SENIORS’ GUIDE FOR LOWER MANHATTAN
PREPARED BY MANHATTAN COMMUNITY BOARD 1
2010
Introduction

With increases in lifespan and quality of living for residents, many have chosen to remain in or come to New York City for their senior years. The New York City Department for Aging estimates that seniors will outnumber school-aged children in New York City by 2030.

Is our own community accommodating such a shift? What does our community already provide for seniors? What follows is our attempt to provide the first guide for seniors living in Manhattan Community Board 1, which covers Lower Manhattan south of Canal Street.

In housing, our community board currently has two senior living facilities. There are also a number of buildings where many have chosen to age in place downtown. As more make this choice, we’ve seen the creation of local senior centers and services, which address senior needs in areas of health, safety, and transportation at moderate cost or free of charge.

With this guide, we hope to provide useful information for those who choose to live in our area during their senior years. It is our hope that the Seniors’ Guide for Lower Manhattan will not only assist individuals, but also help maintain our community as one that welcomes and cares for its deserving seniors.

This guide was initiated and led by Community Board 1 member Tom Goodkind. He was assisted in the project by Community Board 1’s Community Liaison, Yume Kitasei; Manhattan Borough President’s Office Urban Planning Fellow for Community Board 1, Matt Viggiano; and a team of other Community Board 1 members and district residents who volunteered their time to the development of this guide.

   455 North End Avenue
   New York, NY 10282
   212-791-2500
   Contact: Cheryl Bambach – Sales Counselor

   www.brookdaleliving.com/hallmark-battery-park-city.aspx

   The Hallmark is a 14-story, 217-unit facility for seniors. It is predominantly dedicated to independent living, but does have an assisted living section on its 2nd floor. There is an assessment process for those seeking to move to the Hallmark that examines an applicant’s cognitive and physical ability. The process is used to evaluate any extra needs and an applicant’s overall compatibility with the programs available.

Monthly rent ranges from $5,550 - $5,720 for a studio, $5,900 - $7,230 for a one bedroom, and $7,740 - $8,900 for a two bedroom. Residents must sign an annual contract with the Hallmark. The rent includes 5 breakfasts a week, 5 dinners a month, and utilities. Cable and phone are not included and must be paid for separately by the tenant. Depending on the outcome of the assessment, extra medical and personal care services may also be provided. Avondale Group can provide such care at a monthly cost (including $18 an hour, limited to 6 hours per day assistance), though services may also be arranged with other groups. Services provided by Avondale Group include:

- Assistance with personal hygiene such as dressing and grooming;
- Full bath supervision and assistance;
- Assistance with ambulation;
- Reminders to take self-administered medication;
- Apartment cleaning;
- Changing of bed linens;
- Laundering;
- Escorting within the community, meals, and activities;
- A night clerk or overnight care for incontinence; and
- Indirect care including observation and supervision, orientation and redirection, activities, socialization, companionship.

2. St. Margaret’s House

49 Fulton Street
Peck Slip, NY 10038
212-766-8122
Contact: Clair Guerette - Manager
www.trinitywallstreet.org/about/#st-margarets
St. Margaret’s House near the South Street Seaport is a 20-story, 251-unit facility designed for independent living for seniors age 62 and older and mobility-impaired adults age 18 and older. Eligibility is limited to certain Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) income guidelines. For example, as of May 2010, eligibility for an individual living in a one bedroom would be limited to only those earning less than an annual income of $43,000. St. Margaret’s House is sponsored by the Parish of Trinity Church and operated under the HUD regulations, and funded through the HUD Section 8 (202) housing assistance program.

All apartments are carpeted and include a refrigerator, stove, air-conditioning units, and an emergency pull cord. Rent includes heat and gas and is calculated such that it does not exceed 30% of the household income. Electricity, telephone and cable charges are not included in the rent and must be paid directly to the company providing the service. Tenants receive one full meal per day in the dining room for which they pay a set fee not included in the rent.

On-site amenities include an atrium, garden, library, and 24-hour entryway security. Tenants may also take part in organized activities including computer classes, Resident Council committee meetings, knitting, poetry, reading, and an occasional concert. Special holiday events are scheduled for resident enjoyment.

