BACKGROUND

Prevailing Wage

New York State's prevailing wage law requires that contractors on state-funded construction projects pay their workers no less than the wage and benefit levels "prevailing" within the local construction market.¹ It was enacted by statute in 1897 in New York State and then written into New York's Constitution in 1938.² The law exists in an effort to protect New York construction workers from being undercut by low-wage, often out-of-state contractors that may bid for a large government construction contract that would ultimately take away jobs and erode working conditions for local residents.³

In New York City, prevailing wage is set annually by the New York City Comptroller for each trade or occupation for employers performing public works projects and building service work on New York City government-funded work sites.⁴ As required by New York State Labor Law Article Eight, prevailing wage rates for construction work on New York City public works projects are required, however New York City has additional prevailing wage requirements mandated by the New York City Administrative Code Section 6-130 for certain buildings receiving financial assistance from, or leasing space to, NYC government, and for food services or temporary office services workers that have contracts with NYC government agencies.⁵

Although critics of the prevailing wage law rely on a singular argument of “higher wages means higher taxpayer costs,” this is largely not true.⁶ In fact, in multiple studies, economists have found no evidence that these laws have had any significant cost effects on the biggest drivers of New York State’s capital budget: highways and institutional buildings.⁷ Instead, according to an analysis done by the Economic Policy Institute, the prevailing wage law has: attracted and hired the industry’s most productive workers with the provision of the most advanced equipment and technology; strengthened and protected the state’s blue-collar middle class; increased skills to low-skilled workers through the promotion of on-the-job training and apprenticeships; and led to lower fatal and nonfatal injury rates in construction statewide.⁸

ANALYSIS OF INT. NO. 1321-C

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to expanding the prevailing wage law for building service employees at city development projects.

Local Law 27 of 2012 (the “Prevailing Wage Law”) requires payment of prevailing wages to building service employees in buildings where a private developer receives at least $1,000,000 in discretionary financial assistance from the City or a City economic development entity for a City development project. Int. No. 1321-C would cover additional developers and projects by removing the current exemption in the Prevailing Wage Law for affordable housing projects and not-for-profit developers of residential projects.

The bill would exempt smaller residential projects with fewer than 120 units, certain supportive housing projects, deeply affordable preservation projects and New York City Housing Authority projects financed through the federal Rental Assistance Demonstration (“RAD”) program. The supportive housing exemption would apply to a project for the provision of housing in which: (i) a developer has entered into a regulatory agreement with a federal, state or local government entity that requires: (A) at least 50 percent of the residential units in such project be reserved for homeless, disabled individuals or homeless families with a disabled head-of-household, and (B) the provision of on-site supportive services to the residents of at least 50 percent of the residential units, and (ii) the remaining 50 percent of the residential units in such project be rented to households earning, on average, up to 80 percent of the area median income, adjusted for household size. The exemption for deeply affordable preservation projects would apply to a project that includes an existing building that is subject to a regulatory agreement with a federal, state or local government agency, provided that such agreement requires all of the residential units, other than units for resident employees of such building, to be affordable for households earning on average up to 50 percent of the area median income, adjusted for household size, and provided, further, that such project receives financial assistance: (A) solely in the form of a tax benefit or (B) that averages less than $35,000 per residential unit.

The bill would also require building service workers in preservation projects to be paid a “protected wage,” which is defined as the rate of wages and cost of benefits paid to a building service employee in a preservation project on the date that the financial assistance for such project is received plus an annual increase to account for any change in the cost of living and in the cost of providing benefits. As mentioned earlier, the requirements of the Prevailing Wage Law, as well as the requirements of Int. No. 1321-C, apply to the extent that the City or a City economic development entity is providing discretionary financial assistance. The provision of discretionary financial assistance from the City or a City economic development entity is distinct from a procurement for City services. Therefore, to the extent the City procures services such as temporary housing and shelter services, health and medical services, and social services, such procurement would not be subject to the requirements of this bill.

The proposed legislation would take effect 120 days after it becomes law.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK
FINANCE DIVISION
LATONIA MCKINNEY, DIRECTOR
FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

PROPOSED INTRO. NO: 1321-C

COMMITTEE: Civil Service and Labor

TITLE: A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to expanding the prevailing wage law for building service employees at city development projects.

