Plumber's Helper or Apprentice Plumber experience, up to a maximum of two years of satisfactory experience.

The trade school, technical school or vocational high school must be approved by a State's Department of Education or a recognized accrediting organization.

$(\text{number of hours worked per week}/35) \times (\text{number of months worked})$

For example, if you worked at a job for 21 hours per week for 12 months, you would make the following calculation: $21/35 \times 12 = 7.2$ months.

THE TEST:

The multiple-choice test will be given at a computer terminal. Your score on this test will be used to determine your place on an eligible list. You must achieve a score of at least 70% to pass the test. The multiple-choice test is designed to assess the extent to which candidates have certain knowledge and abilities determined to be important to the performance of the tasks of a Plumber's Helper. Task areas to be tested are as follows: repairs and installation; tools and materials; and administrative duties.

The multiple-choice test may include questions on the knowledge of plumbing techniques and practices; types of water, gas, heat, waste and vent pipes and valves; supports, fittings, and other fixtures; plumbing-related tools and equipment, such as various types of saws, wrenches, grinders, and other handheld and power tools; the NYC Plumbing Code; common safety procedures; job-related calculations relating to measurements; and standards of proper employee ethical conduct.

The test may also include questions requiring the use of any of the following abilities:

Deductive Reasoning: applying general rules to specific problems to come up with logical answers. It involves deciding if an answer makes sense. Example: A Plumber's Helper considers more than one way to solve a particular problem with a main drain.

Inductive Reasoning: combining separate pieces of information or specific answers to problems to form general rules or conclusions; to think of possible reasons for why things go together. Example: A Plumber's Helper understands what the reason is for using one kind of pipe and not another when making a replacement.

Information Ordering: correctly following a rule or set of rules or actions in a certain order. The rule or set of rules used must be given. The things or actions to be put in order can include numbers, letters, words, pictures, procedures, sentences and mathematical or logical operations. Example: A Plumber's Helper has to repair or replace a washroom fixture following ordered steps.

Mathematical Reasoning: understanding and organizing a problem and then selecting a mathematical method or formula to solve the problem. It encompasses reasoning through mathematical problems to determine appropriate operations that can be performed to solve problems. Example: A Plumber's Helper is able to apply plumbing formulas and/or use basic fractions to determine the right procedures for installations.

Number Facility: the degree to which adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing can be done quickly and correctly. This can be steps in other operations like finding percentages. Example: A Plumber's Helper needs to add the lengths of pipes after taking measurements of them.

Problem Sensitivity: understanding when something is wrong or likely to go wrong. It includes being able to identify the whole problem, as well as elements of the problem. Example: A Plumber's Helper is able to assess and diagnose plumbing failures and anticipate safety issues.

Selective Attention: the ability to concentrate on a task one is doing. This ability involves concentration while performing a boring task and not being distracted. Example: A Plumber's Helper remains focused when cutting and soldering pipes.

Spatial Orientation: determining where you are in relation to the location of some objects or to tell where the object is in relation to you. Example: A Plumber's Helper determines how far away one is located on a ladder from the valve that needs to be repaired.

Written Comprehension: understanding English words and sentences. Example: A Plumber's Helper understands written task assignments and plumbing notes.

Written Expression: using English words or sentences in writing so that others will understand. Example: A Plumber's Helper writes plumbing notes free of grammatical errors.

Certain questions may need to be answered on the basis of documents or other information supplied to the candidates on the date of the multiple-choice exam.
