Fiscal 2012 Adopted Expense Budget Adjustments Summary
New York City Council Finance Division

INTRODUCTION

Schedule C designates funding for community based not-for-profit and other public service organizations. Expenditure of any funds for each organization identified in Schedule C is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of 1) a detailed initial review process, and 2) all applicable City procurement requirements at the time of contract award. The New York City Council and the Mayor’s Office of Contract Services (MOCS) have established the following initial review for each organization:

For all organizations included in Schedule C, the City Council preliminarily reviewed the public purpose for which the funds would be used, and any potential conflicts of interest. In addition, MOCS reviewed the website of and consulted with the State Attorney General’s Office to confirm that all groups – including those receiving $10,000 or less reviewed by the Council – demonstrated compliance with charity registration requirements.

For organizations receiving $10,000 or less, the City Council also reviewed past performance, compliance with tax laws, corporate status, any reported investigations, audits, inquiries and other relevant information.

In the case of organizations requesting funding in excess of $10,000, MOCS is overseeing an additional prequalification review process. Through this process, MOCS is reviewing each organization to determine whether it meets integrity requirements, and is in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, including charities registration. MOCS is also reviewing each organization to determine whether the organization is qualified to provide the proposed services, and is reviewing and recertifying the qualifications of organizations that were approved during prior fiscal years. Further, for any organization receiving funding through a fiscal conduit, the fiscal conduit must also be approved by MOCS.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C with an asterisk, either the MOCS or the Council’s review process has not yet been completed, the State Attorney General’s Office has not yet provided the Council with final verification of the organization’s charitable filing status, or the organization is required to attend the MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training.

For those organizations identified in Schedule C without an asterisk, the Council has completed its review process and, where applicable, MOCS has preliminarily reviewed or prequalified the organization and any associated fiscal conduit, and the organization has attended the MOCS corporate governance, fiscal management and compliance training, if required to attend. Further restrictions to ensure the appropriate use of City funds will be incorporated through the City’s procurement process.

Initiative: Structural Deficit – Child Care Classroom Restoration
Agency: Administration for Children’s Services (068)
Program Area: Child Care Services
Unit of Appropriation: 004 – Other Than Personal Services
Amount: $12,024,000
Boroughs Served: Citywide
First Year Funded: 2012
Description/Scope of Services: This allocation restores funding to 72 classrooms slated for closure, as a result of the agency’s structural deficit in its child care budget. City Council funding will be supplemented by funding from the Administration in the amount of $29.2 million for an additional 125 classrooms. Combined restorations between the City Council and the Administration avert the closure of a total of 197 classrooms slated for closure as a result of the structural deficit.
Designation Method: Funding is provided directly to the agency.

Initiative: Structural Deficit – Child Care Voucher Restoration
Agency: Administration for Children’s Services (068)
Program Area: Child Care Services
Unit of Appropriation: 004 – Other Than Personal Services
Amount: $13,581,000
Boroughs Served: Citywide
First Year Funded: 2012
Description/Scope of Services: This allocation restores funding for 4,942 child care vouchers for school-age children, who would have been displaced by the proposed reduction of Priority 5 and 6 child care vouchers. City Council funding will be supplemented by funding from the Administration in the amount of $10.9 million for an additional 2,802 child care vouchers for school-age children and 1,168 family day care slots. All school-age vouchers are at a rate of $2,748 per voucher.
Designation Method: Funding is provided directly to the agency.

Initiative: Additional Child Care Classroom Restoration

CIVIL LEGAL SERVICES

Summary of Fiscal 2012 Council Initiatives: Civil Legal Services
Agency	Initiative	Funding
CJC	Citywide Civil Legal Services	$1,500,000
CJC	Unemployment/SSI Program	$1,000,000
CJC	Legal Services for the Working Poor	$1,050,000
CJC	Legal Information for Families (LIFT)	$485,000
	TOTAL	$4,035,000

Initiative: Citywide Civil Legal Services
Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC
Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services
Amount: $1,500,000
Boroughs Served: Citywide
First Fiscal Year Funded: 2001
Population Targeted: Indigent persons requiring legal assistance
Description/Scope of Services: This action provides a combined $1.5 million to the Legal Aid Society ($750,000) and Legal Services for New York City ($750,000). The appropriation is intended to serve as a replacement for lost Interest On Lawyer Accounts (IOLA) funds. It is the Council's express intent that this appropriation will be utilized to augment overall citywide civil legal services programs in the same manner that State IOLA funding does.
These services may include, but are not limited to: direct client representation, including representation in class action cases; the provision of legal advice; community legal education presentations; pro-bono/volunteer lawyer programs; and hotline and other telephone-based legal services. Legal areas in which services may be provided include, but are not limited to: consumer/finance; education; employment; family; juvenile; health; housing; income maintenance; individual rights; and miscellaneous benefits.
No prohibitions may be imposed on the types of civil legal services these entities may perform on behalf of their clients, other individuals and/or community groups. This restoration will ensure the provision of civil legal services citywide to, among others, senior citizens, battered women, disabled persons and persons with AIDS.
Designation Method: The City Council has designated the organizations and the amount each will receive under this initiative.

Organization	Amount	Tax ID#
Legal Aid Society	$750,000	13-5562265
Legal Services NYC	$750,000	13-2600199

Initiative: Unemployment/SSI Program
Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC
Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services
Amount: $1,000,000
Boroughs Served: Citywide
First Fiscal Year Funded: 2006
Population Targeted: Persons eligible for unemployment/SSI benefits
Description/Scope of Services: This action allocates a combined $1 million to Legal Services for New York City ($500,000) and the Legal Aid Society ($500,000) to expand legal advocacy through the Supplemental Security Income Advocacy Project. This funding will also support a new advocacy project of LSNY and LAS for unemployed individuals who have been wrongly denied Unemployment Insurance Benefits (UIB). This funding will support the costs of providing legal representation at hearings before Administrative Law Judges to help disabled individuals and the unemployed receive the Unemployment Insurance Benefits (UIB) and/or the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits they have been wrongly denied.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE SERVICES

Summary of Fiscal 2012 Council Initiatives: Criminal Justice Services
Agency	Initiative	Funding
CJC	Alternatives to Incarceration (ATIs)	$3,350,000
CJC	Center for Court Innovation	$400,000
CJC	Child Advocacy Centers (Safe Horizon)	$500,000
CJC	Sexual Assault Initiative	$150,000
	TOTAL	$4,400,000

Initiative: Alternatives to Incarceration (ATIs)
Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - Criminal Justice Coordinator (CJC)
Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services
Amount: $3,350,000
Boroughs Served: Citywide
First Fiscal Year Funded: 1997
Population Targeted: Defendants facing incarceration, including youth, women, and individuals with mental illness and/or substance abuse issues.
Description/Scope of Services: Alternative-to-Incarceration Programs (ATIs) permit New York judges to sanction defendants through means other than jail or prison. The use of intermediate sanctions, such as community service and substance abuse counseling, saves the City the cost of maintaining jail beds for those who otherwise would be incarcerated. In addition, ATIs provide a range of rehabilitative services for defendants and allow jail beds to be made available for more violent offenders who pose a threat to the community.
Designation Method: The City Council will designate the organizations and the amount of funding each will receive under this initiative post-Adoption.

Initiative: Center for Court Innovation (CCI)
Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC
Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services
Amount: $400,000
Boroughs Served: Citywide
First Fiscal Year Funded: 2005
Population Targeted: Community members and court-involved individuals
Description/Scope of Services: CCI operates a variety of community courts, drug courts, mental health courts, domestic violence courts, and school justice centers and youth programs throughout the City. This funding will support CCI's overall operations, as well as its Family and Youth Initiative.
Designation Method: The City Council has designated CCI as the provider for this initiative.
Tax ID#: 13-2612524

Initiative: Child Advocacy Centers (Safe Horizon)
Agency: Miscellaneous Budget - CJC
Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services
Amount: $500,000
Boroughs Served: Citywide
First Fiscal Year Funded: 2005
Population Targeted: Abused children
Description/Scope of Services: The sum of $500,000 supports a portion of the operating costs at the three existing CACs (Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island). CACs "work hand-in-hand with law enforcement and child protective services to coordinate and expedite the investigation and prosecution of cases of child sexual abuse. Working with specially trained physicians, representatives from the Administration for Children's Services,

The Centers also provide short-term counseling, information and referrals for children and families not involved in current investigations.”
Designation Method: The City Council has designated Safe Horizon as the provider for this initiative.
Tax ID#: 13-2946970

Program: Initiative to Address Sexual Assault
Agency: Criminal Justice Coordinator
Unit of Appropriation: 002 – Other Than Personal Services
Amount: $150,000
Boroughs Served: Citywide
First Fiscal Year Funded: 2005
Population Targeted: Victims of Sexual Assault
Description/Scope of Services: This action would provide $50,000 each to three different community-based organizations to provide sexual assault related services and programs. These groups are: Kingsbridge Heights Community Center (Bronx), St. Luke’s-Roosevelt Crime Victims Treatment Center (Manhattan), and Mt. Sinai Sexual Assault & Violence Intervention Program (Queens).
Designation Method: The City Council has designated the organizations and the amount each will receive under this initiative.

		Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York				Under contract with the New York City Department for the Aging, Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York (CCCS) sponsors and administers three (3) Senior Centers in Staten Island which promote healthy living and offer a safe environment for the aging of Staten Island. CCCS Case Management staff interfaces with the Senior Center Staff to bring Social Services and Emergency Food to the members. CCCS' Stapleton Senior Center, located in NYCHA Stapleton Houses, currently serves an average of 1,167 meals per month (breakfast and lunch). Members are residents of the housing development and surrounding neighborhood as well as a population of younger adults who live in the same neighborhood as the seniors. CCCS also provides a variety of educational, recreational, and socialization activities are offered at this center, including music programs that showcase our talented singers and a ceramics program with a professional mixer, kiln, and molds. Since coming to the attention of local organizations as an area of high need, our spirited director has formed collaborative relationships with many local agencies, including the co-located Jewish Community Center, City Harvest (cooking and food distribution), Catholic Charities (education), Harlem Day Care Center (our seniors need to children at the adjacent child care center), Art Lab Inc. (in-house art classes; helps qualified seniors obtain scholarships to study art), and Visiting Nurse Service (blood pressure screenings; lectures on healthy eating). Funding for this program will assist us in purchasing costly low-sodium items ($3,000) to meet strict menu guidelines for seniors with hypertension and allow us to purchase more nutritious food items (e.g., fresh produce, lean meats, dairy products, etc.) to meet the needs of seniors with diabetes. CCCS also provides a variety of other programs (electric mats, videos), ceramics program (kiln, paint, glaze, molds), and music programs (electric piano, karaoke machine, sheet music).

CCCS Case Management staff interfaces with the Senior Center Staff to bring Social Services and Emergency food to the members. CCCS Case Management staff also interfaces with the Westchester County Department of Social Services to bring food to the members. CCCS West Brighton Senior Center is located within the NYCHA West Brighton Houses. The center offers a wide array of educational, recreational, and socialization activities including grocery shopping, bowling and Atlantic City trips, scrap booking, ceramics, billiards, and card playing. This center has a unique niche in that it also welcomes and accepts those seniors who prefer to maintain their anonymity, sit quietly, and enjoy their meal. The center's staff is staffed by a mix of paid and volunteer staff. The center has been successful in being closed last year. Since then, community leaders have taken an active interest in the center and it has experienced a sustained period of revitalization and increased participation as members have gained a renewed appreciation for the program and greater willingness to participate in the multitude of amenities offered. The center is currently serving an average of 1,635 meals per month (breakfast and lunch) which is double the average number of meals served in the previous year. The agency's new member registration has surged with 42 new members joining over the last 8 months. Funding for this program will assist in purchasing costly low-sodium items ($3,000) to meet strict sodium guidelines for which DFTA does not compensate us and to purchase an additional freezer (7,000) to accommodate the larger quantity of food that must be stored to meet the needs of the drastically increased participation in meals service at this site.

Aging	Dickens	Greater Harlem Nursing Home Company, Inc.	13-2736672	$5,500	DFTA	Many residents of Greater Harlem Nursing Home and Rehabilitation Center have a diagnosis of Alzheimer or related Dementia. As these diseases progress, the residents become more disoriented, anxious, and there is a noticeable decline in intellectual capacity which is often accompanied by depression and loss of interest in life. In 2007, we introduced a music therapy/sonoscape program. The combination of the two provides active exercise with the stimulus of music which has been successful in reaching those with diminished cognitive ability. The program enables us to reinforce social, communicative, and cognitive abilities as well as physical wellness of a growing population of residents otherwise difficult to reach. Participants in the program are grouped based on their abilities and encouraged to achieve goals specific to each. The program is also a clinical research project in which we are documenting the effectiveness of the program. We have a status in order to develop effective individual care plans and to accurately and timely identify status changes requiring modifications to those plans.

