

NEW YORK CITY SUMMER INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

ELIGIBILITY AND APPLICATION PROCESS

This website contains a listing of internship opportunities offered by participating City agencies. Internship descriptions include:

- Agency/unit description
- Agency contact person(s)
- Internship responsibilities
- Special skills or areas of study needed
- Salary/unsalariated
- Volunteer and academic credit programs (where offered)
- Undergraduate and graduate eligibility

ELIGIBILITY

Undergraduate interns must either be currently enrolled in a college or university, or must have graduated in the winter or spring semester of the program year. Graduate interns must be currently enrolled, or accepted in, a graduate program.

Unless specified, the internship is open to both undergraduate and graduate applicants.

Please see the “Qualifications/Special Skills/Areas of Study” section of specific agency offerings to determine if you are eligible.

THE APPLICATION PROCESS

Internships are administered by staff at individual agencies. There is no centralized internship application processing center.

Each agency requires that applicants forward a cover letter and resume to the agency contact person.

The agency contact person or assigned staff member will respond to questions about agency internship programs.

Agencies may revise their program(s) after this guide has been published. Be sure to confirm all information when you apply for specific programs.

DURATION OF INTERNSHIPS

There are no uniform start or end dates for internship assignments. Internships are available between May and September for a maximum of 13 weeks. Individual agencies determine the actual length and start/end dates for their internship assignments.

COMPENSATION

Salary is determined by the individual agencies.

Some internship positions are unsalaried and some offer volunteer, work study, or academic credit for work experience at their agency. Others may provide a 'Travel Stipend' for participants with the program. Please refer to the specific internship description for details.
