15 Residents Prepared for Apprenticeships

By Allan Leicht

Fifteen newly certified and empowered young New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA) residents were showered with diplomas, certificates, licenses, awards, applause, laughter, cheers and tears in the ceremonial room of NYCHA's Resident Employment Services in Brooklyn, on the afternoon of May 19th. The graduates are now prepared for full-fledged union apprenticeships in the construction trades. They are the Minority Worker Training (MWT) Class of 2006.

Master of Ceremonies and MWT Program Coordinator David Meyers welcomed the graduates, their families, and MWT faculty and Housing Authority officials, urging the graduates to build on their success. "You are on the frontier of a new initiative," Mr. Meyers said. "Be great. Be excellent."

MWT is a not-for-profit organization that is run by the Chicago-

Public Hearing On the 'Plan To Preserve Public Housing'

By Eileen Elliott

MORE THAN 1,000 NEW YORK CITY HOUSING AUTHORITY (NYCHA) RESIDENTS, ELECTED OFFICIALS AND ADVOCATES CAME TOGETHER IN THE HAMMERSTEIN BALLROOM OF THE MANHATTAN CENTER IN MIDTOWN FOR TWO-AND-HALF HOURS ON THE EVENING OF JUNE 8TH TO EXPRESS THEIR CONCERNS ABOUT NYCHA'S SEVEN-POINT "PLAN TO PRESERVE PUBLIC HOUSING (PPPH)." The areas of greatest concern were the proposed rent increase for the 27% of NYCHA households which pay ceiling rent (and on average pay less than 17% of their incomes in rent); NYCHA's plan to use Section 8 funding to subsidize operations for its unfunded City and State units; and the recent increases in fees for heavy duty appliances, charges for material and labor costs associated with repairing damages caused by residents, and parking fees.

The Public Hearing is mandated by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and is held annually to give residents the opportunity to comment on the Annual Plan, which covers the Housing Authority's major initiatives for the coming year. The Hearing this year was on the FY2007 Annual Plan, as well as the PPPH, the main points of which are included as an amendment to the FY2006 Annual Plan.

Traditionally, the Public Hearing has been the culmination of a process which includes five Town Hall meetings, one in each borough. This year, because of the important issues covered in the PPPH, NYCHA staff also participated in 175 meetings with residents and other stakeholders to respond to questions and explain the Plan.

NYCHA's Department of Community Operations Deputy General Manager Hugh Spence served as moderator for the evening. Mr. Spence began by providing a short overview of the PPPH, noting that NYCHA has been facing recurring annual deficits because of federal funding that has not kept pace with increasing expenses, like energy and healthcare, and

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON THE CHARGES, FEES, AND POSSIBLE RENT INCREASE

IF HUD ACCEPTS THE AMENDMENT TO THE ANNUAL PLAN FOR FY2006, WHEN WILL THE NEW RENTS BECOME EFFECTIVE?

First, it is important to note that the proposed rent increase, if it is approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), will affect only 27% of NYCHA residents—those residents who already pay ceiling rent. By definition this is less than the 30% limit. If HUD approves, the earliest any residents will see the new rent charge in their monthly bill is February 2007. If your rent has gone up recently, it is because of additional household income reported at your last quarterly review. PLEASE NOTE THAT WHENEVER THERE IS A CHANGE IN YOUR RENT, YOU WILL RECEIVE A LEASE ADDENDUM AND RENT NOTICE.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE$28 Million Project Will Bring Quality Market
And 200 Jobs To Red Hook

THIS SPRING, I WAS JOINED BY SENATOR CHARLES E. SCHUMER, BOROUGH PRESIDENT MARTY MARKOWITZ AND FAIRWAY PRESIDENT HOWARD GLICKBERG TO CUT THE RIBBON ON THE NEW FAIRWAY MARKET ON THE FOUR-BLOCK LONG BEARD STREET PIER ON BROOKLYN'S WATERFRONT IN RED HOOK. The project, in what was a pre-Civil War coffee warehouse, includes a 52,000-square-foot food market, a 22,000-square-foot food preparation area on the second floor, parking for more than 300 cars, and waterfront landscaping including a half-mile path connecting the Beard Street Pier to Pier 41.

