RE: My Response to Testimony of Dick Dadey of Citizen Union

Citizen Union mentioned “given the population size of the city of New York and a complex operation city government with a budget of 73 Billions”

First the city council members’ districts average population is 134.000 and average household is 61.000 per 2010 census. Second in regards to the 73 billion budget, the mayor’s office submits a proposed budget to the city council. Public hearings are held and agencies with their financial reports and staff lobby why they need more money. Also the public testify what services they feel are more important to their community. Therefore the budget is adopted by a combined effort and most of the data provided is from the agency heads that submit their budgets.

I am not diminishing the city council work but it seems that it was overinflated in Citizen Union’s testimony on total population size and budget amount. Most if not all the city council member do not have any financial or accounting backgrounds.

Second, it regards to Lulus, I do agree that if lulus are “abolished” then an additional increase of 10,000 would be fair since that is the average lulus that 92% of the city council members receive (47 out of 51 city council)

However, per the table submitted by Citizen Unions on the council members positions on compensation reform, 31 city council members and the mayor support eliminating lulus. So my question is then why haven't they don't so already. Actions speak louder than empty promises. Also reported in the article dated Feb. 2014 titled "winners and weasels", when they ran in 2013, 35 city council member candidates told voters they backed eliminating lulus yet only 10 of them kept their promise and refused the money. Just as in 2006 only 5 of the 51 city council members voted to eliminated lulus as recommended by the commission and voted themselves a 25% pay raise in addition to the lulus. Again, the elected officials ignored both the voters and the commission and they kept the lulus.

Third and most disturbing to me, Citizen Unions recommends a 20,000 bonus to the city council if they cap there outside income to 25% with full disclosure. However as verified in the annual financial disclosure and reported in November 12, 2015 titled ""NYC City Council members offering to give Up outside income – something most of Them don't have – for 71% raise", 40 of the 51 city council members have 0 earned outside income and 7 of the other city council members have outside earned income between 1,000-5,000. So basically Citizen Union is proposing to give them 20k to give up nothing. Also the issue remains whether the city council is full time or part time and it seems it will remain part time if they can continue to seek outside income.

Statutory, this job is a part time job and as the lady testified yesterday, many clock in committee meetings and leave even before the public testifies. So this 20k bonus in my opinion is unjust with no merit.

Citizen Union mentioned that higher salary would lead to less corruption is contrary to the fact. Several city council members were arrested and imprisoned after they received their 25% raise; former city council members Miguel Martinez, Larry Seabrook, Dan Halloran were arrested and imprisoned for corruption. Current city council member Ruben Wills was recently indicted and former city council member and currently assemblyman Erik Dilan fined 9,000 for taking an affordable apt while he and his wife made combined income over 174,000. He lived in that apt when he was a city council member.

Lastly many people earned below living wages yet they are not stealing from their employers. Greed is a lack of character in a person that isn't satisfied.

In regards to further reforms, a real reform is eliminating the city council discretionary fund aka pork spending which the city council members allocates directly to nonprofits in their communities. It was recently reported in June 2015 titled "city's new budget allots 57 millions for "pork spending" that they pork money jumped to 57 millions, over 7 millions more over the past 2 years.

If the city council would abolish discretionary funding then they do desire a 20k bonus because that is real reform Discretionary funding is basically additional campaign funding to buy support from the communities. They have ribbon cutting ceremonies and media coverage praising them for their allocation. But this is public money that belongs to the communities. If they abolish the discretionary funding, then public office would attract the brightest and the best candidates since they have a chance for them to win.

Lastly, the real way city elected officials especially the city council can gain experience is not with outside work but by remaining in the meeting and listening to all the public and experts testify on the issues.

Thank you.

The City Council is angling for a whopping 71% raise by giving up something most of them don't have — outside income.

A Daily News review found that 40 of 51 Council members report zero outside income — and most of those who do, pocket only small amounts as adjunct professors or part-time lawyers.

Seven Council members did report part-time moonlighting gigs, but their minimum take-home income averaged around $1,000 to $5,000. One Council member, Barry Grodenchik, was elected in September and has yet to be sworn in.

