

Hello, my name is Jerome Rice and I am running to be your next City Councilman
for the 12th District.

Tough times call for strong leadership.

I have retired both from the military and the New York City Department of Correction, holding the rank of Captain. I am also a former member of a civil and human rights organization called 100 Blacks in Law Enforcement Who Care, where I have fought against wrongful police shootings and various NYPD policies such as stop and frisk
and operation lucky bag.

I have also fought against changes in term limits and misappropriation of funds by elected officials.

I have spent most of my life as a public servant and voice for the people.

As your next City Councilman, I will take on issues that are currently affecting our community such as affordable homes, education and public safety because those who are paid to protect us, must also respect us.

Residents of District 12 don't need another four years of the same type of leadership, so the time is now for you to elect a new leader for a new direction. Change is coming to District 12 so become part of it.

On September 15th, vote for Jerome Rice to City Council for the 12th District.

Thank you.