SPONSORS: Espinal, Cumbo, Salamanca, Brannan, Adams, Moya, Lancman, Kallos, Treyger, Rose, Menchaca, Ampry-Samuel, Levine, Ayala, Grodenchik, Rodriguez, Powers, Van Bramer, Lander, Levin, Eugene, Koslowitz, Miller, Chin, Cabrera, Cohen, Rosenthal, Reynoso, Holden, Gibson, King, Richards, Rivera, Vallone, Maisel, Torres, Perkins, Gjonaj, Constantinides, Deutsch, and Louis.

SUMMARY OF LEGISLATION: Proposed Intro. No. 1321-C would cover additional developers and projects by removing the current exemptions under Local Law 27 of 2012 (“the Prevailing Wage Law”) for affordable housing projects and not-for-profit developers of residential projects. Currently, the Prevailing Wage Law requires payment of prevailing wages to building service employees in buildings where a private developer receives at least $1,000,000 in discretionary financial assistance from the City or a City economic development entity for a City development project. This legislation would require that building service workers in residential projects with 120 or more units receiving financial assistance for new construction or preservation be paid the prevailing wage. Certain supportive housing projects and projects financed through the federal Rental Assistance Demonstration program administered by the New York City Housing Authority would be exempt from the law. Existing small residential projects and deeply affordable housing projects receiving financial assistance for preservation would also be exempt.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This local law would take effect 120 days after it becomes law.

FISCAL YEAR IN WHICH FULL FISCAL IMPACT ANTICIPATED: Fiscal 2021

FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT:

	Effective FY20	FY Succeeding Effective FY21	Full Fiscal Impact FY21
Capital Expenditures⁹	$19,272,429	$46,253,830	$46,253,830

IMPACT ON REVENUES: It is estimated that there would be no impact on revenues resulting from the enactment of this legislation.

IMPACT ON EXPENDITURES: It is estimated that the enactment of this legislation would result in additional capital expenditures for residential projects financed by the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD). This estimate assumes that approximately 4,600 units financed by HPD each year would be newly covered by the requirements of this legislation. Under Housing New York, HPD currently finances the construction and preservation of about 25,000 affordable housing units annually. HPD estimates that about 15,000 of the 25,000 units financed annually, or 60 percent, are in buildings where building service workers are paid prevailing wages or are subject to a labor agreement. Those units would not be impacted by this legislation and are thus not included in this cost estimate. Additionally, over the five-year period, from 2014 to 2018, HPD financed the construction and preservation of 4,785 supportive housing units, or about 957 units annually, which would be exempt under the legislation. Furthermore, according to building level information available on NYC Open Data, about 44 percent of the units financed by HPD are in projects with less than 120 units and therefore would not be covered by this legislation.

Assuming that the 4,600 covered units are in projects receiving financial assistance of at least $1,000,000, are subject to a 30-year regulatory term with a discount rate of 6.5 percent, and are underwritten with two building service workers pursuant to the current prevailing wage schedule, it is estimated that the additional cost per unit as a result of the prevailing wage requirements would total about $10,055 per unit, or $46.3 million in total. The prorated amount for Fiscal 2020 is estimated to be approximately $19.3 million.

Such certification shall be certified by the chief executive or chief financial officer of the covered lessor, or the designee of any such person. The certification shall be annexed to a part of any prospective lease. A violation of any provision of the certification or failure to provide such certification shall constitute a violation of this section by the party committing the violation of such provision.

§ 3. Paragraphs (1), (2), (3), (4), and (6) of subdivision c of section 6-130 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 27 for the year 2012, is amended to read as follows:

(1) Except with regard to converted public housing building service workers in connection with a city development project or a preservation project, the following requirements shall apply to covered developers and protected developers:

(A) Covered developers shall ensure that all building service employees performing building service work in connection with a city development project are paid no less than the prevailing wage.

(B) Protected developers shall ensure that all building service employees performing building service work in connection with a preservation project are paid no less than the protected wage.

(2) Prior to commencing work at [the] a city development project, and annually thereafter, every covered developer shall provide to the city or the city economic development entity and the comptroller an annual certification executed under penalty of perjury that all building service employees subject to subparagraph (A) of paragraph 1 of this section, who are employed at a city development project by the covered developer or under contract with the covered developer to perform building service work will be and/or have been paid the prevailing wage. Prior to commencing work at a preservation project, and annually thereafter, every protected developer shall provide to the city or the city economic development entity and the comptroller an annual certification executed under penalty of perjury that all building service employees subject to subparagraph (B) of paragraph 1 of this section, who are employed at a preservation project by the protected developer or under contract with the protected developer to perform building service work will be and/or have been paid no less than the protected wage. Such certification shall include a record of the days and hours worked and the wages and benefits paid to each building service employee employed at the city development project or preservation project, or under contract with the covered developer or protected developer. Such certification shall be certified by the chief executive or chief financial officer of the covered developer or protected developer, or the designee of any such person. A violation of any provision of the certification, or failure to provide such certification, shall constitute a violation of this section by the party committing the violation of such provision.

