The NYC Success Mentor Corps is a research-based, data-driven mentoring model that seeks to improve attendance, behavior, and educational outcomes for at-risk students in low-income communities citywide. Success Mentors are trained to serve as advisors, motivators, connectors, confidence-builders, and early warning systems for chronically absent students at risk of getting off track – both in school and in life.

As part of the Mayor’s multi-agency campaign to improve school attendance and educational outcomes, Success Mentors are uniquely positioned to make an impact: they come into schools at a leadership level, have direct communication with key players in schools and community-based organizations, have unprecedented access to critical student data, are able to take advantage of interagency resources and expertise, and are part of a centralized, innovative infrastructure that supports their work in real time.

Mentors are typically matched with 10-15 target students, who they see in school at least three times a week. Mentor responsibilities are determined by what research shows are the most effective practices for engaging at-risk students and their families. These include personally greeting students in the morning to make them feel welcomed and noticed, calling home every day a child is absent, and connecting students and families with a wide range of services to help them overcome barriers to success.

the KEY COMPONENTS

Largest, most comprehensive in-school mentoring program in the nation, helping approximately 9,000 at-risk students

Innovative use of data and tools to drive student achievement, including creation of first-ever mentor data sharing agreement and Electronic Data Dashboard

New school infrastructure to maximize mentor success and increase student achievement

New accountability and oversight tools, including monthly City Hall strategy reviews, site visits by technical advisors, and ongoing training and retreats with top national mentoring leaders

the CHALLENGE

ONE out of FIVE

NYC public school students - over 200,000 - missed a month or more of school in the 2010-2011 academic year

THREE out of FOUR

Students who are chronically absent in the sixth grade never graduate from high school

STUDENTS WITH GOOD ATTENDANCE WERE MORE THAN TWICE as LIKELY to score proficient on NYS examinations than those who were chronically absent

79%

of NYC children in the juvenile justice system have records of chronic absenteeism

the IMPACT

CHRONICALLY ABSENT STUDENTS WHO BENEFITTED FROM THE PROGRAM GAINED OVER 11,800 DAYS OF ATTENDANCE. (2011-2012 SCHOOL YEAR)

MENTORS ARE HELPING STUDENTS GET BACK ON TRACK:

IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS, 49% OF STUDENTS WITH FULL-YEAR MENTORS EXITED CHRONIC ABSENTEEISM STATUS VS. 42% OF STUDENTS WITHOUT MENTORS. 17% MORE

IN HIGH SCHOOLS, 23% OF STUDENTS WITH FULL-YEAR MENTORS EXITED CHRONIC ABSENTEEISM STATUS VS. 18% OF STUDENTS WITHOUT MENTORS. 27% MORE

PILOT SCHOOLS WITH FULL-YEAR SUCCESS MENTORS OUTPERFORMED COMPARISON SCHOOLS AND SCHOOLS CITYWIDE.

“Truancy is often a child’s first step in the wrong direction. Chronic absenteeism leads to higher rates of school failure, delinquency, and dropping out. From there, it is often hard to recover. We are going to focus on truant children because keeping them in school is an investment in their health, future success, and everyone’s safety.”

Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg

“The power and scale of these Task Force initiatives are profound. It is the first time any city has attempted to reduce chronic absenteeism and truancy in such a comprehensive, strategic, and collaborative manner. What is striking is that the Task Force is addressing the problem on so many fronts simultaneously in its initiatives, recognizing the complexity and multiple causes of truancy and chronic absenteeism... [It] should serve as a model for all cities attempting to address this problem.”
