CUFFH offers year-round affordable housing workshops where community members receive an introduction to our work and get training and assistance to navigate New York City's affordable housing lottery application process. Residents receive expert, step-by-step advice on what to expect through the application process, including a review of the application and other required documents; information on financial empowerment and managing credit and debt portfolios; and additional support through the selection and interview process. In addition to larger workshops, CUFFH also provides One-on-One Application Assistance including information and training on the necessary interview skills and financial literacy needed to obtain an affordable housing unit.*

In addition to Affordable Housing assistance, CUFFH offers a wide range of referrals for additional services such as credit repair, tenants' rights, legal support, immigrant rights, ELA, job training, domestic abuse assistance, and more.

nationalgrid NATIONAL GRID National Grid to Lift Natural Gas

Moratorium Immediately for Customers in Brooklyn, Queens and Long Island

Brooklyn/Hicksville, N.Y. – National Grid today announced that it has reached an agreement with the State of New York to immediately resume connecting natural gas service to customers in Brooklyn, Queens and on Long Island for approximately the next two years. National Grid will therefore proceed to connect those customer applications put on hold due to the moratorium and start processing all new applications. In addition, National Grid will offer $7 million in customer assistance to address hardships as a result of the moratorium. For months, National Grid has been working to identify new, innovative and

Standardizing Fines for Street Cleaning Parking Violations

The City's proposed Alternate Side Parking fine change was published November 29, 2019. Currently, Alternate Side Parking penalties are $65 in Manhattan below 96th Street and $45 elsewhere. The new rule will make Alternate Side Parking fines uniform across the entire city at $65. This change will increase the effectiveness of the City's Alternate Side Parking regulations and help keep New York City healthy, safe and clean.

The Department of Finance has scheduled a public hearing for January 3, 2020, and all comments should be submitted to the Department of Finance by that date.

You can read the proposed rules at: [<http://rules.cityofnewyork.us/content/standardizing-fines-street-cleaningparking-violations>] unprecedented solutions to safely and reliably serve customers this winter and next and has agreed to a plan with the State that includes:

- Significantly enhanced demand response;
- Energy efficiency programs to reduce the demand for natural gas at peak times;
- And increasing reliance on portable compressed natural gas.

National Grid has also agreed to $8 million for new energy efficiency, gas conservation measures designed to relieve stress on the system and reduce peak-day gas usage during this two-year period.

To accelerate ongoing efforts to scale affordable renewable energy technologies to meet the State's long-term energy supply needs, National Grid will invest $20 million in clean energy projects and businesses in New York.

Within three months, the company will present options to meet New York's long-term supply needs to the communities it serves. National Grid has committed to present the findings of its analysis through a series of public meetings in Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties, designed to facilitate a dialogue with customers, residents, advocates, business leaders and local elected officials. The company will partner with local elected officials to facilitate these forums to ensure maximum transparency so that a strategy can be formulated that reflects the public's input.

Natural Gas Heating Bills Expected To Be Lower This Winter

Sign Up for Energy Savings Incentives & Lower Your Carbon Footprint

The energy company estimates residential heating bills will be about 6.9 percent lower this winter.

The average residential gas-heating bill from November 2019 through March 2020 will be about $255 per month, according to the company's projections, down from $274 last year. That estimate is based on average monthly usage of 100 therms and assumes normal winter weather.

While heating costs are expected to be lower, New Yorkers are encouraged to sign up for one of Con Edison's energy-saving programs and follow some easy tips to save energy and money.

Natural gas supplies are expected to remain tight. A reduction in capacity on an interstate pipeline will further constrain supply. Con Edison, however, has secured adequate natural gas supplies for its 1.1 million gas customers, approximately 370,000 of whom use gas to heat their homes or businesses in Manhattan, the Bronx, Westchester County, and parts of Queens.

Customers can save money on heating by using these tips:

- Swap out window shades seasonally. Light-colored window coverings reflect the sun's energy, while darker ones absorb it and release heat.
- Purchase an ENERGY STAR® thermostat and get up to $135 back when you enroll it at home.
- Keep ducts and vents clean. Regularly cleaned heating systems will run more efficiently and last longer.
- Maintain your heating system to ensure your home is heated efficiently this winter. Get up to $100 rebate for a boiler or furnace tune-up.
- Explore our network of participating contractors to get a quality installation of your new energy efficient heating or cooling equipment.
- Learn how to can use gas more efficiently and other clean heating alternatives.

