Nicholas Muller (November 15, 1836 - December 12, 1917) was a United States Representative from New York.

Born in Luxembourg, he attended the common schools in the city of Metz and afterward the Athénée de Luxembourg. He immigrated to the United States with his parents, who settled in New York City, and was employed as a railroad ticket agent for more than 20 years. He was one of the promoters and original directors of the Germania Bank in New York City and served in the New York State Assembly in 1875 and 1876. He was a member of the State central committee in 1875, and was elected as a Democrat to the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses, holding office from March 4, 1877 to March 3, 1881. During the latter Congress he was chairman of the Committee on Expenditures in the Department of the Interior. He was an unsuccessful candidate for reelection in 1880 to the Forty-seventh Congress, and was then elected to the Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Congresses, holding office from March 4, 1883 to March 3, 1887; in both Congresses he was chairman of the Committee on Militia.

Muller was not a candidate for renomination in 1886 and was appointed president of the city police board in 1888. He subsequently served as president of the excise board and as quarantine commissioner. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses and held office from March 4, 1899 until his resignation on December 1, 1902. He was an unsuccessful candidate for Staten Island borough president in 1901, and was appointed as tax commissioner in 1904. He died in New Brighton, Staten Island in 1917, aged 81, and was interred in Green-Wood Cemetery.

AFTER MURPHY'S SEAT.

EX-CONGRESSMAN MULLER'S FRIENDS AT WORK ON STATEN ISLAND.

There was an exciting time in the Richmond County Hall at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, yesterday, when a convention was held at which ex-Congressman Nicholas Muller was nominated as a candidate for State Senator from the Fifth District. It has been the custom of the Richmond County delegates to attend the convention of one or the other of the regular Democratic organizations in this city, and a number of the delegates will attend the convention this afternoon at 217 Spring-street in the interest of Senator Murphy.

Less than two years ago Mr. Muller took up his residence on Staten Island, declaring at the time that he was going to "whoop things up," and would probably make an effort to secure Senator Murphy's place in the Legislature. Since then he has been laying his pipes, and the result was shown at the recent County Convention in Richmond County, when a resolution was put through with a rush indorsing Muller and instructing the Senatorial delegation from that county to place him in nomination and endeavor to secure the indorsement of his candidacy from the organizations in this city. The convention yesterday was called for the expressed purpose of nominating Mr. Muller as Richmond County's candidate. D. T. Cornell was made Chairman and M. J. Reardon Secretary. No roll was called, and it was impossible to ascertain the number of delegates present. Two Murphy men appeared for the purpose of objecting to the proceedings as irregular. These were Charles Morgan and John Murphy. Mr. Morgan moved the nomination of Col. Murphy in opposition to Mr. Muller. The motion was seconded by Murphy, but no attention was paid to it, and the nomination of Mr. Muller was made by acclamation.

General sympathy in the county is in favor of Murphy, and he will poll the largest number of votes. He has already been nominated by the German-American Citizens' Association and the Brewers and Liquor Dealers' Association, and he will probably receive the united Democratic nomination in this city to-day.

"RING" RULE ON STATEN ISLAND.

"Boss" Muller and His "Machine" Seek Control of Every Enterprise.

NEW BRIGHTON, S. I., Oct. 25.—The movement on Staten Island for the overthrow of the corrupt political "ring" which not only dominates the government, but also strangles all enterprises that it does not control, is daily gaining strength.

A large part of the population is made up of New-York business and professional men, who have given little attention to local affairs and have had no idea how widespread and how dangerous was the power of "Boss" Muller.

Since the campaign of education has been instituted by the organization of Richmond County Democrats, their eyes have begun to be opened to the true state of affairs, and honest citizens of every party are enrolling themselves as members, or are giving their active support to the fusion ticket which has been nominated against the candidates of the "ring."

The corruption of the McLaughlin "ring" in Brooklyn, the bold and defiant rule of ex-Mayor Gleason in Long Island City, the lawlessness of the Davis faction in Jersey City, and the chicanery of the Buffalo political "ring" have never been worse than the misrule established in Richmond County by the "uncrowned King," who received his political education in the vicinity of Castle Garden during the Tweed regime in New-York.

So complete is the "boss" rule on Staten Island that hardly one of the county, town, or village boards on Staten Island can be induced to act on any question unless it has the approval of the "boss," and the expression most often heard in official circles is: "What does the 'old man' say?"

The corruption of the "ring" has been shown at the elections by the exposures made in connection with the Port Richmond sewers and by the manner in which the "machine" contractors are given all public work, while "anti-machine" men are frozen out.

The defiance of the wishes of the people is shown by the passage of the laws establishing County Boards of Excise and Assessors, laws increasing the salaries and terms of the Supervisors, increasing the terms of the Police Commissioners, all in the face of strong protests or without the knowledge of the people.

The chicanery is best shown by the fact that the right of the people to elect is taken away in all these boards, as well as by the resignation of the two hold-over Police Commissioners and the reappointment of all three for terms of five years from May last.

