The Food Retail Expansion to Support Health (FRESH) program promotes the establishment and retention of neighborhood grocery stores in underserved communities by providing zoning and financial incentives to eligible grocery store operators and developers.

The program is an interagency effort, catalyzed by the “Going to Market Study,” which showed that many low-income areas across the city were underserved by neighborhood grocery stores. The resulting lack of nutritious, affordable, fresh food in these neighborhoods has been linked to higher rates of diet-related diseases including heart disease, diabetes, and obesity.

ELIGIBILITY
The FRESH program is open to grocery store operators renovating existing retail space or developers seeking to construct or renovate retail space that will be leased by a full-line grocery store operator. Stores that benefit from the program must be located within a designated eligible area (see map) and must provide:

- A minimum of 6,000 square feet of retail space for a general line of food and nonfood grocery products intended for home preparation, consumption, and utilization.
- At least 50% of retail space for a general line of food products intended for home preparation, consumption, and utilization.
- At least 30% of retail space for perishable goods that may include dairy, fresh produce, fresh meats, poultry, fish, and frozen foods.
- At least 500 square feet of retail space for fresh produce.
