Bureau of Learning Development

The New York City Public Service Corps (PSC) is the nation's first and largest Off - campus public service internship program for college students!

PROGRAM HISTORY

The New York City Public Service Corps (PSC) is dedicated to providing undergraduate and graduate students with opportunities to serve their communities, build occupational skills, and learn about careers in the public sector. The Public Service Corps connects meaningful internship experience with academic learning, personal growth, and civic responsibility. While students apply their classroom studies to the real world, community service needs are met.

WORK- STUDY INTERNSHIPS

Placements include internships in law, research, finance, social services, accounting, office administration, education, health, information systems, graphic arts, journalism, engineering, architectural and computer technology.

More than just an opportunity for students to earn financial support while pursuing their studies, PSC Work-Study placements provide students with a chance to assist City agencies while gaining career experience and learning about careers in government. To be eligible for a Work-Study placement, a student must be receiving Federal Work-Study financial aid.

Students should consult their financial aid office about the Federal Work-Study Program and determine if their institution has a contract for off-campus placements with the Public Service Corps.

AGENCIES

All agencies of New York City government are eligible for Public Service Corps interns. The Public Service Corps is a program of the New York City Department of Citywide Administrative Services, with sponsorship from City agencies, the Federal Work-Study Program, and participating institutions of higher education. Note: Each participating school contributes (through Federal Work-Study funds) 75% of the interns' salary and the hiring agency provides the remaining 25%. Public Service Corps Work-Study students receive an hourly wage.