Last Winter, a bankrupt street railway fell into the hands of capitalists, who asked for a franchise to rebuild the road and equip it with electricity. The petition was shelved without a semblance of fairness and with hardly a hearing, despite the fact that a large majority of the property owners along the line of the road had signed consents and 90 per cent. of the business men favored the road.

Now the announcement is made in one of the organs of the "machine" that Mr. Muller is to build electric railroads, that plans have been prepared, and work will soon begin. The organ also declares that the people have reason to be very grateful to Mr. Muller for his efforts to increase the prosperity of the island.

THE DOWNFALL OF MULLER

Staten Island Breathes Freer Now That It Has No Boss.

POPULAR ABHORRENCE KILLED HIM

The Skillful Building of a Machine Which Ruined Its Maker—Feeling of Relief Rather Than of Satisfied Revenge.

There are comet years in port wines. So there are memorable eras of boss collapse. In New-York County, for example, 1894 will always be memorable as "Tammany's cropper" year. In Richmond County, in like fashion, 1894 will cleave to the popular recollection as the "great anti-Nick Muller year"—just as in Ireland to this very day 1849 is spoken of with bated breath as "the year of the big wind."

The downfall of "Boss" Muller is of as much importance to the people of Staten Island as the overthrow of Tammany is to residents of Manhattan Island.

The metropolis, of course, has not had the opportunity to get that knowledge of the real facts in the case which have for some time made Mullerism so live an issue in the public affairs of Richmond County. In truth, up to the present very little has been really known of the mode of life and the course of political events which have sharpened popular interest in the spacious island suburb down the bay.

Let it be said that when Mr. Nicholas Muller first cast his curious and speculative eyes on Staten Island the Local Government was, to put it mildly, rich in possibilities of development. It was in a singular, almost unique, stage of progression out of a crude, rude stage, such as characterizes many such communities of the purely agricultural sort in this State. It was distinctly in a transition phase. The scheme of its government was ridiculously inartificial and primeval. There could, perhaps, be quoted no finer example of what is known as "'hayseed control."

Its population was threefold. First came the wealthy property owners, who had been reduced to a state of imbecile docility by a horde of village politicians of an almost rudimentary type. Then come those politicians whose rapacity was simply inordinate, and who in their greed bore the same relation to the "heelers" of Brooklyn and New-York that the tsetse fly does to the midge. Lastly came the constantly dwindling element of "the native," an industrious and simple-hearted class who devoted themselves to oystering and who were indifferent to the politicians so long long as they confined their depredations to the land-owning aristocracy.

In those days, let it be said parentheticallly, it was actually regarded as a calamity to own property estate on Staten Island. To reside there under the odium of possessing real estate boded serious diaster.

In those days the island was the aristoequal to the cloud of "Constables" has been described since the South was infested by carpet-bagging "Marshals" and "Deputies."

To get an idea of the way law and order and the rights of property were respected in Richmond County up to the day of the coming to the surface of Muller, all one has to do is to read the proceedings of the Lexow committee loosely, with changed names.

But Muller had, politically speaking, a workmanlike and artistic mind, compared with the aborigines. He was surprised by the rudimentary and unfinished system which there confronted him. It exasperated him as the blundering and untutored methods of the Spaniards exasperated the finer and more fastidious piracy of Sir Francis Drake.

So it was in the spirit of an accomplished buccaneer that he took ship from the foot of Whitehall Street, with bag and baggage, horse, foot, and dragoons, and in the all-conquering name of the Muller family assumed possession of the virgin soil of Staten Island.

In making this raid, Muller had the advantage of a complete preparation. Whereas the predatory bands of "Justices" and "Constables" who roamed the island were neophytes in "practical politics," he himself was an expert in all the arts of conquest. He was an accomplished tribesman of Tammany Hall. He was familiar with every trick and device in the game of war. He was a veteran guerrilla. As the phrase goes, what he did not know about "politics"—that is Tammany Hall "politics"—was not worth knowing. Compared with his trained and subtle mind, the denizens of the new and unexplored territory were as Ojibeways or Pai-Utes confronting with home-made bows and arrows the rapid breechloaders of the white man.

First the "politicians" withstood the incursion. They flocked together and made a rude but half-hearted resistance. But victory devolved, as usual, on the better-armed and more experienced side. The Tammany "knock-out drops" were soon set operating in the ranks of the simple savages. And when the dust of battle began to clear away, those of the "Justices" and "Constables" who were not stretched upon the plain were comfortably snoring in Muller's ranks, hypnotized by fat salaries to do the invader yeoman's service.

The enemy had met him and they were his.

From that memorable day, that Battle of Hastings in which Republicans and Democrats alike, and side by side, went down beneath the ponderous hoofs of this new William the Conqueror, Muller did not lose a moment to strengthen his grip on the public affairs of Staten Island. He has been literally tireless in intrenching himself When he was not at work deepening his extant fosses he has been laying out new ones.

"He always seemed to feel," said one of his adversaries, "that he had to be at the pumps night and day, just to keep afloat."

The pumps have always been going. Muller seemed, indeed, to feel that every foot of standing secured yesterday ran a risk of being redeemed from his control by the rising tide to-morrow. There never has been a tenure of power so self-confessedly precarious.

in them—above all, work and money—to several people. So the good nature of Gov. Flower was appealed to, and Gov. Flower, as almoner of the Democratic Party of the State of New-York, appointed Nicholas Muller Quarantine Commissioner and made him a dispenser of a comfortable amount of State cash.