This program is intended to provide a Case Management/Health Services program for seniors who are at risk of declining vision, etc. to African Elders living in the Park Hill and St. Lawrence housing projects in Harlem. The program will provide language, mobility/transportation, living alone, and cultural barriers. Each of these factors contributed to our elders sense of isolation and despondency which are not necessarily addressed by the agencies serving seniors on Staten Island. We consider this initiative crucial in that there have been occasions when elders in our Community had died unknown to anyone until the body began to decompose. On December 1, 2010 for example, we learned that an elderly woman just to find her dead in her house. This should be happening to anyone.

		One Stop Senior Services				One Stop Senior Services provides a no-cost program to over 3,500 senior citizens on the Upper West Side of Manhattan. The program provides a variety of services including: physical, emotional and financial abuse. All One Stop's services enable our seniors to live independently and safely at home in the community. Recently One Stop added a RepresentativePayee service so that seniors who can no longer manage their funds or getting to a bank have the security of knowing that bills will be paid appropriately and on time. Many of the men and women who use One Stop do not have family nearby and therefore One Stop's financial assistance prevents the trauma and tremendous expense of nursing home placement.
Aging	Dickens		13-3174492	$5,750 DFTA		One Stop is requesting discretionary funds to support the staff working at the organization, including occupancy, communication, supplies and other expenses related to operations to assure the continuation of the critically needed and free services for our clients.

The Queens Interagency Council on Aging (QICA) is a non-profit, borough-wide organization that speaks with one voice on behalf of seniors and the agencies that serve them to improve the quality of life, health and arts and cultural enrichment of older adults. With a forty year legacy as the only interagency council in Queens County, QICA's unique role is to bring together seniors, service providers and elected officials to focus on issues relevant to the aging community. We dialogue about specific necessities like accessible transportation, food and shelter, but we also discuss and advocate for wider-ranging concerns like protecting senior services, and affordable healthcare. QICA's programs directly affect 5,000 people and 100,000 indirectly through our affiliated member organizations. QICA presents nine or more major programs throughout the year. Community participation averages one hundred to one hundred and fifty people monthly and one hundred and fifty to three hundred people for conferences. Our two dual-language programs provide daily activities for people with memory loss significant enough to interfere with independent living and for people in the very early stage of memory loss. Together with supports for caregivers, our Memory Center helps prevent memory loss from leading to home placement, enabling families to stay together, in the community, where they want to be. The Memory Center provides therapeutic activities - music, art, writing, movement therapy, exercise - in a safe, nurturing environment; specialized memory enhancement techniques; support groups for caregivers in both Spanish and English; casework services for families to help them with benefits and provide emotional support; and educational forums regarding the latest research on Parkinson's and Alzheimer's disease. The center also provides physical and mental health because they are closely linked with mood and behavior. Stimulating, therapeutic activities. At the same time, families learn better ways of handling difficult behavior - repetitive questioning, angry outbursts, wandering - which helps relieve their stress so they are able to keep their loved one at home longer. Most caregiving is done by families so caregiver support is an extremely important function of our program. Revestone has always relied on public support in order to accept people into its memory programs for a much lower fee than the actual cost of $5/day. Without support from our elected officials, this policy and our ability to meet the growing needs in our community, will be put at risk. Demographic trends show that people over the age of 85 are the fastest growing segment of our population and the incidence of memory loss increases with age. 		Selfhelp Community Services, Inc.				Selfhelp Case Management Programs tailor services to specific needs for seniors, improving their quality of life and enabling them to live independently in their own homes. Our Selfhelp Project Pilot attends to the needs of seniors over 60 living in Manhattan Community Districts 4 and 7. Among the services offered are: Screening for all entitlements and benefits such as Food Stamps, Medicaid and Senior Citizen Rent Increase Exemption (SCRIE) Application Assistance Agency. This year we are asking for a grant to help us to do Heavy Duty Cleaning for clients ($5,000) As our senior clients become frailer, household chores become tremendously challenging and difficult to perform. For example, cleaning ovens, washing floors, dusting and cleaning closets can be very strenuous for the elderly. The health implications are significant, as seniors are more susceptible to falls and other injuries when they are cleaning their own homes. By providing heavy duty cleaning services, we seek to alleviate these difficulties and challenges, and make sure that our older clients have access to services that keep their homes, clean, uncluttered and safe.

Social work is the linchpin of Selfhelp's NORC model. The social worker assesses seniors' physical, social, and mental health needs, and manages their referral to both on-site and off-site services, including: home care, meals-on-wheels, housekeeping, health care, education, recreation, transportation, volunteer opportunities, health promotion activities, entertainment programs, and other special programs. These services are designed to provide seniors with help that will allow them to live independently in their own homes and continue to participate in community activities. The Northridge/Bulwme/Southridge social worker is well-known to NORC clients. Over time, she has developed strong relationships with them, which enhance her ability to manage their care. We request funding to maintain her time on campus at 5 days a week, as we did last year. The extra funding will enable her to provide daily home visits, daily falls prevention assessments, and daily information and referral services. The moments immediately following a fall or medical emergency are crucial, and if the victim is unable to get to a telephone, the consequences can be serious. Thus, for seniors who live alone, the ability to call for help in an emergency is essential to their safety. A Personal Emergency Response System is an electronic device designed to allow elderly and disabled people to more easily summon help in an emergency. Currently, the cost of this device is $1,000. The renewal of funding to Northridge/Bulwme/Southridge NORC will allow us to subsidize PERs services for more than 35 seniors. Due to the addition of new buildings to the NORC Program, this is very much needed.

Two-thirds of our clients are low income or poor, with annual incomes of 20,000 or less. Because SAGE offers most of our programs and services for free, we incur significant overhead in delivering these services. We are particularly grateful for the support of our elected officials and the support of private sources such as foundation grants.
						SAGE is the nation's oldest and largest non-profit organization providing direct services and advocacy for lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender older adults. Since 1978, SAGE has been working to improve the quality of life for GLBT older people in New York City. Likewise, our education and advocacy programs have raised visibility and awareness of GLBT aging concerns among mainstream providers, thus making key services more accessible for an underserved population that has endured a lifetime of discrimination.
						SAGE offers the most comprehensive slate of direct services for GLBT older adults in New York City, and our constituents in every district in the city.

We get the youth a sense of community by having them work together to help the community. We have a youth squad that has grown to become a NYS certified First Responders. When the youth squad member becomes sixteen (16) years old, we offer them the opportunity to observe on the ambulance. Past youth squad members have gone on to join the senior Corps, and have become Police Officers, doctors, and nurses.
Boro							Funds are requested to underwrite the cost of one of the largest public events held in Queens - the Annual Queens County Agricultural Fair, held on September 17 and 18, 2011. The fair is a multi-faceted event that includes a parade, live music, food, and produce judging, music, entertainment, agricultural exhibits, and historical demonstrations. Organizations such as local historical societies, local artisanal food producers, nutritionists, and other Queens non-profits also take booths at the event to share their knowledge and benefit the region. Attendance is upwards of 20,000 over the two day event and the fair is a major draw for the community and the surrounding area. The event draws people from around the City but also from bordering counties and states, thus drawing money into the City from outside the City. Events such as this are more critical than ever because it provides an inexpensive recreational or educational activity for the community and provides an opportunity for the youth to learn about the history of the area and the importance of agriculture in our region. The fair is a great way to promote the importance of agriculture in our region and the importance of the farming methods and stressing the importance of improving nutritional practices. For many, coming to this event is their first visit to a working farm; it is a meaningful experience which inspires them to return for future visits on a family or school outing for field trips.

Boro		Foster	Saudi Yusu Center for African Women	20-1220795	$5,000	DNCD-Y	Saudi Yusu is requesting $5000 to augment our existing services for African immigrant parents and families. Saudi Yusu is a community-based nonprofit organization dedicated to mobilizing African immigrant women to improve the quality of their lives, strengthen their families, and improve their economic status. We provide a variety of services including but not limited to: provides crisis intervention, home visits, parenting classes and other direct social services in several African languages to hundreds of African immigrant women and children surviving domestic and family violence. This July, we will begin providing services to an additional 60 families in the South Bronx, where a third of the City African immigrants live. Our work is the most important as head start programs lose their funding. Many of the parents in our community immigrated to the U.S. seeking a better future for their children and a better life for themselves. We have provided them with many opportunities and had successful lives. In our focus groups with parents, we found that many are challenged with actively engaging in their child's education: they work 2 jobs, speak little or no English, do not understand their child's homework or how the school system works. They find that it is harder to find a language they can't read, do not have the time to go to school, and do not have the money to pay for their child's first child care, to meetings with teachers. Saudi Yusu has been working with parents individually to help them navigate and become involved in the school system, and to engage more proactively in their child's education through parent-teacher conferences and school events. We have also provided WHEDCO and La Proméda and reached parents through Bronx International High School and New Settlement Housing.

				*		BM's Vocational Services Program for Brain Injury Survivors, with a special awareness of the needs of brain injury survivors in NYC's Orthodox Jewish population, helps individuals with brain injury join the workforce. The vocational process consists of an initial intake, a vocational assessment, individual coaching in resume writing, interviewing skills and job search strategies. On-the-job coaching and extended follow-up is provided as well to ensure successful employment outcomes. BM's staff is specially trained to assist brain injury survivors whose cultural needs often prevent them from taking advantage of state VA services, placing additional burdens on family and city welfare.
				*		NYC's largest provider of vocational training, M.S. Job was a member of the vocational team at New York University's Bush Institute. She left Bush 28 years ago to join the BIMA team. She is supervised at her position in BIMA by Beth Laster M.A.S., Senior Vocational Evaluator at the Bush Institute, who has worked with BIMA to match several Jewish clients from the Bush Institute with job sites in Brooklyn's Orthodox Jewish neighborhood.
						Orthodox Jewish brain injury survivors and their families must grapple with cultural issues and sensitivities as they struggle through the rehab process. As a result, too many families dealing with brain injury are "falling through the cracks", which results in loss of income, loss of insurance coverage and other financial hardships. In addition, there have been over 1,000 individuals and their families, through the complex road of brain injury rehabilitation.
						BIMA's unique services have been lauded by leading specialists in the field of brain injury, some of whom serve on BIMA's medical advisory board. With the support afforded by this grant, BIMA will continue to expand its services to help more brain injured survivors can be productive members of their families and ultimately, of NYC's workforce.

							Project (NFP) addresses the needs of small businesses by providing retail trips with comprehensive technical assistance and direct support services. NFP leverages existing Chamber programs such as the Business Solutions Center to expand the depth of the assistance provided to small businesses. NFP also provides technical assistance to neighborhood-based job creation and economic development. NFP is a proactive initiative that takes the Chamber's services into the community and directly to the businesses that need them. The Chamber is currently providing support to Lewis Avenue in Bedford-Stuyvesant and Kingston Avenue in Crown Heights.
							REAL ESTATE AND DEVELOPMENT The Brooklyn Chamber supports the borough's real estate and related sectors by providing resources to help ensure business stability and growth including: RED Hires (industry professionals and business owners) to help businesses find and hire qualified staff; overall economic development and vibrancy; and RED seminars which highlight "green" industry components. Also included in this year's extension of Real Estate services will be assistance under the NFP to help merchant groups and district management groups attract retail development.
							BROOKLYN GOES GLOBAL/IMPORT EXPORT Brooklyn Goes Global supports the emerging need of Brooklyn's food manufacturers to take their products to market. With Council support, this program will help dozens of food manufacturers and food processors to export their products. 							Thanks to generous funding from Councilman Dominic Recchia, the Brooklyn Philharmonic currently serves the entire Borough with substantial music education and community outreach programs. The Brooklyn Philharmonic is pleased to announce that it will be able to establish a permanent, community-based music and arts residence. We respectfully request Councilman Recchia continue its partnership with us by contributing 10,000 toward the Philharmonic's education and community programs in FY22.
							In November 2021, Junctions will launch in Brighton Beach with a full Brooklyn Phil performance at the Millennium Theatre, with a full orchestral performance of scores accompanying historical and contemporary Russian cartoons.
							The Philharmonic seeks the Councilman's support for education and community programs that will complement Junctions, including Family Works and a re-branded and re-focused Music Off the Stakes. In Brighton Beach, Family Works will focus on cartoon and music creation, while the Brighton Beach Music Off the Stakes concert will feature writers well-known to the Russian community.
							In addition to new Junctions programs, we seek Councilman Recchia's renewed support of the Philharmonic's music and arts education programs serving the 47th district. Currently, we are able to present concerts to more than 100 residents at the O'Hara Community Center, and we are able to present a variety of programs to the 47th District. Concerts to several schools in the 47th. We invite the Councilman to support further 47th district partnerships with schools, community groups, and organizations who are in need.

