FREE SCREENINGS IN CHINATOWN

During November, Chinese community organizations will provide free public screenings of We Are New York, a new TV show for adults learning English. The show will also help immigrants understand how to access City services. Come watch the show and practice your English for free!

To find out more information, please contact one of the host organizations below. Always call before going to make sure the date or time of the screening has not changed. Some locations require ID to enter.
