

Hi, I'm Margaret Chin. I'm running for City Council to represent Lower Manhattan in District 1.

For over 37 years, I have been active in this community. As a mother, teacher, community organizer and activist, I have fought for the people of our neighborhoods and I have deep roots in this District.

I have built and preserved affordable housing from Chinatown to TriBeCa.

I have taught in the New York City public schools and have been married to a public school teacher for over 30 years. I am a product of New York City public schools, graduating from PS 130, Junior High School 65, Bronx High School of Science and City College.

I have lived here almost my entire life. I have helped grow and protect local businesses, advocated for community input, and sought solutions to traffic problems such as congestion on Canal Street. I have lobbied Albany for fair wages and good jobs and pushed to reduce school overcrowding.

I've served on Community Boards 1 and 3. I helped found Asian Americans for Equality and the Chinese Town Partnership. I chaired the New York Immigration Coalition and was a board member of the Association for Neighborhood and Housing Development. I have the experience, background, and leadership to actively represent our District.

In the City Council, I will fight to make government more accountable and transparent. I will listen to your concerns and make government work for you.

I will build public-private partnerships to bring more resources into District 1. I will work on finding more school sites to reduce the size of our classes. And I will push developers to give back to our communities with affordable housing, schools, and jobs.

I'm Margaret Chin, and I'm asking for your vote on September 15th.

Thank you.