AGING IN PLACE THROUGH SENIOR CENTERS

A naturally occurring retirement community (“NORC”) occurs when a significant portion of a building or area that was not specifically designed with seniors in mind evolves towards a higher than average number of senior residents. A NORC supportive service program (“SSP”) allows seniors to age in place with many of the accommodations of a senior center. Funded in various ways, NORC-SSPs, when successfully managed, can help prevent, mitigate, or reverse the negative impact on health and well-being of aging alone. In the Community Board 1 area, we have two areas of senior living, while not officially designated as NORCs by New York City or State, have combined with the services of a senior center, reflecting the NORC-SSP model.

Popular Senior Centers Near Community Board 1

1. Independence Plaza
   Serviced by the Caring Community
   310 Greenwich Street – 2\(^{nd}\) Floor
   New York, NY 10013
   212-267-0499
   Contact: Nicole Brown – Center Director
   www.thecaringcommunity.org/IndependencePlaza

   Open to all seniors 60 and over whether or not they live in Independent Plaza North (“IPN”), the IPN SSP run by the Caring Community has a membership of nearly 1,000 seniors. It offers lunch, transportation services, exercise, yoga, art, games, and discussion groups.

   Health assistance is also provided by Metropolitan Jewish Geriatric Health System in the form of 7 nurses who come every Thursday from 1:30-3:30pm to the Caring Community at IPN. The nurses provide lectures on subjects such as nutrition. Any home care provided at IPN must come from outside sources.

2. Southbridge
   Serviced by the Southbridge Adult and Senior Citizens Center
   90 Beekman Street
   New York, NY 10038
   212-732-9363
   Contact: Chris Mitsopoulos – Coordinator
   southbridgetowers.com

   The Southbridge Adult and Senior Citizens Center offers a variety of recreational and cultural programs for seniors in the downtown area.
The Center offers assistance with social services such as Medicare, Access-A-Ride, and Meals-On-Wheels. It also provides a shopping van service. There is a nurse available on premise every day and a social worker from Tuesday through Friday. Members of the center enjoy a wide range of recreational activities, including health and fitness programs, arts and crafts, knitting, Yiddish conversation, drawing, chess, games, and snacks. Membership is $8.00 for the year (though payment of the fee is flexible) and is open to anyone over 55 in the downtown area.

3. New York City Department for the Aging (DFTA)
   Health Promotion Unit
   2 Lafayette Street
   New York, NY 10007
   212-442-3086

   One of the goals of DFTA is to encourage seniors to follow a healthier lifestyle. The Health Promotion Unit provides a vast array of services to educate seniors and promote good health practices.

4. Hamilton-Madison House
   100 Gold Street
Seniors 60 and over are eligible for this program.

Hamilton-Madison House assists the Southbridge Adult and Senior Services Center on 90 Beekman Street at 212-267-0521 by providing health care services at no fee to seniors living in Southbridge Towers with services allowing them to remain in their homes. This service includes benefit and entitlement assistance and supportive counseling Monday through Friday, 9:30am-5:30pm. Walk-in hours are Tuesday and Friday from 10am-3pm.

The Hamilton-Madison Social Adult Day Program at the lower level of 100 Gold Street at 212-788-1537 assists those with memory loss and provides support to their caregivers and family members. It offers meals, assistance with personal care, and medication reminders, as well as trips and recreational activities. It has a minimum age requirement of 55. There is no formal dementia requirement and they do not accept clients who are incontinent. Their hours are Monday, Tuesday, and Friday from 9:30am-3:30pm. They do not accept Medicare or Medicaid, but they do take Managed Medicaid (Visiting Nurse Service Choice), and their private pay daily rate is $50. Round-trip transportation is available at a cost of $10 within Manhattan and $15 from Brooklyn.

Their Caregivers Program, also located on the lower level of 100 Gold Street, assists with benefits & entitlements, respite, home care, adult day care, and training. They can be contacted at 212-788-1688.

Both programs located at Gold Street have bilingual Chinese/Korean-English speaking geriatric specialists.
5. American Indian Community House

11 Broadway
New York, NY 10004
212-598-0100
Contact: Kim Randall
www.aich.org

The American Indian Community House is for Native Americans of all ages and provides health education, medical and dental referrals, community outreach, and the development of Native American-specific health-oriented programs. Other programs administered by their Health Department include mental health, food and clothing banks, and free hot lunches daily during the weekdays for any member of the public.

