DSS' Office of Civil Justice (OCJ) and the Mayor's Office to End Domestic and Gender-Based Violence (ENDGBV) will jointly operate a program to provide core civil legal services at the City's five (5) New York City Family Justice Centers (FJC). The NYC Family Justice Centers provide free and confidential services to survivors of domestic and gender-based violence and their children regardless of their language capacity, immigration status, income, gender identity or sexual orientation. The goal of the FJC Family Law Legal Services program is to operate a trauma-informed, collaborative and comprehensive legal services program for survivors of domestic and gender-based violence seeking legal help from the FJCs in the area of family law, including but not limited to matrimonial law (including both contested and uncontested divorce), parental rights including custody and visitation, and child and spousal support issues. Providing survivors with the full spectrum of family law legal services including legal screening and advice, legal advice and ongoing consultation, support for self-represented FJC clients with filing pro se petitions and legal representation in court is key to their safety planning and greatly informs their ability to make decisions regarding their safety and stability.

DYCD has determined that Competitive Sealed Bidding is neither practicable nor advantageous to the City because this procurement necessitates the exercise of judgment in evaluating competing proposals and requires a balancing of price, quality, and programmatic factors to achieve the best outcomes. DYCD is seeking pre-qualified Health and Human Services (HHS) providers to operate COMPASS programs. These programs are located in New York City Public School (NYCPS) sites and charter schools housed within NYCPS buildings and serve elementary and middle school students across all five boroughs. COMPASS programs are a critical part of the City's effort to support working families by providing free, high-quality afterschool and summer childcare services. They offer a wide range of enrichment activities that help students in Kindergarten through Grade 8 develop academically, socially, and emotionally, both in and out of the classroom. Given the complex nature of this work—requiring cultural competency, deep community engagement, and tailored programming to meet the diverse needs of NYC youth a proposal-based evaluation is essential. This approach allows DYCD to select providers not only based on cost, but also on their demonstrated experience, organizational capacity, staffing approach, and commitment to equitable service delivery. Therefore, the use of an RFP, rather than Competitive Sealed Bidding, is the most appropriate method to ensure the highest quality of services are delivered in alignment with the City's goals for youth development and family support.

■ NOTICE

Notice of Rule Adoption

Pursuant to the authority vested in the New York City Department of Finance ("DOF") under New York City Charter §§ 1043(a) and 1504, and New York City Administrative Code § 11-208.1, DOF hereby adopts amendments to rules in order to clarify certain real property income and expense reporting requirements for real estate of utility company properties.

Statement of Basis and Purpose of Rule

The New York City Department of Finance ("DOF") is promulgating the following rule change in accordance with the powers set forth in New York City Charter ("Charter") §§ 1043(a) and 1504, as well as New York City Administrative Code ("Administrative Code") § 11-208.1(g). A proposed version of these rules was published in the City Record on March 11, 2026. See City Record at 945-47 (Mar. 11, 2026). DOF held a hearing for public comment on April 13, 2026.

This rule amendment encourages reliable reporting of ownership of real estate of utility company ("REUC") properties, allowing DOF to correctly and accurately assess such properties. Retaining accurate ownership records of atypical and difficult-to-observe real property is critical for DOF's mission, particularly where businesses restructure, such as through a merger or acquisition.

The omission or undervaluation of one or more properties necessarily shifts tax burden onto other properties, because the City must raise adequate revenue to fund its operations. By promoting the accurate identification of REUC properties, through DOF's mandated disclosure requirements, this rule promotes the fair allocation of real property taxes in New York City, even for properties that would not directly be subject to this rule.

Specifically, this rule amends Chapter 33 of title 19 of the Rules of the City of New York ("RCNY"), which establishes rules for filing real property income and expense ("RPIE") statements. DOF uses these RPIE statements to determine the value and property tax for many income-producing properties, in accordance with Administrative Code § 11-208.1.

