

NYC Workforce Profile

Congressional District 13 Representative Michael McMahon

As authorized by the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (WIA), the New York City Workforce Investment Board (WIB) is the local federal oversight body for workforce development services for youth and adult populations in New York City. This profile provides a summary of these services in your congressional district for the calendar year 2009.

NYC Workforce System

The mission of the WIB is to ensure that the City's workforce development system can deliver the skilled workers that local businesses need to grow, compete, and prosper.

- The WIB, the largest Local Workforce Investment Area (LWIA) in the country, with nearly four million workers across the five boroughs, oversees workforce development programs and policy as administered by the Department of Small Business Services (SBS) and the Department of Youth and Community Development (DYCD).
- The WIB is comprised of members appointed by Mayor Bloomberg including: representatives from local business, educational institutions, labor unions, Community-based organizations (CBOs), and other government agencies.
- Since 2002, WIA funding allocated to New York City has been dramatically reduced by 43% (for FY2011 approx. $61 million), a record low, while adult job placements during the same time have increased from 500 annually in 2004 to over 25,000 annually in 2009.
- The Board is committed to workforce development programming with a business-driven approach to education, training, and careers, which is essential to meet the demands of the local economy.
- Our vision is for New York City to have the nation's leading workforce development system, characterized by innovation, high standards, and a focus on measurable outcomes.

Jobseeker Success Stories

Kursat Ozer came to the Staten Island Workforce1 Career Center in November 2009. He met with a career advisor to discuss employment opportunities and training information. Mr. Ozer completed a quality assurance course and was certified as a Computer Systems Analyst and began searching for new employment. In January 2010 he began a job as the IT manager at Zeytuna Market in downtown Manhattan making $38.46/hour up from $24.04/hour in his previous job.

Grace Johnson was assigned to Barnes & Noble Booksellers last September through the ARRA-funded "Go-to-School Get-a-Job" (GTS) program. Upon completion of her allotted 144 hours, Barnes & Noble offered her a permanent position and she continued to work there while finishing school. Now, a recent graduate of Susan Wagner High School, she will attend SUNY Geneseo in the fall. Barnes & Noble has offered to transfer her to a Barnes & Noble in the Geneseo area. Due to her success in the GTS program, she has an employment opportunity available to her when she arrives at SUNY Geneseo in the fall.
