CHAIR DAVIE: Good afternoon, and welcome to the Civilian Complaint Review Board's October meeting. Thank you all for joining us for this discussion about policing and civilian oversight in New York City. I'm Fred Davie, and I am Chair of the Board. And tonight, I'm particularly exciting to discuss the role of New York City's youth in the conversation of police oversight.

But before we get started, I'd like to ask my colleagues on the board to introduce themselves to you. So I'm going to start on my screen, as I see my colleagues, so I will start with Corrine Irish.

MS. IRISH. ESQ.: Hi, everyone. I am Corrine Irish. I am a Mayoral Designee and I live in Harlem.

CHAIR DAVIE: I'm sorry, Corrine. Can you do that again for us.

MS. IRISH. ESQ.: Can you hear me?

CHAIR DAVIE: Yes.

CHAIR DAVIE: Okay. Thank you. And we are -- I know Mr. Siegal is planning to join us tonight. I don't see him on my screen. I know Ms. Stahly-Butts is planning to join us tonight. I don't see her on my screen. I saw Ms. Pinsky on my screen. She seems to have disappeared.

Angela Pinsky, are you there?

(No response.)

CHAIR DAVIE: Okay. Did I miss anyone?

MR. CARCATERRA: Hey, Fred.

MR. DARCHE: Ms. Stahly-Butts will be calling in around 4:30, 4:35, but she said we should start.

CHAIR DAVIE: Okay. So Mr. Siegal and Ms. Pinsky, we are still waiting to hear from. Although Ms. Pinsky was on earlier. We'll wait for her to -- we will anticipate she's going to rejoin us.

So let's just do one order of business before --

MR. DARCHE: Chair?

CHAIR DAVIE: Yes?

MR. DARCHE: Mr. Siegal just texted. He is on, but his video isn't working. But he's -- he's there.

CHAIR DAVIE: Okay. Great. Is his audio working? Mr. Siegal, is your audio working?

CHAIR DAVIE: And your video is working as well, so that's great.

MR. SIEGAL: I'm here in full now.

CHAIR DAVIE: I'm at ease. Thank you.

Let's take care of one housekeeping matter, and that is to approve the minutes of the last two meetings. Is there a motion?

BOARD MEMBER: Motion.

CHAIR DAVIE: All right. Second?

BOARD MEMBER: Second.

CHAIR DAVIE: Those in favor of approving the minutes of our last two minutes, please say "aye".

CHAIR DAVIE: The "ayes" have it, and the minutes are approved.

I'd like to welcome our special guest to this meeting tonight, Young Men's Initiative Executive Director
Jordan Stockdale. As some of you know, the CCRB released a public service announcement this past summer aimed at New York's youth. This PSA was the product of collaboration between our agency's Youth Advisory Council and social justice production company, Never Whisper Justice. And the PSA was released in conjunction with CCRB's report on youth and police.

As our report on youth and police showed, approximately 90 percent of young people who file a complaint with the CCRB, who filed a complaint with the CCRB between January 2018 and June 2019 identified as Black or Hispanic, and about 65 percent identified as Black or Hispanic males. With these findings in mind, the goal of the PSA was to reach those New Yorkers, particularly young New Yorkers of color, who may experience police misconduct and may not know that CCRB is here to investigate and even potentially prosecute the alleged misconduct.

We remain extraordinarily proud of the Youth Advisory Council's work on the PSA, which is why I am particularly excited to have Jordan here tonight. As many of you know, and some of you often bring up in our meetings, the CCRB does not currently have advertisement on the subway or on the street or in social media. In fact, the CCRB has never had dedicated public education funding that could be used for public service advertising.

Jordan Stockdale is here tonight because in partnership with the Young Men's Initiative, we are finally changing the status quo. I am pleased to announce that the Young Men's Initiative will be providing $50,000 for public education funding to the CCRB. This is the -- yes, indeed. Let's applaud. This is indeed the first time we have had public education funding in our 26-year history. The first time we have had public education funding in our 26-year history.