6. Friends and Relatives of Institutionalized Aged (FRIA)

18 John Street – Suite 905
New York, NY 10038
212-732-4455
www.fria.org

This non-profit agency is dedicated to making sure individuals in long-term care facilities receive adequate, timely, appropriate, and compassionate care. They organize family groups, put out publications, and offer hotline assistance for consumers concerned about the nursing home and assisted living industries.

7. Japanese American Social Services

100 Gold Street
New York, NY 10038
212-442-1541
www.jassi.org/ServicesSenior.html

Japanese American Social Services, Inc. (JASSI) is a non-profit organization established in 1981 to address the social services needs of persons of Japanese ancestry in the Greater New York area. The senior program provides services for seniors 60 and over. JASSI’s senior citizens program includes case management, home visits, obento (boxed lunch) delivery, the distribution of free tickets to cultural events, monthly get-togethers ranging from seminars on relevant topics to luncheons with speakers, outings to historic sites, and holiday celebrations.

8. New York Downtown Hospital (NYDH)

   New York, NY 10038
   212-312-5000
   www.downtownhospital.org

NYDH has begun working with Southbridge Adult and Senior Citizens Center (see page 6 for a description of Southbridge Towers) to design health programs, and a medical office has been established at Southbridge. This is a collaborative effort by the community’s management agency, nurses, and other groups.

NYDH provides care on-site at housing complexes throughout Lower Manhattan.

Their Home Visit Program and Visiting Doctors program also provides care for homebound seniors.

❖ HOME CARE & SERVICE PROVIDERS

Home care & service providers allow Lower Manhattan residents to age in place (also see above, New York Downtown Hospital, for various visiting services – nurses, doctors and home attendants).

-19-
1. Better Helpers, Inc.

   New York, NY 10013
   212-431-8016
   www.manta.com/c/mtr5wjy/better-helpers-inc

   Better Helpers provides New York State licensed home care including aides, attendants, registered nurses, and 24-hour live-in assistance.

2. Chinese Planning Council Home Attendant Program
   1 York Street – 2nd Floor
   New York, NY 10013
   212-219-8100
   Contact: Ling Ma
   www.cpc-ny.org/home_a.htm

   This program is a not-for-profit that uses registered nurses and case coordinators.

   Serving mostly residents of Chinatown and the Lower East Side through Medicaid, the program works with clients, their families, and physicians in tailoring home care plans: hot meal preparation, maintenance of a hygienic and safe environment, observation of basic health and mental health status, assistance with getting around, and companionship.

   The Chinese Planning Council manages two senior centers in Chinatown at 168 Grand Street and 70 Mulberry Street, as well as others.

3. Concerned Home Managers for the Elderly, Inc. (COHME)
   11 Broadway – Suite 400
   New York, NY 10004
   212-514-7147
   www.cohme.org
This group is a New York State licensed non-profit home care provider with services such as New York State licensed clinical social worker management, registered nurse visits, bathing and feeding assistance, housekeeping, and grocery shopping all facilitating aging in place.

4. Metropolitan Council on Jewish Poverty
   80 Maiden Lane – 21st Floor
   New York, NY 10038
   212-453-9500
   www.metcouncil.org/site/PageServer

   The non-profit Met Council serves those in need regardless of race, ethnicity, or background. Many senior services are provided at low or no cost.

   Their Home Care Providers program (212-453-9688) helps seniors with personal care, shopping, light housekeeping, meals, and escorts for appointments. They provide social worker intake, phone check-ins, and care management.

   Their Home Services program (212-453-9525) provides home repair and maintenance such as caulking, door and lock repairs, installation of safety rails, outlet repair, changing light bulbs, toilet repair, and minor patching of walls and ceilings.

