Frequently Asked Questions

Young Adult Option Through Age 29

Below are some frequently asked questions about the Coverage Expansion Through Age 29 (also referred to as “Young Adult Option” or “Age 29”) legislation recently issued by the State of New York.

Who is eligible?

In order to participate, the Young Adult Option requires that the Young Adult’s parent and the Young Adult meet certain requirements.

The parent must be covered under the group policy as an employee or member of the group or pursuant to a right under the federal Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA).

The Young Adult must:

- Be unmarried
- Be 29 years of age or under
- Not be insured by, or eligible for, comprehensive (i.e. medical and hospital) health insurance through his or her own employer
- Live, work or reside in New York State or the health insurance company’s service area
- Not be covered under Medicare

Note that the Young Adult does not have to live with a parent, be financially dependent on a parent, or be a student.

When does this law take effect?

The law affects policies or contracts issued, renewed, modified, altered or amended on or after September 1, 2009. For the City of New York this date is July 1, 2010.

When may the Young Adult enroll?

There are four times when the Young Adult may enroll:

- When The Young Adult Would Otherwise Age Off a Policy

If the Young Adult is currently covered under a parent's coverage through the City of New York Health Benefits Program they may enroll within 60 days of the date that coverage would otherwise end due to reaching the maximum age for dependent coverage. Coverage will be retroactive to the date that it would otherwise have terminated.

- When The Young Adult Experiences a Change in Circumstances

The Young Adult may enroll within 60 days of newly meeting the eligibility requirements. Coverage will be prospective and will start within 30 days of when the health plan receives notice of the Young Adult's election.

- During an Annual 30-Day Transfer Period

The City of New York Health Benefits Program will have an annual 30-day open enrollment period. If the Young Adult dependent meets the eligibility requirements, coverage will be prospective and will start within 30 days of when the health plan receives notice of the Young Adult's election and any necessary documentation.

- During the Initial 12-Month Open Enrollment Period

There is an initial 12-month open enrollment period. For the City of New York this will commence on July 1, 2010. If the Young Adult meets the eligibility requirements during this initial 12-month open enrollment period, the Young Adult may enroll during this time. Coverage will be prospective and will start within 30 days of when the health plan receives notice of the election and any necessary documentation.

When will coverage start? Will it be retroactive to the last time that the Young Adult had coverage?

Coverage will be retroactive if elected within 60 days of the date that the Young Adult would otherwise age off a parent's policy. In all other cases, coverage will be prospective and will start no more than 30 days from the date that the health plan receives notice of election and any necessary documentation.

What is the cost?

The Young Adult, or his or her parent, will be responsible for a separate premium for the Young Adult option (over and above, and separate from, what the parent pays for the group coverage).

How does the Young Adult enroll in the Young Adult Option?

To enroll, the Young Adult should follow the instructions included in this package and/or on the City of New York Health Benefits Program website at www.nyc.gov/olr.

If the Young Adult has a child does this make the Young Adult ineligible?

Young Adults with children may make an Age 29 election if they meet the eligibility criteria. However, children of Young Adults cannot be covered under the Age 29 law.

If the Young Adult is eligible for coverage through their employer, but that coverage has very poor benefits, is the Young Adult eligible for the Age 29 benefit?

If the Young Adult's employer provides health insurance that includes both medical and hospital benefits, then the Young Adult cannot make an Age 29 election.

If the Young Adult is eligible for COBRA/state continuation coverage from their former employer are they eligible for the Young Adult Option?

Yes, as long as they meet the other requirements for the Young Adult option.

If the parent employee/retiree separates from the City of New York and is no longer eligible for health insurance, is the Young Adult eligible?

No. If this occurs, then the Young Adult would lose the right to the Young Adult Option.

If the Young Adult's parent has COBRA, is the Young Adult eligible?

Yes, the Young Adult dependent is still eligible while the parent has COBRA, if they meet the eligibility requirements.

The Young Adult had Age 29 coverage and then it ended because the Young Adult no longer met the eligibility requirements. The Young Adult's situation has changed, and they meet the eligibility requirements again. Can the Young Adult get Age 29 coverage again?

Yes. The Young Adult is not limited to having this coverage only once. They may elect it within 60 days of newly meeting the requirements or during the annual 30-day transfer period.

If the Young Adult exhausts benefits under the Age 29 law, may they elect COBRA coverage and receive an additional 36 months of coverage?

No. When coverage under the Young Adult Option terminates they would not have a COBRA/state continuation right at that time.

When will coverage end?

Coverage will end when one of the following occurs:

- The Young Adult terminates coverage pursuant to the terms of the policy.
- The Young Adult's parent is no longer enrolled in group health insurance coverage, including COBRA.
- The Young Adult no longer meets the eligibility requirements.
- The Young Adult does not pay the premium in full within the grace period.
- The group insurance policy is terminated and not replaced.
