Job Description

Under direction, with wide latitude for the exercise of independent judgment and initiative, the selected candidate will set-up, organize and maintain a Geographic Information Systems (GIS) database for the Harbor Survey program. This includes collecting and organizing all current, ongoing and historical water quality data collected by the Harbor Survey. The selected candidate will also be expected to assist with writing and producing reports generated by the MSS. This will include data analysis, graphics generation, proofreading and editing. In addition, the candidate will be required to participate in field surveys when necessary, including equipment and sample preparation, field analysis and sample delivery as required by the field supervisor.

Qualification Requirements

1. A doctorate degree from an accredited college or university with specialization in an appropriate field of physical, biological, environmental or social science and one year of full-time experience in a responsible supervisory, administrative or research capacity in the appropriate field of specialization; or
2. A master's degree from an accredited college or university with specialization in an appropriate field of physical, biological, environmental or social science and three years of responsible full-time research experience in the appropriate field of specialization; or
3. Education and/or experience which is equivalent to "1" or "2" above. However, all candidates must have at least a master's degree in an appropriate field of specialization and at least two years of experience described in "2" above. Two years as a City Research Scientist Level I can be substituted for the experience required in "1" and "2" above.

Essential Skills

The selected candidate should be proficient with Geographic Information Systems (GIS) software from ESRI. The candidate must also have proficiency with basic word processing and spreadsheet applications on the Windows platform. The candidate must also possess a motor vehicle driver's license valid in the State of New York, and a license must be maintained for the duration of the employment.