Con Edison is a subsidiary of Consolidated Edison, Inc. [NYSE: ED], one of the nation's largest investor-owned energy companies, with approximately $12 billion in annual revenues and $56 billion in assets. The utility delivers electricity, natural gas and steam to 3.5 million customers in New York City and Westchester County, N.Y. CENSUS 2020

The 2020 Census is around the corner — and it will shape New York City's future for years to come.

Once every ten years, the United States Census takes a count of every person in the United States. The taking of the census is mandated by the United States Constitution and has occurred every 10 years since 1790.

But the census is so much more than just a count. Census information is used to determine New York City's fair share of $650 billion in federal funds for public education, public housing, infrastructure, and more — as well as the number of seats we have in Congress.

Because so much is at stake, it's critical that New Yorkers stand up and be counted in the 2020 Census.

In the 2010 Census, the city's self-response rate was less than 62%, compared to the national average of 76%.

Community Notices

We need every New Yorker to get involved to ensure that their community is counted next year.

NEW DIRECTIONS CLINIC

New Directions Outpatient Alcohol and Substance Abuse Treatment Program

Expanding Services to include our Healthy Families/ Healthy Children Program

This unique family-focused program offers the opportunity for each family member—including the children to receive counseling and/or Art Therapy by a licensed clinician. Our Healthy Families/Healthy Children Program provides opportunities for all family members to approach their strengths and challenges together and to move toward wellness and healing. In a structured, safe environment everyone can obtain the support they need to process their feelings and emotions around the alcohol or substance use disorder in the family. We know from research and experience, that parental substance abuse and dependence have a negative impact on the physical and emotional well-being of children. It leaves children at increased risk for abuse and neglect, as well as academic, social and emotional problems. The Healthy Families/Healthy Children Program is designed to work with the family as a whole to clinically address these issues.

Healthy Families/Healthy Children Programming include:

- Mother/Child Groups for those with children ages 5-8 or 9-13 are available either with our counselors and/or with our Art Therapist. (Saturday groups available!)
- Individual Therapy and/or Art Therapy for children and youth offer a space for those 5-21 years of age in the substance abusers life to have their own therapist.
- Adolescent Groups created for individuals 12-18 years of age who are abusing alcohol and/or substances.
- Individual Therapy for the significant other provides support for the partner who is encouraged to focus on his or her needs rather than on the substance abuser's behavior.
- Family Therapy provides a supportive structure for family members to work at understanding the past and preparing for the recovery process.
- Parenting and/or Couples Therapy (if safe and appropriate) is available to help adults make the changes they need to support their recovery.
- Psycho-educational Groups are available to family members to better understand the person in treatment and to help family members see how they fit into the recovery process.

Appointments are available!

For more information or to refer a client please call 718-398-0800 or contact: Betsy Zapata, Intake Coordinator, at BZapata@NewDirectionsClinic.com or Carol Morrison LCSW, CASAC, Director, at CMorrison@NewDirectionsClinic.com Licensed by New York State Office of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse Services 500 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, NY 11217.

NEW YORK CITY DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Speed Hump Request on Moffat Street from Knickerbocker Avenue to Wilson Avenue-Brooklyn

DOT-339354-J1F5

Regarding installation of a speed reducer on Moffat Street from Knickerbocker Avenue to Wilson Avenue.

The New York City Department of Transportation conducted an investigation to determine the feasibility and need of installing a speed reducer at this location. Factors such as a physical inventory of the street and travel speed were taken into consideration in making our determination. Based upon our evaluation of the data collected we have concluded that this is a good candidate location for the installation of a speed reducer. We will forward this location to our city-wide speed reducer crew so that it can be added to their list of pending installations for Brooklyn.

Information on the Department's use of speed reducers and other traffic calming measures is available on the DOT web site at <http://www.nyc.gov/html/dot/html/pedestrians/traffic-calming.shtml>.

The safety of our residents is of primary concern to the Department.

Noise Code

The New York City Noise Code balances the important reputation of New York as a vibrant, world-class city that never sleeps, with the needs of those who live in, work in, and visit the city. In 2007 the City updated the Noise Code for the first time in 30 years to reflect the changing landscape and advances in acoustic technology.

The Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) and the Police Department (NYPD) share the duties of enforcing the Noise Code. To report a noise complaint, call 311 or file a complaint online, and they will direct your grievance to the appropriate agency.

ANIMAL CARE & CONTROL

Lost and Found Pets

How can you make it easier to find your lost pet?

Make sure your pets are wearing a valid license at all times (dogs only) and identification or a microchip.

All dogs in New York City must be licensed

- If your dog is not currently licensed, see how you can license your dog.