Then the Supervisors whom he had nominated and controlled repaid the judicious compliment by appointing him President of the Board of Police.

Then he demanded of the member of the Assembly whom he had nominated and elected that a bill should be passed putting the control of all the excise business into the hands of the Board of Police, and, presto! the grateful Assemblyman passed just such a law, the friendly Governor signed it, and Mr. Nicholas Muller at once had his hand on the double lever of the police and the excise, shutting off and turning on steam just as he wanted at his own sweet will.

But that was not all. His elder son was a bright young man, looking round for a start in political life. One was found for him at once. He was made a member of the Democratic State Committee.

But that was not all. A second son had to be provided for. He, too, was a most promising youth—who would be content with very little, and was not by any means of a grasping nature.

So the second son was appointed—they were all practically appointments in those days—Sheriff of Richmond County.

Encouraged by his success, and having a by no means lofty opinion of the conquered tribes that he ruled, "Boss" Muller began to assume a lofty disdain for his subjects such as was never known in New-York, even in the most abject days of its slavery. He was not only disposed to spurn the professional politicians whom he had reduced to bondage, but he began to browbeat the respectable and self-sustaining men who, while they had no sympathy to waste on the sufferings of the old régime, had none the less a keen indisposition to be themselves enslaved.

"I don't care," said Sterling Drake, "for the wrongs of the professional politicians who are crying out about 'Mullerism.' But what I do protest against is Muller's impudent theory that he owns Richmond County, and that we Staten Islanders only have the right to breathe when he chooses to acknowledge it."

The completeness and exactness of the Muller machine is what precipitated its collapse. The machine worked too well and too completely. People began to feel a sense of horrible, universal danger in being at the mercy of a self-acting automatic force so devoid both of intelligence and of compunction.

At a recent convention Muller sat in a little room just off the stage. The programme rolled out of the cogwheels just as it was appointed to roll, just like a piece of music out of an organette. There was not a discord, not a false note, not a jar or a rattle.

"That's what I call a perfect machine," said the boss. "You can bet your life she's greased to the Queen's taste."

It was too well greased, and the taste was too royal altogether.

The satisfaction which has attended the collapse of this particular "boss" on maddening influence in the air that made all men one in their desire to hunt down "boss-ship" like a mad dog.

And there is, in consequence, a general feeling of relief rather than of satisfied revenge that the institution known as "Mullerism" in Richmond County and Tammany Hall in New-York, fell under the juggernaut wheels of popular abhorrence and was ground to pieces.

NICHOLAS MULLER, OLD POLITICIAN, DIES

Once Tammany Leader of Richmond, ex-Congressman and ex-Police Head Was 81.

Nicholas Muller, who was prominent in Tammany politics for more than a quarter of a century and served five terms in Congress from the Seventh New York District, died yesterday morning following a stroke of apoplexy at his home in Clinton Avenue, New Brighton, S. I., in his eighty-second year.

"Nick" Muller, as he was known, lived for many years in the downtown section of New York, and started his political career with Tammany Hall in 1882. After serving two terms in Congress, he was elected for a third term and served from 1883 to 1887, and the following year was appointed President of the Police Board and later became head of the Excise Board and was afterward appointed Quarantine Commissioner by Governor Flower, an office he retained until 1894, when he was forced out.

Mr. Muller had always kept a strong hold over Staten Island, and was sent back to Congress again in 1899 and resigned in 1901 after he had been defeated for Borough President of Richmond by George Cromwell. In 1904 he was appointed Tax Commissioner by Mayor McClellan, and when the latter had his quarrel with Murphy he sided with Tammany Hall. Mr. Muller was removed from office by the Mayor on the ground that he was one of the heaviest delinquent tax debtors in Richmond Borough, and had refused to resign, making removal necessary. He was forced out of his leadership in Staten Island in 1901 after his defeat by Cromwell, and retired from politics and active life in 1909. From that time until his death Mr. Muller devoted himself to his art collection. His son, Edward Muller, has been Sheriff and County Clerk of Richmond County.

Mr. Muller was born in Luxemburg and came to New York with his parents as a small boy. Before entering politics he was for many years in the steamship and railroad business, and at one time was General Eastern Passenger Agent for the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad.

DEATH LIST OF A DAY.

George A. Bell.

George A. Bell died yesterday at the Hotel Margaret, Columbia Heights, Brooklyn. Mr. Bell was born at Morpeth, Northumberland, England, in 1824. A boy of thirteen years, he went to work in his native place, but a few years afterward he removed to Glasgow, Scotland. He came to New York in 1847 and entered the employ of Mr. William Mead, with whom he remained as clerk and partner fifteen years. In 1865 he became President of the New Jersey Zinc Company, at that time the most important concern of the kind in this country. He afterward joined his sons in the insurance business under the firm name of George A. Bell & Sons.

