
The Mayor's Graduate Scholarship Program

2016 - 2017

Striving Toward Academic Excellence within
New York City Government

The Goal of the Program

- The Mayor's Graduate Scholarship Program (MGSP) was developed to offer New York City Government employees the opportunity to compete for scholarships at schools in the metropolitan area.
 - The program is a collaborative effort between a number of academic institutions and the City of New York to inspire and assist you in attaining your educational goals.

Key Benefits

- Obtain a reduction in tuition costs
 - Learn progressive concepts in your field
 - Enhance your skills while you work
 - Be a more valued employee

Scholarship Participation

- The Program was established in the late 1960's through the foresight and generosity of Pace University. Since that time, we have partnered with 35 to 40 schools.
 - For example, New York University's schools of Social Work; Public Service; Education; and Continuing and Professional Studies participate in MGSP.
 - More than 300 degree programs are offered (e.g., MSW, JD, MS, MA, PhD) by participating institutions.

Fields of Study

- The Mayor's Graduate Scholarship Program (MGSP) offers scholarship opportunities through participating graduate schools in areas such as:
 - ❑ business and public administration
 - ❑ policy analysis
 - ❑ law
 - ❑ education
 - ❑ engineering
 - ❑ nursing
 - ❑ computer science
 - ❑ other profession-specific programs

Scholarship Requirements

Eligibility

- You can apply as soon as you are hired as a full-time City employee
 - You can pursue a second master's degree
 - You can apply if you are already enrolled in a school, except if otherwise stated in MGSP Scholarship Offering Guide (see requirements column)

Scholarship Offerings

- Schools agree to provide the funding for scholarships
 - Only schools and degree programs listed in the Guide participate in MGSP
 - Requirements are listed in the Guide
 - The majority of scholarships generally range from one-third to half tuition reduction
 - Some schools may offer other scholarships at various dollar amounts that can not be combined with the MGSP award. If you choose to opt for another award, please contact the office.