Only three Council members reported what could be considered substantive income on the side:

Chaim Deutsch (D-Brooklyn), the only Council member to report minimum outside income that topped six figures — between $100,000 and $250,000 from his real estate company, Chasa Management.

Peter Koo (D-Queens) continues to collect a minimum salary of $70,000 from his pharmacy companies, K&F Drug Corp. and Koo & Co. The maximum is $195,997.

David Greenfield (D-Brooklyn), an attorney, reports a minimum salary of $60,000 (the maximum at $99,999) for part-time law work.

All of this appears to undercut a key selling point to justify the hefty pay hike: that Council members would be sacrificing lucrative outside gigs that potentially create conflicts of interest.

On Thursday, the plot to inflate their paychecks received another body blow when Council Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito ridiculed the idea of a pay hike that steep.

“It definitely is a ridiculous amount,” she told reporters.

When asked if there was any chance she’d support such a proposal, she said, “Not at that amount. Not at all. I think it’s ridiculous.”

EDITORIAL: A RIP-OFF AT HALF THE PRICE

A commission appointed under the City Charter is mulling raises for elected officials. It’s expected to make a recommendation to the mayor regarding whether or not to grant lawmakers salary increases in early December.

Mark-Viverito said she might support a raise, but hasn’t settled on an amount.

“I want to hear what the commission has to say, and we will deliberate. That’s going to be our job and our responsibility,” she said.

Peter Koo (D-Queens) continues to collect a minimum salary of $70,000 from his pharmacy companies, K&F Drug Corp. and Koo & Co. The maximum is $195,997.

On the other hand, a hefty pay raise might help Mark-Viverito and 14 other Council members who reported that they've racked up at least $5,000 in credit card debt in 2014.

Three — Ben Kallos (D-Upper East Side), Mark Levine (D-Upper Manhattan) and Karen Koslowitz (D-Queens) — reported a minimum of $15,000 in plastic debt. Vincent Gentile (D-Brooklyn) beat them all — amassing a minimum of $30,000 debt on six separate cards.

And two others, Vanessa Gibson (D-Bronx), and Elizabeth Crowley (D-Queens), could pay off daunting student loans of at least $10,000 each.

As the Daily News reported, a group of Council members has been quietly pushing a plan to boost their paychecks to a whopping $192,500.

They receive a base salary of $112,500, with some pocketing bonuses known as “lulus” for chairing committees.

The average lulu is $8,000 but some — like the one Mark-Viverito gets as speaker — are as high as $25,000.

In exchange for the new salary — 71% higher than what they now receive — the members would agree to give up the lulus and outside employment.

The hope was that by agreeing to those concessions, some good government groups — who typically dislike lulus and pols holding outside jobs — would agree to back the generous pay package, City Council sources said.

The members arrived at the huge number by looking at the salaries of city commissioners of smaller municipal agencies who make $192,198.

Council member Brad Lander (D-Brooklyn), who opposes lulus, said he'd await the commission's specific recommendations before embracing a pay raise plan.

“The independent commission evaluates a wide range of relevant data and makes a recommendation based on that data,” he said.

Lander is eligible for an extra $15,000 as a committee chair, but has declined to accept it on principle.

Those that have credit card debt need to resign. Obviously, they are not fit to run the city.

As far back as I can remember politics was always a part time job. A person ran for office (any office) to help the people. It was a temporary elective from their normal job and once finished, returned to the private sector. TERM LIMITS..... While in office you were meagerly compensated for your time and efforts because YOU chose to take that office over your regular job. These leeches should be kicked out and forced back into their normal jobs.

City's new budget allots $57M for 'pork' spending

By Yoav Gonen, Rich Calder and Michael Gartland

Spending on pet projects among City Council members is jumping to $57 million in the coming fiscal year — $7 million more than this year's levels, new records show.

The 14 percent boost in spending came out of negotiations between Mayor Bill de Blasio and Council Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito as part of their agreement on a $78.5 billion citywide budget for fiscal 2016.

The increase was OK'd by the mayor even though he has called for the elimination of such funding, which good-government groups and other critics deride as pork.

The lion's share of the council's spending falls under the discretion of the speaker, who has direct say over $16.5 million in funds.

Records released Thursday afternoon show her biggest beneficiaries are nonprofit clients of the MirRam Group, which consulted on her 2013 council campaign, and whose founder, Luis Miranda, is considered a pal.

