IN CARE, YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO...

1. An affirming home/residence that treats you with respect and meets your needs.
2. Be treated just like everyone else, and be free from discrimination (being treated unfairly or differently) because of your sexual orientation, gender identity, and/or gender expression.
3. Talk about or not talk about being lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and/or questioning to your family/provider.
4. Request to be called by a name and gender pronoun (he, she, etc.) that matches the gender you feel you are.
5. Express your gender in a way that matches the gender you feel you are.
6. Wear clothes and style your hair to match the gender you feel you are.
7. Be able to go to health and mental health providers that are safe for LGBTQ youth, and access programs/services that respect the gender you feel you are.
8. Ask to stay in a residence with other youth that are the gender you feel you are.
9. Get information about LGBTQ issues, groups, and websites on available computers.
10. Participate in all activities that are open to you, and you are interested in attending.

11. Bring your same-sex partner to events where boyfriends and girlfriends are invited.

PROVIDERS HAVE THE RESPONSIBILITY TO...

1. Create a respectful environment that meets your specific needs.
2. Protect you from discrimination and from unfair treatment, because of your sexual orientation (being lesbian, gay, bisexual, or straight), gender identity (being transgender or non-transgender), and/or gender expression (being feminine, masculine, or androgynous).
3. Stop staff from convincing you to reject or change your sexual orientation, gender identity, and/or gender expression.
4. Not tell anyone your sexual orientation or gender identity without your consent, unless the law makes it okay for them to do so.
5. Respect your gender identity by using your preferred name and gender pronoun.
6. Tell you about residences based on your gender identity rather than your sex-assigned-at-birth.
7. Inform you where to report any incident of bullying, harassment, or discrimination based on your sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression.

To learn more about your provider's responsibilities, go to:

www.nyc.gov/acs/LGBTQ

IF YOU ARE EXPERIENCING BULLYING, HARASSMENT, OR DISCRIMINATION...

1. Raise your voice! Report the problem immediately to your provider's LGBTQ point person.
2. Write down each incident including basic information of who/what/where/when/why.
3. Write down the dates you reported every incident, including who you reported to, and what action, if any, that person said they would take.
4. If the problem still isn't being fixed, contact the ACS Office of Advocacy at (212) 676-9421.
