

Service Animals

Are Welcome on Public Transportation

A service animal is an animal that performs a specific task or set of tasks to assist a person with a disability. Federal, state, and local laws require that all New York City Transit Authority facilities, buses, trains, and ferries open to the public allow Service Animals to accompany people with disabilities in all areas where the public is normally allowed to go.

NYCTA Bus Operators may only ask two questions:

- Is this a Service Animal?
- What work or task does the Service Animal perform?

NYCTA Bus Operators may NOT ask:

- Anything about a person's disability
 - For medical documentation
- For training documentation or a special card for the dog
- For a Demonstration of the tasks the dog performs

Pro Tips to Remember:

- Service Animals are not pets. Do not play with or pet a Service Animal.
- Service Animals are not required to wear jackets or vests identifying them as such.
- Service Animals are not required to have an identification card or other documentation.

In all circumstances, staff must offer the person with the disability the opportunity to obtain entry to NYCTA facilities, buses, trains and ferries with the animal present.