(3) Each covered developer and protected developer shall maintain original payroll records for each building service employee subject to subparagraphs (A) or (B) of paragraph 1 of this section reflecting the days and hours worked, and the wages paid and benefits provided for such hours worked, and shall retain such records for at least six years after the building service work is performed. The covered developer or protected developer may satisfy this requirement by obtaining copies of records from the employer or employers of such employees. Failure to maintain such records as required shall create a rebuttable presumption that the building service employees were not paid the wages and benefits required under this section. Upon the request of the comptroller or the city, the covered developer or protected developer shall provide a certified original payroll record.

(4) No later than the day on which any work begins at any city economic development project or preservation project subject to the requirements of this section, a covered developer or protected developer shall post in a prominent and accessible place at every such city economic development project or preservation project, as applicable, and provide each building service employee subject to subparagraphs (A) or (B) of paragraph 1 of this section a copy of a written notice, prepared by the comptroller, detailing the wages, benefits, and other protections to which building service employees are entitled under this section. Such notice shall also provide the name, address and telephone number of the comptroller and a statement advising such building service employees that if they have been paid less than the prevailing wage or protected wage, as applicable, they may notify the comptroller and request an investigation. Such [notices] notice shall be provided in English and Spanish. Such notice shall remain posted for the duration of the [lease] applicable period as set forth in paragraph 6 of this subdivision and shall be adjusted periodically to reflect the current prevailing wage for building service employees. The comptroller shall provide the city with sample written notices explaining the rights of building service employees and covered developers' or protected developers' obligations under this section, and the city shall in turn provide those written notices to covered developers and protected developers.

(6) The requirements of this section shall apply for the term of the financial assistance, for ten years from the date that the financially assisted project opens, or for the duration of any written agreement between a city agency or city economic development entity and a covered developer or protected developer providing for financial assistance, whichever is longer.

§ 4. Paragraphs (1), (2), (3), (4) and (6) of subdivision d of section 6-130 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 27 for the year 2012, are amended to read as follows:

(1) [No later than October 1, 2012, the] The mayor or his or her designee shall promulgate implementing rules and regulations as appropriate and consistent with this section and may delegate such authority to the comptroller. Beginning twelve months after the enactment of the local law that added this section, the comptroller shall submit annual reports to the mayor and the city council summarizing and assessing the implementation and enforcement of this section during the preceding year.

(2) In addition to failure to comply with subdivisions b and c of this section, it shall be a violation of this section for any covered lessor [or], covered developer or protected developer to discriminate or retaliate against any building service employee who makes a claim that he or she is owed wages due as provided under this section or otherwise seeks information regarding, or enforcement of, this section.

(3) The comptroller shall monitor covered lessors' [and], covered [employers'] developers' and protected developers' compliance with the requirements of this section. Whenever the comptroller has reason to believe there has been a violation of this section, or upon a verified complaint in writing from a building service employee, a former building service employee, or a building service employee's representative claiming a violation of this section, the comptroller shall conduct an investigation to determine the facts relating thereto. At the start of such investigation, the comptroller may, in a manner consistent with the withholding procedures established by subdivision 2 of section 235 of the [state] labor law, request that the relevant contracting agency or entity withhold any payment due to the covered lessor [or], covered developer or protected developer in order to safeguard the rights of the building service employees.