Three months after Mr. Bell arrived in this country the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher came to Brooklyn, and Mr. Bell joined Plymouth Church at its first communion with him in November, 1847. For twenty-seven years he was one of the most active members of that church, and for many years held the offices of clerk and deacon. As a Sunday-school worker and organizer he became widely known. In 1861 he was made Superintendent of the Plymouth Church Sunday school. Largely by his exertions it speedily increased in membership, and the Plymouth lecture room was in consequence rebuilt and considerably enlarged. Mr. Bell next took charge of the Bethel Mission Sunday school, the oldest in Brooklyn, which had recently been adopted by Plymouth Church through his influence. It speedily grew to such an extent that in 1868 a commodious building was erected in Hicks Street, near Fulton, for its permanent home.

In 1872 Mr. Beecher and the officers of the church sent Mr. Bell to take charge of what was then called the Navy Mission. It greatly thrived under his superintendence. Its old building, in Jay Street, being completely altered and the name of the organization being changed to "The Mayflower of Plymouth Church."

Mr. Bell's health broke down in the following year, and he went to Europe for a rest. On his return, in 1874, he took charge once more of the Bethel of Plymouth Church. Not long afterward he accepted the Superintendency of the old Warren Street Mission, in Warren Street, near Hicks, then first adopted by the Church of the Pilgrims. The whole of this work was placed unreservedly in his hands. Before many months more room was needed, and a handsome chapel was erected at Henry and Degraw Streets.

In 1880 Mr. Bell took charge of the home school of the Central Congregational Church. Two years afterward he started a mission for the poor in Emery Street, near Marcy Avenue, and in September, 1881, began the erection of a chapel, which is now the Marcy Avenue branch of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church, which has the largest Sunday school in Brooklyn.

In 1882 Mr. Bell was asked by the Central Church to take charge of the Bethesda Mission School, at 1,358 Fulton Street. In this enterprise he spent twelve of his best years. A commodious chapel was erected at Ralph Avenue and Chauncey Street. In 1891 his health compelled him to resign. He took charge again, however, of the home school of the Central Church and retained it until last Spring, when he was obliged to give up work entirely.

The amounts of money contributed through Mr. Bell's influence for new or improved Sunday-school buildings in Brooklyn during the last thirty-six years are given as follows: 1863, Plymouth lecture room, $14,000; 1868, Bethel and Plymouth Church, $82,000; 1872, Mayflower, $24,000; 1876, Pilgrim Chapel, (Church of Pilgrims,) $28,000; 1881, Bethesda Chapel, (Central Congregational,) $30,000. The total is $180,000.

Mr. Bell was one of the founders of the Young Men's Christian Association, was its Treasurer, and one of its early Presidents. He was at various times a Director and President of the Brooklyn Sunday School Union, Director and Treasurer of the Brooklyn City Mission and Tract Society, a member of the Brooklyn Poor Association, and a Director and Vice President of the Howard Mission of New York.

Three years after his arrival in this country Mr. Bell returned to Scotland and married Isabella E. Blakey, the daughter of Dr. Robert Blakey, a writer of many noted philosophical works, and Professor in Queen's College, Belfast, Ireland. The issue of the marriage was five sons and two daughters, the mother and four of the sons surviving.

Ex-Judge John Hopper.

Ex-Judge John Hopper died at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, 178 Market Street, Paterson, N. J., from enlargement of the liver. He had been ill several months.

Ex-Judge Hopper was born on March 2, 1818, on his father's farm in Lodi, Bergen County, N. J., and was descended from one of the oldest of New Jersey families. He was educated at Washington Academy, in Hackensack, and at LaFayette Academy, in the same place, and afterward at Rutgers. He studied law under Peter D. Vroom, and became a counselor in 1840. He was City Counsel from 1843 to 1847, County Counsel from 1850 to 1854, and a State Senator from 1858 to 1871. He was re-elected in 1874, and served until 1877. He was Judge of the District Court from 1877 until 1880, when Gov. Abbet made him Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. He was succeeded in April last by Judge Barkalow. He was a Trustee of Rutgers. He is survived by six children.

James H. Martin.

The funeral of James H. Martin, who died on Monday at his home, 304 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn, took place there yesterday, the Rev. Joseph Dunn Burrell officiating. Mr. Martin was born in Kentucky sixty-four years ago, and removed to Bayonne, N. J., in 1877. About eight years ago he went to Brooklyn, where he opened a drug store at 348 Fulton Street. He served through the war as First Lieutenant in a Kentucky regiment. Mr. Martin was a member of Washington Lodge, F. and A. M., and in politics was a member of the National Democratic Party. He was a member of the Classon Avenue Presbyterian Church. He leaves a wife, a son, and a daughter. The burial will be in Evergreens Cemetery.

David Folsom.

David Folsom, President of the H. & D. Folsom Arms Company, and one of the best-known experts in firearms, died at his home, in the Hotel Marie Antoinette, yesterday. Mr. Folsom was born at Derby, N. H., about fifty-two years ago. He received his early education in the county schools, and at the age of eighteen entered Dartmouth College, from which he was graduated in the class of '67.

He went to New Haven and found employment with the Colt's Firearms Company. He came to New York subsequently and established the firm of which, until his death, he was the senior member. His wife and one son, David, survive him.