- Section 1 amends 19 RCNY § 33-01(b)(1)(xxv) to include certain railroad equipment, which is already included in the definitions of "real property," "property" or "land" under RPTL § 102(12)(c). This subparagraph of the City's rules lists types of income-producing utility properties, regardless of whether such properties are owner-occupied. This addition clarifies that certain railroad equipment is considered income-producing, and that owners of REUC properties must file an RPIE statement for this railroad equipment in accordance with Administrative Code § 11-208.1. A corporation providing rail-based freight transportation services submitted a comment arguing that railroad properties do not constitute "income-producing property" as such term is used in Administrative Code § 11-208.1, and instead constitute a form of "specialty property[.]" DOF does not agree with this analysis. Railroad properties are not distinguishable from other owner-occupied REUC properties that are used in business operations, and which are already subject to RPIE filing requirements by rule. See 19 RCNY § 33-01(b)(1)(xxv) (including "power plants, generators, telecommunication lines . . . and other equipment defined as real property" pursuant to RPTL § 102(12)). Additionally, this commenter notes an assessment ceiling set by the New York State Office of Real Property Tax Services limits the real property tax that DOF can collect on these properties. However, DOF assesses railroad properties before the ceiling is applied. RPTL §§ 489-c(1), 489-cc(1). Therefore, the commenter's assertion that RPIE statements are not relevant to the determination of these properties' assessed valuation, is unavailing.
- Section 2 amends 19 RCNY § 33-01(b)(2)(viii) to clarify the meaning of "uninhabitable property." This term has been a subject of uncertainty. This clarification allows property owners to identify when their property is uninhabitable, and therefore not income-producing. If a property is uninhabitable, an RPIE filing is optional rather than mandatory.
- Sections 3 and 8 amend 19 RCNY §§ 33-01 and 33-06 to clarify that the word "person" in chapter 33 of title 19 of the RCNY means not only a natural person, but also some types of businesses and associations. This change is being made in order to ensure that the relevant section of the RCNY matches Administrative Code § 1-112(10), which provides a general definition of the term "person" throughout such code.
- Section 4 amends 19 RCNY § 33-02(d)(8) by clarifying the requirement that owners of REUC property, as provided in RPTL § 102(12)(c)-(f) or (i), must include in their RPIE statements properties that were removed from inventory, and the persons who acquired and disposed of these REUC properties. This amendment also requires the RPIE statements to include information sufficient to identify these properties. Sections 5 through 7 amend 19 RCNY §§ 33-02(e)(2)(v)(B) and 33-02(e)(2)(vi) and add a subparagraph (vii) to state that the failure to file a RPIE statement includes a failure to file the statement described in 19 RCNY § 33-02(d)(8). In response to a comment from a large utility company, the final rule also includes an additional amendment to clarify that the § 33-02(d)(8) statement must be filed by June of each year, consistent with existing practices. Sections 4 through 7, as described above, clarify that a failure to file an RPIE statement that includes the content required by 19 RCNY § 33-02(d)(8) — including a failure to report the acquisition, disposition, or location of REUC properties—will result in the application of penalties provided in 19 RCNY § 33-03, in accordance with Administrative Code § 11-208.1(d). The corporation providing rail-based freight transportation services expressed concern that the information solicited by this rule could deviate from federal and state filing requirements. However, these federal and state filing requirements are specific to railroads, do not preempt the DOF, and are not designed to facilitate the city's real property taxation system. DOF seeks to administer its real property system uniformly across REUC properties to the greatest extent possible. While this rule seeks to minimize impact on the regulated community, DOF's obligations are primarily to administer its real property tax system effectively.

- This corporation providing rail-based freight transportation services also expressed concern that this rule provides insufficient guidance to taxpayers regarding what information will be treated as sufficient to identify an REUC property. DOF believes that this rule provides adequate administrative flexibility to craft forms that reasonably guide taxpayers towards providing this information. Indeed, this information has already been solicited for the filings that were due on June 1, 2026; however, in order to allow taxpayers to adjust their practices, no penalties will be enforced for a failure to provide this information on such date. This final rule includes a provision stating that this rule applies only to RPIE filings made after January 1, 2027.

New material is underlined.

"Shall" and "must" denote mandatory requirements and may be used interchangeably in the rules of this department unless otherwise specified or unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.

What rules govern the rulemaking process? DOT must meet the requirements of Section 1043 of the City Charter when creating or changing rules. This notice is made according to the requirements of Section 1043(b) of the City Charter.

Statement of Basis and Purpose of Proposed Rule

The Commissioner of the New York City Department of Transportation ("DOT") is authorized to promulgate rules regarding parking and traffic operations in the City pursuant to Section 2903(a) of the New York City Charter. The rules that DOT is seeking to amend are contained within Chapter 4 of Title 34 of the Rules of the City of New York ("Traffic Rules").

Local Law 80 of 2021, among other things, amended provisions in the New York City Administrative Code ("Administrative Code") governing commercial vehicle markings to align with federal requirements in section 390.21 of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations. Pursuant to Local Law 80, section 10-127 of the Administrative Code no longer requires that the owner's address be displayed. The proposed rule would make conforming changes to implement this local law.

The proposed rule also amends the Traffic Rules to allow for-hire vehicles ("FHV's") to park in commercial parking meter areas pursuant to Local Law 24 of 2026 ("LL 24").

Additionally, the proposed rule would amend the Traffic Rules to also allow taxis to utilize commercial parking meter areas under the same regulations and policies as FHV's, pursuant to DOT's authority to regulate parking. Within the Central Business District (CBD)—where taxis predominantly operate—there are 55 taxi relief stands with 137 parking spaces for taxis and FHV's to utilize and 151 parking spaces for the exclusive use of taxis. LL 24 allows for-hire vehicles to park in 13,000 commercial metered spaces.

DOT is frequently asked to provide additional taxi relief stands. Allowing taxis to park in commercial parking meter areas to the same extent as FHV's would provide both segments of the industry with equal access to spaces at a much larger scale in locations where they are needed most. The inclusion of taxis would allow for fair and equitable access to these spaces for relief and breaks while also streamlining enforcement. Accordingly, DOT proposes to amend the Traffic Rules to allow taxis to utilize commercial parking meter areas in the same manner as FHVs.