- If you already have a licensed dog, make sure your contact information is up to date.

If You Find a Lost Pet

If an animal is acting in a threatening or dangerous manner, protect yourself and call 911 immediately. Do not try to handle or physically restrain an aggressive or fearful dog or cat. If an animal appears sick or injured, call 311. Do not try to make physical contact.

If you find a dog that has a New York City dog license tag, use the NYC Dog eLocator to help reunite them with the owner. Enter the 7-digit number on the dog license tag, your name, email or telephone number.

An email will be sent to the dog's registered owner asking them to contact you. An email is also sent to the NYC Department of Health, which will try to contact the owner by telephone or mail. If the animal has identification, you can also contact the owner directly. Identification comes in many forms, so please check the animal thoroughly for a tag or-tattoo. You can bring an animal to most shelters and veterinary hospitals to scan the animal for a microchip.

If you find a pet (with or without identification), you also can file a report online or bring the animal to a shelter.

If You Lost Your Pet

Your pet may have been brought to an Animal Care & Control (ACC) shelter. You can file a lost pet report, and you should check ACC's website daily for new lost and stray arrivals. If you see an animal that fits the description of your lost pet, you must visit the identified shelter to reclaim your pet.

You may not recognize your pet from the pictures and descriptions posted online. Consider visiting a few shelters to see for yourself if your pet is there. Find out shelter hours and locations.

- Look for your pet right away. Check everywhere, especially places that your pet has been before (for example, parks and neighbors' yards/bushes). Search your neighborhood during the day AND at night.

- Put signs around your neighborhood, in local stores (especially pet stores and grocery stores), and in veterinarians' offices (where allowed) for a 3-mile radius. Your signs should be large enough to be read from 10 feet away.

- Tell your neighbors (including all neighborhood children), your postal carrier and sanitation workers that your pet is missing.

- Visit Petfinder.com to check listings of local shelters and rescue groups in your area. The website will post ads for your lost pet.

- Keep searching for at least a few months. People sometimes find a pet and keep it for a while before taking it to a shelter or abandoning it on the street where they found it. Lost pets have been reunited with their families after long periods of time – don't give up.

Other Tips

Make sure:

- Your dog has a current license tag attached to its collar or halter.
- Your pet always wears their collar or halter and that identification tags are securely attached.
- Identification tags have current information.
- If your pet has a microchip, keep your personal information up to date with the company that services the microchip.

wallets and purses shouldn't be left on the front seat of an unlocked car unattended, mail and packages shouldn't be left uncollected in mailboxes or on front porches for any length of time.

2. Going out of town? Hold mail at the local post office. Instead of risking leaving a package unattended for an extended period of time, customers planning on being away from home for a few days are encouraged to take advantage of the USPS Hold Mail service located on USPS.com. Letters and packages will be held securely at the local post office until the customer returns.

3. Plan ahead. Ship using Hold for Pickup. When shipping packages, customers can choose the Hold for Pickup option, and the recipients can collect the packages at their local post office. For customers receiving packages, they can redirect incoming packages to their local Post Office by selecting Hold for Pickup using USPS Package Intercept on USPS.com.

4. Customize the delivery. If the package doesn't fit in the mailbox and the customer won't be home to receive it, the receiving customer can provide delivery instructions online and authorize the carrier to leave it in a specified location. Visit www.usps.com, enter the tracking number and select Delivery Instructions.

5. Secure the shipment using USPS Special Services. Signature Confirmation helps ensure the package is placed in the right hands by requiring a signature at the time of delivery. For the most valuable packages, customers can opt for Registered Mail service. A Registered Mail piece receives special handling from the time it's mailed until it's delivered, documenting the chain of custody.

6. Monitor your front door. If you have a home security camera system and/or doorbell camera, ensure it captures and saves activity at your front door and mailbox. If you catch any mail thieves in the act, save the video and alert your local Postal Inspectors. Additionally, if you notice an unfamiliar vehicle following a USPS truck or unknown persons loitering around mailboxes, report the activity to your local police department immediately, and then call the U.S. Postal Inspection Service at 877-876-2455. If you feel that you are a victim of a crime involving the mail, you may submit an online complaint by visiting www.USPIS.gov and selecting Report at the top of the page.

5 Ways to Protect Mail & Packages

Don't leave packages unattended for any length of time. Won't be home? Use the Hold for Pickup option at USPS.com. Leaving town? Use the USPS Hold Mail services at USPS.com. Customize delivery by using USPS.com and your tracking number. Use USPS special services like Signature Confirmation or Registered Mail.