Capt. Leander Clark.

Capt. Leander Clark died in Newburg on Tuesday night in his seventieth year. He commanded a company in the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth New York Volunteers in the war, and afterward was an owner and trainer of fast trotters. For four years he was an Alderman and one year President of the Common Council of Newburg. On the paternal side he traced his ancestry to the Pilgrims, and Abram Clark, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was his great-uncle. The post-mortem examination showed that the cause of death was a large tumor in the stomach.

Henry Bogert.

Funeral services of Henry Bogert, of 110 Lefferts Place, Brooklyn, who died at Hudson Street Hospital Monday evening, were held last evening at the house. Mr. Bogert was taken ill on Monday afternoon while returning home from his office and died at the hospital a few hours later. His death was due primarily to Bright's disease.

Mr. Bogert was sixty-seven years old. He was employed as cashier of the Hegeman Company, of 108 Broadway, this city. He was a veteran of the Seventh Regiment and served in Company C during the war. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter.

RE: New York State Armory, Jonathan Goodhue House,
Bayley Seton Hospital & St. Peter's Brothers Residence

Bob

Dear Chairman Tierney,

It was a pleasure meeting with you and your staff yesterday to discuss potential individual landmarks within my council district. As discussed, I am writing to request that the New York State Armory at 321 Manor Road be given serious consideration as an individual landmark. The building resembles a castle and is rich in military history. I believe that the interior museum and officer's club also merits consideration as a landmark.

I have enclosed a copy of the deed conveying the Jonathan Goodhue House to the Children's Aid Society in 1912, as well as, a copy of an 1898 atlas indicating the layout of the property. As discussed, please add the main Bayley Seton Hospital building and the Brother's residence located at 200 Clinton Avenue as potential individual landmarks.

I greatly appreciate the work of LPC on behalf of the citizens of New York City and I look forward to working with you and your staff. If you have any questions or require anything further, please contact me directly.

Sincerely,

Michael E. McMahon

quarter-round attic windows. This same type of window was seen earlier in the 1834 Judge Jacob Tysen House (#9 on tour) where it was a holdover from an earlier style — the same style is being revived in this house.

16. Adolph Rodewald House, now St. Peter's School, 200 Clinton Avenue

Constructed c. 1857 for German-born merchant and broker Adolph Rodewald, this house was sold in 1886 to Nicholas Muller (born in Luxembourg), a merchant, banker, three time U.S. Congressman, major figure in the New York State Democratic Party, and owner of a number of other properties in the area. Although basically similar to the Goodhue House (next on your tour) — a three story cube above a tall basement-ornamentation here is much more elaborate. Twin pediments mark the lateral sections of the facade; elaborate almost Baroque-inspired frames encircle the oculus window in each. Window surrounds are of interest; their slight point is emphasized by the keystone. Dentils, scrollwork and ornamental brackets appear at several locations. The columns of the facade-wide porch are unusual in that they employ what is know as an entasis — a convex bulge midway up the column, an architectural subtlety introduced originally by the ancient Greeks. This and the other ornamentation suggest that a sophisticated architect designed this structure. Up the slope to the left of the house is seen the stone wall marking the boundary line between the Goodhue and Rodewald properties. The trees you see beyond the house mark the grounds of the Sailors' Snug Harbor Cemetery.

17. Jonathan Goodhue House, now Goodhue Center, 304 Prospect Avenue

Like many of Staten Island's first suburbanites, Jonathan Goodhue was an important figure in the life of the Port of New York. Originally from Salem, Massachusetts, by 1809 he had established Goodhue and Co. in New York City, a commission firm which acted on behalf of shipping interests throughout the world.

the girls school taught by the Sisters and the boys high by several Christian Brothers (Brothers of the Christian Schools). In 1920, the Brothers had to withdraw because of a conflict between their rule and the usual curriculum of American schools. In the next eleven years the school was run by Father Farrell as principal, some local priests assigned on a part time basis and some laymen. Part of this time Father Farrell was not assigned to St. Peters but to other parishes on the Island. In 1931 the Brothers returned and are there to this day.

In the meantime, the Sisters were continuing the education of the elementary children and the girls high school. Some facilities (auditorium, library, laboratory, gym and cafeteria) were shared by the two high schools but (as the students of those days can attest) never simultaneously.

For many of these years, St. Peters was the only Catholic high school on the Island and the idea of a central high school, parish school for many other parishes as well, was an innovation. Through the years St. Peters bore the brunt of Catholic high school education on the Island—in fact until the founding of Monsignor Farrell High in the sixties, St. Peters Boys High was almost alone in the field. Several private girl's schools had sprung up but even so, St. Peter's for many years was the only school most families could afford. Anyone who know Father Farrell, knew how concerned he was for the people who didn't have much and he always strived to kept tuition as low as possible, making it feasible for their children to obtain a Catholic education. To make this possible, all kinds of economics were practiced and the resources of the parish itself were thrown into the support of the schools. Though he is gone, St. Peters still has this philosophy. Even in the high schools this is true, and though the tuition has escalated it was only when necessary, and when the resources of the parish could no longer carry the burden.

