Commuter Vans Now Required to Display Passenger Bill of Rights & Driver's TLC License

All Displayed Markings Must Be in English

In coordination with the New York City Council, the New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) changed its rules on what must be displayed both inside and outside of commuter vans. There are three rule changes:

- The driver's TLC license must be displayed in a protective holder behind the driver's seat.
- Commuter van owners must post the Commuter Van Passenger's Bill of Rights in a protective holder behind the front passenger's seat. For a list of printers selling the new Commuter Van Passenger's Bill of Rights, visit our website.
- All base markings posted on a Commuter Van must be in English. They can be translated into additional languages if necessary.

These rules went into effect on August 26, 2010. The TLC will begin enforcement of these rules on November 22, 2010.
