

About. Six-time Grammy Award-winning artist and urban R&B chanteuse Tamia has garnered international fame for her hit single “Stranger In My House” and her various collaborations with legends like Babyface and Quincy Jones. A velvet voice and sinuous, sexy tunes accommodate her honest and heartbreakingly real lyrics. Mario Barrett, the Baltimore native better known simply as Mario, has been a staple on the pop and R&B charts from the age of fifteen with his savvy breakout rendition of Biz Markie’s ‘Just a Friend’. His self-titled debut album featured songs by Alicia Keys and helped launch the career of Ne-Yo, who wrote Mario’s double-platinum international #1 hit ‘Let Me Love You’. Mario’s most recent album, D.N.A. features the charting singles ‘Break Up’ featuring Sean Garrett and Gucci Mane and ‘Thinkin’ About You’. Presented in Association with WBLS and Globe Star Media.

The Specials, Black Joe Lewis and the Honeybears and $mall ¢hange

What better way to salute summer than with a blowout 30th anniversary show with famed rude boys, The Specials? These UK second-wave revivalists, responsible for such hits as —A Message To You, Rudy, —Ghost Town, and —Too Much Too Young will bring their infectious blend of ska-meets-rock steady to Central Park in high, 2 Tone fashion. Austin, Texas-based Black Joe Lewis and The Honeybears play juke-joint soul with gritty attitude and a greasy groove. With his hipbone swinging, his heart pounding and his mind in the gutter, Lewis' funky, supercharged gutbucket R&B is sure to spark the crowd to life. Bring your dancing shoes and prepare to get a nasty sweat on! Over the past 15 years $mall ¢hange (aka James Dier) has done just about every type of DJ gig. From the finest lofts in Manhattan to pirate radio on the burning man playa, from afternoon museum throw-downs to after-hours Brooklyn warehouses, he is fully prepared to rock the house every time, with years of dance floor experience and skills to pay the bills. $mall ¢hange has tens of thousands of records at the ready, spanning the hit singles to the extremely obscure, in every conceivable genre and time period.

Five Days in March by Toshiki Okada. Performed by Witness Relocation.

Five Days in March by Toshiki Okada is set in the days before the U.S. began its war against Iraq in March 2003. Minobe meets Yukki at a rock show. Their awkward conversation leads to five days of wild sex in a love hotel. Azuma sells Miffy a ticket to a bad movie. Miffy thinks Azuma doesn't return her feelings, so she decides to move to Mars. Yasui and Ishihara go on the anti-war protest. The police escort's uniforms elicit more comment than the war itself. Oblivious to the imminent invasion of Iraq, these hipsters obsess over the details of their lives, perfectly capturing the irony and impotency of Generation Y in Japan today. The story unfolds through actors who slip in and out of character while also narrating and playing out scenes. The play, a winner of the prestigious Kishida Kunio Drama Award, is at once funny, sad, anticlimactic and devastating.

Beowulf – A Thousand Years of Baggage, performed by Banana Bag & Bodice

Digging into the roots of the original epic poem, this re-imagined version of Beowulf – A Thousand Years of Baggage hearkens back to the raw and rowdy style of storytelling in the old Scandinavian mead halls – with a passion for fierce poetry and a pint of thick beer. Monsters and professors collide in blood-soaked Scandinavia as this hefty poem is rescued from 1,000 years of analysis and transformed into a defiantly raucous dissertation on art and violence. With an 8-piece band including dueling trombones, bass clarinet, accordion and saw, Beowulf combines Weillian cabaret, 40's jazz harmony, indie rock, punk, electronica and Romantic lieder into a cacophonous swirl.

Beowulf – A Thousand Years of Baggage, performed by Banana Bag & Bodice

Digging into the roots of the original epic poem, this re-imagined version of Beowulf – A Thousand Years of Baggage hearkens back to the raw and rowdy style of storytelling in the old

Scandinavian mead halls – with a passion for fierce poetry and a pint of thick beer. Monsters and professors collide in blood-soaked Scandinavia as this hefty poem is rescued from 1,000 years of analysis and transformed into a defiantly raucous dissertation on art and violence.

With an 8-piece band including dueling trombones, bass clarinet, accordion and saw, Beowulf combines Weillian cabaret, 40's jazz harmony, indie rock, punk, electronica and Romantic lieder into a cacophonous swirl.

The Charlie Parker Jazz Festival featuring: McCoy Tyner, Jimmy Scott, Jason Moran and the Bandwagon and Revive Da Live: Charlie Parker Revisited

Jazz pianist McCoy Tyner's distinctive and powerful blues-based style is defined by his —explosively percussive left hand. His approach to melodies and chord-voicing has made him one of the most influential jazz pianists of the 20th century and his techniques have been mimicked by countless musicians. Tyner is a unique improvisational player who has released a staggering number of albums at nearly 80 and has earned four Grammys over the course of his impressive career. McCoy Tyner is presented in association with Jill Newman Productions. Declared by Rolling Stone as —the most provocative thinker in current jazz, composer and pianist Jason Moran keeps the swing tradition alive in modern jazz. Teaming with bassist Tarus Mateen, and drummer Nasheet Waits to become Jason Moran and the Bandwagon, this is one of the most creative piano jazz trios around. Beginning with the debut album, Soundtrack to Human Motion to Artist in Residence, this force to be reckoned with has challenged the status quo by combining elements that include improvisation, avant-garde jazz, classical music, hip-hop and spoken word. The distinct soulful and romantic voice of Jimmy Scott continues to charm audiences even at the age of 84. A regular on the jazz scene in the 1950's and 60's, Jimmy's career came roaring back in the early 90's and has continued to flourish ever since. His natural style, phrasing and knack for bending notes have earned him a long list of admirers including the who's who of fellow jazz greats. Jimmy Scott is presented in association with Jill Newman Productions. Revive Da Live's premiere, "Charlie Parker Revisited" is an innovative tribute to the musical and cultural legacy of Charles Parker and will be led by an all-star band featuring Raydar Ellis, Ben Williams, Justin Brown, Jaleel Shaw, Marcus Strickland, Marc Cary, Corey King and Ingmar Thomas. Tonight's show will explore the genius of Parker by combining music from his past with modern day interpretations. Part of the NYC Revolutions series.

The Charlie Parker Jazz Festival featuring James Moody, Catherine Russell, Vijay Iyer and The JD Allen Trio

Modern jazz saxophonist James Moody is considered to be a —world-class soloist and improvisational genius who incorporates a variety of wood instruments into his work.

The sultry, bluesy vocals of native New Yorker Catherine Russell is making jazz fans everywhere sit up and take notice. Her unique sound is a throw-back to the female blues and jazz stars of the 1950's and 60's. Primarily self-taught, jazz pianist and composer Vijay Iyer is considered daringly original for creating jazz that is simultaneously improvisational, choreographed and grounded in groove and pulse. His cutting-edge music is powerful, compelling and has earned him numerous accolades in the jazz world.

Hailed by the New York Times as “a tenor saxophonist with an enigmatic, elegant and hard-driving style,” JD Allen is a bright rising light on today's international jazz scene. His unique and compelling voice on the instrument – the result of a patient and painstaking tation with the fundamentals of the art - has recently earned Allen a blaze of critical attention signaling his ascension to the upper ranks of the contemporary jazz world.