In 1935, Monsignor Farrell had succeeded in having Manhatten College open a two year Junior College on Clinton Avenue. This, Manhattan College-Staten Island continued until 1943 when World War II caused the enrollment to drop so low that it could no longer function. At this point the three upper years of the Boys High moved there with a junior high school at the Terrace school. By 1955 a third floor had been added and the entire Boys High moved there, and the Girls High and the Elementary school shared the school on the Terrace.

There, changes have also taken place. The old indoor swimming pool is now a typing room for the high school, the old bowling alleys in the basement area, a — locker room, and the elementary school has the three floors on the west side of the building. They now have their own library and a resource room and finally enough room to accommodate some of the innovations brought about in teaching in recent years.

Today, the elementary school has 300 pupils, the Girls High 457 students and the Boys High 825. There have been many changes through the years but St. Peters' graduates can now, as ever through the years, share the pride of being part of the first and certainly one of the greatest educational institutions on the Island or anywhere. Men and women long past their school days still proudly say, "I went to St. Peters."

Please God it will always be so. May these schools continue to turn out educated, well rounded young Catholics, whose formation is built around a deep belief in Our Lord and a love for His Church. This has been its tradition—and none of us, priests, sisters, brothers or lay teachers dare to be untrue to it.

September 12, 1966

Office of The Mayor
Landmarks Preservation Commission
2 Lafayette Street
New York, New York 10007

Honorable and dear Sir:

As Pastor of St. Peter's Church and Treasurer of the Corporation, I wish to record opposition to the proposed designation of the "Nicholas Muller House", 200 Clinton Avenue, Staten Island, as a landmark.

St. Peter's Church conducts St. Peter's High School for Boys at that address. The "Nicholas Muller House" is used as the faculty residence for the High School. Such designation for this building will hamper future flexible, efficient planning for the economic use of the structure and its property site. Effective educational service to the community should be the controlling consideration in this matter, not sentimentality, nor relatively unimportant historical association.

It is my deduction, after reading references in Staten Island and Its People, Leng and Davis, New York, 1930, 1933 (Vol. I, pp. 257, 316, 362, 420; Vol. V, pp. 128-129), a comprehensive and authoritative work, that the historical association of the building does not warrant, especially at this time of critical educational need, the imposition of the inconveniences upon our service to the community which would derive from landmark designation.

With every good wish, I remain

Very truly yours,

Rt.Rev.Msgr. John J. McClafferty, P.A., Pastor

PLAINFIELD, N. J. Sept. 1.—A large force of men are at work cleaning the streets and removing garbage. French's mills have been inspected and the stagnant raceway in the business portion of the city has been cleaned.

STATEN ISLAND SHORE PATROL.

ACTIVITY IN GUARDING AGAINST INFECTION FROM THE BAY.

Active measures are being adopted by the health authorities of Staten Island to prevent the cholera infection from gaining a foothold there.

Quarantine Commissioner Nicholas Muller, who is Chairman of the Richmond County Board of Police Commissioners, called a meeting of that body yesterday morning. A resolution was adopted promising to the local Health Boards all possible aid in the enforcement of whatever regulations and orders they might deem necessary. The clerk was instructed to at once notify the health authorities of this action, and the Police Captain was instructed to consult with the members of the several boards at once.

At Mr. Muller's suggestion it was determined to have the shores of the island patrolled by officers to prevent the landing of any persons from infected or quarantined ships or from Hoffman or Swinburne Islands.

This guard was established yesterday afternoon, and extends from Tompkinsville to New Creek, near New-Dorp. At Fort Wadsworth a picket line has been established along the shore. These guards will be maintained day and night while danger lasts, and no boats of any description will be allowed to land unless they are known to be free from all danger of spreading infection.

A special meeting of the New-Brighton Health Board was also held. Dr. Theodore Walser, the Health Officer of that village, was Deputy Health Officer of this city for many years, and had charge of Ward's and Hoffman Islands from 1851 to 1865. He has made a special study of cholera and other contagious and infectious diseases.

The Health Board empowered Dr. Walser to institute such measures for the protection of the village as he thought necessary. He is preparing an address to the public, containing a description of the symptoms of the infection, the first steps to be taken should symptoms appear, and also elaborate instructions of measures that should be adopted to prevent its appearance and spread on the island.

The Health Officer and two Sanitary Inspectors were instructed to redouble their efforts to ferret out nuisances and infection-breeding places in the village and to have the evils remedied. Disinfectants will be provided for any person not able to purchase them. They may be obtained at the village hall or from Justice Acker, the Clerk of the New-Brighton Health Board.

A special meeting of the Edgewater Board of Health has been called for this afternoon. This board has control of the district in which are the Quarantine station and the shores liable to infection. President Mottlissel was busy all day yesterday in instituting precautions against infection.

Quarantine Commissioner Muller is very much interested in the work of keeping out cholera. He said yesterday that he favored the holding of all incoming steamers at lower Quarantine until after their inspection. He thought the Government would do no wrong should it send back to Europe every steamer on which the infection appeared.

A joint meeting will also be held this afternoon of the Board of Supervisors and the members of the several local Boards of Health.

JERSEY CITY'S CHOLERA HOSPITAL.