Specifically, the proposed amendments would be as follows:

- The definition of “commercial vehicle” in section 4-01(b) would be amended to align with federal marking requirements relating to the display of the commercial vehicle operator name in Section 390.21 of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations.
- Section 4-08(k)(1) would be amended to align the existing unaltered commercial vehicle markings with the requirements set forth in the definition of “commercial vehicle.”
- Section 4-08(l)(3) would be amended to permit for-hire vehicles and taxis to park in commercial parking meter areas. This section would expire and be deemed repealed on July 16, 2028.

New material is underlined.

[Deleted material is in brackets.]

Asterisks () indicate unamended text.

Section 1. Clause (C) of subparagraph (i) of the definition of “commercial vehicle” in subdivision (b) of section 4-01 of chapter 4 of Title 34 of the Rules of the City of New York is amended to read as follows:

(C) it displays the registrant’s name [and address permanently affixed in characters at least three inches high on both sides of the vehicle, with such display being in a color contrasting with that of the vehicle and placed approximately midway vertically on doors or side panels] in accordance with Section 390.21 of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

§ 2. Paragraph 1 of subdivision (k) of section 4-08 of chapter 4 of Title 34 of the Rules of the City of New York is amended to read as follows:

(1) Parking of unaltered commercial vehicles prohibited. No person shall stand or park a vehicle with commercial plates in any location unless it [has been permanently altered with all seats and rear seat fittings, except the front seats, removed, except that for vehicles designed with a passenger cab and a cargo area separated by a partition, the seating capacity within the cab shall not be considered in determining whether the vehicle is properly altered, and has the name and address of the owner as shown on the registration certificate plainly marked on both sides of the vehicle in letters and numerals not less than three inches in height, in compliance with § 10-127 of the Administrative Code and is also in compliance with paragraph (i) of the definition of] is a commercial vehicle as [set forth] defined in 34 RCNY § 4-01.

§ 3. Paragraph 3 of subdivision (l) of section 4-08 of chapter 4 of Title 34 of the Rules of the City of New York is amended by adding a new subparagraph (iii) to read as follows:

(iii) For-hire vehicles and taxis in commercial parking meter areas. Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of this paragraph, it shall be lawful to stand a for-hire vehicle or a taxi in any space on a block where signs are posted regulating the use of the curb by commercial vehicles, provided such space is controlled by a parking meter. The maximum time for such metered parking on a single block shall be a total of three hours, unless otherwise indicated by a posted sign. The provisions of subdivision (h) of this section shall apply to for-hire vehicles and taxis parked at a parking meter pursuant to this paragraph.

§ 4. Section 3 of this rule expires and is deemed repealed on July 16, 2028.

ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN’S SERVICES

■ NOTICE

Through the upcoming RFP, the Division of Youth and Family Justice (DYFJ) will continue its Juvenile Justice Initiative’s (JJI) commitment to providing high-quality, evidenced-based interventions for youth at the highest level of need in the juvenile delinquency system - those being recommended for out-of-home placement and those exiting placement and reentering the community. The upcoming RFP seeks highly experienced service providers to provide both alternative-to-placement (ATP) and placement aftercare services to youth ages 12 to 18 (up to age 17.5 at time of referral) and their families using targeted and specific evidenced-based interventions. JJI serves youth who have been or are in the process of adjudication in New York City (NYC) juvenile courts. Intensive services allow them to remain at home while receiving support in the community, instead of being remanded to a juvenile justice setting. JJI services can be put in place for youth when leaving a juvenile justice non-secure or limited secure placement and transitioning back to the community. ACS is seeking providers with expertise in working with delinquent youth and their families and successfully implementing evidence-based program models that address issues commonly faced by youth and families who are involved in the juvenile justice system.

ACS is seeking providers who can offer their own expertise, creativity, and experience in developing and operating these types of services that achieve desired outcomes and meet both ACS' and the proposed program model's standards. Providers must have experience operating child welfare or juvenile justice preventive or diversion programs, as well as alternative-to-placement and/or aftercare services that supervise and serve court-involved youth and families in New York City. Additionally, providers should have experience implementing and providing relevant, fully licensed Multisystemic Therapy (including any adaptation) to families with youth aged 12 to 18 with maladaptive behaviors, substance abuse histories or who are facing other issues common to youth and families involved in the juvenile justice system.

All comments and feedback regarding this Concept Report are due no later than 5:00 P.M. on September 8, 2026. Comments should be emailed to JJIATP-CP@acs.nyc.gov. To respond to the upcoming RFP and all other Human/Client Services RFPs, organizations must have an account and an approved HHS Prequalification Application in PASSPort. Proposals and Prequalification Applications will ONLY be accepted through PASSPort. If you do not have a PASSPort account or an approved HHS Prequalification Application in PASSPort, please visit www.nyc.gov/passport to get started.