5. New York Foundation for Senior Citizens
   11 Park Place – 14th Floor
   New York, NY 10007
   212-962-7559
   www.nyfsc.org

   New York Foundation for Senior Citizens is a non-profit organization serving those in all 5 boroughs. They house a home attendant program serving over 800 seniors. Funding for this program is provided by New York City Human Resources Administration. Case management is provided for no fee and includes coordination of home care and other services for physically and mentally impaired residents in Community Districts 1-5. There is also a home sharing program, which screens and matches applicants for compatibility. A respite care program offers trained and certified home attendants. There are home repair services and home safety audits to help seniors maintain independent living provided free for those in need. The home safety audits can identify potential hazards such as loose throw rugs, no grab bars, phone cords and obstructing extension wires and encourage seniors to make the changes themselves, or refer them back to the program for free repairs.

6. Beth Israel Hospital

Senior Health House Calls

275 Eighth Avenue
New York, NY 10011
212-206-1299
wehealny.org/patients/BI_home/Bi_index.html

Previously supported by and working with St. Vincent’s Hospital, this private organization is now partnering with Beth Israel Hospital.

This is a visiting doctors program for homebound elderly that recognizes the growing need in NYC for geriatric home care. The Senior Health House Call service is not located in the CB1 district, but provides a rare and valuable service anywhere south of 59th Street, including to residents of Community Board 1. It began service in 2009, and in its first year, has taken care of over 100 patients.

Medicare typically provides coverage. For those not covered by Medicare, insurance has been known to cover costs although it’s not a part of HMOs. They will also provide speakers on geriatric issues if requested by an organization.

The program has a geriatric health care team consisting of a physician, a nurse practitioner, a social worker, and a coordinator - all of whom have expertise in addressing the complex needs of older patients.

❖ EXERCISE

1. Health and Wellness Division, New York City Department for the Aging (DFTA) – Exercise Program
   2 Lafayette Street
   New York, NY 10007
   212-442-0954
The DFTA Health Promotion Unit provides an array of services to educate and promote good health practices. Senior volunteers are trained to lead health promotion activities at senior centers and other sites throughout New York City. Seniors can inquire which centers offer these programs in our community by calling the number listed above or visiting the web site.

The programs include exercise classes, discussion groups, blood pressure monitoring and walking clubs. The Health Promotion staff provides on-site training and all necessary equipment for these activities. There are also free lectures on health education for issues that concern senior groups, including cardiovascular disease, diabetes, fall prevention, medication management, insomnia and memory.

They offer a Stay Well Exercise manual for seniors of all abilities. Presented in a user-friendly layout, the book offers numerous options for anyone 60 or over seeking to exercise at home. They provide one copy per request and can mail a manual to your home. To see a sample online, use the following web site:

SAFETY: LEGAL HELP AND INFORMATION

1. New York County District Attorney’s Office: Elder Abuse Program
   One Hogan Place
   New York, NY 10013
   212-335-8922
   manhattanda.org/communityaffairs/brochures/Protecting_Elderly.pdf

The Elder Abuse Program of the New York County District Attorney's Office addresses the needs and concerns of older crime victims who live in Manhattan. In cooperation with the New York City Police Department, Protective Services for Adults, the NYC Department for the Aging and other social service agencies, the office investigates and prosecutes cases involving elderly crime victims.

This office defines elder abuse as any crime or violation involving a victim who is 60 or older. Examples of typical crimes committed against the elderly are domestic abuse or neglect at the hands of a family member or partner, caregiver, or other individual; financial exploitation committed by a stranger, relative, companion, home aide, or other professional providing services to a senior; and virtual eviction by drug dealers who have taken over an elderly person's residence or building.

If you are a senior who has been the victim of a crime, or if you know a senior citizen who has been abused, call the above number. If you have been physically abused or are in danger, call 911 immediately.

They investigate and prosecute crimes against the elderly, including physical abuse and financial exploitation; provide social service referrals; and refer cases for review by the Narcotics Eviction Program for possible evictions of drug dealers from a senior's residential or commercial premises.

2. MFY Legal Services

   518-462-6831
   www.wnylc.com/health/entry/101

NY Health Access has designed a tool kit to guide community health center staff in their efforts to help patients access public health insurance or other government and private assistance in paying for medical care. The kit offers much useful information on federal and state programs, such as the Elderly Pharmaceutical Insurance Coverage (EPIC) program.

2. New York City Human Resource Administration (HRA)

   180 Water Street
   New York, NY 10038
   212-331-5160

   Below is a list of home-based services for which HRA either provides access or authorizes services:

   - Personal Care (a.k.a. Medicaid-Funded Home Care) - home attendant and housekeeping services for people having difficulty with at least one or more activities of daily life, such as walking, cooking, cleaning, bathing, and using the bathroom.

