REIMAGINING THE EAST RIVER WATERFRONT CIVITAS is calling on architects, landscape architects, urban planners, students, and artists to create concepts for Manhattan's East River esplanade. Seeking to jump-start the transformation of the East Side's waterfront pedestrian experience, the design ideas competition Reimagining the Waterfront solicits spatially rich schemes for this narrowly confined area. A well-integrated mosaic of new landscape, architecture, sculpture, and lighting can help this important site achieve its potential as a destination for residents and visitors of all ages. Registration opens on September 15, and the deadline for submissions is January 15, 2012. Go to <http://reimaginethewaterfront-civitas.com/> for more information.

Manhattan Community Board 1 has launched a website for the event, HAND IN HAND – REMEMBERING 9/11, commemorating the 10th anniversary of the September 11, 2001 attacks. You can visit the website at www.handinhand911.org. On Saturday, September 10th, 2011 at 8:46am, thousands of people will grasp hands to form a human chain along the waterfront from the tip of Lower Manhattan heading north. There will also be a Wall of Remembrance in historic Battery Park where you can post a message or memento. The 9/11 Memorial Museum will keep a portion of this wall for display for years to come. In addition, downtown non-profits will be hosting special community service projects throughout our neighborhood, and we invite you to get involved and volunteer in the community. Participation in the event is free and open to all, but you must pre-register through the website at www.handinhand911.org. We encourage you to visit the site and pre-register early to ensure you can participate. Please share this with all of your friends, colleagues, and neighbors by forwarding this email, tweeting about it, or posting and sharing on Facebook. We hope you will join and stand hand in hand to remember, reflect and unite.
