NYC RECOVERS: Work Progress Program

I. OVERVIEW

The Center for Economic Opportunity (CEO) and the Young Men's Initiative (YMI) in partnership with the NYC Human Resources Administration (HRA) are seeking qualified service providers to deliver NYC Recovers – a subsidized wage program designed to both provide Hurricane Sandy-affected residents with general employment opportunities and to place unemployed New Yorkers in recovery-related work within Sandy-affected communities.

This subsidized employment program is expected to aid economic recovery efforts in devastated communities. The aftermath of the recent hurricane left many neighborhoods across the city with a strained economy and increased unemployment among its residents. Providing subsidized employment programs within storm affected communities will reduce unemployment among residents, and provide participants with new skills and experience to regain economic stability. Moreover, subsidized jobs that are directly linked to the recovery efforts will expedite the rebuilding process in these communities.

CEO was established by Mayor Bloomberg to implement innovative ways to reduce poverty in New York City. The Center works with City agencies to design and implement evidence-based initiatives aimed at poverty reduction, and manages an Innovation Fund through which it provides City agencies annual funding to implement such initiatives. CEO oversees and evaluates all of its programs to determine which are successful in reducing poverty and increasing self-sufficiency among New Yorkers.

Announced in August 2011, the Young Men's Initiative is the nation's most comprehensive effort to tackle the broad disparities slowing the advancement of black and Latino young men. Through broad policy changes and agency reforms, a public-private partnership will invest more than $43 million annually in programs that will connect young men to education, employment, and mentoring opportunities; improve their health; and reduce their involvement with the criminal justice system. To date, the Young Men's Initiative has implemented over 40 programs and policies across nearly 20 City agencies and offices.

Program Description

NYC Recovers is a subsidized wage program designed to support the rebuilding efforts in Sandy-affected neighborhoods of Brooklyn, the Bronx, Manhattan, Queens, and Staten Island.¹ This program reimburses wages paid to either hurricane-affected residents ages 16 and above placed in general employment opportunities or to unemployed New Yorkers working directly in support of the recovery efforts in the Sandy-affected neighborhoods.

- Service providers will recruit a minimum of five program participants.
- Participants will work in a part-time or full-time basis.
- Employment will range from one to three months. Providers can propose a lengthier employment period, with adequate rationale.
- Work experience should provide valuable job skills that can aid participants in obtaining unsubsidized employment after the subsidy period.
- CEO will reimburse wages for work-readiness activities for up to 20% of weekly earnings.
- Please note that WPP funding is generally not expected to supplement any existing CEO or YMI funded initiatives. Please contact CEO if you plan to layer this on top of an existing CEO/YMI program.

CEO expects that applicants will also offer wrap-around services to support participants, as described below after the heading: Eligible Applicants. Those services should be in place when the subsidized wage program begins and not require funding support through this program. This program provides reimbursement only for participant wages (generally minimum wage) and fringe of up to 13%. Commitments to selected providers will be made pending the availability of funds.

Service providers are encouraged to develop employer relationships for external placements, and internal work opportunities, including community development projects (see below under the heading: Work Types).

II. KEY PROGRAM ELEMENTS

- CEO will accept applications on a rolling basis, pending availability of funds. Programs can begin as early as the second week of December 2012.
- Eligible Applicants: Service providers already delivering wrap-around services to youth and/or unemployed adults (for example education services, case management, work readiness, job placement, mental health, or other services). These services will continue during the subsidized jobs program and support the participants throughout the experience.
- Target Population: Service providers will be responsible for selecting low-income young adults or unemployed New Yorkers 16+. Participants must either be residents from storm-affected areas or be individuals performing recovery services in the storm affected areas.
 - Note: If a service provider wishes to support minors in this program, appropriate working papers will be required. The service provider will need to assist participants in securing the appropriate documentation if they do not currently have it.
- Work Types: Applicants are encouraged to develop employer relationships for external placements or to develop internal placements that are in direct connection to Sandy-related relief work. The applicant's job placement should contribute to career exploration, meet a community need, help participants develop their technical skills (computer/office skills, construction, landscaping and horticulture, etc.) and increase soft skills (teamwork, problem solving, leadership, etc.). Applicants should include a brief job description for all planned placements, if known. As previously stated, proposed projects must fall into one of the categories below:

- External Placements: Sandy-affected residents can be placed in clerical, administrative or other positions outside the hurricane-affected neighborhoods. Examples of placement opportunities could include (but are not limited to) small businesses, offices, and the applicant's central office.
- Storm Recovery Placements: These projects directly support the local rebuilding efforts in storm-affected areas. Examples could include cleaning-up local community centers or libraries, painting local business, or removing debris.
- Job Length: Length of employment ranges from one to three months. A lengthier employment period may be proposed with appropriate justification. Work assignments will be on a part-time or full-time basis, pending the availability of funds.
- Participant Wages: Participants will earn a minimum wage of $7.25 per hour plus up to 13% fringe. Higher wages may be proposed with appropriate justification. Service providers will pay wages to participants and the NYC Human Resources Administration (HRA) will reimburse service providers on a monthly basis for wages paid and fringe. After application approval, service providers must join HRA's Business Link network to be eligible for wage reimbursement. The proposer is responsible for covering any and all costs above the agreed upon wage and 13% maximum fringe.
- Participation Conditions: Employment through this program must not displace people already employed. Wages for employment are contingent upon participant hours worked.
- Participants: Selected applicants will screen participants for skills, interests, and qualifications. Providers shall do their best in linking these interests with employment opportunities.
- Work Readiness: Selected applicants will provide work readiness services, i.e. job search activities, resume preparations, and interview preparations, to help participants search for and secure unsubsidized employment.
 - NOTE: CEO will reimburse wages for work-readiness activities for up to 20% of weekly earnings. Providers should be able to document time spent in work readiness activities.
- Program Reporting Requirements: Selected applicants will be required to track and report on the following information:
 - Description of the services provided and participants' attendance at the service providers' workforce/educational program.
 - Timesheets (in collaboration with worksites).
 - Completion of participant background characteristics form.
 - Legally required working papers for any minors participating in subsidized employment, if applicable.
 - Monthly Progress and Quarterly Data Reports: The monthly progress reports provide a brief narrative detailing the activities and accomplishments made during the reporting period, program challenges and proposed solutions, and next steps. The quarterly reports provide detail on program performance and outcome metrics, including:
 - Number of Program Participants
 - Number Completed Subsidized Job Placements
 - Total Number of Hours Completed

- Number Placed in Education Post-Program (may include GED, high school, adult education program, training, post-secondary education)
- Number Placed in Unsubsidized Employment Post-Program
- Satisfaction Survey: During the last week of a participant’s enrollment in the Work Progress Program, service providers will have participants complete a satisfaction survey. The survey will prompt participants to answer how well the program was run, whether or not the work experience meets participants’ needs, and overall program quality.
- Follow-up: Three months following participant completion of the Work Progress Program, service providers will report on the number of participants subsequently placed or retained in educational, occupational training, or unsubsidized employment.