   - Long-Term Home Health Care Program - home care, case management, and skilled services for people requiring a higher level of care (skilled nursing home-level care at home).

   - Managed Long-Term Care Program - case management, skilled services, and home care services for people who are Medicaid-eligible, and who are medically eligible for the level of care normally provided in a health-related facility or skilled nursing facility.

   - Adult Protective Services - state-mandated case management program that arranges for services and support for physically and/or mentally impaired adults who are at risk of harm and have no one who can responsibly assist them.

3. New York State Health Insurance Resource Center

   Long-Term Care

   New York, NY 10004
   212-480-5242
   www.ins.state.ny.us/ltc/ltc_index.htm
A long-term care insurance purchase may greatly relieve the financial burden associated with special care necessary for many seniors. This website provides important information to help you understand long-term care and the insurance policies available in New York to assist in paying for long-term care services. New York State provides information to assist in making informed decisions about the need for financial protection and the choice of a policy that will meet your individual needs.

4. U.S. Health & Human Services Department
   Technology for Long-Term Care
   26 Federal Plaza
   New York, NY 10278
   212-264-4600
   www.techforltc.org/ltc.cfm

Technology for Long-Term Care is a free government-funded resource with information on hundreds of technology products to improve quality of life and care for people in long-term care settings such as nursing homes, assisted living, boarding care, and adult day care programs.

Examples of such technology include medical alarm systems, which are made by various manufacturers and have been available since the 1980s. They allow a person to summon help 24 hours a day, 7 days a week just by pushing a button. If, for example, a subscriber falls and can't get up, they can contact professionally trained staff from their home or outside simply by pressing a button.

There are many additional personal monitoring and emergency response services for seniors who live alone. There are services for check-in calls from medical reminders to take important medications each day to those that request assistance automatically if you do not respond. There are also services that monitor movement in your home and request assistance if no movement is detected over a certain time period.

WALKING

Walking Assistance

Canes, walkers, wheelchairs, and scooters can be of great assistance in walking areas. With increased use of scooters or electric wheelchairs comes the need for wider, better-maintained sidewalks, and pedestrian crossings, with a special emphasis on working elevators at pedestrian bridge crossings. Comments are often helpful in ensuring the safety and ease of pedestrian movement throughout the city, and some useful programs and organization to which one can reach out are listed below.

When in need of directions, cell phones with GPS tracking systems can be quite useful. Often trips from home can be managed with the aid of group excursions or even a hired home assistant. Adding clear public visual and audio directional information and deterrents such as street signs and crossing timers and beepers can make crossing streets easier.

Improving Our Walkways

1. Safe Streets for Seniors

   New York City Department of Transportation
   50 21st Street
   Brooklyn, NY 11232
   718-965-3539

The Office of the Mayor recently announced that although seniors make up only 12% of New York City’s population, they make up 39% of New York City’s pedestrian deaths. In response to this unnerving statistic, in January of 2008 Mayor Bloomberg announced the Safe Streets for Seniors program. The program began with a study of pedestrian fatalities by Department of Transportation engineers, who identified 25 city neighborhoods that had both a high density of senior citizens and a high number of pedestrian accidents or injuries. The study looked at variables like visibility, lighting, drivers' compliance with traffic, along with pedestrian signals and the width of the roadway. Engineers evaluated pedestrian conditions in these neighborhoods and made changes such as extending pedestrian crossing times at crosswalks and shortening crossing distances, altering curbs and sidewalks, restricting vehicle turns, and narrowing roadways. A continuation of this project is planned to encompass more of New York City.

2. Transportation Alternatives
   127 West 26th Street – Suite 1002
   New York, NY 10001
   212-629-8080
   www.transalt.org/campaigns/pedestrian/safeseniorsh

The not-for-profit Transportation Alternatives started in 2003 a State-funded campaign called Safe Routes for Seniors to improve walking conditions in New York City. This New York City senior transportation advocacy organization calls for the following additional improvements to those proposed by the City:

- decreased speed limits;
- better rules and clearer routes for bike traffic; and
- more bus bulb-outs.

