

NYC Workforce Profile

Congressional District 11 Representative Yvette Clarke

As authorized by the Federal Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (WIA), the New York City Workforce Investment Board (WIB) is the local federal oversight body for Workforce development services for youth and adult populations in New York City. This profile provides a summary of these services in your district for the calendar year 2008.

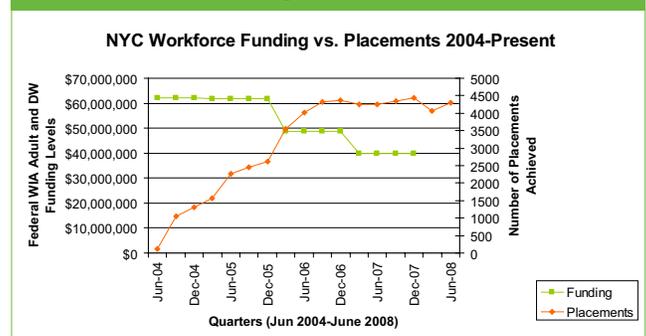

NYC Workforce System

The mission of the WIB is to ensure that the City's workforce development system can deliver the skilled workers that local businesses need to grow, compete, and prosper in the 21st century economy.

- The WIB, the largest Local Workforce Investment Area (LWIA) in the country, oversees workforce development programs and policy as administered by the Department of Small Business Services (SBS) and the Department of Youth and Community Development (DYCD).
- The Board is comprised of members appointed by the Mayor including; representatives from local business, educational institutions, labor unions, community-based organizations and other government agencies.
- Since 2002, WIA funding allocated to New York City has been dramatically reduced by 30% (approx. $30 million) while adult job placements during the same time have increased from 500 annually to 17,000.
- The Board is committed to workforce development programming with a business driven approach to education, training, and careers, which is essential to meet the demands of the local economy.

System Partners Serving Congressional District 11

Key Partners

The NYC WIA system partners and collaborates with key City and State agencies in order to streamline services to best serve New Yorkers. Many of these key partners are also valuable members of the WIB.

- City University of New York (CUNY): The system works in close collaboration with the community college system to provide access to literacy services, long-term occupational trainings that lead to employment and other targeted programming to ensure that the community college and workforce development systems work hand-in-hand.
- New York State Department of Labor (NYSDOL): NYSDOL, an important operating partner for the system, ensures that all City customers have access to unemployment insurance and other Wagner-Peysner services, provides technical assistance, access to funding opportunities and labor market data to help inform local programming.
- New York State Education Department (SED): SED provides critical support and programming to the City's system including funding of on-site literacy programming, in collaboration with CUNY, at the Workforce1 Career Center sites.
- New York City Department for the Aging (DFTA): Through its series of contractors, DFTA provides and receives important referrals for older adults in collaboration with the Workforce1 Career Center system.
- New York State Vocational and Educational Services for Individuals with Disabilities (VESID): VESID has an active presence as an on-site partner, both providing and receiving important referrals for New Yorkers with disabilities, with the Workforce1 Career Center system and also funding the Disability Program Navigators (DPN) at the Centers.
- Job Corps: Job Corps provides educational and vocational training young people ages 16 - 24. Jobs Corps serves as an active on-site partner throughout the system and we continue to look for innovative ways to strengthen connections to their services.
- New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA): NYCHA serves public housing residents throughout the City through multiple training and enrichment opportunities. NYCHA provides onsite staff at several Workforce1 Career Centers.
- American Indian Community House: The American Indian Community House has been a valuable partner to our system and continues to look for innovative ways to ensure that the American Indian community receives access to the appropriate services.

Jobseeker Success Stories

Nigel Alexis worked as a Driver for ten years but was laid off. With the support he received from his Workforce1 Career Center, he decided to pursue training that would allow him to upgrade his CDL license from class B to Class A. Working with a Career Advisor, he enrolled in a Class A CDL training program and later began working for a company in this area.

Luke, the oldest of four siblings, was raised by his mother, who was a fourth generation public assistance recipient. Although his employment history was quite weak, he is nevertheless the only member of his household that has ever earned a wage. Although he was unable to complete conventional high school, he persevered and obtained a diploma. Luke was referred to the Local #28 Sheet Metal Out-of-School Youth program and enrolled in the pre-apprentice training program. To date, he has surpassed all of the program's requirements, and has begun full-time employment.
