

NYC Workforce Profile

Congressional District 12 Representative Nydia Velazquez

As authorized by the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (WIA), the New York City Workforce Investment Board (WIB) is the local federal oversight body for workforce development services for youth and adult populations in New York City. This profile provides a summary of these services in your congressional district for the calendar year 2009.

NYC Workforce System

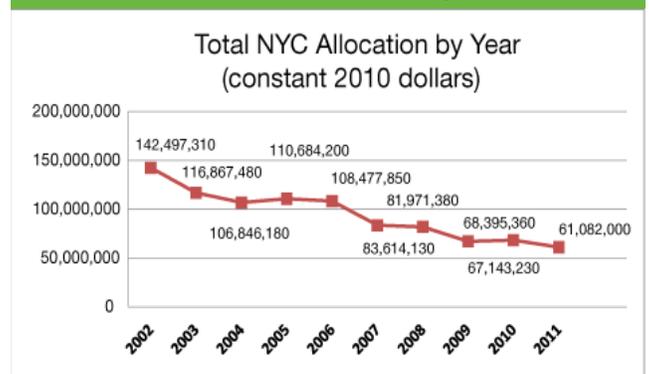

The mission of the WIB is to ensure that the City's workforce development system can deliver the skilled workers that local businesses need to grow, compete, and prosper.

- The WIB, the largest Local Workforce Investment Area (LWIA) in the country, with nearly four million workers across the five boroughs, oversees workforce development programs and policy as administered by the Department of Small Business Services (SBS) and the Department of Youth and Community Development (DYCD).
- The WIB is comprised of members appointed by Mayor Bloomberg including: representatives from local business, educational institutions, labor unions, Community-based organizations (CBOs), and other government agencies.
- Since 2002, WIA funding allocated to New York City has been dramatically reduced by 43% (for FY2011 approx. $61 million), a record low, while adult job placements during the same time have increased from 500 annually in 2004 to over 25,000 annually in 2009.
- The Board is committed to workforce development programming with a business-driven approach to education, training, and careers, which is essential to meet the demands of the local economy.
- Our vision is for New York City to have the nation's leading workforce development system, characterized by innovation, high standards, and a focus on measurable outcomes.

Jobseeker Success Stories

Charmaine Whitelock was a business owner for approximately three years in Jamaica, West Indies and prior to that in pharmaceutical sales. She immigrated to New York from Jamaica in 2009 and attended an orientation at the Queens Workforce1 Career Center. Quickly taking advantage of the Career Center's services she found at the orientation, the facilitator provided useful interviewing tips. In November 2009, she attended an Astoria Federal Savings Bank prescreening event and interviewed with an account manager, who referred her to a bank teller position and credits the useful tips she acquired at the Workforce1 orientation as assisting her in securing a full-time position at the bank. She is earning $11/hour compared to her previous salary of $7/hour.

Melissa Altreche registered at Opportunities for a Better Tomorrow (OBT) Youth Employment and Training program in fall 2009. The 20-week program provides job training, business skills, office procedures, and public speaking and communications; and using federal stimulus funds was able to offer internship opportunities for young adults between the ages of 17 – 21. After completing the initial orientation period, Ms. Altreche started her internship at Choice Associates, a Manhattan staffing firm, as an office assistant. After successfully completed her internship hours, she was hired to work full time for Choice Associates.