3. SafeSeniors
   New York State Department of Transportation
   50 Wolf Street
   Albany, NY 12232
   518-457-6195
   www.state.ny.us/governor/press/press_1210081.html

In December of 2008, Governor David A. Paterson and New York State Department of Transportation (NYSDOT) Commissioner Astrid C. Glynn announced SafeSeniors, a new federally funded program aimed at making it easier and safer for senior citizens to walk to common, everyday destinations in their local communities. The program focuses on low-cost, relatively simple changes to the pedestrian environment in and around roadways under NYSDOT’s jurisdiction, such as West Street in Community Board 1.

Many changes, such as higher visibility pavement markings, longer intersection crossing times, countdown signals, better street lighting, and pedestrian education programs, are planned in order to make it easier and safer for seniors to walk about their neighborhoods. Longer-term improvements are being considered as part of major capital programs.

4. Community Board 1
   49-51 Chambers Street – Suite 715
   New York, NY 10007
   212-442-5050
   www.nyc.gov/html/mancb1

Community Board 1 has written its own resolution supporting benches in all public areas so that active seniors who continue to take healthy walks also have public indoor and outdoor benches to rest when needed. They also support more water fountains and rest rooms.

❖ DRIVING

In New York, the decision to continue driving based on physical and mental fitness is primarily up to the individual.

According to statistics released by NYS, driver fatality rates are highest among the oldest and youngest drivers. Yet, a driver’s chronological age is not always good predictor of driving ability. The New York State Department of Motor Vehicles has no age restrictions for drivers’ licenses, but upon driver’s license renewal, the Department requires the person applying to list any conditions that might affect driving such as corrective lenses, hearing impairment, or even heart conditions. The Department may, on occasion, receive driver information from additional sources such as physicians. Depending on the fitness of the driver at any age, such conditions might legally restrict driving.

1. Parking Permits for People with Disabilities
   New York City Department of Transportation
   28-11 Queens Plaza North – 8th Floor
   Long Island City, NY 11101
   718-433-3100

   If you are a New York City resident with a disability that impairs mobility, you can apply for a City or State Parking Permit for People with Disabilities (PPPD), which allows the driver to park in spaces, marked by the International Symbol of Access throughout the United States and Canada. Such New York City spaces are all off-street.

2. NY State Aging Hot Line
   800-342-9871

   This hotline is available to discuss aging driver safety and personal situations. Call this number and ask to be connected to the Older Driver Family Assistance Program.

2. Reduced Fare MetroCards
   MTA Walk-In Center
   3 Stone Street
   New York, NY 10004
   718-243-4999
   www.mta.info/nyct/foare/rfapply.htm

   For those 65 and older, MTA bus and subway Reduced Fare MetroCards are priced at half fare and many other bulk discounts are available. Two forms of identification and a recent photo are needed to get a reduced fare card. If an applicant does not have a photo, they will take one for the applicant. A credit card can be used to get an automatic refill and get a temporary card immediately.

   Reduced-fares are also available with any of the following forms of identification: a NYC Department of the Aging ID card, Medicare card (Medicaid card not accepted), Access-A-Ride ID card, or a pre-1995 MTA Reduced-Fare ID card.
3. Access-A-Ride (AAR)

The PARC program provides people 55 and older the opportunity to take undergraduate courses on an audit or non-credit basis (subject to availability, excluding nursing and law programs) at one-third the normal tuition price. Scholarships are provided to make up the full amount of tuition. The PARC program also offers special courses and counseling to members. PARC members receive discounts for the university’s plays, concerts, and other productions. The program also organizes special excursions and day trips. One free PARC mini-course is included with yearly membership.

8. QUEST: A Community for Lifelong Learning
   25 Broadway – 7th Floor
   New York, NY 10004
   212-925-6625 (x229)
   www.questonline.org

This non-profit organization is self-governed by its membership of retired or semi-retired professionals aged 55 and over. Dedicated to teaching and learning, QUEST members use the daytime facilities of the Center for Worker Education of the City College of New York to conduct and participate in more than 30 college level classes and workshops each semester. The membership fee is $500 for 11 months and includes free admission to the Museum of Modern Art and the Whitney Museum.