Youth are encouraged to develop leadership skills and learn the values of teamwork and fair play as they compete in games and contests. Our youth programs provide adult supervision for all of our activities and adhere to strict rules on participant behavior to ensure the safety, security, and well-being of all. Our program provides a safe place for students during after-school hours. Our program also provides a safe place for students to receive tutoring, homework help, board games and team recreational sports played in our gymnasium. We have expanded our program to be open to students from ages 13-18! Because our program has been so successful, we are expanding the curriculum from one day per week to two days per week. With the additional support and financial assistance of our fundations, our program offers youth the opportunity to improve their reading and math skills through tutoring, GED and SAT assistance, Regents prep, and computer instruction. Participants also have the opportunity to learn from successful role models who share their own experiences and encourage them to achieve their dreams. Therefore have a direct understanding of the concerns facing youth in Harlem. Our mentors provide constructive feedback, ongoing encouragement and supportive guidance to our young participants in pursuing their educational and career goals. Cultural Appreciation: Participants will be able to attend a Broadway Day visit with African American actors and actresses, and participate in a tour to deepen their appreciation of their heritage and expand their cultural awareness. WHEFF has served the Washington Heights and Inwood area since 1982, providing residents with some relief in their food expenses and enhancing their ability to practice healthy eating habits in response to the widespread diet-related health problems in the neighborhood. WHEFF's mission is to educate and empower the community to eat healthy and live better. During the growing season, the program purchases vegetables directly from an Orange County farm, adding freshly-harvested items such as beans, carrots, potatoes, onions, tomatoes, and greens to each bag. In addition, CCOS' integrated network of social service providers can refer clients to other resources available in the community who provides referrals to a wide range of CCOS services such as immigration, prevention, and job readiness to address key factors that affect food security. In addition, representatives from the agency's Immigration Legal Services Department meet with community residents twice monthly.
Local	Jackson	Catholic Charities Community Services	Catholic Charities Community Services, Archdiocese of New York New York	13-5562189	$5,000	NYCD-CY	CCOS' WHEFF is operating at maximum capacity, serving 42,000 individuals (304,138 meals) weekly in Washington Heights and Inwood. As a result of COVID-19 in New York City, there are relatively few food pantries in this densely populated area, which accounts for the high number of users at the WHEFF. In the face of impending NYS budget reductions, funding through your office will help CCOS maintain full and nutritious pantry bags for thousands residing in Washington Heights and Inwood. CCOS is now in parity in terms of food supply with other agencies in the area, specifically addressing the need for space which would make it possible to establish a client-choice pantry, now recognized as the most dignified and cost-effective way to connect clients to emergency food that meets their dietary needs.

Local	Gonire	Chashama, Inc.		13-3862427	$3,500 DCA		This request is to support our City Council District 27 program that carry out our mission to provide local artists and youth with free and affordable space to create. Since 1956, we've temporarily transformed over 50 vacant spaces into presentation venues and artist studios, and are currently operating our Artist Studio and Gallery program at a 500 sq ft venue at 142-10 Archer Avenue Queens, NY 11360, which was donated to us by the former owner. We have also been successful in securing additional space for our artist studio workshop and gallery awards, publicity, technical help, space for their installation, and organizational support. Any artist residing in NYC may apply and neighborhood artists get priority. The selection process is based on need and artistic merit. A panel of cultural professionals and members of the community determines the final choice of awards, and the winning artists are given the opportunity to exhibit their work in a space that is appropriate to each space. Since July 2010, Chashama has held 10 free events in District 27. Our services and activities foster cohesive communities through outreach and interaction with area youth, schools, local community boards, small businesses, property owners, and other organizations. We also offer professional training and exposure to a large number of emerging artists from all five boroughs and encourage them to explore their own neighborhoods, from high volume traffic and commercial districts to under-served and culturally underserved neighborhoods, and the majority of them are free open to all, each chashama venue brings with it unique iterations of "community." A generous 10,000 grant will help offset the costs of maintaining these spaces, and allow us to grow our programs and reach more artists and audiences. We are currently working on several projects that do not currently have the operating budget to take onto our roster. This funding would allow us the capacity to transform these venues and infuse them with artists in the future. 							CHANGER, Inc. exists to assist minority group homeowners to maintain stable homeownership in communities of color, advocate for minority-group homeowner rights, and to build wealth and assets. CHANGER, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. CHANGER, Inc.'s Outreach Program for Education and Empowerment, is CHANGER, Inc.'s foreclosure prevention direct service program. COPE was created to address the foreclosure epidemic impacting communities of color in New York City. COPE provides foreclosure prevention services to homeowners at risk of losing their homes to foreclosure. CHANGER, Inc. also provides legal services. COPE's outreach efforts focus upon reaching out to the most vulnerable and at-risk homeowners. CHANGER's extensive community relationships with elected officials, churches and church associations, local community institutions, non-profit organizations, and housing agencies, and the education and outreach efforts of CHANGER, Inc. have helped to create a group orientation where the education for both retention of and transition out of homeownership begins. In these orientations, homeowners also begin to share their experiences with other similarly situated struggling homeowners. CHANGER, Inc. also provides foreclosure prevention services. After orientation homeowners are directed to the appropriate follow up services. This includes: 1) working one on one with a mortgage/financial counselor to cure mortgage defaults, obtain loan modifications, obtain grants and loans to settle 2nd lien mortgages; 2) working one on one with a foreclosure defense attorney for full legal representation; 3) working one on one with a foreclosure prevention counselor to obtain counseling and continuing crisis education on loss mitigation topics (the foreclosure timeline, loan modifications, settlement conferences, short-sales, deed in lieu, and alternatives to debt management counseling.

	Jackson	Children's Art Carnival, Inc., The		13-7273153	$5,000 OCA	The Children's Art Carnival (The CAC) requests a grant in the amount of $10,000 for its after school and Saturday programs, which provides creative arts instruction through workshops in multi-media art, sculpture and media arts for 70 at-risk and under served youth ages 4-23 at the CAC facility. The Program affords a comprehensive educational experience by providing students with hands-on learning experiences and encouraging active-curricular activity. Using both traditional and innovative art materials and technology, students expand their artistic skills and vocabulary helping them to gain creative thinking and decision making skills, self-awareness and tolerance. Participants are required to attend workshops on scheduled days; demonstrate strong interest in the program; have no criminal record or outstanding warrants; and be able to communicate with them to improve their quality of life. Teaching artists create lesson plans, teach and supervise arts activities, planning specific projects with Program Manager's mentorship and evaluation, and oversight and recording by the Executive Director. Instructors submit reports on student progress and attendance. All program activities are monitored by Program Directors and the program is evaluated throughout the year with a series of evaluation forms, interviews with participants and observations. Following the close of each cycle, Teachers, Directors and students over the age of 8 years submit program evaluations helping us to improve our professional development/retraining efforts. The program has been successful in increasing the self-esteem of many children. Bayron Taylor, Funding by Council Members: Joe DiStefano and Robert Jackson has contributed to current program growth and development.

Local	Eugene		Church Avenue District Management Association	11-285403B	$5,000 DTCD-CO	We are requesting continued support of the Church Avenue BID's supplemental sanitation services from the City of Cambridge. The magnitude of this problem (which in Jan. 2011 averaged only 60 "acceptably clean" according to the City's Monthly Scorecard for the Church Ave. area) becomes quickly apparent upon a short walk down the BID. Our find workers sweep litter, bag trash and remove it from the streets. They also pick up cigarette butts, broken glass, beer cans, furniture, and clear debris from tree pits and cracks in sidewalks. In Dec. 2010 alone, they bagged over 30,000 pounds of trash. During heavy snow, they clear snow from sidewalks and flooded catch basins and break up and clear ice that creates dangerous situations in multiple locations.

Local	Eugene		Church Avenue Merchants Block Association (CAMBA)	11-248033B	$6,000 OOHMH	The Adult Literacy program provides English language and civics education to immigrant adults, parents and older youth. The purpose of this program is to improve the reading, writing, and spoken English skills of these individuals so that they can (1) participate more fully in their communities; (2) obtain employment opportunities; and (3) receive advanced education, better legal status and jobs. At the completion of their training, participants will be more able to read materials and express their opinions in English in various family, employment and educational contexts. They will be better able to understand and follow directions and instructions. Participants will be able to communicate better with other adults. In each class the instructor uses a curriculum that is based on the New York State learning tail for parents and students' shared goals. The program is supervised by the Supervisor of Adult Literacy Services, each of whom have over 10 years experience in adult literacy instruction and ESL, and P/T experienced ESOL instructors who will teach classes. In FY11, CAMBA received $5000, which supported CAMBA's Adult Literacy Center operations. The center has been open since August 2009 and has had approximately 100 students in the evening, for each of four cycles each year--summer, fall, winter and spring. The funds supported the position of an evening receptionist and provided program supplies. The evening receptionist operates the front desk, greets students, takes walk-in inquiries, registers new students and asks questions regarding class schedules and makes phone calls to schedule potential students for testing.

Local	CC		Church of the Holy Apostles	13-2892797	$15,000 DBS		CURPH program "North Brooklyn 311" (NB 311) is a referral service that directs residents to services and resources available in their neighborhoods. The program connects residents to their community by identifying available resources that they may not know about and by then providing direct access to these local assets. Due to an influx in the number of residents seeking affordable housing and other services that will improve living conditions, we are currently accepting referrals from all five boroughs. NB 311 offers them guidance, information and support in their search for better living conditions. We identify local groups and agencies that provide services such as job training, affordable housing information and guidance, legal advice, and adult education. Whatever their need, CURPH will properly listen to their concerns and point them in the right direction. We also offer support to those who are struggling with homelessness. A few efficiently these outlets aid north Brooklyn residents. We feel it is our responsibility to extensively follow-up with each resident in order to ensure that they are being helped and are taken care of. We will meet with each resident on a weekly basis until they finally find what they need or what they are looking for. This program plans to continue to grow and reach more residents in need. Local	Cabrera		City Harvest, Inc.	13-3379676	$5,500 DTFC-CD		To encourage and sustain volunteer-led initiatives around beautification, recycling and access to fresh food in New York City neighborhoods. Through the New Yorkers for Better Neighborhoods program, selected groups receive grants of 500-3,000, project planning assistance, and skills building workshops to make their projects a success. Examples of project Citizen Committee for New York City has supported include planting trees; transforming vacant lots into community gardens; launching recycling initiatives; conducting community outreach on the environmental impacts of eating locally; building green roofs; and inter-generational health and gardening workshops. Citizen Committee for New York City measures success by tracking quantifiable data such as the number of volunteer hours invested, number of trees planted, vacant lots transformed, tree grants built, pounds of waste recycled, and pounds of produce grown. We also monitor the number of community gardens launched, number of participants in participating groups' neighborhoods, by counting the number of participants and volunteer hours invested in projects through questionnaires, surveys, and site visits.
Local		Vivian Van Bramer, Arroyo, Williams, Senders, Conner, Parris, Koshwitz	City Harvest, Inc.	13-3379676	$50,000 DTFC-CD		Funds will support core food rescue and distribution work, and additional projects such as direct produce distribution and nutrition education, to address the disproportionate rates of diet-related disease and obesity found in New York's low income neighborhoods. Through this programming, we are committed to increasing access to and creating healthy food by strengthening our communities' knowledge of and engagement in healthy behaviors.