Fairway and the City's Department of Small Business Services (SBS) worked with the Fifth Avenue Committee — a not-for-profit that creates links to employment for residents of South Brooklyn — on community outreach to recruit, train and refer candidates for jobs at Fairway. Of the 300 potential new Fairway employees: 180 are from Brooklyn and about 110 are from Red Hook, including five of the store's assistant managers. Forty-two of the new employees live in New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA) developments including Red Hook, Wyckoff, Gowanus, Albany and Sheepshead-Nostrand Houses. NYCHA residents should call the Resident Employment Services Hotline listed on page 9 for more on job opportunities and training.

Revitalizing our waterfront and connecting it to neighborhoods is one of our primary economic development goals, and there is no better example of what we can accomplish than what is underway along the Brooklyn Waterfront in Red Hook. Improving the quality of life also means improving the quality of housing, and NYCHA has been busy improving its massive Red Hook Houses I and II, which together have 2,879 apartments in 25 buildings. Red Hook I was completed in 1939 and Red Hook II in 1955. This $45 million capital improvement project focuses on roof and building exterior repairs.

This area has a long history as a working waterfront, and I'm pleased the vast majority of new jobs at Fairway will be filled by Brooklyn residents, as is the case at the new Brooklyn Cruise Terminal on Pier 12. By promoting quality amenities like Fairway on previously City-owned land, creating a world-class waterfront park and placing job-intensive, maritime industrial companies on Piers 7 through 10, we are adding to Red Hook's increasing lure as a great place to live and work.

The new Fairway is not just for residents of Brooklyn. Manhattan residents will be able to travel to the new market by water on weekends when New York Water Taxi will run ferry service from Battery Park, World Financial Center, South Street Seaport and other Manhattan stops right to the dock outside the store. The seven-minute ride, which is partially subsidized by Fairway, will cost $5 each way.

The new Fairway Market is joining a number of other projects that are bringing new life and jobs to the Brooklyn Waterfront. Last month, the Queen Mary 2 was the first ship to berth at the City's new $56 million Brooklyn Cruise Terminal. North of the cruise terminal on Piers 1-6, the City and State are investing $150 million to create Brooklyn Bridge Park, replacing obsolete piers with a vibrant public space and reconnecting the community to New York Harbor. To the South in Sunset Park, the City reached an agreement with Lafarge North America, in 2003, one of the world's largest cement distribution companies, to develop a new facility on the 25th Street Pier. In 2004, the City signed agreements with Sims Hugo Neu Company and the Axis Group to develop a marine-based recycling center and an automobile processing facility at the South Brooklyn Marine Terminal in Sunset Park. Combined with the Fairway development, these projects are bringing more than 920 jobs and more than $330 million in public and private investment to the Brooklyn Waterfront.

following day at a reception. Long-time Harborview Visual Arts Program Coordinator Wiley Lucero, who began the program, estimated that New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA) residents created 10,000 works of art over the course of the year with the help and guidance of the Harborview artist/educators who held weekly workshops in 60 Community Centers across the city.

The work itself was spectacular, covering the walls of the gymnasium from floor to ceiling and extending down one of the hallways. There were watercolor, tempera, and acrylic paintings in bright, vibrant colors, photographs shot with digital cameras, prints created with computer graphics programs, sculptures made from papier-mâché and various other materials, including popsicle sticks, and mobiles of straws and seed pods.

In explaining why the Housing Authority has funded art programs for the past 26 years, Mr. Lucero used the incredible transformation of the gymnasium at Rutgers — from a gym to a museum — as an example, and said, "I believe you can do very simple things like this and change the world."

Department of Citywide Programs Director Ernesto Lozano served as Master of Ceremonies for the event, reminding the residents in the audience that it was being held in their honor. Deputy General Manager Hugh Spence thanked the NYCHA Board and General Manager, all of whom, he said, have always recognized the importance of and supported the Harborview Visual Arts Program. Vice-Chairman Earl Andrews, Jr. seconded Mr. Spence's remarks. The Deputy General Manager then had the honor of introducing the Housing Authority's newest Board Member, "a child of the Lower East Side," as he described her, Margarita López.

