the LPC also has the ability to make recommendations to CPC at any time, regarding amendments to the provisions in the Zoning Resolution, which are applicable to improvements in the historic districts. Moreover, pursuant to Administrative Code § 25-307, the LPC also has the responsibility of determining whether a proposed alteration or demolition affecting a landmark, is consistent with the Landmarks Preservation and Historic Districts chapter of the Administrative Code. In instances where LPC determines that the proposed change

Report of the Committee on Small Business

Report for Int. No. 1382-B

Report of the Committee on Small Business in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the enforcement of requirements on reporting of information on the workforce of certain construction projects

The Committee on Small Business, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on December 6, 2016 (Minutes, page 4064), respectfully

REPORTS:

I. INTRODUCTION

On December 7, 2017, the Committee on Small Business, chaired by Council Member Robert Cornegy, will consider Proposed Introduction Number 1382-B (Proposed Int. No. 1382-B), a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the enforcement of requirements on reporting of information on the workforce of certain construction projects.

Proposed Int. No. 1382-B was previously heard by the Committee on September 13, 2017, in a joint hearing with the Committee on Contracts, chaired by Council Member Helen Rosenthal, and the Committee on Economic Development, chaired by Council Member Daniel Garodnick. At that hearing, the Committees heard testimony from the Mayor’s Office of Contracting Services (MOCS), the New York City Department of Small Business Services (SBS), the New York City Economic Development Corporation (EDC), and interested members of the public.

II. BACKGROUND

New York City is home to thousands of small businesses, including a significant number owned by minorities and women. According to the U.S. Small Business Administration, there has been a 31.9% increase in minority business ownership in New York State in recent years,\(^1\) with much of this increase driven by businesses in New York City. Despite the large presence of M/WBEs in the City, these businesses have traditionally struggled with participation in the City contracting process.

The City’s M/WBE program was originally established following a 1989 voter referendum approving the establishment of a program to assist M/WBEs.\(^2\) Pursuant to this referendum, in 1991, the Council enacted Local Law 61, which in part created the Division of Economic and Financial Opportunity within SBS, and authorized the Division to create an M/WBE program.\(^3\) The City rules for the program provided that it would expire on June 30, 1998, unless the SBS Commissioner extended the program based on a finding that a continuation was necessary to address the impact of discrimination on opportunities for certified M/WBEs.\(^4\)

After six years, the program expired in June 1998 as the City failed to conduct the required disparity study to determine the program’s continued necessity.\(^5\)

Despite the appropriation of funds by the Council for a new disparity study in 2000, 2001, and 2002, no study was conducted.\(^6\) Finally, in 2003, Medgar Evers College-CUNY was contracted to conduct a new study, which it commissioned from Mason Tillman Associates.\(^7\) Specifically, the study would examine the City’s procurement from 1997 to 2002 and determine whether a disparity existed between the availability of qualified M/WBEs and the utilization of M/WBEs in procurement during this time period.\(^8\) Released in January 2005, the study revealed significant demographic disparities among the business owners with whom the City contracts for purposes of receiving various goods and services. The study revealed that the City contracts with M/WBEs at drastically lower rates than businesses not owned by women or minorities.\(^9\) Further, the study examined the number of MWBEs that operate in the city compared to their rates of procurement of government contracts and found substantial underutilization.\(^10\) The study revealed that M/WBEs were underutilized in the awarding of both prime contracts and subcontracts.\(^11\)

Accordingly, that same year, the Council passed Local Law 129 of 2005, which re-established the City’s M/WBE program.\(^12\) The M/WBE program was designed to “address the impact of discrimination on the city's procurement process, and to promote the public interest in avoiding fraud and favoritism in the procurement process, increasing competition for city business, and lowering contract costs.”\(^13\) Local Law 129 set aspirational goals for City agencies to increase their contracting with MWBEs. These goals set target percentages for certain types of contracts\(^14\), but initially, the law only applied to contracts valued at $1 million or less. Significantly, Local Law 129 created an M/WBE certification program, which provides greater access to information about contracting opportunities through classes, networking events, targeted solicitations, and includes an online directory for certified businesses within the City that promote M/WBE businesses to purchasers.\(^15\)

\(^2\) Pursuant to City of Richmond v. J.A. Croson Company, 488 U.S. 469 (1989), a United States Supreme Court case, a municipality may only create a race-based program if it demonstrates historical and societal discrimination against minority businesses.

