Captain Keeps Dangerous Weapon Out of EMTC

In March Captain Gerard Cajuste responded to a situation in which an inmate had become verbally disruptive in the Mess Hall at EMTC. Once they were both in the corridor, Cajuste ordered the inmate to face the wall. While applying handcuffs, Cajuste noticed that the inmate was keeping one hand tightly closed. When he ordered the inmate to open his hand, he discovered that the man was holding a 3/8 inch piece of a razor blade wrapped in electrical tape. Keeping weapons like this out of the jails is a key part of the Commissioner's 14-point anti-violence reform agenda. Cajuste received a formal recognition from First Deputy James Dzurenda for his actions.
