Summer 2017 Issue 2

Small Businesses Bring The HEAT

HEAT teams are out in the field teaching community residents about the importance of fire hydrant safety. They are also educating small business owners about how illegally opened fire hydrants could affect their businesses. The majority of business owners contacted in the HEAT outreach communities have welcomed the information provided and allowed the teams to post HEAT fliers on their storefronts. All four teams have reached close to 50 businesses and the numbers keep growing every day!

The HEAT participants would like to give a special thanks to all businesses that are supporting their mission. Thank you all!

The goal of the HEAT program is to educate community residents and stakeholders about the dangers associated with illegally opened fire hydrants. Promote and advocate for the use of spray caps on fire hydrants.

The HEAT Is On!

CB4 HEAT team

HEAT is regularly adding new organizations that will be helping to promote HEAT's mission. This year they have added the Bronx Terminal Market, Davidson Community Center and St. Edmund's Summer camp. The HEAT teams are also participating in events with organizations that have a history of supporting their mission such as the Inwood, Melrose, and Sedgwick libraries.

HEAT team members finished their second week of events. The teams created event workshops using their new HEAT Activity Book. The activity book made it easier to explain the importance of fire hydrant safety. The HEAT participants had a chance to conduct workshops at different non-profit community based organizations. These organizations have a history of cooperative programming services for children, families, and seniors throughout the Bronx and Manhattan.