After the program’s creation, certified M/WBE firms won more than three billion dollars in City contracts by 2012. Notwithstanding the successes of the M/WBE program under Local Law 129, amendments were made to strengthen the program. In 2013, the Council enacted, and Mayor Bloomberg signed into law, Local Law 1. Local Law 1 made a number of significant changes to the city’s M/WBE program, including: (i) removing the requirement that M/WBE goals only apply to contracts valued at one million dollars or less; (ii) the creation of “M/WBE stat,” an accountability program that requires agency M/WBE officers to convene quarterly to discuss progress with reaching M/WBE goals; (iii) requiring M/WBE reports from MOCS on a quarterly basis instead of semi-annually (as was required under Local Law 129 of 2005); and (iv) overall, improving and increasing education and outreach regarding the M/WBE program and city contracting.

The City has continued to make strides in increasing contracting opportunities and workforce development goals for minority and women owned businesses. Additionally, the Administration has established several programs to aid MWBEs. In September of 2016, the Mayor announced the creation of a new Mayor’s Office of M/WBEs, and announced a goal of awarding at least 30 percent of all City contracts to M/WBEs by 2021. In June of 2017, the Administration announced the launch of a $10 million Bond Collateral Assistance Fund for M/WBEs and small businesses. This program allows eligible business to apply for collateral assistance of as much as $500,000, or 50 percent of the contract amount, to meet cash collateral bond requirements. Additionally, in 2017, the Department of Small Business Services reported that 112 participants had graduated from its “Strategic Steps for Growth” program, which began in 2010. This program accepts eligible entrepreneurs for an eight-month business education program taught by faculty from New York University’s Stern School of Business. In order to qualify, participants must be women or minorities who have operated their companies for at least three years with a minimum of $500,000 per year, and participants pay $1,000 of the program’s $10,000 tuition, with the remainder subsidized by Citi Community Development and NYU.

The legislation below seeks to further improve the City’s efforts related to minority- and women-owned business enterprise (M/WBE) goals in workforce development.

Res. No. 1759

Resolution to observe every May 25th as Kalief Browder Day in the City of New York.

By Council Member Cornegy.

Whereas, Kalief Browder was born on May 25th, 1993 in the Bronx, New York; and
Whereas, Kalief was the youngest of seven siblings, five of whom were adopted by his mother, Venida Browder; and
Whereas, According to various reports, in 2010, at the age of sixteen, Kalief was arrested for the alleged robbery of a backpack that he insisted he had not stolen; and
Whereas, Kalief was incarcerated at Riker’s Island, awaiting trial for more than one thousand days for a trial that never came, because the charges were ultimately dropped; and
Whereas, According to various reports, over the span of his incarceration, Kalief was offered several plea deals which he declined as he reiterated his innocence; and
Whereas, According to the New York Times, at one point during his incarceration, a judge offered Mr. Browder a chance to leave jail immediately in exchange for a plea of guilty to two misdemeanors, instead of a felony, which he declined; and
Whereas, According to various sources, of the three years Kalief Browder was incarcerated, he endured more than two years in solitary confinement where he attempted to end his life several times; and
Whereas, Kalief also encountered violence inflicted by both corrections officers and inmates; and

Whereas, According to the New Yorker, on May 29th, 2013, after appearing in front of eight judges, refusing 13 plea deals, and spending 3 years on Riker’s Island, Kalief’s case was dismissed as prosecutors reported their sole witness and accuser was no longer in the United States; and

Whereas, By the time Kalief was released from jail, he had missed his junior and senior year of high school, his graduation and prom, and was no longer a teenager; and

Whereas, After being released from Rikers, Kalief returned home, and passed the G.E.D on his first try and enrolled in college at the Bronx Community College; and

Whereas, Despite continuing to struggle with his mental health, Kalief was driven to tell his story so that no one else would endure the same ordeals; and

Whereas, During interviews with the New Yorker, Huffington Post, and other newspapers and television shows, Kalief detailed the horrific conditions at Rikers Island and his personal experiences of abuse by officers and other inmates; and

Whereas, Kalief’s story and advocacy ignited discussions about criminal justice and led to the development of several reforms locally and nationally; and

Whereas, On June 6, 2015 Kalief Browder tragically died by suicide at his home in the Bronx; and

Whereas, May 25th will be a day of remembrance of Kalief Browder, his advocacy, and the legacy he leaves behind; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York will observe every May 25th as Kalief Browder Day in the City of New York.

