A very special holiday party for kids and dads will take place at the Museum of the City of New York (1220 Fifth Avenue at 104th Street) on Thursday, December 20, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. The event will include free gifts, free food, games, raffles, and private guided tours of The Glory Days: New York Baseball 1947-1957 exhibition. All family members and caregivers are welcome to attend.

NYC DADS is an HRA-led citywide public education campaign focusing on the important role that fathers play in their children's lives. As a part of this initiative, HRA also hosts community events to celebrate low-income dads who participate in local community-based fatherhood programs. These programs are an effective way to give fathers the support they need to care for their families and have been shown to help fathers make significant gains in employment, vocational planning, feeling positive about their current relationships with their children, and being able to plan for the future.

The Glory Days exhibition, on view until December 31, explores the golden age of baseball in New York through video footage, audio recordings, and the largest assemblage of New York baseball memorabilia ever exhibited.

The NYC DADS Holiday Party is a free event hosted by the Museum of the City of New York, the New York City Human Resources Administration, and The New York City Sports Commission. The evening is sponsored by the New York Yankees, the New York Mets, the New York Red Bulls, the New York Rangers, Nike, Parents Magazine, Scholastic, Disney, Izze, The Weinstein Company, Kidfresh, Russ & Daughters, Katz's Deli, Flat Earth, Dr. Moz, and Snapple.