Now, it is my pleasure and honor, and I'm pleased to be able to ask Jordan Stockdale, if he will share a few specifics about the program and about the initiative, and tell us some about the Young Men's Initiative as well. Jordan?

MR. STOCKDALE: Thank you, Chair. Before I talk about the specifics, I want to share a personal story.

Last night, I was reading over the stories from your report titled Youth And Police, and they made me so mad.

Your young kids taken to the station house for playing with sticks, teens stopped and frisked for walking through housing development while wearing a backpack.

It was painful because it reminded me of ten years ago when I was stopped and frisked. I was a teacher at the time, and I had left my apartment in East Harlem to run some errands in the early evening. I made it about two blocks from my house when several plain clothed officers ran up on me, pushed me to a wall and aggressively patted me down. I was totally horrified. They were big guys.

And when I finally found the courage to ask, "Why did you do this," they made some snide comments about my clothes and basketball shorts. I said nicely, "You didn't have to do it this way." And they told me, "Don't tell me how to do my job."

I stood there for several minutes

after they left, you know, shook up.
And when I finally started walking, I turned the corner and the same police had another group of young teenagers up against the wall.

Now, we are at a completely different era, and thankfully we have ended stop and frisk. And thankfully,
the Mayor has passed several reforms.
But the importance of the CCRB is still paramount. When I was a young teacher, I didn't know the CCRB existed. And I had no idea I could call and file a compliant. And too many people today do not know the CCRB exist or do not feel comfortable filing a complaint.

We hope that this first public education campaign can help more New Yorkers, particularly our young, Black and Brown youth, feel empowered to file complaints when appropriate. So through the campaign, Young Men's Initiative will allocate $50,000 in this fiscal year towards youth and young adult-targeted radio advertising and social media advertising, who will run ads in Spanish as well as English. And moreover, through the partnership with DYCD, we will hire and train youth to serve as youth education trainers who will educate thousands of their peers of how and when to contact the CCRB.

So I want to thank the Chair, the whole CCRB team, the Center for Youth Employment and DYCD for their partnership on this effort.

And just a little bit more information about the Young Men's Initiative. Per the Chair's request, we fund and comanage initiatives across work force development, criminal justice reform and education. And so we are here to help reduce disparities that have existed for many years. And we hope that this initiative will continue in that advantage.

CHAIR DAVIE: Excellent. Again, thank you, thank you so much, Jordan. We really appreciate this investment by the Young Men's Initiative and your personal commitment to this. And as always, as we work to improve police community relations, we are always moved and just often disturbed by the stories we hear about these unfortunate encounters that many, too many New Yorkers, particularly New Yorkers of color, particularly men of color, have had with officers of the NYPD.

So we are appreciative that your story and your life have inspired you to do something on behalf of other young men, and we are really pleased about this partnership that the CCRB will develop with you.

And as you explained to us, this funding will be used to promote the message crafted by our Youth Advisory Council in their public service announcement over the radio and on social media, so that the CCRB can more effectively reach New Yorkers who need us, but who don't know us.

This is an exciting project that would not be possible without you, Jordan, and the Young Men's Initiative and this partnership we developed. Again, I'm extremely grateful for the willingness, your willingness to support our agency's mission. So thank you again for the good work that you are doing.

We also have members of the Youth Advisory Council in attendance tonight, and to them I want to reiterate that your work on the public service announcement, the PSA and advising our staff here at the CCRB has been invaluable to the agency. Before this partnership with YMI, your PSA was shared far and wide. As of July, the PSA had already had more than 50,000 impressions on social media. And I'm excited that we can now share the work of our Youth Advisory Council with even more New Yorkers because of this investment by the Young Men's Initiative.

Our Youth Advisory Council, all of you, have been an important part of the agency over the past year. You have set the bar high for the 2021 Class of the Youth Advisory Council.