Res. No. 1760

Resolution calling on United States Attorney General Jeff Sessions and the United States Department of Justice to consider the importance of independent programming on TV, such as Televisión Dominicana, as the AT&T/ Time Warner merger is reviewed.

By Council Members Espinal and Reynoso.

Whereas, AT&T is one of the largest internet and telephone providers in the United States; and
Whereas, In July 2015, AT&T acquired DIRECTV for approximately $50 billion and became one of the country’s biggest television distributors with over 26 million subscribers; and
Whereas, As part of the agreement, AT&T offered discounted broadband to low-income households, provided schools and libraries with more efficient broadband access and also agreed to adhere to the Federal Communications Commission’s stricter net neutrality obligations; and
Whereas, DIRECTV offered Televisión Dominicana, the eleventh highest watched Spanish language network that produced several shows in the New York and Boston areas and also served as an informational network for over 2.3 million Dominicans living in the United States, as well as 500,000 Dominicans living in Puerto Rico; and
Whereas, Televisión Dominicana offered nine hours per day of live news and talk shows directly from the Dominican Republic dealing with issues, such as immigrant families establishing new lives in the United States and also educating Dominican-Americans about Dominican culture, family and homeland; and
Whereas, In October 2016, it was announced that AT&T wanted to buy Time Warner in an $85 billion deal that would combine the largest telecom company with news and entertainment producers, such as HBO, TNT and CNN raising concern that one company would have too much authority over vital information sources; and
Whereas, Recently, DIRECTV removed Televisión Dominicana, its only channel that serves the Dominican community, while AT&T was seeking approval to acquire Time Warner; and

Whereas, Also, Televisión Dominicana was removed only a few days before Hurricane Irma struck the Dominican Republic leaving many Dominican subscribers without important news and updates regarding the hurricane as it developed; and

Whereas, In 2015, DIRECTV also removed Yaveo, a Spanish-language service that provided programming from Latin America and Spain and in 2016, DIRECTV temporarily removed most of Univision Communications networks, the country’s largest Spanish-language media company during disputes over programming fees; and

Whereas, Televisión Dominicana’s removal has caused outrage amongst Hispanic leaders and the Hispanic community; and

Whereas, Furthermore, the proposed merger between AT&T and Time Warner have many elected officials and the public concerned that independent programming, such as Televisión Dominicana will not have any protections under a merger between the two largest media corporations in the country; and

Whereas, In November 2017, the United States Department of Justice filed a lawsuit to block the merger in order to protect consumers and maintain an array of media and telecommunication outlets now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls on United States Attorney General Jeff Sessions and the United States Department of Justice to consider the importance of independent programming on TV, such as Televisión Dominicana, as the AT&T/Time Warner merger is reviewed.

Preconsidered Res. No. 1761

Resolution to support New York City's application for funding for a capital project under the Restore New York Communities Initiative pursuant to the New York State Urban Development Act, for Station Plaza, in the borough of Queens.

By Council Members Miller and Lancman.

Whereas, The 2017-18 New York State Budget provided new funding for the Restore New York Communities Initiative (“Restore NY”), which is implemented by the New York State Empire State Development Corporation (“ESDC”) and intended to provide funding for capital projects under the New York State Urban Development Corporation Act; and

Whereas, Under Round 5 of Restore NY funding, New York City is permitted to submit applications for the funding of one capital project, receiving up to $5 million; and

Whereas, New York City has submitted a notice of intent to apply to ESDC for funding Station Plaza, in the borough of Queens; and

Whereas, Station Plaza will be located on Block 9994, Lot 38; Block 9986, Lot 70 and 73; and Block 9988, Lot 37, located in Jamaica, in the borough of Queens (“the Site”); and

Whereas, Up to $5 million is being sought by New York City in connection with the Site for demolition of four underutilized properties with a combined 40,638 square feet gross building area on parcels mapped as Public Places, adjacent to the 2007 Jamaica Gateway Urban Renewal Plan, and associated costs for hazardous material abatement and reconstruction; and

Whereas, The Jamaica Rezoning Plan, approved in September 2007, addressed zoning updates to approximately 368 blocks, aimed at promoting economic growth and development in Jamaica’s Downtown area; and