With her characteristic passion, Ms. López noted that the first art ever discovered was painted on the walls of caves, and depicted hunting scenes. "It was about teaching generation to generation how to maintain society, to guarantee the existence of the species. When we embrace art we embrace life," she told the crowd, "and you are life."

Special thanks went out to Mr. Lucero along with Harborview Art Coordinators Josephine Gonzalez and Mildred Beltré. The event concluded with the magnificent songs of the NYCHA Senior Chorus, Voices Across the City, led by Carrie Jones.

CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

The New York City Housing Authority
Has A Lot To Offer Young
Residents In July and August

THE NEW YORK CITY HOUSING AUTHORITY (NYCHA) HAS A LOT TO OFFER YOUNG RESIDENTS DURING THE MONTHS OF JULY AND AUGUST. There are many recreational and educational activities to help NYCHA youth make the most of the hottest summer months.

Recreational

Summer Camp is open to youth ages 6 to 12, beginning on July 5th and lasts through August 25th. Camp meets from 9AM to 5PM and is held at 111

NYCHA-operated Community Centers. Contact your Community Operations Borough Office to find a location near you. (See page 5 for the telephone numbers.)

Summer Camp brings with it the opportunity to participate in a host of activities, many of which are listed in the Education Through Sports Program Summer Schedule on page 6 of this Journal. Let me give you a little more detail about some of these events.

Among the special events hosted by the Education Through Sports Program, listed on page 6, is Education Through Sports Day, which is offered in all boroughs and is open to all NYCHA youth. It is a fun-filled day of free instructional clinics in soccer, lacrosse, flag football, martial arts, golf and other "non-traditional" sports. During the Citywide Carnival, which is also held in each borough, youth compete in traditional carnival-like games such as sack races and bean bag tosses. Youth who train in Track and Field at NYCHA Community Centers participate in borough-wide competitions during Track and Field Day that lead to the Citywide Olympics, which will be held on August 17th, at Riverbank State Park in Manhattan.

The Fishing Contest, which is open to NYCHA youth of all ages from all boroughs will be held on August 11th at Clove Lakes Park in Staten Island. Fishing poles and bait are provided along with trophies and prizes. And there's no need for guilt — all fish caught are also released. Kids Walk, a 5K walkathon to promote healthy living will be held on August 16th, also at Clove Lakes Park. The Softball League starts up on July 10th and runs through September 1st. Call any of the telephone numbers listed at the top of the Education Through Sports Summer Schedule on page 6 for more information.

The Police Athletic League (PAL), together with NYCHA, will turn regular streets into Play Streets at 40 developments for seven weeks this summer beginning on July 10th. The Play Street Program creates secure play areas located in streets or playgrounds around NYCHA facilities, with activities designed to be intellectually stimulating, build social skills and provide cultural enrichment.

Summer Food Service Program

If all of the summer fun makes your child or teen hungry, no need to worry. NYCHA begins its Summer Food Service Program which provides free nutritious breakfast, snacks and lunches, Monday through Friday, beginning July 6th and ending August 25th at 63 Community Centers. This program is available to residents 18 and under. See page 6 for details, or register by calling (212) 306-3358.

Educational Programs

Partners In Reading (PIR) is a collaboration between the Mayor's Office, NYCHA and the Department of Education, currently serving approximately 2,500 children in the first, second and third grades at 78 NYCHA locations. The overall goal of the program is to improve the children's literacy skills through a combination of classroom instruction, homework help, individual tutoring, interactive projects and outreach to parents.

The PIR Summer Program will begin on July 10th. Contact the Department of Community Operations' Educational Services Unit at (212) 306-3358 if you are interested.

This article lists just some of what NYCHA has to offer this summer. For more information, visit the "Residents' Corner" on NYCHA's Web site at www.nyc.gov/nycha, contact your Community Center or call the numbers listed. Whatever you and/or your children do this summer, don't forget to stay safe and have fun.