Local	Wells	City Harvest, Inc.		13-3379676	$5,000	DPIC-CD	In Fiscal Year 2012, City Harvest will rescue 30 million pounds of food, at least 60 percent of which will be produce, and deliver it, free of charge, to some 600 soup kitchens and food pantries in New York City. In addition to our core food rescue and distribution work, we focus additional resources, such as direct produce distribution and nutrition education, on the city's most vulnerable populations, including the homeless, the elderly, and the city's low income neighborhoods. Through this programming, we are committed to increasing access to and creating demand for healthy food by strengthening our communities' knowledge of healthy behaviors. We know that now, more than ever, City Harvest must continue to ensure that all of our food recipients are carrying out strategies to improve their health and well-being. We will continue to work closely with the City of New York's health and human services departments to ensure that the food we rescue is distributed to the community food programs that need it most. 					*		Bayside Cemetery, a historic Jewish cemetery located in Ozone Park and owned by Congregation Shaare Zedek. [until 18 months ago, substantially all of Bayside Cemetery was in a state of unbridled overgrowth, which included invasive vegetation that consumed most of the cemetery's greenery. Through the work of a professional landscaping company, along with active volunteer support, Bayside Cemetery underwent a significant clean-up. As part of the clean-up efforts, the following actions have been taken: •Removal of all invasive vegetation through chopping and cutting, including mass-spraying of invasive vegetation (e.g., ivy, bamboo), to prevent re-growth. •Cut vegetation was "chipped" and later spread as mulch to create walkways within the cemetery sections of the cemetery. The clean-up has restored visitor access to the majority of the cemetery.
Local	Uriah		Community Association for Jewish At-Risk Cemeteries	$6-2649778	$10,000 UNDC-CO		Thanks to generous financial support from UJA-Federation of New York, CAAJC was able to fund a large portion of phase 1 landscaping clean-up of the restoration. Additional funding was provided by the community. The project was completed in November, 2019. Funding is needed to remove and repair the scores of neglected headstones. Finally, funding is needed to repair the cemetery perimeter security fence. In order to deter criminal trespass and most importantly, protect the dignity and sanctity of the deceased. CAAJC has also cultivated a strategic partnership with the NYPD Division of Law Enforcement in addition to the increased awareness and sensitivity towards the cemetery; the NYPD has offered several recommendations to enhance the cemetery's security. In addition to making necessary repairs to the security fence, the NYPD has recommended the installation of security lighting and cameras. Each of the aforementioned will drastically increase the safety of the cemetery.
				*			ADCP's Respite Recreational Program was developed in 1980 in conjunction with a group of parents with children with developmental and cognitive disabilities ("Parents para Parents") to provide family caregivers a 9 hr respite from their daily duties of care for their disabled family member for over 25 years ADCP has been providing services to approximately 100 families with children ages 2-18 years old. The program participants engage in arts and crafts, sports oriented games (basketball, track and field) as well as cultural and recreational activities in the form of field trips throughout NYC (Museums, zoos, parks, movies, circus, etc.) while providing the primary caregiver with a period of relief from the stress of caring for a disabled family member. The program has been successful in providing respite care for many years and is given through the office of mental recreation and developmental disabilities. However, ADCP has been asked to convert/supplement these services through medical. A number of program participants do not receive Medicaid so we are requesting funding of $10,000 per month to cover the monthly cost of transportation currently budgeted at $25,000 per year or $1,500 per individual.

							This application is for funding to study the feasibility of increasing waterpark access to Brooklyn Bridge Park. The analysis will focus on Fulton Ferry landing, adjacent to the Dumbo neighborhood of Brooklyn but will also consider Pier 6 as an alternative.
							Exploring ways to enhance the infrastructure at either Fulton Ferry landing or Pier 5k will allow people to access the Brooklyn Bridge Park more easily and will add greater utility to the water ferry service. Currently, the infrastructure at Fulton Ferry landing only allows for loading of low loading boats, which generally have a capacity of less than 150 people. This project would increase the number of boats allowed to dock and would improve access from having access to the landing and this section of Brooklyn Bridge Park, which is poised to become one of the City's premiere waterfront destinations.

Local	Van Tranter	Ensay, Inc.		31-1660791	$3,500 (INCD-Y)		Two programs that are interconnected. Cross-Cultural Dialogue Through the Arts (CCDTA) and Transforming Trauma into Art Bring students from the United States and the United Kingdom together to learn about each other's cultures and traditions. We bring an understanding of obstacles to communities that are poor, displaced or have little access to professional arts training. We also train actors, dancers, and musicians to teach in the program in partnership with the International High School at Lacombe Community College with in-kind support from the local funding arts center. We serve youth and families who live in the entire borough of Queens. The program is designed for teenagers who recently migrated to the United States, bringing an understanding of obstacles to communities that are poor, displaced, or disadvantaged. We serve approximately 100 students and their families through our professional arts training. The first inheritance you can give to a child is to allow it to make its own way, completely on its own feet. Isadora Duncan. This project maintains our commitment to Isadora and we are proud that we are born out of a particular community that is a global success. Professional artists and students work together to develop and storytelling that shapes the experience of the participants, giving them the tools to make connections between cultures by shedding light on the complexity and humanity of each individual and deepening our understanding of a global community. We are proud to be a part of a community that is a global success. We are proud to be a part of a community that is a global success. We are proud to be a part of a community that is a global success. Our pedagogy is based on a basic premise: placing a student alongside a more experienced player inevitably enhancing the student's ability. Students live performances until high school students with professional performers on the same stage.

Local	Vallone	Bart River Development Alliance, Inc.	Bart River Development Alliance, Inc.	86-1096987	$6,500 UNCCY	EDCA	The ERDA College Access Program provides in-depth SAT, college preparation, and college retention services – including one-on-one counseling about the FAFSA and financial aid for higher education, college application assistance, and college placement assistance to their parents. ERDA will continue to facilitate weekly classes with high school juniors and seniors, which involves large and small group discussion, computer work, educational activities, and one-on-one college application assistance outside of school hours. ERDA also provides college application assistance to students who have been academically challenged, and college applications and financial aid assistance (also outside of school hours). During the summer, rising seniors participate in leadership development and academic programming focused on completing college applications, while ERDA staff provide support to students who are currently attending college. ERDA also provides support to students in the program are low income and many students in this program become the first in their families to attend college. Currently fewer than 1 in 10 public housing residents in Western Queens have a college degree and the majority of minority boys do not graduate from high school or attend college. Our graduates go on to earn more money and live longer lives than those who did not. Through ERDA's College Access Program, ERDA is changing the culture of public housing neighborhoods so college becomes a viable option and, eventually, an expectation. ERDA's College Access Program is a key component of ERDA's comprehensive, integrated model of services and resources they need to achieve self-sufficiency and economic security.

							A discretionary grant to FCA would support Emergency Grants to Visual and performing artists living in CDS3. For 18 years, Emergency Grants has offered immediate needs assistance to emerging artists who have urgent situations or unexpected opportunities related to art. The program is designed so it is able to provide quick, grassroots responses to artists' needs. The program also provides grants to artists who are currently working on projects that require funding. The program operates year-round and awards are made on a monthly basis, thus Emergency Grants are essential when last-minute financial support is necessary.
				*			In 2010, FCA awarded a total of 79,469 to 33 NYC artists out of a total $50,000 in national program disbursements. Emergency Grants funding for CDS3 artists has been substantive within the context of the program for the past four years, and demand from your constituents continues to grow. In 2011, FCA awarded seven Emergency Grants totaling $10,000 to CDS3 artists. This year we intend to continue awarding Emergency Grants to CDS3-based artists continue to receive a disproportionately large share of Emergency Grants: last year, 15% of the NYC-based applicants and 21 of the NYC grantees hailed from CDS3. Applications from your district are plentiful relative to other districts; FCA received more than twice as many applications from CDS3 as from all other districts. In 2010 we yet due to limited funds, FCA must decline support to many worthy applicants.

							Funds to the NY Transit Museum will support two types of education programs serving NYC youth: guided school programs for students and free weekend workshops for visiting families. Both programs are free with Museum admission (4/child). Needy groups that cannot afford even this price are encouraged to apply to the Transit Museum fee waiver program. One for All, in which corporate supporters underwrite a group visit.
							Museum admission covers only a small portion of the costs associated with these guided education programs, all of which have an interactive or hands-on component. The costs include salary and training for 11 part-time Museum educators (including 2 special needs educators), materials, and other expenses. The program is open to all NYC students, with fees for visiting artists and guest performers, costumes and props for performers.
							During the school year a growing and loyal base of teachers from across NYC repeatedly request the Museum to provide field trips to the Museum. Each summer the Museum develops a fun tour and activity for NYC camps, with group bookings regularly at capacity. On weekends these educational programs are adapted and augmented to serve families who regularly return.
							Thanks in part to FY11 NYCC discretionary funds, the Transit Museum launched a new youth education program of costumed story-telling in vintage cars, where actors dressed in garb of the decade bring to life the history of NYC mass transit. This new program serves 2nd grade school groups, summer camp groups and weekend family visitors. New costumed characters will be added to the program in FY12 and the program will be available in fall 2011 about how electricity powers NYC's subways. New school programs that teach this science to 4th and 8th graders, for whom it is part of NY5 standards, will also be supported by discretionary funds.

Local	Palma		Ghetto Film School, Inc.	13-417270	$10,000	OCA	Ghetto Film School seeks a discretionary grant of $5,000 from Councilmember Amabile for the purchase of two new transmitters for its fleet of two-way radios. The Ghetto Film School (GFS) is the nation's first film high school, founded in 2009 in partnership between the Ghetto Film School and the NYC Department of Education. GFS is a select-administration public school, which delivers rigorous academics and professional-grade instruction in filmmaking. The Grant will be used to partially fund the costs of daytime cleaning services. The need for this service became more apparent than ever when we were faced with perils of the swine flu epidemic. The matrons clean bathroom (some of our students are not toilet trained) several times a day, wipe well used tables, desks and other furnishings, and mop the floors. Most importantly, it is a waste of time to even up after accidents happen frequently, sometimes leading to injury to the children and staff.
Local	Lapin		Glen Brewer School, Inc. The	13-374686	$10,000	DNY-CY	The Glen Volunteer Ambulance Corps will utilize funds from this award toward the purchase of Two-Way radio communications equipment. By 2013, all equipment owned or operated by the ambulance corps will be replaced with newer models. The buying of radio equipment will allow the ambulance corps to have a more efficient system of radio transmissions. The radio transmissions will be essential for our dispatch operations. As such, we need to replace this transmitter and our ambulance mobile devices that fall into this category as well. The transmitter will cost 20,000 to replace and our ambulances will also need to be replaced. We are currently looking for grants to help offset some of these items to remain compliant with our FCC operating license. It is also of importance to note that our radio system is also used as a redundant back up for the seven other Volunteer EMS agencies that operate in the communities of East Queens (Jamaica Estates, Bayside, Little Neck, Douglaston, Bay Community, Whitestone, Flushing and College Point). Although we are able to maintain our day to day operations with self-generated funding, we are not capable of absorbing this larger expense. Local						Our most significant strategic goal for transforming the Canal to a healthy ecosystem is creating a vibrant, walkable, and bikeable neighborhood. The document depicts a regional open space network for public access and recreation, which will also capture and divert much of the basin's stormwater runoff, reducing the volume and frequency of Combined Sewer Overflows (CSOs) into the Gowanus Canal. The scope of the proposal is limited to a conceptual framework and does not include a detailed engineering design. The project will be implemented in three phases: 1) a clean Canal and continuous public esplanade along its banks. The next step is to take this conceptual vision and develop a strategic masterplan that identifies the best opportunities and methods for achieving the end goals. We will enlist the services of a professional planning firm to develop a strategic masterplan that identifies the best phase capital investments for the most effective green infrastructure projects. 2) Identify new methods for achieving a cohesive waterfront esplanade and 3) propose policy initiatives and structural incentives which will help steer investments in public space and private property. With a vision for the final product in hand, we are ready to identify the professional services of planners and engineers to develop a strategic masterplan and the establishment of a healthy Canal in 40 years. The funds requested for this project will be utilized for the professional services of planners and engineers to produce a strategic masterplan under the Conservancy's leadership. Once complete, the Conservancy will implement the strategic policy actions to implement the masterplan through public capital programs, private investment, and education. The donor will inform capital programs, City investment proposals and private opportunities for action.

Local	CC	Bonnie Jander, Taylor Reynolds, Leah	Greenpoint Manufacturing and Design Center Local Development Corporation	11-2113742	$1,000,000	OBS	GMCDC plans to redevelop food processing facility in Brooklyn. GMCDC is prepared to fit out 1059 Atlantic Avenue for local traditional food companies and the latest generation of specialty food makers, those starting new businesses bringing new jobs, revenue, and vitality to Brooklyn. This project will address NYC's growing emphasis on locally produced food and food security, as well as the City's commitment to economic development and to preserve industry, a sector that has seen significant job loss in the past 40 years.
Local							GMCDC is the City's premier incubator, developer of industrial properties, by purchasing and renovating dilapidated industrial buildings. GMCDC has helped preserve and create hundreds of jobs for new-income New Yorkers and has provided a strong anchor for future development in the area. The project will be used to help deliver the pre-development costs of our next project, the 1059 Atlantic Avenue Food Center. GMCDC plans to redevelop food processing facility in Brooklyn. This project will be based on the organizations last successful food processing building, 131 Harrison Place. GMCDC is prepared to fit out 1059 Atlantic Avenue for both traditional food companies and the latest generation of specialty food makers, those starting new businesses bringing new jobs, revenue, and vitality to Brooklyn. This project will address NYC's growing emphasis on locally produced food as well as GMCDC's mission of continuing to provide blue collar employment to new Yorkers and to preserve industry, a sector that has been significant contributor to the city's economy.
Local	Leah	Greenpoint Manufacturing and Design Center Local Development Corporation	Greenpoint Manufacturing and Design Center Local Development Corporation	11-2113740	$4,000,000	OBS	Greenpoint Manufacturing Program distributes bags of groceries every Thursday. It is the primary emergency food provider in the 11222 code. Along with food, we also provide related services such as food stamp outreach, tenant advocacy and financial counseling. We have received numerous commendations from the Mayor, Council, and various referral services, especially regarding substance abuse and mental health services and job training. We have seen a rapid increase in the number of people utilizing our services. In Dec. 2008, we served 1080 people, and in Dec. 2010 that number had climbed to 6313. We are asking for operational funding for this program. Part of the funding requested will pay the salary of our Executive Director and one staff director. The remainder will pay for space rental, utilities and a part-time pantry assistant.
Local	Leah	Greenpoint Reformed Church	Greenpoint Reformed Church	11-2113016	$5,000	CHCD	At this point, we cannot keep up with the demand for emergency food. In order to continue to serve the community, we need additional funds. We are requesting $5,000 per week for the entire year. Receiving this funding will allow us to open additional hours and days, so that we can serve more people. It will also allow us to give a few extra meals to the people we do serve. We have already made it a little better for some people in need.

