

Citywide Executive Development Programs provide specialized development and networking opportunities for seasoned executives and emerging leaders within City government. These programs offer participants the unique opportunity to work with and learn from: current executive and senior-level City managers; recognized thought leaders and authors; and leadership practitioners from academia, government, as well as the private and non-profit sectors. The talent of the faculty and program participants distinguishes these programs as premier development opportunities in City government.

The Leadership Institute helps to prepare a select group of mid-level agency executives to lead organizational change initiatives. The curriculum, taught by expert faculty from the public, private and non-profit sectors, introduces managers to state of the art change models that focus on innovation, process and performance improvement. Click here for more information.

The Management Academy is designed specifically for the City's new and emerging leaders. The Academy's goal is to expose participants to exceptional management practices and accomplishments in agency innovation. The curriculum assists its participants in developing a fuller understanding of the formal and informal processes that drive City government. Click here for more information.

The NYC Urban Fellows Program is a nine-month fellowship which combines work in Mayoral offices and City agencies with an intensive seminar series that explores current urban issues impacting public policy. Program participants are diverse and come from all over the country to work in New York City. Click here for more information.