BOROUGH DIGEST

Brooklyn: On May 24th the Red Hook community came out to celebrate one of its "unsung heroes," Red Hook East Resident Association President Dorothy Shields. Ms. Shields has been Resident Association President at the development for an incredible 35 years! Among the many celebrants who crowded into the Police Athletic League's (PAL) Miccio Center on West 9th Street, were NYCHA's Brooklyn Borough Director Gloria Finkelman, Brooklyn Community Operations Director Wanda Gilliam, Red Hook Houses East Manager Boniface Ezeji, and Kings County District Attorney Charles J. Hynes. Ms. Shields received many proclamations commemorating her years of service to the residents of Red Hook, including one from Brooklyn Borough President Marty Markowitz naming May 24th, "Ms. Dorothy Shields Day in the Borough of Brooklyn." Other highlights of the ceremony included songs and an original poem by the children of the center.

The Bronx: NYCHA is slated to receive $225,000 of Community Development Block Grant funds through the City of New York, for use in its Elderly Safe at Home Program for seniors at seven developments in the South Bronx. The Program provides for crisis intervention and crime prevention services utilizing centralized networks of social workers, volunteers, resident patrol persons and paraprofessionals, to educate elderly and disabled residents about anti-crime tactics. The Program also provides comprehensive services to victims of crime. The objective is to enhance the quality of life for those residents, increase their ability to live independently, and make them less vulnerable to criminal offenders.

Manhattan: The Grand Street Settlement House on the Lower East Side celebrated 90 years of Senior Programs on May 20th. Among the speakers for the event were Manhattan Borough Administrators Rafael Rodriguez and Paul Christiani. Grand Street provides services primarily for residents of Baruch and Gompers Houses. In total, it assists approximately 1,000 seniors annually through a variety of programs. Grand Street's newest program for seniors is the Baruch Elders Services Team (BEST) Program, which began in 2003. BEST employs senior volunteers to conduct outreach to their homebound peers in the Baruch Houses.

DEBORAH'S DIARY

By Deborah Williams

College Tour—On April 16, 2006, NYCHA staff and 29 participants from 13 Bronx Community Centers boarded a bus that was headed for the Carolinas and an educational experience that not only provided a closer look at college life but inspired the participants to have new attitudes about attending college. It was Community Operations' Bronx Borough Administrator Christine Barnes whose concern for the education of NYCHA youth prompted the idea of sponsoring a tour of out-of-state colleges. All anyone interested in the College Tour had to do was submit a 500 word essay and attend 11 workshops. Seventy-four essays were submitted and judged by Bronx Borough Community Operations Director Deidra Gilliard, Deputy Director Ilia Figueroa and Senior Program Manager Mario Hamblin.

The participants, all high school students from grades 9 – 12, began the trip with a visit to Orangeburg, South Carolina and South Carolina University. They were given information about the school, attended a question and answer session, and toured the campus. As a special treat they dined with Miss South Carolina State, who is a senior at the University.

The next day, the participants visited Johnson & Wales Culinary University in Charlotte, North Carolina, where they learned about culinary art and hotel management. "By the tour's end, not only did Johnson & Wales win everyone over with their PowerPoint presentation, the food sealed it," said Ms. Barnes.

The following day, the participants arrived at Shaw University in Raleigh, North Carolina, where they met youth from the New Jersey Housing Authority. The final stop on the tour was Saint Augustine's College, also located in Raleigh, North Carolina. It was here the participants learned how grants and ROTC benefits could make it possible to attend four years of college for free.

The essay requirement for the next cycle of college tours has been increased from 500 to 1000 words. Applicants must maintain a "C" average and each student involved must raise money. Ms. Barnes will begin recruiting during the end of August. The competition will be open to Bronx Community Center residents in grades 9 – 12 only.

"I feel the college tour was a great experience. I was highly impressed, but tired," Ms. Barnes said. "However, it felt good knowing I was able to make a difference in the participants' lives. You know one parent called me to tell me that her son had no direction in life and now he is so excited. Another parent stated that this trip is all she has heard about for the last couple of days." Out of the 29 participants, 12 have applied to colleges.

Congratulations to the 29 participants and also to you Ms. Barnes for making education a priority. To the participants, remember, the doors to colleges and universities are open to you — stay focused and committed to your goals and in four years you will be walking out of those doors with a college degree!

