Word to PDF Demo Doc (<H1>)

Heading Text (<H2>)

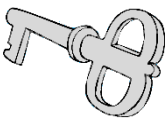

Paragraph Text (<P>) It is important to note that every blank space is kept after conversion. These blanks add additional 'stuff' that a screen reader user encounters and must navigate through. It is best practice to use the space before/after settings in styles to accomplish the spacing you desire. You'll note that there are no additional spaces in this document (including at the end of paragraphs). Using style settings makes the clean-up process in Acrobat Pro shorter, as you won't have to Artifact all those blank spaces.

Subheading Text (<H3>)

Paragraph Text (<P>) Demo Link Text which leads to nowhere. This is sample paragraph text with no meaning what-so-ever. Free writing, anyone?

Heading Text (<H2>)

Paragraph Text (<P>) This paragraph has a pretty picture which it wraps around. Make sure to describe it in the Alt Text! Your description should be brief and include the reason the image was chosen. In this case, there is no reason. I just randomly picked a picture in my Pictures folder. Isn't it a great piece of clipart?
