

Jacobi Medical Center

Always the best of care. Now in the best of places.

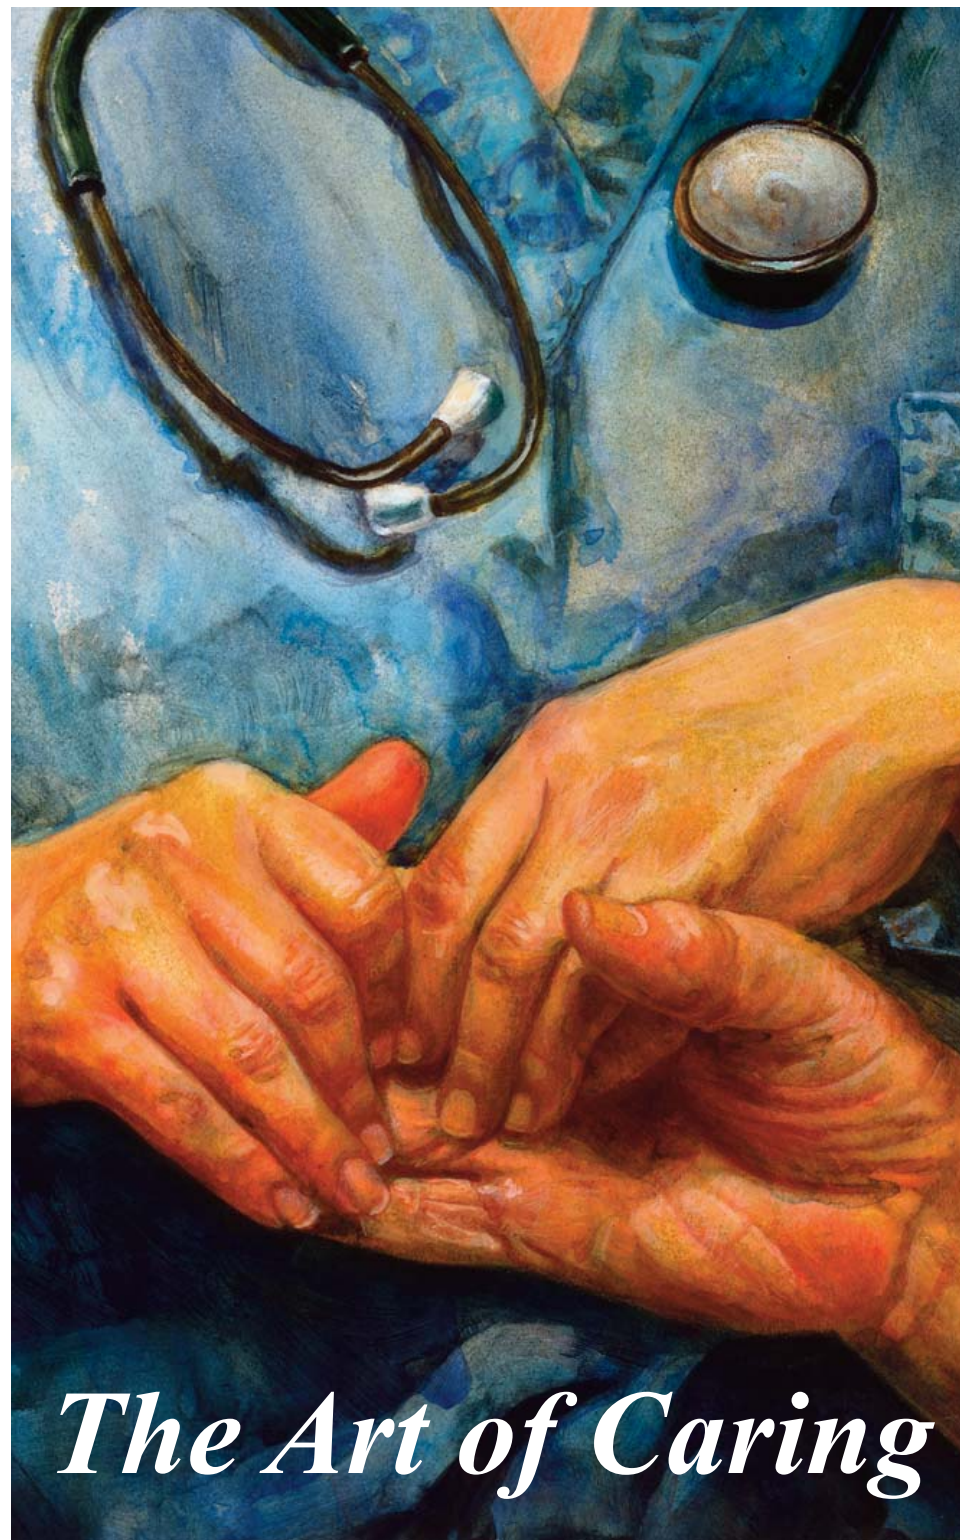

HHC - NYC Health & Hospitals Corporation (nyc.gov)
A teaching hospital of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine

Sutures, bandages and medicine are the tools that our physicians and caregivers use to restore the body.
However, as physicians and caregivers we cannot ignore the power of the mind and the stimulating effect of art in the curative process.
Our art...inspires the soul, which in turn heals and rejuvenates the body.

The Art of Caring

The Art of Caring Campaign recognizes that medicine is an art as much as a science; pays homage to an extraordinary array of caregivers whose interventions make the critical difference in both saving lives and optimizing recovery; and acknowledges the power of the mind in the curative process, bringing art to the bedside.

The Art of Caring campaign provides the resources essential for a growing collection of beautiful artwork installed throughout the hospital, while supporting the humanitarian efforts of the Jacobi Medical Center Auxiliary, Inc.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Becoming an Art of Caring sponsor is certain to bring both benefit and credit to you. Contributions will be noticed and appreciated by the vast numbers of patients, visitors and employees who traverse the hospital's departments and corridors on a daily basis.

WAYS TO GET INVOLVED

Jacobi Medical Center is supported by the Jacobi Medical Center Auxiliary, Inc. a group of very special volunteers that helps to support and enhance the care provided at our hospital. The Auxiliary, an independent, 501c3 organization, raises money for various aspects of patient care not supported through regular hospital resources. Those interested in joining the Auxiliary or making a monetary or in-kind donation should contact the Auxiliary at 718.918-3827.