The lobbying firm's clients — including the Hispanic Federation, Comunilife and the East Harlem Council for Community Improvement — got $1.2 million in earmarks collectively.

"The speaker is proud to provide support for important groups which do critical work for New Yorkers," her spokesman said.

Her other big beneficiaries include the nonprofit arm of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, which is getting $340,000.

The Ridgewood Bushwick Senior Citizens Council, the controversial nonprofit founded by disgraced ex-Assemblyman Vito Lopez, was earmarked $250,000 at the request of several Brooklyn councilmen. Two of those members, former protégés of Lopez — Brooklyn Democrats Rafael Espinal and Stephen Levin — additionally chipped in nearly $100,000 combined.

Other members each allocated at least $660,000 to their pet causes — often to neighborhood groups with which they have close ties.

Brad Lander (D-Brooklyn) gave $25,000 to the nonprofit Fifth Avenue Committee, where he previously served as executive director for a decade. The Brooklyn delegation, where Lander wields a good deal of power, gave the organization an additional $75,000.

Councilwoman Maria del Carmen Arroyo (D-Bronx) earmarked $10,000 for The Bronx Defenders, a legal-aid group that recently came under fire when its staffers appeared in a rap video advocating cop-killing.

Members of the City Council must live up to their promises on lulus

A grand total of 10 members of the City Council have so far kept their pledges to spurn the stipends that empower the speaker to buy votes.

It took dedication to public service for the 10 to turn back annual amounts ranging from $5,000 to $15,000, while an additional 20 members are breaking their word to constituents.

In keeping with a long and lousy tradition, Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito last month published the list of who among her 51 members would be getting so-called lulus. The Council calls the payments compensation for committee leadership, but she denied money to only four members, all of whom are on the outs with her.

Before the November election, the good government group Citizens Union and the Daily News Editorial Board asked candidates whether they supported limiting lulus to the very top leaders, as is the case in virtually every other legislature in America. Imposing such a restriction would strip the speaker's power to pay for support or slash the salaries of members who buck her.

Thirty-five members of the Council that was sworn in on Jan. 1 told voters they backed reform. Now, though, with Mark-Viverito set to issue the first checks to her sweethearts on Valentine's Day, a depressingly small number are putting their money where their mouths were.

Bravo to the 10 who are refusing the money. They are: Brad Lander, Alan Maisel, Carlos Menchaca and Mark Treyger of Brooklyn; Andy Cohen of the Bronx; Dan Garodnick, Ben Kallos, Mark Levine and Helen Rosenthal of Manhattan; and Steve Matteo of Staten Island.

Sixteen of those who called for limiting lulus have resorted to the dodge of accepting the money with the vow of donating it to charity. They enjoy the political benefit of giving to favored causes — assuming they actually donate.

Public Advocate Letitia James, during her Council years, claimed she donated her lulu. Yet when she released her tax returns, there was no sign that she had taken a deduction for doing so.

Each of the 16 must give a public accounting of what he or she does with the funds. They are:

Inez Barron, Robert Cornegy, Mathieu Eugene, David Greenfield, Steve Levin, Darlene Mealy and Antonio Reynoso of Brooklyn; Fernando Cabrera and Ritchie Torres of the Bronx; Costa Constantinides, Julissa Ferreras, Peter Koo, Karen Koslowitz, Eric Ulrich, Jimmy Van Bramer and Ruben Wills of Queens.

Four members who called for restricting lulus are pocketing the money: Corey Johnson and Ydanis Rodriguez of Manhattan, Daneek Miller of Queens and Vincent Gentile of Brooklyn.

Three of the self-described reformers have not yet responded: Debi Rose of Staten Island and Danny Dromm and Paul Vallone of Queens.

On the other hand, three members who never urged change say they are donating their lulus to charity: Chaim Deutsch and Rafael Espinal of Brooklyn and Inez Dickens of Manhattan.

The mishmash makes no sense. Lulus are a corruption-inducing abuse. They must be abolished. Mark-Viverito and Lander, Rules Committee chair, have said that the Council will consider the issue in a package of reforms. New Yorkers will see if their word is as good as their colleagues'.
