1 Centre Street, Room 2400, New York, NY 10007

TC201INS

INCOME AND EXPENSE SCHEDULE
FOR RENT PRODUCING PROPERTIES

FORM TC201 INSTRUCTIONS FOR 2024/25

Attachment to application. Form TC201 is an attachment to an application or supplemental application (Form TC150). It is not valid if submitted separately.

Attachment to Form TC150 or Form TC159. For properties assessed at $750,000 or more and for recently acquired properties, if a required income and expense schedule was not available by March 1 when the original application was filed, the Form TC201 may be attached to Form TC150 and filed between March 2 and March 24, 2024. Form TC201 must be complete when filed.

Who should use Form TC201? Use Form TC201 to report income and expenses from the operation of a rental property. For example, an apartment building or a multi-tenant commercial building. If the Applicant leases the entire property to an unrelated person, the income and expenses also should be reported on this form. For example, a vacant lot leased to a parking operator or a store building leased to a single tenant.

A net lessor leasing to a related lessee that occupies the property may use Form TC200, Part 5, instead of Form TC201. A net lessor with a related lessee that sublets to unrelated tenants must use Form TC201.

Cooperatives must use Form TC203. Hotels must use Form TC208. A property used by the Applicant to operate a business such as a theater, public parking garage or department store must use Form TC214.

A Form TC201 is NOT required to be filed for residential properties with six or fewer units and no commercial (e.g., retail or office) space.

Form TC201 Part 1. Related lots.

Form TC201 may cover a group of lots operated by the same landlord if one or more of the following tests are met: i) all of the lots are contiguous, (i.e., sharing an edge or boundary; neighboring, adjacent or adjoining; ii) all of the lots are situated on the same or adjacent blocks and are operated as an economic unit; or iii) all of the lots are units in a single condominium and are covered by a single application (or if there are multiple blocks, by one application per block.).

Each lot requires a separate application (e.g., Form TC101) even if the income and expense schedule covers multiple lots (other than condominium units.) Attach the combined Form TC201 to the application for the first lot in the group. On the other applications, refer to that first lot or attach a copy of the Form TC201. If filing on Form TC150, file the combined schedule only for the first lot in the group.

File Form TC166 listing the related lots in a combined group. See Form TC166 instructions. If there has been a change in the lots in the combined group from the combined filing in the preceding year, or if no combined filing was made in the prior year, provide a written explanation for any change in the combined filing. If the combined filing this year is different from prior years, a written explanation must be provided by someone with personal knowledge.

Rules based on assessed value relating to accountant certifications, supplemental applications and reporting prior calendar year income are governed by the highest assessment in the group.

Form TC201 Part 2. You must indicate whether the accounting basis used for the reporting year is the same as was used in the prior year. The accounting basis must be the same one used for federal, state and local income tax returns.

Form TC201 Part 3. Report monthly rent due on the December 2023 or January 2024 rent roll. Your application may be denied review if you divide residential income reported in Part 6 by 12 to calculate monthly rent in Part 3 instead of stating an actual month's rent roll or if you report 12 times the monthly rent roll instead of the actual annual residential rental income.

Form TC201 Part 4. Nonresidential occupancy information may be reported line by line separately for specified floors or for the building as a whole. If reported separately line by line, each line totals 100% for the space on the floor(s). If reported as a whole, the area of each floor is a portion of the entire building area, and the sum of the floor-by-floor subtotals in the right hand column equals 100% of the entire building area. Percentages must be provided; approximate gross area, in square feet, may also be provided.

Form TC201 Part 4 information for certain Applicants not otherwise required to report rental income and expenses. An Applicant who owned an income-producing property before January 1, 2024, but is not required to report income and expenses for 2023, must complete Form TC201 Part 4 if the property is rented or offered for rent on January 5, 2024. Attach Form TC201 to the application, or submit it at the hearing attached to Form TC159.

Reporting year. A report covering the full calendar year ending on December 31, 2023, or full fiscal year ending after July 31, 2023, is considered a current statement. In most cases the Tax Commission requires a current statement.

If a current statement is unavailable, the Tax Commission will accept a statement for the calendar year ending December 31, 2022, but only if: i) the 2024/25 actual assessment is less than $750,000; ii) the Applicant operated the property for all of 2022; and iii) the Applicant does not use a fiscal year for federal income tax purposes.

A detailed explanation as to why current year figures are unavailable should be attached to the Form TC201.

If the Applicant uses a fiscal year for federal income tax purposes ending before July 31, the schedule may report income for the most recently ended fiscal year, as of a date six months prior to the date the application is filed.

The form has space for figures for the year prior to the current year. The Tax Commission requests that Applicants provide this information, if available for the full year prior to the current year. Prior-year consideration will not be granted if prior-year information is not provided either on the prior year Form TC201 or on the current year Form TC201.

Income and expenses to be reported. Report all income received or accrued in connection with the property. Report only actual operating expenses. Do not report projections or reserves. Do not report payments to related persons as expenses, unless disclosure is made as directed in the instructions for Part 7 below.

Income and expenses must be itemized as indicated in Form TC201 Parts 6 through 9 or review will be denied.