							Support is requested for our arts education programs that reach 10,000 New York City youth annually. These programs, the International Series, Harlem Stage in the Schools, and the Family Series, are designed to provide arts education to underserved youth, increase cultural diversity, cultivate young people to be future audiences, and engage families in the learning experience. Harlem Stage Education Programs engage young people who do not have adequate opportunities to experience and appreciate the performing arts in a professional setting or otherwise. In all, these programs serve approximately 90 schools and more than 10,000 youth annually, 4,000 of which attend schools in Harlem and Upper Manhattan. The International Series offers 25-30 live performances in dance, music, theater and film which reflect the rich and diverse cultural heritage of our community and complement classroom curriculum. In addition, interactive segments are designed to actively engage young people while providing historical context and educating them on the creative process. The Family Series offers interactive programs designed to be enjoyed during the show, as well as offers a tool that can be integrated into the classroom curriculum. Harlem Stage in Schools provides our most active and engaged neighborhood schools with in-school activities that we use to support the "educational" as opposed to "entertainment" aspect of our programs. These activities have been found to be most effective in increasing attendance at Harlem Stage main stage productions. The Family Series is a set of free or low-cost weekend performances and workshops designed to give youth with an opportunity to learn together through direct interaction with artists.

							of HDC's mission to educate constituents across the five boroughs on ideas, strategies, and tools of preservation and community development. The three components are the Historic Preservation Conference Series, Celebrate Neighborhood Tours, and Six to Celebrate Neighborhood Tours. More than 1,000 individuals attend these programs throughout the year.
							The Annual Preservation Conference Series emphasizes preservation issues and history within New York City. The 2011 Conference, "New Populations, Old Buildings," the evolution of Historic Neighborhoods, will address how the changing demographics of neighborhoods has affected their preservation. The Series takes place over one weekend and includes a reception and presentation fair, a full-day conference with a keynote address and panels, and two days of tours and presentations. The series seeks to connect all communities here, the knowledge and skills to preserve their historic neighborhoods.
							The About New York Lecture, Film and Tour Series highlights a specific theme of New York history and culture. The series consists of a lecture, film and walking tour component. For 2011, the series will focus on labor history, from labor gatherings in Union Square, Manhattan to the construction of entire neighborhoods in Queens by labor unions for their members.
							The Six to Celebrate Neighborhood Tours are an integral component of HDC's new initiative, which partners with six significant, but unprotected neighborhoods on a community-preservation campaign over one year. In FY2012 HDC will hold tours of each neighborhood neighborhood over the course of the year. The first tour was held in Queens and featured, Broadway and Museum Morris Park in Manhattan to make residents about the significant historical, cultural and architectural character of each area.

Local	CC	Eugene Levin	HOPE Program, Inc., The	13-3248339	$40,000 MDC		To help New Yorkers with criminal records get thing wage jobs, job retention services.
							The HOPE Program provides very poor Brooklyn residents with the skills and support needed to secure employment. The program provides job training, job placement, classroom instruction, students build critical job skills such as literacy, math, computer use, customer service, conflict resolution, resume-writing, interviewing, and presenting themselves professionally. Students have these skills through 200 hours of on-the-job experiences. To minimize barriers to success, HOPE provides on-site mental health services, daily nutritional meals, microloans, and access to professional clothing.
							All HOPE graduates work with a dedicated Employment Specialist to secure employment and receive a lifetime of support services, including vocational counseling and evening GED and computer classes. Our approach yields significant results, notably 70 job placements and a 90-95 day re-entry rate.
							As 80 of ex-offenders without job return to lives of crime, one of HOPE's focuses is on this critical population. Through partnerships which provide legal education and assistance, HOPE's graduates are able to clear up their criminal records and receive a wider range of additional supports. We enable ex-offenders to secure job and avoid re-employment.
Local	Levin		HOPE Program, Inc., The	13-3248339	$3,500 MDC		The New York City Council's investment in training HOPE's ex-offender population yields a significant return on investment. For the cost of imprisoning one person in a New York City prison for one year, the HOPE program provides a more effective and less expensive alternative. As our students secure job and achieve economic self-sufficiency, they move off of public assistance and contribute up to 500 in city income taxes each year.
							The Community Performing Arts Series (CPAS) is a schedule of performing arts events, arranged and produced by HAI, that take place throughout the year, primarily in the daytime, at wheelchair-accessible venues that can accommodate large audiences in the heart of the city. The series includes a variety of performances, including Broadway musicals, symphonies, and operas. The series is designed to educate the public on the history, preservation and tourism of the entire neighborhoods in Queens by labor unions for their members.

Local	Quinn		International Center of Photography	21-713742R	$1,500 DCA		To ensure that its exhibitions are available to anyone wishing to view them, especially those for whom the general and even discounted admission may be an economic barrier. The ICOP will continue to offer a sliding scale of admission and will continue its policy and artist book signings held from 5pm to 8pm on Friday nights, with an opportunity to meet and speak with established and emerging photographers and to have books signed by them. In 2012, ICOP will develop two public art works in collaboration with local East Williamsburg/Brooklyn communities. The first will take place on the Brooklyn Preparatory School campus, where the school will be closing its doors and the school will be selling its graduating seniors in determining the content and execution of a temporary sculpture. A second public art project is currently being developed at Moore's St. Market in Bushwick. ICOP will commission and publicize a series of temporary installations and participatory artworks by ICOP residents and Brooklyn based alumni. This programming will bring new artists to the area, while engaging visitors and community members in the development of new art works. A City Council grant will cover 4,000 in materials, implementation and publicity for two public art projects contributing to neighborhood revitalization and promoting cultural exchange. ICOP has a new studio space in Williamsburg, Brooklyn. In collaboration with the Jean Mitchell Foundation and St. Nick's Alliance, 50 high school juniors and seniors attend free art classes annually. Each term includes a minimum of five visits to ICOP artist's studios. In addition, over 200 District 34 high school students visit ICOP Open Studios and exhibitions annually. ICOP's Open Studios will support 1,000 in program expenses toward materials and teaching artist honoraria. STUDIO ASSISTANT PROGRAM The Studio Assistant Program provides young New York based artists with professional development by working alongside established international artists. Participating ICOP artists will be responsible for assisting with studio management, including studio practices, and a mentoring relationship. ICOP also invites the Assistants to attend field Trips and Salons, enabling them to become active members of ICOP's community. A City Council grant will cover 5,000 in stipends for the 20 undergraduate and graduate students served by this project.

(d/b/a Lotus Music & Dance)		13-1339544	$5,500 DPH		Lotus Music: Dance presents Manhattan's only open air pow wow, the annual Drums Along the Hudson® - A Native American festival, approaching its fifth anniversary in 2012. Council funding will be used to support this free event, held in Inwood Hill Park, the only remaining old-growth forest and natural wetlands in the borough. The annual drumming performance is a unique cultural opportunity as well as to promote Native American and other world cultures through the performing arts, as well as to spread awareness of and appreciation for the diversity of New York City and the environment. Drums presents and preserves artistic works and cultural traditions of all periods and origins, enables us to expand and diversify our audiences, and uses arts as a vehicle for social change and education. We are excited about the opportunity to receive and providing a special performance opportunity to the artists, we are helping to ensure that these arts will live on and continue for the next generation.
Local				13-1339544	$5,500 DPH		Drums Along the Hudson® is the a unique event which unites a traditional Native American powwow with a diverse range of contemporary performing arts, centered around the sale of the drums. While the drums are sold to be replaced by new ones, the goal is to spread appreciation for the diverse cultures that make up our communities, as well as to preserve world cultural traditions on a national scale. By presenting a variety of traditional performing arts forms free of charge, Lotus is able to carry out its mission of keeping alive and accessible the music and dance traditions of all world cultures. In addition, we hope to increase the visibility of local artists and provide them with opportunities amongst persons who would ordinarily not have the opportunity to participate. Drums Along the Hudson® benefits the Inwood Hill area by bringing people from all over the region to the neighborhood, boosting interest in local businesses and activities.

ICE has also increased the number of pre-trial detainees, effectively denying detainees their constitutional rights to be presumed innocent, to remain silent, and to retain an attorney. ICE's presence in DOC facilities has led to the deportation of thousands of New Yorkers every year – many who have no criminal record and/or are leaving the deportees' families abandoned and dependent on the City's strained social welfare system. Last year with your support, we were able to improve the conditions for immigrants in DOC custody by ensuring that ICE property identified itself in DOC facilities, to ensure that detainees could identify themselves as immigrants and request legal assistance. MRYN will continue to advocate that NYC exercise its discretion regarding detainees to protect New Yorkers and stop collaborating with ICE. MRYN will develop policies and programs to educate and inform New Yorkers about ICE's current efforts with the Immigration Out of Reasons Coalition's citywide campaign calling on the City to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Stop using New York City resources to participate in immigration enforcement; 2) Refrain from participating in immigration investigations by providing ICE special access to information about its pre-trial detainees; 3) Limit the behavior of ICE agents in Rikers, and Eliminate ICE's current system rule which allows ICE to detain immigrant youth indefinitely house detainees on foreign-born detainees.

Local	Rozella		Metropolitan New York Coordinating Council on Jewish Poverty, Inc.	13-2738818	$20,000	DVCD-CD	Met Council's Career Services Department provides critical services that meet community needs that emerge as a result of the recession. In addition to the traditionally low-income, low-skilled, and underemployed population, we are seeing an increase in the number of previously middle-class individuals who were laid off and are unable to find work in their chosen professions. This new population, combined with increasing numbers of low-income individuals requesting services, has put a burden on Met Council's Career Services Department. The culturally sensitive Career Services staff offers help with resume and interview preparation, career counseling, testing, job search strategies, vocational training, short-term employment, and job placement. We also provide assistance with job placement, older workers, dislocated workers, and women with a history of domestic violence. We have an outstanding placement and retention record. Due to the special needs of these groups and their reliance on Met Council's wide range of culturally competent, community-based services, these individuals would be unlikely to access and benefit from such services elsewhere. Career counselors provide both practical and emotional support, serving as case managers to address each client's unique career-related needs. Career counselors also provide assistance with job placement, job training, education, helping individuals and families in crisis become self-sufficient and improve their quality of life. With increased funding for staff and training, we would be able to meet the growing demand for these services. Last year we served 1,950 individuals.

Local	Quinn	New York City Gay and Lesbian Anti-Violence Project, Inc.	New York City Gay and Lesbian Anti-Violence Project, Inc.	13-3140200	$10,000 DCS		We are requesting that you help combat the growing local hunger crisis by providing additional City Council funds to the New York City Coalition Against Hunger (NYCCAH, Tax ID Number: 13-3471350) in the upcoming fiscal year. NYCCAH is already pre-qualified to receive Council funding. This funding will support NYCCAH's ongoing work in the City including anti-hunger outreach, advocacy and communications assistance, and leadership development, which addresses the root causes of hunger and poverty by providing technical assistance, to the over 1,100 soup kitchens and food pantries in our City—including a large number in your District—to benefit the over 1.4 million New Yorkers who depend on them for food.
Local	Chin	New York City Housing Authority	New York City Housing Authority	13-6400434 *	$1,000 MSC		We need this help because other sources of funding are decreasing precisely as need for our services is increasing. In NYCCAH's 2010 Annual Hunger Survey entitled Hungry New Yorkers: Biting Hunger On, emergency food providers reported serving nearly 28 percent more emergency food than in 2009. NYCCAH's 2010 Annual Hunger Survey also reported that 34 percent of emergency food agencies reported that they did not have enough food to fulfill demand. We are certain you support our belief that it is totally unacceptable for more than half of the city's pantries and kitchens to lack enough food to meet the growing demand.

