On the right side of the header, it says "You completed this item on 2/6/2023." and includes two buttons: "View Certificate" and "Retake". Below the header is a navigation bar with "Overview" and "History" tabs, and a "Save" button on the right. The main content area is titled "Description" and contains the following text:

In this training, businesses will learn about different types of consumer products that can contain high levels of lead, best practices for inventory quality control, and the NYC Health Department’s enforcement role. This free training is required for businesses that receive a DOHMH Commissioner’s Order for selling unsafe products. Businesses will need to send a copy of the certificate to DOHMH to comply with Commissioner’s Order requirements. The training is also available on-demand for general awareness.

Training: The training does not have an audio component. You will not be able to proceed to the next slide until a certain amount of time has passed on the current slide, allowing you to read the materials on the slide.

Quiz: At the end of the training slides, you will be asked to complete a quiz with 10 questions. You must get at least 80% to pass. If you do not pass, you can retake the quiz. After passing the course, you will be asked to enter your name, job title, business name and address. The training will generate a certificate using this information. You will be able to save a copy of this certificate and email it to DOHMH if necessary.

To take this online training, you will need to register and create an NYCID account.