It's more than a birthday—They say age is nothing but a number but in this case that's not true because it's a big deal when you turn 100 years young, and that's exactly what Mrs. Alelia Stewart Murphy did on July 6, 2006. Alelia Stewart was born on July 6, 1906, in Grifton, North Carolina to Hattie and John Stewart. Leaving the love of her life, Fund Murphy, in North Carolina to complete college, Miss Stewart moved to New York City in 1926 to help her sister. However, the long distance romance was soon to end as Fund Murphy and Alelia Stewart were married on October 7, 1926. Out of the marriage she gave birth to two children, Fredrick Russell and Rose. Although her husband passed away in December of 1953, Mrs. Murphy said she has wonderful memories of him.

In 1963, Mrs. Murphy moved into Taft Houses and has been living there for the past 43 years. She was a member of the Tenant Association for five years. When I asked her what she attributes her longevity to, Mrs. Murphy replied, "All my life has been happy. I had no worries except for when someone dies, which is my greatest woe. It's something I experienced recently when my son Fredrick Russell died. Other than that my life has been good."

Mrs. Alelia Murphy is the proud grandmother of three and the great-grandmother of six. The family celebrated her 100th birthday at the famous Alhambra Ballroom in Harlem.

Wow! One-hundred years young. Who knows what the source of your longevity is, whether genes or eating the right food, but good living must be a part of it. Congratulations on your 100 years!

The NYCHA Not Wanted List

In this issue we continue our editorial policy of publishing the names of individuals who have been permanently excluded from our public housing developments. THREE PORT
AUTHORITY
DEFRAUDING
NYCHA

On May 25th, New York City Department of Investigation (DOI) Commissioner Rose Gill Hearn and Inspector General of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey (PANYNJ) Robert E. Van Etten, announced the arrests of three PANYNJ employees who are New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA) residents or recipients of Section 8 benefits administered by NYCHA.

Each employee was found, by way of a computer match of NYCHA tenant and PANYNJ employee records, to have concealed his/her PANYNJ income in order to fraudulently receive subsidized housing benefits from NYCHA. The arrests are a result of a DOI initiative to jointly work with other government entities to detect public employees illegally receiving housing benefits.

Bill Dewitt, Doreen Rose and Renee Taylor have each been charged with violating NYS Penal Law § 155.35, Grand Larceny in the 3rd degree, a Class D felony, and NYS Penal Law § 175.35, Offering a False Instrument for Filing in the 1st degree, a Class E felony. Dewitt and Taylor also were charged with related crimes. If convicted, each defendant faces up to seven years in prison.

Commissioner Rose Gill Hearn said, “DOI will continue to cooperate with other government entities, as we did here with the Port Authority, to stop costly abuses of public housing benefits and identify, arrest and prosecute public employees and others who steal.”

Bill Dewitt, 35, a resident of a three-room apartment located on Andrews Avenue in the Bronx was found to have concealed from NYCHA his employment with the Port Authority while receiving Section 8 rent subsidies. Doreen Rose, 41, a resident of a five-room apartment at NYCHA’s Wagner Houses in Harlem, allegedly concealed from NYCHA that she has been employed with the Port Authority since December 2000. Renee Taylor, 44, a resident of a four-bedroom apartment at NYCHA’s Taft Houses, also in Harlem, failed to report her PANYNJ employment on yearly Affidavits of Income she filed with NYCHA for the years 1996 to 2004.

These arrests are part of an ongoing City-wide crackdown by DOI and New York area prosecutors that have resulted since 1995 in the arrest of 429 residents,

Barbecues and Picnics On NYCHA Grounds

Any resident interested in having a picnic or barbecue on NYCHA grounds must follow the procedures listed below.

First, NYCHA picnic areas are not available in all developments. Residents may use designated picnic and barbecue areas in those developments where they are available from May 1st to September 30th between the hours of 10 AM and 8 PM.

Authorization to use a picnic area must be obtained by the lessee from his or her Management Office by filling out the "Request to Use Picnic Area" form and submitting it to the Management Office at least 10 days in advance of the requested date. The Management Office must respond within two business days of receiving the request. Upon approval of the request, the requester will be issued a picnic area key on the day of the picnic, or on the business day before if the picnic is on a weekend or holiday, along with a copy of the request. The picnic area key must be returned the first business day after use.