Through these disciplines and teaching methods, the participating students benefit on many levels. The academic and social skills honed in the academy presents a richly rounded and cultured individual. The workshops will be designed to ensure that each child is given the opportunity to reach their full potential, fostering self-esteem and self-awareness. Each child is instructed in a variety of techniques and exercises that will help them to develop their own unique talents and abilities. And for the adult citizens of our community the reflex exercise associated with the performance techniques will increase blood circulation and heart strength, their dexterity and mental focus benefits as well. The programs are designed to introduce the arts and sports to every child with special emphasis on disadvantage at risk youth. The target market is youth and adults in the surrounding community center area. Once the program is approved flyers will be drafted and disseminated throughout the community, information will be passed on through the community board, local billboards, signs, as well as word of mouth. The concept of the music school has been forged through years of discipline in teaching music and performance across the world. Local	Rose		Noble Maritime Collection, The	13-3351679	$5,000 (DCA)		The Noble Maritime Collection series funds to develop and present the exhibition, Treasures From the Salton Slug Harbor Collection, a presentation of oil paintings, antique ship models, original furnishings, and marine artifacts from the original Salton Slug Harbor retirement home, established by Captain Robert Richard Randall in 1801. They have never been exhibited publicly before, and the items are of significant historical value. In December, 2009 the Trustees of Salton Slug Harbor designated the Noble Maritime Collection as the stewards of its prestigious collection. All of the items were part of the furnishings of Salton Slug Harbor, and many were gifts to the retirement home by the original residents. The collection is a unique and valuable historical resource, and the institution of its kind established in this country, and the collection reflects what life was like for residents while the home flourished from 1831, when the first building opened, until 2009, when the home closed. The return of the collection to Slaton Island is of signal importance to the Slaton Island community, which remembers Salton Slug Harbor with respect, admiration, and affection.

Due to the limit of the contract funds, this year we expect to serve the same amount of persons under the contract, however we will continue to provide service to tenants and neighbors beyond the 300 limit to approximately 600 persons. Programs which serve the children, youth and adults in the under-served Washington Heights neighborhood in the City of New York. The programs are designed to build a strong structure, however they all share the same goals: to open dialogue on social issues relevant to the community, to share local stories of struggle and triumph, and to empower our neighbor to become artists and activists in their own lives and the life of their community. The three programs for consideration: VIVE TU VIDA/LIVE YOUR LIFE: In Partnership with Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital's CHALK (Choosing healthy Active Lifestyles for kids) program, children explore theatre and life skills and create their own theatre pieces about living a healthy life, which they will perform in their homes and at community events. The program will be taught by professional actors and teaching artists and will incorporate acting, movement, story-telling, writing and improvisation. VOICES/VOICES: In partnership with Seven Stories Institute and the NYMWA of New York, the program will create a theatrical performance piece about the lives of Howard Zinn's book Young People's History of the United States and the participants' own personal history as inspiration for a theatrical collage of music, words and movement and culminated in 3 public performances, a printed anthology, and an audio recording of the participants' work. ACTION THEATRE/TIATRO ACCION: In partnership with Theatre of the Oppressed NYC, this ensemble of English and Spanish speaking community members work together to create original plays based on the performers' true stories. rehearsal help us observe and understand the world around us, and then act this reality on stage, with sets, costumes and music and perform it for the community in an interactive form in Northern Manhattan and beyond. The fund will be used to provide technology support to Hope Line Inc, a non-profit, in the technology and digital literacy training.

Local		Vivica	Per Scholas, Inc.	FD-322955	$10,000 (INCD-CO)	Per Scholas' Computer Recycling Program With advancement in technology, there has been an increase in adoption and decrease in lifetime of IT products. In a 2006 report, the International Association of Electronics Recyclers proposed that with the current growth in technology, 100 million electronic devices are discarded each year. By 2010, 100 million units are discarded a year. It was projected that by 2015, only 10% of all units discarded would be recycled or repurposed. With electronic waste largely consisting of metals, plastics, screens, printed circuit boards and others, IT products have an adverse impact on the environment. Per Scholas works to redirect computer units into households that would otherwise end up in landfills, while working with partners to dispose of the truly end-of-life equipment in an environmentally safe manner. Our growing Computer Recycling business provides equipment for our students to refurbish, on-the-job experience through internships on the production floor, and general computer repair and maintenance. The program has been successful in that we have been recognized by the community for our efforts and our equipment has been donated to other organizations is recommended by our staff with the help of our training program. Interns, and distributed to the community through our ACCES, CompSkills, and CompSeniors programs. It keeps valuable jobs in the Bronx while providing environmentally sound disposal of electronic waste. The program has generated over $100,000 in revenue through our recycling and repurposing efforts and handled over 185,000 pieces of acquired computer equipment. Over the years, we have maximized the reuse of equipment, extending the useful life of the material, energy and labor captured in the equipment. We have also been successful in that we have been able to increase our equipment's useful life by 20%. In 2010, Per Scholas increased our computer acquisition by 20 from the 77.09 DO system acquired in 2009.
Local			Per Scholas, Inc.			Field programs can be divided into Artistic and Management Services, and Special Topics that address short- long term systemic issues that challenge performing artist's viability. Artistic Services include: peer review workshops, creative residencies and free retreats. Management Services include: business classes, consultation, fundraising for 200 students, and more. The program has been successful in that we have been able to increase our equipment's useful life by 20%.

							Per Scholars has two digital inclusion programs. These programs are committed to empowering families, seniors and teachers through technology and digital literacy training. We believe that if every teacher uses technology in the classroom and students in low-income schools have access to home computers, the entire learning experience will be improved. Inspired by the limitless opportunities to learn through technology, the CompAids program was initiated in 2002 and distributes free computers and training to middle school students and their families. In 2009, CompAids launched the 20,000 Children by 2012 Campaign. This campaign seeks to connect 20,000 families to technology by 2012. In 2010, 3,000 families were served in 27 Title I middle school schools in New York City. By 2013, 3,000 families were served in 27 Title I middle school schools in New York. Additionally last year Per Scholars created the Digital Families program which distributed computers and provided training to 700 low-income students, grades 4-8, at their families residing in the Upper Manhattan and Bronx Employment Zone.

Local	Jacobs	Jander, Fider, Rechia, Greenfield	Peasch Tawhai/Hope Development Inc.	11-3603641	$5,000 DDMH		Peasch Tawhai(PT) is seeking funding for its Family Service Center, an Article 31 clinic providing outpatient mental health services to the indigent. In order to help cover a projected 300,000 agencywide shortfall caused by statewide clinic restructuring and budget cuts. Each year, at the Peasch Tawhai Family Service Center, hundreds of men, women, and children receive care from a team of social workers, nurses, therapists, counselors, pharmacotherapy, and psychological and psychiatric evaluations. The OAH licensed clinic takes pride in providing consumers with a personalized pre-treatment assessment, diagnosis, treatment plan, and family referrals. The practice facility within Peasch Tawhai full service clinic setting, in doing so, PT assures countless children, adults, and families a second chance at leading healthier, more successful lives. Over the last few years, PT's Family Service Center's units of service have been increasing dramatically at a rate of 21.25 annually (Over 7,000 last year). This is tribute to Peasch Tawhai's unique ability to accommodate the cultural needs of the large Chilean and Latino populations who reside in the area. The center also serves as a referral point for clients with bilingual Spanish/English clinicians who can meet mental health services to the large, low-income Hispanic population in the Williamsburg area. There is a large waiting list for services, due to Peasch Tawhai widespread acceptance in the community, and its reputation for providing quality services. Due to the lack of funds available to the organization, the staff has had to be slashed, and the manner is projecting a 300,000 loss for FY2012. Every possible cost cutting measure has been used, in order to avert the possibility of closing this vital program. Staff salaries have been cut, lay-offs and furloughs have been implemented. Still, unless Peasch Tawhai can raise an additional 150,000, this crucial community program is at risk of closing. City Council support is vital to the continuation of the program.

Our Central Kitchen provides fresh and nutritious home cooked meals for those unable to tend for themselves. Funding will be used to support, operate, and maintain a multi-service senior center facility which is the largest in CDS and serves approximately 60,000 meals annually, 250 seniors daily, and has a client base of nearly 3000. Funding is necessary to provide supplemental kitchen personnel to provide these meals and an additional case assistant to assist with food bank requests. The center also provides support and referrals for educational, recreational, and health and wellness programs as well as funding needed for costs related to utilities, printing and supplies, communications, and our transportation program, such as vehicle insurance, fuel, and maintenance and repair. On October 20, 2011, PPS will celebrate 43 years of servicing the Staten Community through various programs and services. We are proud of the accomplishments we have achieved and disheartened as a result of substance abuse, inadequate affordable housing, and cultural disparity. The funds requested will enhance our service delivery by providing much needed computers to service our youth component with homework assistance, developing and maintaining a website for our senior citizens, and training staff members in skills for housing and job security, and to develop computer skills. At this time, there are none available to either modality.

RMAC has been promoting and supporting community appreciation of the peninsula, visual and literary arts. We sponsor school programs in music, opera and dance developed by the Riverside Symphony Music Memory, NYC Opera and the City Center Dance Program. Children get the opportunity to visit opera rehearsals and dance programs. The Music Memory Program provides a safe, fun environment for children where they can learn and they have learned and become fired up to visit first prize. RMAC will make every effort to continue to sponsor such programs in view of the fact that the NYC DOT has eliminated or downgraded music and art curricula in the school system. RMAC organized and hosted our Annual Arts Craft Fair Festival for 25 years and our Summer Beach Festive which will bring an expected 10,000 attendees to experience the fun through to craft and art culture, theater, music, restaurants and other businesses.

							The Ronald McDonald House of Long Island is a home-away-from-home, a temporary lodging facility for seriously ill children and their families who must travel to are hospitals for urgently needed medical care. These families stay at the House while their child is under a physicians care, whether the child is in the hospital or at home. The House provides a safe, secure and comfortable setting, the privacy of their own room and, most importantly, the understanding of others who share the same burden of having a seriously ill child. We operate a 44,000 square foot facility included 43 bedrooms, each with a private bath, kitchenette, fully stocked food pantry, five laundry room and a Great Room where the families can socialize or watch television. For more privacy, there is a small TV room on the 2nd floor and an additional Main floor lounge that is perfect for quiet activities. The number of families staying at the House each year varies depending upon length of stay and type of treatment. In 2009, the House served 550 families (with an average of 3 individuals per family, for a total of approximately 2,850 individuals). 685 families (approximately 2,055 individuals) were from the local area. Maintaining our facility is the main component of our programming. The costs associated with our building present the majority of the financial burden we face in continuing to provide our services to families in need. Funds will be used to pay utility bills, specifically electric to heat our facility in the winter and cool it in the summer. To assist in screening community oriented film in outdoor locations throughout the city; teaching media literacy to youth; and funding new films. Funding will support Rooftop Films' public outdoor screenings and live music events on the pier at Stuyvesant Cove Park.

							Rooftop Films' engages the diverse communities of NYC by screening community oriented films in outdoor locations throughout the city; teaching media literacy to youth; and funding new films. Rooftop will work with NYC Council Members to host public film screenings outdoors in their districts.—Rooftop Films 2012 Summer Series will include outdoor venues throughout NYC, the series features films that could not otherwise be seen in the city. Our 16th annual series will include over 25 feature-length and 150 short films relevant to the local communities where our shows are held—for example, in 2010, we presented New York Filmmaker Todd Chambers' feature film TLOOD TIDE with a live performance by the New York City Police Department's 99th Precinct Band. The film, an example of Rooftop bringing local art back to communities.— —Part of Rooftop Film's ongoing mission is to screen films not in theaters, but in communities. As an example, two of our short film programs, "New York Notification" and "Brooklyn Transformations," consist of local filmmakers grappling with community issues and social change. These films are screened in a variety of locations, including the picturesque view of the future, these delve deep into the changing urban landscape and dig up hope and happiness.—Rooftop Films supports the next generation of filmmakers, working closely with three New York public schools, Automotive High School, Brooklyn Tech, and New Design High School. These schools are the focus of Rooftop's school screenings and workshops.—Screenings will take place at the following locations and subject to be determined: Brooklyn: The Old American Can Factory, Fort Greene Park, Solar One, El Museo del Barrio, 1 The High Line, Queens: Socrates Sculpture Park; The Bronx: The Bruckner / Bar.