Health Inspector Benjamin of Jersey City, his staff, and the policemen detailed for his service are as busy as haymakers before a coming storm. A house has been secured for a cholera hospital. Inspector Benjamin says that it has twenty-seven rooms, is isolated, yet convenient, acts. It is claimed that Mr. Kenney was influenced to that extent that he gave up the contest to save another.

Shortly after the retirement of John G. Vaughn, as the leader of the Democracy, the management of the party passed into the hands of Nicholas Muller, who had but recently come to the Island. Coming from one of the shrewdest political schools in the world—that of Tammany Hall—and having been a leader in political affairs for many years, Mr. Muller at once set to work to reconstruct the Democratic organization, according to his own theory of propriety, and he brought down upon his own head the severest abuse imaginable.

HON. NICHOLAS MULLER.

But Mr. Muller's fighting qualities proved of great value to him in the contest. Notwithstanding the Democratic organization became demoralized and almost totally disorganized, in consequence of a split—the independent element attacking Mr. Muller with great earnestness—he never for a moment thought the time had come to surrender.

Surely no man could accept reverses more philosophically than he, and none receive the results of victory more gracefully. As a political leader he may be considered a great success. This is proven by the fact, that by standing his ground with the solid Republican party arrayed against him, his own forces disorganized, new hostile factions springing up around him in every direction, he carried on his fight until he himself, as a candidate for Congressional honors, in 1898, carried the county by a majority of twenty-seven hundred and twenty-five. He was re-elected in November, 1900, by a good majority.

For the past few years there has been great disturbance in the politics of Staten Island. Considerable of this has been caused by new voters, many of whom have acted with the Republican party, but the great majority have branched out for themselves. A memorable contest was that of 1897, the first election under the charter of Greater New York. The Democrats carried every office in the pleton, all offering two-year courses. In 1898 a four-year course was organized in Stapleton's Union Free School No. 2. The Tottenville high school department was transferred to Stapleton in 1902 and then to Curtis High School when that building was opened in 1904. The high school department from Port Richmond was transferred also to Curtis. Later Tottenville was re-established in P.S. 1 as a high school with a four-year course. There was a Curtis Annex in P.S. 20 until the Port Richmond High School was constructed in 1927.

In 1935 the Staten Island Vocational High School was opened at its present location. The following year it was renamed McKee Vocational High School after the late Ralph R. McKee who had been Richmond Borough Commissioner of Education and also a vice-president of the Board of Education of the City (47). Previous vocational training had been offered at P.S. 20 and at Elm Park. In 1936, both New Dorp and Tottenville High Schools were opened. A full description of public secondary education on Staten Island has been published in issues of the Staten Island Historian (33).

SERVICES

As part of the educational system of the City of New York, Staten Island has most of the services offered in the other four boroughs. In 1898 there were only four kindergartens on the Island. Now every school has such a class. There are also "special service" schools, "600" schools, CRMD classes, classes for the gifted and for the handicapped, after-school playgrounds and community center programs.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

About ten thousand children were enrolled in Staten Island schools in 1898. In October 1962 there were 20,755 pupils in the public elementary schools; 3,392 in the junior high schools; and 9,927 in the senior high schools. At the same time, the Catholic parochial schools on Staten Island had an enrollment of 15,838. In addition, children were also attending other parochial schools and private academies.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Church-supported schools have grown in number on Staten Island, as they have in many parts of the country. Now nearly every one of the 34 Roman Catholic parishes has its own elementary school. Three Lutheran churches maintain parish schools. The Jewish Foundation School of Clifton graduated its first class in 1962. Ascension Day School (Episcopal) closed in 1958 after 25 years of operation.

St. Peter's Academy dates back to 1862, St. Peter's Parochial School to 1890, St. Peter's High School (Boy's Department) on Richmond Terrace to 1915. This last-named building is used now as the Girls' High School. The new Boys' High School was opened in 1935 at Clinton and Henderson Avenues on the estate of the late Nicholas Muller (44, 48).* In the following year a Junior College was erected on the property under the direction of Manhattan College. This has been the Senior Boys' High School since 1941.

The Monsignor Farrell High School opened in September 1962 on Amboy Road, Oakwood Heights, with a group of 350 boys in the first two years. Staffed by Christian Brothers, this school will have a capacity for 1,000 boys. The modern building has a campus of 12 acres. Monsignor Joseph A. Farrell served as pastor of St. Peter's Church from 1930 until his death in 1960.

Construction was started on the Countess Moore High School for girls in 1962. Staffed by the Presentation Sisters, this school, which will accommodate 500 girls, is located on Richmond Avenue, Graniteville on property adjacent to Our Lady of Pity R.C. Church. Classes were organized in the old school building of St. Sylvester's R.C. Church in Concord in September 1962. In the preceding year classes had been organized there for the Monsignor Farrell High School.

Another Catholic high school for girls, St. Joseph's-by-the-Sea, is scheduled to open in September 1963 on the grounds of the Convent by the same name on Hylan Boulevard. It will be staffed by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, the order founded by Mother Seton in 1809 (as previously reported in connection with St. Vincent's Hospital).

