

DYCD 2010 Summer of Service

Summer is the perfect time for youth to give back to their communities. DYCD makes giving possible through Summer of Service, a five week, youth-led service initiative.

On August 13, 2010, youth will host projects where their peers can beautify neighborhoods, tutor younger youth, serve meals, and provide education on topics such as health and teen violence. Summer of Service is part of NYC Service, Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg's signature civic engagement initiative.

This year's program is made possible with the generous support of the Neuberger Berman Foundation.

To learn more about Summer of Service, contact Youth Connect: 1-800-246-4646 or call 311.

For other service opportunities, visit: <http://www.nyc.gov/service>.