CITY OF NEW YORK
VOTER ASSISTANCE COMMISSION

DEAR FELLOW NEW YORKER,

The New York City Voter Assistance Commission is pleased to present the 2009 VAC Guide to New York City Elected Officials. The guide serves as a voter resource and important civic tool for communities throughout the city. It is our hope that you will use this guide to be in contact with your elected officials to build better neighborhoods, strengthen our electoral process and invest in New York's future.

This year VAC will offer wonderful voter resources to raise awareness on our municipal elections. This fall, VAC in partnership with Campaign Finance Board and NYC TV will present the 2009 Video Voter Guide television program featuring all candidates running for City Council, Borough President, Public Advocate, Comptroller and Mayor. This program will be shown on WNBC's New York Nonstop and on NYC TV.

VAC also invites you to participate in the fourth annual Voter Awareness Month program. You can participate in this citywide campaign to increase and strengthen voter and civic education and participation by hosting a community voter drive or educational workshop. To find out how call the VAC office or visit our website.

The guide is now available in print and on web. For additional copies of the VAC Guide to Your Elected Officials or to obtain more information about the nonpartisan 2009 Voter Awareness Month and Video Voter Guide contact VAC at (212)788-8384 or visit the VAC website at www.nyc.gov/voter.

Thank you for keeping civic participation alive in our communities.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jeffrey F. Kraus
Chairman

Onida Coward Mayers
Executive Director

RESPONSIBILITIES AND DUTIES OF YOUR ELECTED OFFICIALS

CITY OFFICIALS

Mayor

The Mayor is the chief executive officer of the City of New York. The Mayor appoints most heads of City agencies, boards and commissions, at times pursuant to the advice and consent of the City Council. The Mayor is responsible for the effectiveness and integrity of City government operations, proposes the City budget, and has the power to approve or veto all bills proposed by the City Council. The Mayor is elected every four years.

City Comptroller

The City Comptroller is the chief fiscal officer of the City of New York. The City Comptroller audits City agencies, advises the Mayor and the City Council of the financial condition of the City, and may make recommendations, comments, and criticisms concerning the operations, fiscal policies and financial transactions of the City. The City Comptroller is elected every four years in the same election as the Mayor.

Public Advocate

The Public Advocate monitors the operation of the public information and service complaint programs of City agencies. The Public Advocate receives and responds to complaints of a recurring and multi-borough or City-wide nature. The Public Advocate may also hold public hearings on any of the matters within his or her jurisdiction and duties. The Public Advocate participates in the discussions of the City Council but is not a voting member. The Public Advocate is elected every four years in the same election as the Mayor.

Borough President

The Borough Presidents have the power to work with the Mayor and other City officials in the interest of people of the boroughs. Generally, the Borough Presidents appoint members of the community boards and work to promote the long-term welfare of the boroughs. To be eligible to serve as Borough President, an individual must be a resident of the borough for which he or she is elected. The Borough President is elected every four years in the same election as the Mayor.

City Council Member

The City Council is the legislative branch of New York City. Generally, the Council has the power to propose and adopt local laws, investigate matters related to the property, affairs, and government of the City, and approve the City budget. There are 51 members of the City Council. City Council members are elected every four years.

District Attorney

The five District Attorneys in the City of New York protect the public by investigating and prosecuting criminal conduct in the counties in which they hold office. They are elected for four years terms.

STATE OFFICIALS

Governor

The Governor is the chief executive of the State of New York. The Governor may approve or veto laws, convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions, and grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after conviction. The Governor is elected every four years.

Lieutenant Governor

The Lieutenant Governor is elected in the same election as the Governor. The Lieutenant Governor is first in line of succession to the Governor. The Lieutenant Governor is also the President of the Senate, but has a casting vote only.

Attorney General

The Attorney General is the chief legal officer of the State of New York and is the head of the Law Department. The Attorney General prosecutes and defends all legal actions and proceedings in which the state is interested. The Attorney General is elected every four years in the same election as the Governor.

State Comptroller

The State Comptroller is the head of the Department of Audit and Control of the State of New York. The State Comptroller is required to audit payments made by the State and all official accounts of the State. The State Comptroller is elected at the same time as the governor and holds office for four years.

State Senate

The State Senate is one of the two houses of the State Legislature. The State Senate proposes and passes bills, which, if also passed by the State Assembly, are presented to the Governor for approval. At this time there are 62 State Senators. State Senators must be residents of the senate districts which they are chosen to represent for at least twelve months at the time of election, and are elected every two years.

State Assembly

The State Assembly is one of the two houses of the New York State legislature. The State Assembly proposes and passes bills, which, if also passed by the State Senate, are presented to the Governor for approval. The State Constitution provides for 150 Assembly Members. Assembly Members must be residents of the assembly districts from which they are chosen to represent for at least twelve months at the time of election, and are elected every two years.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS

President

The President is the chief executive of the United States and the Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces. With the approval of the Senate, the President appoints federal judges, cabinet members, and other public officials, except as otherwise provided by law. The President is elected every four years, and may serve no more than two terms.

Vice President

The Vice President is elected together with the President. The Vice President is first in line of succession to the President. The Vice President is also the President of the Senate, but may only cast a vote to break a tie.

U.S. Representative

The House of Representatives is one of the two houses that compose the U.S. Congress, with the power to enact laws, impeach officials, and determine budget priorities. The number of representatives for each state is apportioned according to the population of that state, based on the census, which is taken every ten years (the next census is 2010). Representatives must be an inhabitant of the state from which they are elected at the time of election, and are elected every two years.

U.S. Senator

The Senate is one of the two houses that comprise the U.S. Congress. The Senate enact laws, approves Presidential appointments, and also has the sole authority to try all impeachments. The Senate is composed of the two Senators from each state, each of whom must be an inhabitant of the state at the time of election. Senators serve for a term of six years. Terms of office for Senators are staggered such that one-third of the Senate seats are up for election every two years.

RESPONSIBILITY OF THE NEW YORK CITY COMMUNITY BOARDS

COMMUNITY BOARDS

New York City Community Boards play an important advisory role in representing and improving the quality of life for all New Yorkers in land use, zoning, city budget, municipal delivery, and many other matters relating to their communities welfare.

There are 59 Community Boards in the City of New York. There are 12 Boards in Bronx; 18 in Brooklyn; 12 in Manhattan; 14 in Queens; and 3 in Staten Island. Each Community Board membership consists of up to 50 unsalaried members appointed by the Borough President with half being nominated by the City Council Members who represent that District. Board members serve a term of two years. Each Community Board has a District Manager and staff that play a pivotal role in the day-to-day activities in the community.

Boards meet once each month and are open to the public. At these meetings, members address issues of concern to the community and regularly conduct public hearings on the City's budget, land use, and other major issues. A portion of each meeting is reserved for the Board to hear from members of the public to express their opinion.
