The New York City Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) will be hosting a series of outreach events throughout the City to improve customer service for its account holders. DEP Customer Service representatives will be on hand with computers to check water usage history, answer questions and set up payment agreements.

The event will also feature information from other New York City agencies that offer programs of interest to property owners. The other agencies are:

Department of Finance (DOF)

Housing Preservation and Development (HPD)

Department for the Aging (DFTA)