I'd like to take this opportunity now to hear from a current Youth Advisory Council member, Aliyah Davenport, who is with us tonight and would like to share her experience with the Youth Advisory Council.

Aliyah, welcome.

MS. DAVENPORT: Hi, thank you so much for being here again. I'm honored to even be able to speak right here. My name is Aliyah Davenport, and I am a part of the YAC 2019 to present term. And honestly, YAC has shaped my life tremendously. From the moment I was in freshman year, I was interested in social justice, but I wanted to use that same energy and articulate it and push that towards my own community, especially with police reform.

So joining YAC, I was blessed to meet full of like such supportive, like-minded, passionate individuals like me, who want to see change in our community and want to see change in the world overall. And joining YAC, I really encourage many people around me because for one, you get the chance to use your passions, your smarts, your intelligence and put it towards real world justice in a way. Because of the society we live in, there's a lot of corruption going on. There is a lot of change we need, and we definitely need this generation, the youth specifically, to carry on that fire, carry on that change and try to CHAIR DAVIE: Great. Thank you so much. Thank you so much. And we really appreciate, not only your work, which has been extremely important, but the work of you and your comembers of Youth Advisory Council and the contributions you've made to the agency. So thank you.

And on that note, I'd like to announce that the application for the next class of our Youth Advisory Council is now open. The YAC is an incredible opportunity for young people in New York City to make a real difference here at the agency, at the CCRB, and for our City as a whole. So I would really -- I'd like to encourage our young people to apply. If you'd like to apply, please check the CCRB's Twitter account at CCRB, underscore, at CCRB, underscore, NYC

MR. DARCHE: Jahi will do it, Mr. Chair.

CHAIR DAVIE: Thank you, John. Finally, as we confront a number of challenges, reopening our City and getting New Yorkers back on their feet, I'd like to thank our City's essential workers who continue to serve all of us in the face of COVID-19. And that includes members of the NYPD. We're all grateful for all the contributions of essential workers to the City's health and wellbeing.

With that, I now turn over the floor to our executive director, John Darche, who has a few words to share.

John?

MR. DARCHE: Thank you, Mr. Chair. Since our last monthly meeting, the CCRB held a special meeting on the NYPD's proposed disciplinary matrix. The agency sent analysis and summary of the public feedback we received to the NYPD. It was a productive meeting that we hope will have an impact on the NYPD's final disciplinary matrix.

We are still waiting for the Second Circuit's decision on whether the CCRB can disclose certain officer disciplinary information. We are ready if that decision comes down and allows us to disclose information. We -- we've been working very hard on our searchable website, and it is

Our plans to implement a secure room for review of BWC footage has been put on hold because of the pandemic. But we've been working with City Hall, the department and Office of Management and Budget and DCAS to get that room up and running, and we hope to have an update later this fall.

I want to join the Chair and the rest of the agency in thanking the 2020 Class of the Youth Advisory Council. As the Chair said, the work they did for the agency will have an impact on our public education efforts for a long time to come, and I'm excited to welcome the new YAC class later this year.

The CCRB is still taking complaints, but we are trying to make the health of complainants, staff and members of the NYPD a priority. And search and sobriety checks and other encounters, officers should identify themselves by providing their name and other information, such as their rank, command and shield number, with some exceptions, explain the purpose of their interaction, inform you of your right to say "no" when asking for a consent to search your person, property, vehicle or home. And offer you a business card with the police officer's information that explains how to make a comment or complaint about an interaction with the NYPD.

Civilians may request a business card in all interactions. This is the image of what their business card may look like.

Now, there are a few ways to file a complaint with regarding police misconduct. As John Darche mentioned, you can file a complaint online at NYC.gov/CCRBComplaint. You can also call our hotline at 1-800-341-CCRB.

Remember, if you see footage of misconduct on social media or on the news, you can file a complaint, even if you weren't there in person.