His last appointment, as tax commissioner, came in 1904. Died in New Brighton, December 12, 1917, and is interred in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, New York. This building is at 160 Heberton Avenue (Block 1020/1). It was designated a New York City Landmark March 22, 1988.

School District No. 6, Port Richmond, purchased land from Charles Cartlige, John Bogert and John Decter to build this school in 1889. The school underwent an addition in 1905. The 1910 directory placed the school on Heberton Avenue, named the principal as Eugene G. Putnam, counted 27 classrooms for grades K to 8B and identified an annex of three classrooms on Richmond Avenue. The school was designated the Port Richmond on March 22, 1916. The 1920 directory identified the principal as Lewis H. Denton, and counted 33 classrooms for grades K to 6B. The 1930 directory also named Lewis H. Denton as principal, and counted 39 classrooms for grades K to 8B.

One of Staten Island's few remaining nineteenth-century public school buildings, this Romanesque Revival building reflects the diversity of design that characterized this period when independent school boards designed and constructed the schools within their districts. This system was eliminated when New York City was consolidated in 1898 and standardized designs were required throughout the City. The dominant feature of the 1891 part of the school is its four-story square clock bell tower, crowned by a tall pyramidal roof, which sits upon a round-arched arcade. The tower and the style of the building were intended to express civic pride. James Warriner Mounton designed an addition to accommodate the expanding enrollment of the area. Erected in 1897–1898, it was designed to harmonize with the original school. It too is Romanesque in style, with gabled pyramidal roofs, ornamental cornices and moldings, and was designed to give an appearance of strength and massiveness.

At some point in its career as a school, the building's name was changed to Public School 20 Annex. In 1993–1994 the architectural firm, Diffendale & Kubec, converted the vacant building to Parkside Senior Housing low-income units, fulfilling a dream by the former executive director and board of the Northfield Local Development Corporation, who moved their offices into the building. This institution is at 300 Howard Avenue on Grymes Hill (Block 589/65). On May 18, 1933, the Board of Regents, acting on behalf of the Education Department of the State of New York, granted Notre Dame College a provisional charter for a college of instruction of women studying for the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science in Education.

In 1934, Joseph C. Schlachter applied to the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments on behalf of Sister Saint Catherine of the Angels, President and Treasurer of the Academy of Our Lady of the Blessed Sacrament, probably for tax-exempt status. Her application stated: "There is one building on said lot, dimensions approximately 60' x 90', two stories in height, in which there is maintained a high school containing eight classrooms." An appended report indicated there was one building of twelve bedrooms, four baths and four classrooms, used primarily as a dormitory, and a second building, a garage converted to a dormitory, containing seven rooms and three baths. (R.D.)

Notre Dame became affiliated with Saint John's in 1971, at which point it had a beautiful 22-acre campus. (E.H.)

This lighthouse is at 25 Boyle Street near Altamont Avenue in New Dorp Heights (Block 939/120). It is also known as Moravian Light, due to its proximity to Moravian Cemetery. Erected in 1854 and now converted to a residence, this vernacular clapboard cottage with a tall square tower served for almost ninety years as a beacon to ships entering New York Harbor. The Tottenville Branch of the New York Public Library is at 7430 Amboy Road in Tottenville (Block 7899/9). It is a New York City Landmark. Title to the building was vested October 8, 1902, from William Zeigler; it is Staten Island's oldest pubic library. Carrere and Hastings designed the handsome Classical Revival building, which was erected in 1903–1904. John Ellis restored the building in 1991–1993. For further information, see County Clerk Map #634 and Dolkart, 296.

Nicholas Muller House, 138, 221
This building is now Saint Peter's Boys High School (Block 92/1).
The building was originally known as the Adolph Rodewald House, because it was constructed ca. 1857 for German-born merchant and broker Adolph Rodewald. In 1886, this house was sold to Nicholas Muller. Although basically similar to the Goodhue House, q.v., the ornamentation here is much more elaborate. Twin pediments mark the lateral sections of the façade; elaborate, almost Baroque-inspired frames encircle the oculus window in each. Window surrounds are of interest; the keystone emphasizes their slight point. Dentils, scrollwork and ornamental brackets appear at several locations. The columns of the façade-wide porch are unusual in that they employ what is known as entasis, a convex bulge midway up the column, an architectural subtlety introduced originally by the ancient Greeks. This and the other ornamentation suggest that a sophisticated architect designed this structure. (Preservation League of Staten Island, 1986, 13.) Neat and crisp in dark red with white trim, this house is the most distinguished building on the small St. Peter's campus. (Willensky, 813.)
Nicholas Muller was born in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, November 15, 1836. He immigrated to the United States with his parents, who settled in New York. Employed as a railroad ticket agent for over twenty years, he became one of the promoters and original directors of the Germania Bank, New York City. A Democrat, he served in the State Assembly in 1875–1876. He then served two consecutive terms as a member of the House of Representatives: March 4, 1877 to March 3, 1881, and March 4, 1883 to March 3, 1887. Back in New York, he was appointed pres-

Cheer us on to victory for the Gold and the Blue.

Give out our power and ring out our stands.
We'll never stop until we're right on top
Until the Eagles are flying again.
