2019 NOVEL CORONAVIRUS

Recently, a novel (new) coronavirus was detected in thousands of people worldwide, primarily in China. A "novel coronavirus" is a strain that has not been previously found in humans. This novel coronavirus, also referred to as 2019-nCoV, can include fever, cough or shortness of breath.

Most people who were first diagnosed with this infection reported exposure to a large seafood and live animal market in Wuhan, China. Recently, people with this infection did not report contact with this market. This means that person-to-person spread is occurring.

No people have been diagnosed with this novel coronavirus in New York State. The risk to New Yorkers is low.

If you are a medical provider, see our Novel Respiratory Virus page.

Tips for Travelers

If you are planning any travel outside the US, visit the CDC's Travelers' Health webpage for the latest travel health notices. If you were recently in China and have a fever, cough or shortness of breath, you should:

- Seek medical care right away. Before you go to a health care provider's office or emergency room, call ahead and tell them about your recent travel and your symptoms. Wear a mask if you need to leave your home when sick.
- After you have been seen by a health care provider, stay home and avoid contact with others until you are well.
- Avoid travel on any public transportation (such as bus, subway, train or airplane) until the illness resolves.
- Cover your mouth and nose with a tissue or your sleeve (not your hands) when coughing or sneezing.
- Wash hands often with soap and warm water for at least 20 seconds. Use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer if soap and water are not available.

Hospital staff will not ask you about your immigration status. You will be seen regardless of ability to pay.

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION Social Security Launches New Campaign to Fight Scammers

The Social Security Administration launched a new Public Service Announcement (PSA) campaign to continue warning people about the ongoing nationwide telephone impersonation scheme. The PSAs feature a message from Social Security Commissioner Andrew Saul. Social Security and its Office of the Inspector General (OIG) continue to receive reports about fraudulent phone calls from people falsely claiming to be Social Security employees. The scammers mislead victims into making cash or gift card payments for help with purported identity theft, or to avoid arrest for bogus Social Security number problems. People should also be on the lookout for a new version of this scam. Fraudsters are now emailing fake documents in attempts to get people to comply with their demands. Victims have received emails with attached letters and reports that appear to be from Social Security or the OIG. The letters may use official letterhead and government jargon to convince victims they are legitimate; they may also contain misspellings and grammar mistakes. The new PSA addressing the telephone impersonation scheme is available online at www.youtube.com/socialsecurity. Social Security employees do occasionally contact people--generally those who have ongoing business with the agency--by telephone for business purposes. However,

Social Security employees will never threaten a person, or promise a Social Security benefit approval, or increase, in exchange for information or money. In those cases, the call is fraudulent, and people should just hang up. Generally, the agency mainly calls people who have recently applied for a Social Security benefit, someone who is already receiving payments and requires an update to their record, or a person who has requested a phone call from the agency. If a person is not in one of these situations, they normally would not receive a call from the agency.

Social Security will not:

- Tell you that your Social Security number has been suspended.
 - Contact you to demand an immediate payment.
 - Ask you for credit or debit card numbers over the phone.
 - Require a specific means of debt repayment, like a prepaid debit card, a retail gift card, or cash.
 - Demand that you pay a Social Security debt without the ability to appeal the amount you owe.
 - Promise a Social Security benefit approval, or increase, in exchange for information or money.
- If there is a problem with a person's Social Security number or record, in most cases Social Security will mail a letter. If a person needs to submit payments to Social Security, the agency will send a letter with instructions and payment options. People should never provide information or payment over the phone or Internet unless they are certain of who is receiving it.

NYC ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

Protect Your Pipes from Freezing

Homeowners are responsible for protecting pipes and water meters from freezing. Most water meters and pipes are in basements, crawl spaces, and other unheated areas, where cold winter temperatures could cause them to freeze.

If a meter freezes and breaks because the homeowner did not take reasonable steps to protect it, DEP will repair or replace the meter and bill the homeowner for the cost. If a service line or pipe freezes and breaks, it is the homeowner's responsibility to have repairs made by a licensed plumber.

Cold Weather Tips to Protect Your Pipes and Meters

- Repair broken and cracked windows, doors, and walls
- Install storm windows on basement windows
- Tightly close doors and windows to the outside
- Insulate outside walls
- Eliminate drafts from crawl spaces
- Turn off the water to outside faucets, remove hoses, and drain the pipes
- Ask your local plumbing supplier about materials to insulate pipes and meters
- Take extra care to ensure your meter is insulated if it is installed in an unheated garage
- Insulate the wall and open cabinets if pipes or meters are in a closed cabinet against an outside wall to allow warmer air to reach them

- Arrange to have someone turn on a faucet periodically if you are going to be out of town during cold weather.

What to Do When Your Pipes or Meters Freeze

1. Open a faucet near the frozen point to release vapor from melting ice.
2. Direct a hair dryer or heat lamp at the frozen section, or put a small space heater nearby; and, NEVER thaw a frozen pipe or meter with an open flame. This is not only a fire hazard but could also cause a steam explosion.

FAIR FARES NYC

Fair Fares NYC open applications are here!

Fair Fares NYC is a City program created by Mayor Bill de Blasio, City Council Speaker Corey Johnson, and members of the City Council to help people who live in New York City with low incomes manage their transportation costs. By using the Fair Fares NYC MetroCard, eligible New York City residents ride for half the regular cost. Fair Fares NYC allows you to receive a 50% discount on subway and eligible bus fares. With your Fair Fares NYC MetroCard, you will be able to ride the subway and eligible buses for half price! Pay-per-ride, weekly unlimited and monthly unlimited options are all available in Fair Fares NYC. If you apply and are eligible for Fair Fares NYC, the City will give you a Fair Fares NYC MetroCard. The Fair Fares NYC MetroCard you receive will not have any time or value on it. You must add time or value to your Fair Fares NYC MetroCard once you receive it. When you add time to your Fair Fares NYC MetroCard, you will be charged half the current price for the unlimited weekly or monthly option. When you add value, you will add the amount you choose to your card and the bus fare box or subway turnstile will deduct half the current fare. This means, if you add $10.00 dollars to your Fair Fares NYC MetroCard you will have the whole $10.00 on your Fair Fares NYC MetroCard. Each time you swipe your card, you will only be charged half the current price for a single ride. You can use cash at subway station booths and cash, debit card, credit card, or your EBT card at MTA MetroCard vending machines to add time or value to your Fair Fares NYC MetroCard. The MTA vending machines are located in subway stations throughout the City.

Agency Notices

New York City (NYC) residents may be eligible for a Fair Fares NYC MetroCard if they:

- Are between (and including) the ages of 18 and 64;
- Are in a household that meets the income guidelines for the Fair Fares NYC program;
- Are not currently participating or eligible to participate in any Metropolitan Transit Authority (MTA) discount program; and,
- Are not receiving full carfare from the Department of Social Services/Human Resources Administration (DSS/HRA) or any other NYC agency.

You are not eligible for Fair Fares NYC if you are participating or eligible to participate in other MTA discount fare programs. You can learn about these programs at <http://web.mta.info/nyct/fare/rfindex.htm>.

Fair Fares NYC will not ask about your status or record any information regarding immigration status. All NYC residents can apply for a Fair Fares NYC MetroCard. Visit nyc.gov/accessfairfares to learn more and apply. You may be asked to provide personal information regarding your:

- Identity;
- Residency; and
- Income.

You may be required to submit supporting documentation. Please visit nyc.gov/fairfares to see a list of documents that may be needed.
