Gives negative message that 'you are not welcome here' | Outdoor Seating     | The design intent is to create a safe and secure environment with ample lighting, security cameras, and plantings that maintain clear sightlines. The site design focuses on creating a welcoming public realm with seating that provides an opportunity to rest and gather. The Design-Build Team understands the sensitivity around hand rails and seat dividers. They are included in response to community feedback about safety, visibility, and managing extended occupancy. The intent is to balance the needs of safety and comfort.                                                                                          |

| Operation | Hard time believing the PIC can be kept completely separate. There is a separate building now why can't there be another separate facility.                                                 | Safety          | All women and gender-expansive individuals will be housed in one facility because the number of women and gender-expansive individuals in custody is significantly lower than the number of men in custody. Co-locating all women and gender-expansive individuals in one facility allows the City to provide robust and equitable support services and programming. The Queens facility was selected to house the women and gender-expansive population because of the available space on site to accommodate the expanded building footprint necessary to include these additional facilities, and also because of the proximity of the Queens facility to off-site medical facilities. Men and women in custody are kept completely separate within the facility, with separate program spaces, housing units, and services to prevent any overlap in populations. Any locations utilized by both men and women in custody, such as the sally port and the bridge connecting to the courthouse, will be handled through operations to provide sight and sound separation. This facility will incorporate all spaces that are needed to provide a safe environment for all genders. The Design-Build team is also actively soliciting feedback from justice-involved organizations including organizations representing women and gender-expansive individuals. |
| Operation | Brooklyn is the worst facility by far. The design will be based in principles of dignity, respect and rehabilitation. The Facility will include programming for education, vocational training, counseling and horticulture. All housing units will provide access to mental and medical health care providers. Every floor will include space for treatment in addition to the main clinic. Every housing unit will include outdoor recreation areas with access to light and air. All people in custody will have their own cell with a window, toilet, sink, desk, and bed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