Whereas, The Site falls within several federal, state, and local zones, including the Jamaica Brownfield Opportunity Area and South Jamaica Enterprise Zone, that make it eligible for a variety of financial incentives; and

Whereas, Infrastructure improvements to the Site will improve safety, alleviate traffic congestion, induce commercial investment, and integrate the area’s bustling transit hub with the surrounding mixed-use district; and

Whereas, The Site will include two new plazas, widened sidewalks, new medians, new subway entrances and circulation improvements; and

Whereas, The Council finds that the proposed Station Plaza infrastructure project is consistent with the Jamaica Gateway Urban Renewal Plan, Jamaica Rezoning Plan, and Jamaica NOW Action Plan; and

Whereas, The Council finds that the proposed financing is appropriate for Station Plaza; and

Whereas, The Council finds that using these funds for Station Plaza facilitates effective and efficient use of existing and future public resources so as to promote both economic development and preservation of community resources; and

that will attract, create, and sustain employment and economic development opportunities; now, therefore, be it

Resolved. That the Council of the City of New York supports New York City's application for funding for capital projects under the Restore New York Communities Initiative pursuant to the New York State Urban Development Corporation Act, for Station Plaza, in the borough of Queens.

Adopted by the Council (preconsidered and adopted by the Committee on Land Use).

Res. No. 1762

Resolution calling on the New York State Legislature to introduce and pass, and the Governor to sign, legislation that would allow New York City to provide a credit against the business corporation and unincorporated business taxes to fleet companies for a portion of the qualifying expenses on safety technology systems

By Council Member Reynoso.

Whereas, According to the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles, there were over 70,000 vehicle collisions in New York City in 2016; and

Whereas, Those vehicle collisions resulted in 230 fatalities and over 68,000 personal injuries of varying severities; and

Whereas, In the same year, there were over 2,100 collisions in the City involving large trucks, resulting in 26 fatalities and 2,100 personal injuries; and

Whereas, Among the contributing causes of collisions reported to police, human factor constituted 69 percent of all vehicle collisions and 71 percent of large truck collisions in the City; and

Whereas, Examples of human factors include backing unsafely, eating or drinking, using headphones, passing too closely, texting, falling asleep, following too closely, fatigue, driver distraction, or alcohol and drug use; and

Whereas, In 2014, Mayor De Blasio implemented Vision Zero, a comprehensive action plan to improve road safety and end traffic fatalities and injuries in the City; and

Whereas, As part of Vision Zero, the City and some private fleet companies continue to provide safety trainings to their fleet operators; and

Whereas, Although these trainings have helped improve safe driving, there is a need for safety technology systems to aid vehicle operators and avoid collisions, especially those caused by human factors; and

Whereas, Safety technology systems include dashboard and backup cameras, electronic data recorders, collision avoidance systems, or a combination; and

Whereas, The cameras and recorders capture film of hard brake stops, swerves, collisions, and moving traffic violations; and

Whereas, Companies are able to review films and other recordings in order to curb and modify risky driving behaviors through trainings and other necessary intervention programs; and

Whereas, The collision avoidance systems use sensors to immediately alert vehicle operators of lane departures, speeding, and tailgating, as well as the presence of pedestrians, cyclists, and other vehicles in their way, to help avoid possible collision; and

Whereas, The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration studies show that 74 percent of all accidents include driver inattention in the last three seconds preceding the accident, 60 percent of road accident fatalities are due to unintentional lane departures, and 40 percent of rear end collision have no brake applications whatsoever; and

Whereas, In April 2017, the Taxi and Limousines Commission (TLC) completed its Vehicle Safety Technology Pilot, a program that tested nine different technology systems on 385 TLC-licensed vehicles; and

Whereas, TLC’s second report on the pilot, released in September 2016, showed a decline in the number of crashes per vehicle for all vehicles participating in the pilot; and

Whereas, Some private fleet operators have equipped their vehicles with some of these safety technology systems, however, other operators may find it too costly to install safety technology systems in all their vehicles; and

Whereas, Providing a tax credit to cover a portion of the cost will encourage such companies to purchase and install the needed safety technology systems; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the New York State Legislature to introduce and pass, and the Governor to sign, legislation that will allow New York City to provide a credit against the business corporation and unincorporated business taxes to private fleet companies for a portion of qualifying expenses on safety technology systems.