Local	Vallone		Seafair Community Services, Inc.	13-3624178	$3,500	DTFA	The Seafair Community Services, Inc. provides services to the residents of the 22nd Council District in the following way: Personal Emergency Response System- 5,000 The moments immediately following a fall or medical emergency are crucial, and if the victim is unable to get to a telephone, the consequences can be life threatening. For those who live alone, the ability to call for help is essential to their safety. A Personal Emergency Response System (PERS) is an electronic device designed to allow elderly and disabled people to more easily summon help in an emergency. The tenants receiving these services live alone and would not be able to afford advanced safety net technology like PERS on their own. In addition to help in an emergency, the tenants receive other services such as transportation, food, and additional safety and peace of mind that this service provides. City Services- 5,000 Transportation is in great demand among our frail seniors at Seafair Community Services, Inc. as it enables them to go about their daily lives with greater freedom and independence. Seafair contracts with a taxi company to provide car service that enables seniors to attend their doctor appointments, visit family and friends, make appointments for medical services, and attend religious services. Seafair also provides physical limitations, such as poor vision and hearing, respiratory conditions, and/or cognitive impairments, which make it very difficult to utilize public transportation. The taxi company provides rides to seniors at half-fare, and charges the remainder to the program.

Many District seniors have difficulty getting to medical appointments, shopping, and other necessary errands. Many seniors and many who do are too frail to utilize them regularly. In addition, many lack the financial resources to afford the expensive fees of taxis and car services. As NOHC residents age, we are receiving more requests for assistance. Local	Wegrin		Seafair Community Services, Inc.	13-3624178	$25,000	DTFA	Demands for the Program services among the Fresh Meadows NOHC's vulnerable senior community have steadily increased during its 10 years of existence, and Seafair has depended on the funding granted through the City Council to help meet these demands. As you know the program was opened in January of 2000 as a one-day-a-week program funded entirely by the Queens Fresh Meadows, LLC. This partnership began when Queens Fresh Meadows management approached Seafair for assistance with two specific cases of seniors in danger of eviction. The management company soon determined that they were generally unprepared to meet the changing needs of their aging tenants, and asked Seafair to provide assistance. Seafair's response was to create the program and allow it to operate two days per week. In the fall of that same year, funding from the City Council allowed the program to expand its operations to three days per week, offering a variety of educational, recreational, and health promotion programs, as well as comprehensive case management services to help seniors with funding, and ensure the provision of this third day of service throughout Fiscal Y1 Our LUSAF program coordinator provides case management, case assistance, information, referrals to medical services and determine recreational services to over 100 clients. She also consults with clients/families to coordinate services as well as coordinates with other social service agencies for additional services all intended to decrease social isolation and enhance quality of life for the senior residents.

						The Stella Adler Outreach Division provides five actor training to low-income youth through free classes at the Actors Fund of America's (AFA) Manhattan and Harlem locations. Outreach target income was less than the national poverty level and who do not have arts access. The goal of Outreach is to empower young people through craft. Planned locations for FY22 follow: 1. Adler Youth Group is a two-year after-school program offered in Manhattan. Fifty-four students will receive a total of 108 classroom hours per year, meeting twice a week, three hours per week. Students create and perform a movement project, study one playwright intensively then perform their scenes and, for second-year students, rehearse and perform 1 Shakespeare play. 2. Summer Shakespeare is an intensive program offered in Manhattan. Twenty-two students will receive a total of 50 classroom hours, meeting five days a week (two hours per session) in July and August. A public performance of an abridged version of a Shakespeare play concludes the program. 3. High School programs are designed in collaboration with each school and take place in all five boroughs. Length, duration and curriculum vary according to the needs of the schools. On average, students will receive one-day workshops. Over 100 students will participate in theater-in-the-schools programs.

Each year we train hundreds of young people between the ages of 12 and 22 in social and environmental justice, community-based planning, media, and organizing. Through our workshop young people are provided with the tools and resources they need to become agents for change. They learn to conduct research, plan campaigns, generate written materials, do public speaking, and develop leadership skills. We also provide a safe space for youth to express their views on a range of settings locally, city-wide, nationally and even internationally. The workshop we provide will be a guide for parents so that they know what to expect and are better prepared to help their children make the best decision for their future.

Local	Beccia	Urban Neighborhood Services, Inc.		14-199729	$11,000 DFC-CO		Brooklyn. The organization was founded by Ms. Mahyideh Tirmia who grew up in Coney Island as a child and returned to her community after attending college and years of graduate school in order to improve the conditions of the community which had long been under-served. UNCS offers reparative programming which is available to and utilized by residents of all five boroughs of New York City, not just Coney Island. UNCS offers financial literacy workshops, support for Veterans and their families, health education, LGBTIQ trainings for human service providers and school personnel, Youth leadership programs, Free SAT Prep courses, College Tips, College Forums on navigating the admissions process, low cost and free college preparatory workshops, a college green relations program with Gap Editors, among other services. Youth and adults from all five boroughs of New York City are often in attendance at our Free History Prep Courses, Free SAT Preparation Courses, LGBTIQ trainings, Home Ownership Seminars, Personal Finance Seminars, and College forums on topics such as Math, Science and Engineering, which are all free of charge. UNCS is currently requesting 20,000 from Councilman Dominic Recchia and 5,000 from all other New York City Council Members to support its existing programs and services and to develop its internal staffing capacity so that it can grow as an organization. The requested funding will be utilized to support our current activities and allow us to bring on part-time staff to our office, which is currently manned by the Executive Director, a program assistant and volunteers. The secret behind our success and the reason we've been able to do a lot with a little is due to our partnerships with other organizations with whom we've leveraged resources. However, in order for us to continue to meet the demand of our services, we need additional help.
Local							The Urban Resource Institute proposes to utilize the funds from the City Council to provide office recreational activities for the victims of domestic violence and their children, who reside in its two Harlem-based shelters. Three outings have been proposed: one to a family oriented amusement park in Connecticut; another to the Mystic Aquarium in New Connecticut; and the final trip will be to the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island in New York City. The program will also offer refreshments, rent of charter buses including parking, and refreshment for the participants.

							Funding is needed for general operating costs that help the agency to provide critical services to the community, in particular community education and outreach. Funding to educate the community about the risks of domestic violence and the kind of life-saving services that are available at VP is vital to improving the health of our East Harlem community. If community members do not know that services for domestic violence are available, they are less likely to seek help. The agency's outreach program is an integral piece of providing this service in the "Promotora" project. In addition to funding the outreach activities such as trainings, presentations and workshops, this award will fund a series of capacity building trainings for Latino survivors of domestic violence. The purpose of this training is to enable them to educate others in their communities about domestic violence, its effects, and the resources available to them. The training series will be known as "Promotora", a Spanish word meaning, "promoter". The training series will provide the leadership skills and knowledge necessary for them to work together with VP staff to do outreach deep in the Latino communities where VP is located.

Youth	Gonsdale	Center for Anti-Violence Education (CAE), Inc., The	11-2444676	$5,000	DVCO-Y	CAE teaches practical strategies to help people prevent, respond to, and heal from domestic violence. CAE's programs are designed to help survivors of domestic violence and their loved ones and survivors—helping them to build skills to break cycles of violence in their lives and communities. With your support, CAE will reach 110 women, teens, and children in District 38 at organizations including Trinity Healing Space, Center Against Domestic Violence, Sunset Park Alliance for Youth, and Center for Family Life. Programs for adult and young women and LGBT individuals—most of whom are survivors of domestic violence—will be offered in District 38. These programs will help survivors learn verbal and physical self-defense strategies, and heal from past abuse. With your support, CAE will reach 100 diverse individuals in District 38, and achieve the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • When the ongoing epidemic of violence, CAE will provide a three-week LGBT violence awareness program for teens and young adults in District 38, including topics such as sexual harassment, bias crimes, and relationship abuse. Through the course people break isolation and build community. • Maintain our unique after-school program, Power, Action, Change for Teens (PACT). PACT focuses on teaching teens about domestic violence, sexual harassment, and sexual assault, and provides them with the skills and resources to build self-confidence to be active and set boundaries, and develop leadership skills. • Increase the number of workshops we offer through our self-defense courses for both adult and teen women. This core program was cut back due to reduced funding to meet the need for more programs to assist additional workshops. This is the only self-defense course in NYC that offers self-defense training to both adult and teen women. • Pilot a new program focusing on pre-teen girls, an important and vulnerable population when it comes to coping with harassment and learning to avoid dangerous relationships. Participants in CAE's programs achieve increased self-esteem and confidence; understanding of the right to be respected and free from all forms of violence; ability to identify abuse and set boundaries where appropriate; skills to de-escalate and resolve conflicts; understanding of the importance of telling a trusted adult when you have been hurt; knowledge of available resources; and understanding of the importance of civic involvement.

		Centro Altagracia de Fey Justicia				This expansion of our current community organizing program would consist of week-long service projects for youth, ages 13-18, to be conducted during the school breaks in the summer and mid-winter. The intended service project would be conducted at various locations within Community Board 12, such as senior center, parks, churches, CBOs, etc. Each service day would coincide with a reflectionary session, giving the participants an opportunity to discuss their experiences and how they can be applied to their lives. At the end of the summer and mid-winter projects, the youth would be given a certificate of appreciation. Some of the big picture questions, for example, participants working on a project at a senior center, would reflect on the perceptions, treatment and care of the elderly in our society.
Youth	Rodriguez		16-1766323	$10,000	DFCD - Y	The Gan Israel summer DAY CAMP is a winner among children's camps, growing rapidly from 1998 to 2008. Youth	Levin	Center for Anti-Violence Education (CAVE), Inc., The	13-246276		$3,500 DVCY-Y	skills to break cycles of violence. CAE seeks renewed support of our unique and powerful violence prevention, self-defense, and empowerment programs for teen women and girls in District 33. Your support will help 125 young people learn how to avoid and prevent violence, build self-esteem, and develop self-confidence, and protect themselves using their voice and physical self-defense strategies. Our children's program helps young people build a strong foundation by providing the support they need to develop self-esteem, prevent violence, and increase their ability to communicate. Through interactive games, role plays, discussions, and physical activities specific to each age group, we help children understand and deal with violence. In addition, children practice ways to identify abuse, set boundaries, de-escalate conflicts, and seek support from peers and adults. Our program for teen women focuses on recognizing dangerous situations, relationship abuse, sharing prevention strategies, de-escalation skills, conflict resolution, and building physical skills and power. It increases teen's confidence to be active, set boundaries, speak up on their own behalf, and on behalf of each other. Partner organizations include: Owl Team, Girls for Gender Equity, Urban Assembly Institute of Math, Science, Safe Nash Leadership Project.

The tent will be located in the heart of the Caribbean Republic of Guyana, South America has reached out to the Diaspora. This extension of boundaries has caused intersections not only with second and earlier generations of Guyanese living in the USA but also with those of the total Caribbean Latin American residents here. It has been found that the children and youth define themselves as one. Thus they practice and enjoy many similar games, stories, myths, legends and histories. This common experience was seen clearly in 2010 when, under the Children's Tent, more than 200 children and youth gathered to create art both verbal and tactile. The children and youth enjoyed themselves and enjoyed playing games, they sang and they listened to folk songs and stories effective of their heritage. In 2011, GCA will be expanding on the venture of 2010.
						In addition to the aforementioned activities, GCA plans to include the following: Techniques associated with social and ethnic dancing techniques used in the tradition of the Caribbean. The tent will be a place where the children and youth can learn about the history and geography of the peoples of the Caribbean; a pictorial overview A greater variety of the folk games, including the traditional ring games, of the Caribbean A greater variety of the oral traditions of the region

Youth						TSOC's Youth Transition Empowerment program works to reduce the re-entry of children and youth into the foster care system and facilitates exit from the foster care by (1) offering a continuum of services to youth exiting care in order to prevent homelessness and promote successful independent adulthood, and (2) working with families to prevent the re-entry of their children into foster care. During 2010 January through December, TSOC received 14 referrals for its Youth Transition Empowerment program. The program is currently serving 14 active participants in the past eight years, we have assisted a total of 137 young people of which 60 are males, 117 are females and 91 children ages 0-10. The recent integration of the New York City's Department of Juvenile Justice with the Administration for Children Services (ACS) created a new need for service providers for the juvenile justice youth population. TSOC is currently seeking funding to support its Youth Transition Empowerment program in the spring of 2010 to assist in the service delivery of juvenile justice youth, specifically to provide prevention/intervention aftercare services to youth who are first time offenders and their families.

