DIGITAL TECHNOLOGY FOR SENIORS

Demonstration and Discussion—From Soup To Nuts!

The Queens Interagency Council for the Aging (QICA) is holding its monthly community meeting on Wednesday, February 3, 2016 from 9:00am to 11:00am at Queens Borough Hall, room 213, 120-55 Queens Boulevard, Kew Gardens, NY. Registration starts at 9:00am served with a continental breakfast. The program begins promptly at 9:30am.

Marking its 45th anniversary year, QICA invites seniors, service professionals and elected officials to attend.

Designed especially for older adults, the demonstration encompasses a broad range of topics from using email and browsing the web to researching health resources and online learning programs. Presenters will invite participants to join the conversation on everything from online banking to “Skyping” (spoken and video conversation over the internet).

Why should today’s older adults be knowledgeable about the use of digital technology? The answer in part is to stave off the increase in the “Digital Divide” which is a symptom of a much wider problem of isolation and marginalization of older adults.

We urge your attendance as the opportunity to hear and talk to presenters including Older Adults Technology Services (OATS), Selfhelp, Inc. Technology Services and others.

The program is free and open to the public. Seating is limited; pre-registration is advised. Contact QICA at (718) 268-5954/Fax (718) 268-5952.

QICA is a borough-wide coalition of more than a hundred organizations and individuals providing services to senior adults. The program is part of QICA’s commitment to improve communication among senior service organizations, legislators and policy makers, and to keep its membership informed of current issues related to the older adult.