9. The Institute for Retired Professionals (IRP)
   The New School
   66 W 12th Street – Room 502
   New York, NY 10011
   212-229-5682
www.newschool.edu/irp

The Institute has a program for retired or semi-retired persons who wish to teach and participate in cooperative learning and teaching. Members take courses and co-teach with each other in college-level classes in history, philosophy, science, art, music, and other subjects. Seniors must apply for admission. Tuition is $860 for the year and $566 for one semester. Scholarships to the Institute and to non-Institute regular classes at the New School are available.

10. The Victorian Hands Foundation
   120 Wall Street
   New York, NY 10005
   www.tvhf.org

This non-profit's mission is to facilitate interactions between seniors and youth by helping youth volunteers learn how to interact with elders and helping elders learn about the younger generation. See the website for further information.

11. Trinity Church – New Beginnings Senior Group
    74 Trinity Place – 2nd Floor Parlor
    New York, NY 10006
    212-786-4770
    Contact: Cynthia Moton
    www.trinitywallstreet.org/congregation/vitality

The Senior Group at this church is called New Beginnings. It invites all neighborhood seniors to a free, seated yoga class every Thursday at 10am. The group also conducts a Bible study class and has occasional all-day bus trips for a cost to theaters and other places of interest outside Manhattan.
12. Visiting Neighbors

611 Broadway – Suite 510
New York, NY 10012
212-260-6200
Director: Cynthia Maurer
Outreach Coordinator: Robin Leaman
Social Worker: Nancy Viola
www.visitingneighbors.org

The service area of this 501(c)(3) non-profit agency for homebound seniors includes downtown Manhattan. There are no specific age or income requirements. The senior must make the arrangements. They ask that participants be self-directing and mentally stable.

In their Friendly Visiting program, the Agency’s staff matches seniors with volunteers of similar interests, often NYU students. The partners meet once a week for a few hours of their choice, talking, sharing memories, listening to music, or watching a favorite movie.

In their Shop and Escort program, volunteers, often teenage high school students, help seniors with shopping or errands, accompany them to the doctor or other appointments.

Professional staff members also provide information to seniors, family, and neighbors about services for the mobility-impaired elderly. They provide in-home safety checks, use of a large print reader, help reading mail for visually impaired seniors and advocacy help. Seniors may also volunteer with this organization.

13. Visiting Nurse Service of New York (VNSNY)
Community Connections TIMEBANK Program
225 West 34th Street – Suite 910
New York, NY 10122
212-609-7811
VNSNY TimeBank programs in Battery Park City and the Lower East Side permit seniors (and non-seniors) in these TimeBanks to offer volunteer services to someone in these groups. Volunteer work earns members "bank" hours, entitling them to equivalent hours of volunteer help from someone else. Volunteer help can include someone who can drive them somewhere, run an errand, repair a bookshelf, hang a painting, or do another job. Membership is free and offers seniors opportunities to both make new friends and do volunteer work. For more information contact TimeBank@vnsny.org.

❖ ADVOCACY GROUPS (Not Listed Above)

1. Gray Panthers
   244 Madison Avenue – Suite 396
   New York, NY 10016
   212-799-7572
   Contact: Judy Lear
   www.graypanthersnyc.org

   Why simply walk for health, when you can march? Founded in 1970, now with 47 chapters, this advocacy movement/organization works to bring about fundamental social changes including a national health care system, elimination of all forms of discrimination, and economic justice. They have a newsletter and newspaper.

   Their New York City chapter meets the 2nd Wednesday of every month at 1pm at Penn South at 290 9th Avenue between 26th and 27th Streets, and often participates in advocacy marches here in New York City. Issues include NYC housing, health care, peace, and the environment (titled the Gray and Green Campaign).

2. Older Women’s League (OWL)
   3300 North Fairfax Drive – Suite 218
   Arlington, VA 22201
Founded in 1980, with 60 chapters, OWL is a national non-profit organization focused solely on issues unique to women as they age. OWL members work through forums, campaigns, and coalitions to put these issues in the public spotlight and on the legislative agenda.

They currently have 2 New York chapters: 1 in Brooklyn run by Francis Levy at 1685 Ocean Avenue, Apartment 2A, Brooklyn, NY 11230 and 1 for greater New York State run by Juanita Doares who can be contacted through her email at wdoares@aol.com.