Youth	Valone	Police Athletic League, Inc.	13-5596811	$10,000	DYCD-Y	TYT's Juvenile Crime Prevention Programs include Summer Play Streets and Teen Impact Centers. If funded, PAL will work with the Council Member, NYPD and other community leaders to place a Play Street, Teen Impact Center or both depending on need and funding. Play Streets are a place where children ages 6 to 15 are engaged in safe, fun and structured adult-supervised youth development activities. Play Streets bring all the components of a summer camp experience to children free of charge, weekdays between 5:00am and 5:00pm for seven weeks each summer. The schedule is designed to accommodate working families in the community in need of child care during the summer. PAL provides a safe and fun environment for children, and performance into a variety of activities with the ultimate goal of increasing children's motivation to read. Summer camp is an important resource in our community. Not only does it combat summer learning loss among low income children, but provides a safe and nurturing environment for children while their parents work.
						Teen Impact Centers are "safe havens" within the community where young people respectfully connect with their peers and positive adult role models, including New York City Police Department (NYPD) officers. The goal of Teen Impact Centers is to prevent crime victimization, as well as juvenile delinquency and other negative youth behaviors in high risk communities. PAL provides a safe and fun environment for children, and performance into a variety of activities with the ultimate goal of increasing children's motivation to read. Summer camp is an important resource in our community. Not only does it combat summer learning loss among low income children, but provides a safe and nurturing environment for children while their parents work.
						Through collaborations with governmental organizations such as the NYC Department of Transportation, the NYPD, DNY and the National Guard, Play Street activities are designed to increase physical activity and leadership skills, and develop leadership skills. Play Streets is a measurable, goal-oriented program with the following objectives: 1. Engage youth in group/team recreational activities that increase physical activity and foster sportsmanship and positive peer and adult relationships. 2. Reduce risk taking behaviors among youth and foster life skills. 3. Enhance the community and neighborhood in which we serve and to help children/families become more familiar with community resources.

Youth	Levin	Hingstle, Inc.				ACTION CLUB, a once-monthly interactive evening event for teens held at the company's home space, the STREB LAB FOR ACTION MECHANICS (SLAM) located in Williamsburg, Brooklyn. ACTION CLUB is directly aligned with the concept, spirit and energy of the company and its home space, SLAM. Describing her vision, Zeeb had said, "SLAM allows us to explore the possibilities of what we can do with a space. We have a lot of ideas and energy, the modern day incubator for many American inventions and discoveries – rock n' roll. It took hardware and software, a place where people feel free to experiment, fit that which is broken or even wreck in the service of creation."
					STREB feels that given the culture it has developed at SLAM, it has something truly unique to offer adolescents and teens. In response, it designed the ACTION CLUB, a skill building and social networking program, offering young adults, in an environment that is both safe but also fun and creative. The program is designed to help teens explore their interests and talents, to experiment with action, format, structure, time and community. SLAM occupies a former garage; the modern day incubator for many American inventions and discoveries – rock n' roll. It took hardware and software, a place where people feel free to experiment, fit that which is broken or even wreck in the service of creation."
					During each ACTION CLUB session, participants learn action moves, have opportunities for guided sessions on trapeze and trampolines, produce music, take photos, create video. Food, beverages and a DJ add to the club atmosphere.
					STREB's goals for ACTION CLUB are to:
					-engage a diverse group of 13 to 16 year olds; -provide teens with a safe and fun environment to explore their interests and talents; -create a "spectar" for teenagers to gather; -provide a platform for teens to achieve their "personal best," to become innovators and inventors;

Designed to combat a deficit of high quality arts education curricula in New York City public schools, the program was launched in 1999, has addressed this deficit by serving 4,000 to 10,000 students through both grant students annually. Its goals aligned with the Blueprint, Music Memory is designed to help children 1. Listen and respond actively to music 2. Acquire knowledge of music terms 3. Learn about composers, instruments and the cultural significance of their music 4. Make connections to other disciplines 5. Enjoy a meaningful cultural experience with their classmates
	Levin				The program seeks to impart focused listening skills through exposure to 16 carefully selected and diverse pieces. Guided by their music teachers, students engage in a wide variety of activities including creative and structured movement, singing, and instrument playing. Each piece is presented in a way that allows students to explore and instrument on each piece, they delight in their newly acquired ability to identify the works and their composers upon hearing only brief excerpts.

Youth who participate in the Travel Soccer Program are required to attend an After School Tutoring program, which operates five days a week. The program also plays an essential role in providing youth with a positive environment to spend after-school time, an alternative to the streets. In fact, attendance between 3 and 6 pm is the most common time for youth to commit crimes or become victims of crime and to smoke, drink or use drugs (NYC Crime Invest in Kids, 2007). The After-School Tutoring program complements the College Prep Program where the goal is to increase college awareness, improve college preparation, assist with graduation requirements, and assure students' admission into college. Program activities include: college visits, campus visits, test preparation, and college application assistance and college visits. The program also provides a safe and secure environment for students and places students in schools depending on their unique needs and situations, including the Manhattan Country School and English Language Learners and International Support (ELLIS) Preparatory Academy. The Character Development Program helps youth develop leadership skills through events, workshops, and forums. These programs are the key to ensuring all youth graduate high school and attend college.

It has dedicated to the welfare and development of our neighborhood children for over 20 years. It is our mission that no child lives without the opportunity to play organized sports, receive quality instruction, and have fun. We are committed to providing a safe environment where all children can thrive and grow. We hope to make it happen by offering programs such as soccer, basketball, baseball, softball, volleyball, tennis, badminton, ping pong, etc. Our goal is to help our players to avoid the perils of modern life, and help them to become productive, community-minded citizens. and Response: Youth Train the Trainer (YTT) program to your district's youth. The YTT workshop works with teens throughout the five boroughs to become ready responders and leaders in their communities while learning to apply basic statistics skills to real life situations. The curriculum includes topics such as: personal safety, health, social media, and emergency preparedness. The curriculum integrates interactive activities with important emergency preparedness lessons. In 2009, the United States Fire Administration reported over 350,000 residential fires, causing more than 7 billion dollars worth of damage and 2,500 deaths; the leading cause of these home fire was cooking. In families with two working parents, nearly half of the time spent with children is during meal preparation hours. Their children are often given the responsibility of cooking and caring for a young sibling, though many never receive the proper instruction on how to respond safely and effectively in the event of an emergency. In this program students will: • Learn about the effects of natural and man-made disasters and their emotional, social and economic impacts; •Learn comprehensive household safety measures and procedures; •Build decision-making and problem solving skills and strategies that help make informed decisions regarding readiness, response and recovery; •Develop teamwork and communication skills; •Practice disaster preparedness and emergency response training with periodic reality-driven drills and exercises; •Present their own emergency preparedness training to peers This program consists of 15 sessions with up to 25 participants per program. The program involves hands-on learning experiences and field trips. At the end of the program participants in a student planned, marketed and facilitated neighborhood event where they graduates share lesson learned with peers and family members.

						We seek funding to support and extend the music appreciation initiative that, thanks to seed funding from NYC Council Member Rodriguez, was introduced in the current academic year to enrich the Nursery School program for two of our four Universal Pre-Kindergarten (UPK) programs. The initiative was successful in that it provided a safe and supportive environment for the young participants and highly valued by their parents and, with continued increased funding in FY 2012, we will be able to provide this initiative to all four UPK classes (18 in each class for a total of 72 children served). The music appreciation curriculum is designed to introduce and expose children, many for the first time, to a variety of musical genres and styles, including classical, jazz, rock, pop, and contemporary. The program will include music and lyrics, performance, and music theory. The program will be led by a music teacher and his/her colleagues. During the course of the program, students will listen to music, sing, perform, improvise and compose while growing in their understanding of the elements of music and musical genres. The nursery school will partner with Mideri and Friends who will provide and train teachers in the program. The program will be a valuable addition to the current academic curriculum. Introducing young people to music appreciation is an important component of the Y's performing and cultural arts initiative, Reaching New Heights, that debuted during the current academic year.

Youth	Williams	Young People's Chorus of New York City, Inc.	11-3372980	$3,000	DYCD-Y	Discretionary Funds will help support YPC's award winning, performance-based choral music program serving a diverse group totaling 605 inner-city youth. Through our after-school Outreach Program, choristers learn music literacy, collaborate with renowned artists and composers, develop individual and group vocal technique, and gain access to advanced musical training. Not only do they excel as vocalists, but these young people also become a cohesive, collaborative group and develop a real sense of community.
Youth	Foster	Young Urban Christians Artists Inc	20-1633480	$5,000	DYCD-Y	Our young people participate in an intensive program that offers them opportunities to record CDs, perform on the radio and TV and in up to 80 local, national and international performances. YUC's young people study both modern and traditional music and sing in a variety of styles including gospel, soul, funk, jazz, blues, and contemporary. They perform weekly rehearsals (45-135 during the year, depending on the program and division). These rehearsals, as well as our performances, give our young people the rare and valuable opportunity to collaborate with renowned musicians, composers, and choreographers and perform at the White House and for United Nations, Nelson Mandela and Pope Benedict XVI.
Youth	Brewer	Young Women's Christian Association of the City of New York	13-1634236	$3,000	DYCD-Y	Funding will go towards after school and summer programs for school age children throughout the city.
Youth	Garsnick	Youth Advocacy Center, Inc.	13-3691330	$3,000	DYCD-Y	Funding will support the Getting Beyond the System program, an effort to prepare teens for a professional life after foster care and to support them in that transition.
Youth	James	Youth America, Inc.	11-2687995	$50,714	DYCD-Y	To set a conduit for sports groups and fund its "The Bridge to Business Internship Program".
Youth	Comrie	Youth and Tennis, Inc.	11-2578798	$30,000	DYCD-Y	The mission of the Youth and Tennis Academy is to improve the circumstances of youth in the community and to involve them in a productive program and keep them off the street. Youth	Halloran	Young Men's Christian Association of Greater New York	13-1634236	$5,000	DYCD-Y	Funding would support the Y's after-school program at PS 41 which offers a variety of different activities such as HW help, arts, crafts, sports, dance and project based learning. We follow DCH and YMCA Association standards which ensure that we provide a healthy physical environment, positive staff/student interactions and strong programming. In order to keep the cost of after-school affordable to the community, we have increased fundraising efforts and are seeking costs of housing permits, food costs, security fees and program enhancements.
Youth	Grillo	Young Men's Christian Association of Greater New York	13-1634236	$10,000	DYCD-Y	Little Steps - a therapy program, pioneered by the YMCA, for children who are growing up in a home where one or both parents suffer from a chemical dependency problem. This cooperative art therapy program targets children 4 - 13 years of age.
Youth	Jackson	Young Men's Christian Association of Greater New York	13-1634236	$5,000	DYCD-Y	The Harlem YMCA operates a 2nd grade swim program throughout the school year. The branch is seeking funding to continue to offer this program at no charge to youth in the West Harlem community. 2nd grade is an ideal time for young people to take on new challenges and learn to swim. The Harlem YMCA seeks to offer children lessons on swimming skills and water safety that will keep them safe and build physical and social skills.
Youth	Koo	Young Men's Christian Association of Greater New York	13-1634236	$25,000	DYCD-Y	Funds will support our free Teen Journalism Program. Participants take part in every aspect of the "publishing" process. Some activities include participation in editorial meetings, writing and editing articles, and creating and selling stories, discussing current events and overall production of a "magazine".
Youth	Lapin	Young Men's Christian Association of Greater New York	13-1634236	$5,000	DYCD-Y	The funds requested would support the Vanderbilt YMCA's after-school academic support programming at Vanguard High School which provides tutoring, test prep and college readiness to students after school.

Youth	Pelina	Young Men's Christian Association of Greater New York	13-1634236	$7,000	DYCD-Y	Funds will be used to send 10 youth to one month of summer day camp at the Bronx YMCA. Our program engages young people in fun and safe summer activities, including swimming, arts and crafts, athletics, etc.
Youth	Van Brimmer	Young Men's Christian Association of Greater New York	13-1634236	$50,714	DYCD-Y	YMCA of Greater New York seeks funds to support a Little Steps program emphasizing sportsmanship skill building, fair play and fun for youth between the ages of 4 and 14 years of age. The program includes weekly practice and 8 scheduled games.
Youth	Wegrin	Young Men's Christian Association of Greater New York	13-1634236	$10,000	DYCD-Y	The Y-Music program is in the 4th year of serving 100 youth with a variety of music lessons and music theory. It continues to be apparent to us that there is a tremendous need in Eastern Queens for music education which is no cost, convenient (we offer our lessons Monday-Friday, from 2:45pm-5pm), and personalized. Since children are receiving nothing from their schools, we are offering them an opportunity to learn music and receive group lessons for voice and can include lessons with piano, guitar, and violin, and to provide an accessible, no cost opportunity for theory instruction and socialization through group lessons, both for children with and without special needs during the after school hours.
Youth	Brenner	Young People's Chorus of New York City, Inc.	11-3372980	$3,000	DYCD-Y	To support YPC's after school Outreach Program serving a diverse group totaling 605 inner-city youth.