The following regulations also apply:

- The resident must keep a copy of the "Request to Use Picnic Area" form available during the picnic to show to a police officer upon request;
- Only permanently installed charcoal grills may be used in the barbecue area;
- Open or campground fires are not permitted;
- The resident must make sure that the gates remain open when the picnic area is in use;

HomeFirst Down Payment Assistance Program

Many New Yorkers want to buy a home but do not have enough money saved for the down payment. As part of Mayor Bloomberg's "New Housing Marketplace Plan," the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) has established the HomeFirst Down Payment Assistance program, which will provide qualified homebuyers with up to 6% of the purchase price of the home toward the down payment or closing costs on a new home.

To qualify for the loan, a prospective homebuyer must meet the following criteria:

- Be a first-time homebuyer;
- Complete a homebuyer education course taught by an HPD-approved counseling agency;
- Have their own savings to contribute to the down payment or closing costs;
- Meet program income eligibility requirements;
- Purchase a one-to-four family home, a condominium, or a cooperative for owner-occupancy in one of the five boroughs of New York City;
- Home purchased must be the homebuyer's principal residence for at least 10 years.

New York City Housing Authority residents interested in purchasing their first home may check the HPD website at www.nyc.org/hpd for the HomeFirst Down Payment Assistance Program to determine if they are eligible, or call 311.

including 139 City, State and Federal employees, who were charged with stealing more than $8.5 million in rent and welfare subsidies by hiding their income and assets from the City. So far, 333 cases have resulted in convictions and over $4.7 million in restitution. Thus far in 2006 alone, 20 individuals have been arrested for illegally receiving approximately $435,000 in government housing benefits.

These investigations were jointly conducted by NYCHA Inspector General Judith F. Abruzzo and members of her staff, and PANYNJ Inspector General Robert E. Van Etten and members of his staff, and Police Detectives John C. Noble and Danny DiPrimo. Criminal complaints are accusations. Defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty.

The above article is a condensed version of a press release from New York City's Department of Investigation.

Queens: Queens is a winner when it comes to the New York City Housing Authority's (NYCHA's) Annual Safety Awards. NYCHA gives these awards out each year to the Borough Management Office with the lowest employee injury rate for all developments in that borough, and to the individual developments that have the lowest number of employee injuries. An award was presented to Queens Borough Director Michael Cornelius on June 15th at NYCHA's Borough Management Office in Jamaica. Bland Houses and Latimer Gardens in Flushing were among the five developments throughout the City to also receive awards for being injury free. Awards are presented to all development staff from Managers, to Superintendents, to Housing Assistants, Caretakers and Maintenance Staff.

Staten Island: Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg kicked off the 2006 beach season on May 24th at Staten Island's South Beach. He was joined by Borough President James P. Molinaro, Parks and Recreation Commissioner Adrian Benepe, and over 200 children from local public schools to announce the official opening of the City's seven beaches and 52 outdoor pools (which are free by the way) beginning May 27th through September 4th, from 10:00 AM to 6:00 PM.

Staten Island's beaches have benefitted from more than $30 million in improvements over the past decade. There are three beaches in Staten Island: Midland Beach, South Beach and Wolfe's Pond Beach.

based Office of Applied Innovation (OAI), which collaborated with NYCHA on this program.

Emotions swelled as Program Manager Gregory Smith promised not to weep with pride over the achievements of the graduates. He then proceeded to choke up joyfully as he told them, "Never forget, nobody gave you anything, you earned everything."

NYCHA Deputy General Manager for Community Operations Hugh Spence noted the group's significance as, "The first seeds of success of a pre-apprenticeship program," as did Assistant Deputy Manager for Capital Projects Constantino Sagonas. Mr. Sagonas said that he looked forward to NYCHA resident apprentices working alongside union members on construction projects over the next few years. "This is a long-term opportunity," he told them.

NYCHA's Resident Employment Services (RES) Director Sonia Torruella commended the relationship between the Office of Applied Innovation (OAI) as NYCHA's partner, her own NYCHA staff and the graduates. "It is our responsibility," Ms. Torruella said, "to make sure NYCHA residents get access to these programs."

The MWT is made possible by a grant from The National Institute of Environmental Health Services (NIEHS). In addition to acquiring proficiency in industry-specific building trades, the graduates were awarded licenses in asbestos and lead abatement, and as hazardous waste handlers. Their State certificates in those areas of expertise were delivered from Albany that very morning.