Income and expense figures should be reported to the nearest whole dollar amount. Using estimated or rounded figures may result in your application being denied a merits review.

Accountant certification. If the actual assessment is above $5,000,000, Form TC201 (or a corrected Form TC201, if any) must be accompanied by Form TC309, which must be signed by an independent certified public accountant who has conducted an appropriate audit of the Applicant's records. NOTE: THE THRESHOLD HAS BEEN RAISED TO $5,000,000 FROM $1,000,000. The accountant must sign his or her own name, not the firm name.

Required substantiation in 2024. Submit substantiation to explain the following 13 items:

1. Operating loss
2. More than 10% decrease in gross income
3. Continuing vacancy of 15% or more
4. Decrease or increase in operating expenses of 15% or more over the previous year's expenses.
5. Average monthly rent per apartment $650 or less, or $850 or less per apartment in Manhattan on or south of 110th Street.
6. Repairs and maintenance higher than 15% of gross rent
7. More than 15 percentage point increase in vacancy
8. Residential rent roll times 12 less than total residential income
9. Residential rent roll times 12 110% or more of total residential income
10. Residential rent roll times 12 equals precisely total residential income
11. Wages higher than normal for the type of property or the level of income

12. Total commercial rent substantially below market rental levels
13. Apparent inconsistency between RPIE and TCIE information or in the property's owner-occupied status.

How to substantiate these items.

Item 1. State the specific circumstances causing the operating loss, such as the number of tenants, time period and extent of vacancies, unusual expenses, or physical conditions.

Items 2, 3, 4, 7, 12, 13. State specifics that would explain the situation.

Items 5, 8, 9 and 10. Submit a copy of the December 2023 or January 2024 rent roll or the 2024 DHCR filing for the building. Tenants, apartment numbers, apartment rents and a total of the month's residential rents must be stated.

Item 11. Submit a weekly payroll statement from January 2024 with job descriptions, employee names, total gross salary and benefits. Social security numbers should be crossed out on any documentation submitted.

Item 6. Submit an itemized breakdown of repair and maintenance costs.

Substantiation must be either: (b) written on Form TC159, or (c) attached to Form TC159. See Form TC600A for details on when substantiation for the previous year is required. Failure to submit substantiation may result in a denial of review of the application. NOTE NEW SINCE 2022: substantiation of items 1 through 10 must be submitted with the application or at the hearing. Cases will NOT be placed on hold to submit substantiation after the hearing.

Supplemental information. You should strengthen your application by supplementing the income and expense schedule even when substantiation is not required. Copies of leases or abstracts, a rent roll, and itemizations of expenses may be useful. Supplementation is especially useful when there is no prior filing, there is a single major tenant, there is a substantial increase in the income from the prior year, or the building has unusual operating characteristics, for example, an unusually high expense item. A DHCR report is helpful to support below market rents. Use Form TC159 when the supplemental information is not attached to the application.

Department of Finance RPIE requirements. By June 1 each year, rent-producing properties assessed for $40,000 or more must file a Real Property Income and Expense statement with the Finance Dept. for use in preparing real property tax assessments. Exclusively residential properties with ten or fewer apartments, residential properties with up to six apartments and one store, and other types of properties may claim an exclusion from filing.

Failure to timely comply with RPIE filing requirements results in the loss of eligibility for Tax Commission review of the assessment the following year and subjects the owner to liability for fines.

Filing Form TC201 does not satisfy the RPIE filing requirement in 2024. Finance RPIE rules require electronic filing of RPIEs. Information on 2024 RPIE filing requirements is posted at www1.nyc.gov/site/finance/taxes/property.page.

Filing of the RPIE with the Department of Finance also does not satisfy the requirement to file an income and expense statement with the Tax Commission.

FORM TC201 PART 6. INCOME INFORMATION

Report all operating income received or accrued in connection with the property.

Definitions for purposes of Form TC201.

Related persons. Related persons include individuals related by blood, marriage or adoption, individuals and the business entities they control, business entities under common control, and fiduciaries and the beneficiaries for whom they act. A person includes a corporation or other business entity.

Rent must be correctly identified by use (apartments, offices, stores, loft, factory, warehouse, storage, parking) and should be consistent with the property description in Parts 7 and 8 of Form TC101 or Form TC109 (where Form TC201 is filed for condo units.) Regulated and unregulated residential rent must be reported separately on the two lines indicated in Part 6. When reporting rental income on the accrual basis and the reporting entity's leases call for scheduled increases in rent, do not straight-line rental income as may be required by Financial Accounting Standard No. 13. Payments by tenants to the reporting entity to terminate a lease prior to the lease's expiration date (lease termination income) should be included and specified in line k. Additional explanation or disclosures about any line item may be attached to Form TC201 or noted on Form TC309.

Line i. Income from related persons must be segregated from other income and listed only on line i. State the amount carried on the owner or Applicant's books for space occupied by the owner, Applicant, related parties or affiliates. If such rental income is not reflected on the reporting entity's books, an estimated fair market rental may be stated instead. Whether or not rent is stated, report the number of residential units on line i and non-residential floor area in Part 4 on page 1 of Form TC201.