A few other ways to file a complaint. You can feel free to call 3-1-1. You could visit our office at 100 Church Street on the tenth floor, New York, New York 10007, or you can feel free to visit a local police precinct. You can also send a letter to the Civilian Complaint Review Board.

As previously mentioned, the Youth Advisory Council applications are open. We encourage all of you, if you do -- these applications are open to young people between the ages of 10 and 18 to apply, and the information has been shared in the chat. We will share it again. And if you have any young people that you believe may be fit for the YAC, feel free to pass the information on.

Thank you.

CHAIR DAVIE: Thank you, Jahi. Let's see if any of our board members have questions or comments.

(No response.)

CHAIR DAVIE: Okay. Thanks again, Jahi. We will move to the public comment section of the meeting. And if anyone is interested in making a public comment, please raise your hand. Use the "raise your hand" feature, and we will go down the list for those people who have raised their hands.

Please keep your comments to two minutes so that everyone has an opportunity to speak tonight. And so

I'm going to ask Yojaira Alvarez, she'll help us moderate the list.
And -- I'm going to ask the Board members if you can mute your mics until you are ready to speak. And that way -- and anyone else who has an open mic, please mute it and that way our speakers can make their comments without interruptions. There are a couple of mics still open. We are hearing some feedback, so if you could check your mic just to make sure it's muted.

And so Yojaira, will you call our first person for public comment.

MS. ALVAREZ: So first, we have April Cardena. Sorin, if you can unmute her.

MS. CARDENA: Thank you. Thanks, Yojaira, and thank you, Chair. I'm actually a member of the 2019/2020
cohort for the Young Advisory Council, and I just wanted to extend my gratitude to everyone who made it possible for us young folk to have a voice in things that actually matter. You know, we speak a lot about the next generation and the young generation. And the CCRB gave us that platform to make a difference.

And so I just wanted to express my gratitude, and thank all of you for everything you've done. I follow YAC members, and that's -- that's really all I wanted to say. Is just give my appreciation and can't wait to see more of the work that gets done.

CHAIR DAVIE: Well, thank you. And again, thanks to all you for your contribution. You provide us all with an inspiration, as Mr. Joseph said, because in many ways, you are the future, you are the next board members of the CCRB and the next mayor and speaker of the City Council and City comptroller and governor and president. So we are looking to you to help us better understand how we Thanks again.

MS. ALVAREZ: As a reminder for those who would like to speak, you can use the raise the hand feature that's found on the bottom of your screen.

Before, I just wanted to acknowledge that Latoya LeGrand from Senator Comrie's office is in attendance, as well as Ranette
Releford from the Syracuse Citizen Review Board. And Lermon Mais (phonetic), from Assemblywoman Inez Dickens' office. And Allan Swisher from the office of the Queens Borough President, and Monica Franklin from the Vices Group in Hollis, Queens.

Thank you all for attending.

Next, we will have S Abbott. I know that you have an issue raising your hand, so we'll unmute you and you have two minutes.

MR. ABBOTT: Can you hear me okay?

CHAIR DAVIE: Yes, we can. Please proceed.

MR. ABBOTT: Okay. Thank you. I really appreciate it, and I will try to keep this brief. I'm not going to talk about my case, which is now pending before CCRB. But I do want to make clear that I take very seriously this last -- I'm giving CCRB one more chance to satisfy me in a matter of police abuse.

On August 19th and 25th, I had conversations with CCRB Investigator Nick Venduras and Supervising Investigator Matt Chaves on the phone: Supervising Investigator Chaves said to me this extraordinary thing, "We are not authorized to speak human being to human being." That's preparatory to what I want to make the main point about tonight. Because I followed up with CCRB Investigative Manager Vanessa Rosen, who said that she was forwarding my e-mail to our legal department. That was August 28th. I have heard nothing since, and I have -- I have heard nothing with regard to the mediation of my case.