Class Valedictorian Brandon Butts-Green and Salutatorian Pedro A. Rodriguez led the succession of remarks by the graduates. Mr. Butts-Green paid tribute to his mother, asking her to stand up in the audience, after he was awarded several prizes, including perfect attendance despite a two-hour daily commute from home in East New York, Brooklyn to the Melrose Community Center in the Bronx, where most MWT classes took place.

Each of the other graduates — Jorge Borges, Tenasha Chambers (applauded as the lone female graduate), Courtland Coleman, Anthony Gonzalez, Anthony Lashley, Mitchell Martinez, Troy Riley, Desmond Rivers, Robert Santana, Troy Watson, JaShawn Wiggins, Anthony Williams and Tarik Williams — were given individual awards for achievements ranging from overall excellence to carpentry, health and safety, and leadership.

that this year the deficit reached $168 million. He emphasized that the demolition of public housing in New York City is not an option, as it has been for other cities, nor can NYCHA afford to continue to use its cash reserves to cover deficits.

He then outlined the house rules to the audience, emphasizing that each speaker had three minutes to make his or her point.

Seated on the dais to hear the comments were NYCHA Chairman Tino Hernandez, Vice-Chairman Earl Andrews, Jr., Board Member Margarita López, General Manager Douglas Apple, and Housing Bureau Police Chief Joanne Jaffe.

The Speakers

Residents, Resident Association leaders, advocates for Victims of Domestic Violence, and elected officials raised topics from the need for more federal and state funding for public housing, to the need for improved maintenance services and police protection.

The Housing Bureau Police Cadets were on hand to keep things running smoothly and tables were set up in the lobby with staff to provide information on Resident Employment Services, Social Services, the unsubsidized City- and State-built developments, Human Resources and Citywide Programs. There was also a table to register resident complaints and a special table with a "Rent Calculator" so that those residents who are among the 27% whose rents could increase if the Plan is approved could calculate estimates of their new rents.

Next Steps

After compiling the comments, NYCHA staff met once again with the 54-member Resident Advisory Board, a group of public housing and Section 8 residents, who work with NYCHA on the creation of the Annual Plan. The NYCHA Board then approved the Plan at the June 28th Board Meeting and forwarded it to HUD. HUD has 75 days to approve the Plan.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

HOW CAN I FIND OUT HOW MUCH MY RENT WOULD INCREASE?

If you are among the 27% of residents who could be affected by the proposed rent increase and want to know the amount of your new rent, ask your Housing Assistant or visit NYCHA's Web site listed at the bottom of this article, and use the "Rent Calculator" link at the bottom of the article on the "Plan To Preserve Public Housing," or in the "What's New?" section of the "Residents' Corner." This will give you an estimate of the new rent.

WHEN DID THE NEW HEAVY-DUTY APPLIANCE SURCHARGE FEES AND INCREASES IN THE CHARGES OF MATERIALS AND LABOR FOR FIXING DAMAGES GO INTO EFFECT?

The new rates for appliance surcharge fees for the use of heavy duty appliances went into effect June 1, 2006 and were reflected in the June rent bill. The new charges for the costs of materials and labor for the repair of damages caused by residents also went into effect on June 1, 2006. THERE CONTINUES TO BE NO CHARGE FOR ROUTINE MAINTENANCE OR REPAIR.

WHEN DID THE NEW PARKING FEES GO INTO EFFECT?

The new parking fees went into effect on May 1, 2006. As yet, parking fees are not itemized on rent bills, but should be by the fall. For a complete list of the parking fees, visit NYCHA's Web site or check with your Management Office.

DOES MY MONTHLY RENT BILL ITEMIZE ADDITIONAL CHARGES?

The new utility fee for washing machines and charges for repair or replacement of damaged items are itemized on your monthly bill. NYCHA is in the process of revising the rent bills so that they will reflect all extra charges (air conditioners, freezers and dishwashers, and parking fees). This is expected to be completed in the fall. Please contact your Housing Assistant if you have any questions.

CHECK WITH YOUR MANAGEMENT OFFICE IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS, OR VISIT NYCHA'S WEB SITE AT NYC.GOV/NYCHA FOR A COMPLETE LIST OF ALL CHARGES AND FEES.
