

Hello, my name is Stephen Levin, and I am running this year for New York City Council's 33rd District as a Democrat.

As a community organizer, I fought to eliminate childhood lead poisoning in Brooklyn and I organized homeowners around the dangers of predatory lending.

As Chief of Staff to the New York State Assembly Housing Chair, Vito Lopez, I worked tirelessly for affordable housing, helping to build over 1000 units, quality education for our children and services for our seniors, environmental cleanup in our neighborhoods, and responsible development.

I have had the privilege to speak with thousands of residents in the 33rd District about the issues that they care about most, and I am always encouraged by their kindness and commitment to making our City an even better place to live.

Now we are facing many challenges in the years ahead. We will need creative and innovative leadership to help build and preserve more affordable housing in our City, create new and green jobs to strengthen our middle class and provide a world class education for our kids.

These are incredibly important issues, and it is the responsibility of our elected officials to stand up and do what's right.

Because of my support for these and other progressive causes, I am proud to have the endorsement of over 16 unions including the United Federation of Teachers, 1199, 32BJ, and the Working Families Party, the League of Conservation Voters and US Senator Chuck Schumer. They've all seen in my campaign a commitment to public service and a dedication to helping others.

While the 33rd District is a wonderfully diverse district, we all share the same aspiration for a safe, decent, and affordable place to live and raise our families. That's our common thread.

I would like to thank you all very much, and I respectfully ask for your vote in the Democratic Primary on September 15th.
