

HRA HIV/AIDS Services Administration Director of Training, Procedures and Community Affairs
William Millan Wins 100 Year Association Public Service Award

William Millan, Director of Training, Procedures and Community Affairs for HRA's HIV/AIDS Services Program (HASA) has won a prestigious Isaac Liberman Public Service Award from the 100 Year Association of New York. Each year, the Isaac Liberman Public Service Awards honor ten outstanding New York City civil servants whose commitment to their city has gone above and beyond their job description and made New York a better place. The talented children of several dedicated HRA employees also won E. Virgil Conway College Scholarships from the 100 Year Association. The awards were presented on December 21 at a ceremony attended by Mayor Michael Bloomberg, Deputy Mayor Caswell Holloway, Commissioner Doar and the commissioners of several other City agencies.

Clinton W. Blume III, 100 Year Association President; Commissioner Robert Doar; William Millan; Avery Eli Okin, Esq. 100 Year Awards Committee Chair and Brooklyn Bar Association President; and Michele Gerber Klein, Vice-President, The Bertha & Isaac Liberman Foundation

“Today, with the help of one of our city’s great community organizations – the Hundred Year Association, we’re honoring the very best of New York by recognizing 10 of our most committed, exceptional public servants,” said Mayor Bloomberg at the ceremony. “We’re also taking the opportunity to invest in the dreams of some of our best and brightest. Our youth are the future of New York, and the young scholars we’re honoring today re-affirm that our city’s best days are still ahead.”

Mr. Millan has been with HASA since the program’s founding in 1985, rising in the ranks to his present position. He oversees a staff of nine direct and indirect reports in the areas of Training, Procedures and Community Affairs, and as a licensed Master of Social Work (MSW) he serves as Chief Field Instructor and Director/Supervisor of MSW interns from Fordham University School of Social Work interested in learning about or working in the HASA program. He has frequently used his own money to purchase training materials vitally needed for Training and Staff Development, and brought in own professional video equipment to record, produce and edit training videos for HASA and other HRA programs.

The children of HRA staff who received scholarships from the 100 Year Association of New York include Sarah Bauch, the daughter of Naomi Bauch; Riddhi Doshi, the daughter of Sadguna Doshi; Bryant Ly, the son of Edward Ly; and Michelle Urman, the daughter of Bella Urman.