

Ed Koch, Co-Chairman of the New York City Host Committee 2004

You don't have to be a Democrat to love New York.

Volunteer for the Republican National Convention. Be a part of it

Let's show the world just how big a city New York really is. This summer, from August 30 through September 2, New York City is hosting the Republican National Convention. Delegates will be coming from all over the U.S. to stay in our hotels, ride on our subways, eat in our restaurants, and spend their money. Let's help them do it. Volunteer now to help the delegates feel at home.

Apply to volunteer online at www.nyc2004.org. New York City residents can call 311 to find a public library near you with free internet access.

www.nyc2004.org

Ed Koch, Co-Chairman of the New York City Host Committee 2004

The Republicans are coming. Make nice.

Volunteer for the Republican National Convention. Be a part of it

Let's show the world just how big a city New York really is. This summer, from August 30 through September 2, New York City is hosting the Republican National Convention. Delegates will be coming from all over the U.S. to stay in our hotels, ride on our subways, eat in our restaurants, and spend their money. Let's help them do it. Volunteer now to help the delegates feel at home.

Apply to volunteer online at www.nyc2004.org. New York City residents can call 311 to find a public library near you with free internet access.

NYC 2004
BE A PART OF IT™

www.nyc2004.org