I want to call attention to the CCRB intake form, file a complaint of police misconduct, which you fill out online. It says, and I quote, towards the bottom of the form, "To thoroughly investigate your incident, the CCRB might need to obtain body worn camera video from the NYPD, including video that is related to a sealed case or may otherwise require your permission before it could be lawfully disclosed. Do you consent to the CCRB getting access to these videos to do its investigation?"

Then there's an asterisk, which leads absolutely nowhere. And then there's a very distinct check, check box, yes or no. I checked no. Now I learn from Supervising Investigator Matt Chaves, he said to me, and I quote, "I am instructing you to" -- he's addressing me, "I am instructing you, civilian, to understand that you are not parsing this section of the online form correctly. This language only applies to if you are arrested. You were not arrested. Your no means nothing to our investigation. The officer's ability to control his own body cam to switch it on and off as he pleases, he's not relevant."

Now, I want to -- I want to make a quotation here from a much wiser source. Confucius, who says, "If language is not used rightly, then what is said is not what is meant. If what is said is not what is meant, then that which ought to be done is left undone. Justice will go awry. And if justice goes awry, the people will stand about in helpless confusion."

No, the people won't about in helpless confusion. They will demand that CCRB stop using this form, which hasn't been updated in years, because what this legal language says is not what it means. "I am instructing you to understand that you are not parsing this correctly," says the supervising investigator. It says very clearly,
"To thoroughly investigate your incident, the CCRB might need to obtain body-worn camera video."

CHAIR DAVIE: I'm going to --

MR. ABBOTT: -- "including video related to a sealed case." The case is not sealed. Okay?

CHAIR DAVIE: So you can either ask a question or --

MR. ABBOTT: So the question is, will you do anything to look at a form, an online form that CCRB has not updated in years. And also, will you investigate the likes of Matt Chaves,

CHAIR DAVIE: You've made --

MR. ABBOTT: To listen to me, talking to me like he is the boss of the situation.

CHAIR DAVIE: Sir, it's --

MR. ABBOTT: Needs to be a CCRB -- an elected Civilian Review Board. The CCRB have better step up --

CHAIR DAVIE: Sorin, if you can hear me, will you mute the speaker, please.

MR. DARCHE: Mr. Chair, can I address his point?

CHAIR DAVIE: Yes, you can.

MR. DARCHE: So I just want to say that I heard what the speaker said. I will review the interview that was conducted by Supervising Investigator Chaves and make sure that -- that the conversation -- that the interview was conducted properly and review the matter and report back to the board on what happened.

In addition, that language is new, that the speaker was talking about. And while Mr. Chaves may have spoken in a way that the civilian found inappropriate, he was trying to convey accurately the information. There are reasons why the NYPD will not share body-worn camera footage with us. And if we get the consent of the -- the subject of the -- of the -- the person making the complaint or who was in the video, we will then share the videos.

And so we updated the website so that we could obtain consent if there is -- if the NYPD feels the -- the -- if the complaint is not sealed because there was not an arrest, then we don't need the consent of the person who was in the video.

CHAIR DAVIE: Understood. Thank you, Mr. Darche. And I do appreciate you following up with the speaker and

MR. SONDA: Board member John Siegal, who has the authority to hire and fire the executive director of the CCRB?

CHAIR DAVIE: Mr. Sonda, welcome back. Mr. Siegal, would you like to respond?

(No response.)

CHAIR DAVIE: I'm going to take that as either we've lost Mr. Siegal or --

MR. SIEGAL: I'm sorry. I was on mute. I don't know why this question is being addressed to me. It's a legal question, and if counsel to the board wants to respond that's --

MS. ALVAREZ: Thank you, Chair Davie. That concludes our public session. I just wanted to just end by saying thank you all to the Youth Advisory Council members, thank you Jordan for sharing those words, Aliyah, Thomas, everyone and thank you so much and have a great night.