(4) The comptroller shall report the results of such investigation to the mayor or his or her designee, who shall, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 6 of this subdivision and after providing the covered lessor [or], covered developer or protected developer an opportunity to cure any violations, where appropriate issue an order, determination, or other disposition, including, but not limited to, a stipulation of settlement. Such order, determination, or disposition may at the discretion of the mayor, or his or her designee, impose the following on the covered lessor, covered developer or protected developer committing the applicable violations: (i) direct payment of wages and/or the monetary equivalent of benefits wrongly denied, including interest from the date of the underpayment to the building service employee, based on the interest rate then in effect as prescribed by the superintendent of banks pursuant to section 14-a of the [state] banking law, but in any event at a rate no less than six percent per year; (ii) direct payment of a further sum as a civil penalty in an amount not exceeding [twenty-five] 25 percent of the total amount found to be due in violation of this section, except that in cases where a final disposition has been entered against a person in two instances within any consecutive six year period determining that such person has willfully failed to pay or to ensure the payment of the prevailing wages or protected wages in accordance with the provisions of this section or to comply with the anti-retaliation, recordkeeping, notice, or reporting requirements of this section, the mayor, or his or her designee, may impose a civil penalty in an amount not exceeding [fifty] 50 percent of the total amount found to be due in violation of this section; (iii) direct the maintenance or disclosure of any records that were not maintained or disclosed as required by this section; (iv) direct the reinstatement of, or other appropriate relief for, any person found to have been subject to retaliation or discrimination in violation of this section; or (v) direct payment of the sums withheld at the commencement of the investigation and the interest that has accrued thereon to the covered lessor [or], covered developer or protected developer. In assessing an appropriate remedy, due consideration shall be given to the gravity of the violation, the history of previous violations, the good faith of the covered lessor [or], covered developer or protected developer, and the failure to comply with record-keeping, notice, reporting, or other non-wage requirements. Any civil penalty shall be deposited in the general fund.

(6) Before issuing an order, determination, or any other disposition, the mayor, or his or her designee, as applicable, shall give notice thereof, together with a copy of the complaint, which notice shall be served personally or by mail on any person affected thereby. The mayor, or his or her designee, as applicable, may negotiate an agreed upon stipulation of settlement or refer the matter to the office of administrative trials and hearings, or other appropriate agency or tribunal, for a hearing and disposition. Such person or covered [employer] lessor, covered developer or protected developer shall be notified of a hearing date by the office of administrative trials and hearings, or other appropriate agency or tribunal, and shall have the opportunity to be heard in respect to such matters.

§ 5. Subdivision d of section 6-130 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new paragraph (9) to read as follows:

(9) The mayor, or an agency designated by the mayor shall promulgate a rule establishing a standard by which to calculate an increase in the rate of wages to account for any change in the cost of living and a standard by which to calculate any increase in the cost of benefits to account for changes in the cost of such benefits.

§ 6. This local law does not apply to any written agreement between a city agency or city economic development entity and either a covered developer or a protected developer providing for financial assistance executed prior to the effective date of this local law, except that extension, renewal, amendment or modification of such written agreement, occurring on or after the effective date of this local law, that results in the provision of any financial assistance to either a covered developer or a protected developer in addition to the financial assistance provided to such covered developer or such protected developer pursuant to any written agreement between a city agency or city economic development entity and either such covered developer or such protected developer executed prior to the effective date of this local law shall make either such covered developer or such protected developer subject to the requirements of this local law. The terms “city economic development entity”, “covered developer”, “protected developer”, and “financial assistance” shall be defined in accordance with the definitions in section 6-130 of the administrative code.

§ 7. This local law takes effect 120 days after it becomes law, except that the mayor, or an agency designated by such mayor, may promulgate any rules necessary for implementation of this local law and take any other measures as are necessary for its implementation, prior to such date.

Report of the Committee on Education in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to expanding reports on demographic data in New York city public schools.

The Committee on Education, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on May 8, 2019 (Minutes, page 1730), respectfully

REPORTS:

Introduction

On Thursday, November 14, 2019, the Committee on Education, chaired by Council Member Mark Treyger, held a vote on Proposed Introduction Number 1547-B, sponsored by Council Member Lander; Proposed Introduction Number 1550-B, sponsored by The Public Advocate (Mr. Williams); Proposed Introduction Number 1552-B, sponsored by Council Member Rivera; and Proposed Introduction Number 1554-B, sponsored by Council Member Treyger. The Committee previously heard testimony on these bills on May 1, 2019. At that hearing, the Committee received testimony from the Department of Education (DOE), advocates, and other members of the public. In the prior Legislative Session, the Council held hearings on the issue of diversity in NYC schools in December 2014 and December 2017. On Thursday, November 14, 2019 the Committee passed Proposed Introduction Number 1547-B, Proposed Introduction Number 1550-B, Proposed Introduction Number 1552-B, and Proposed Introduction Number 1554-B by a vote of fifteen in the affirmative, zero in the negative, with zero abstentions.

Background

Brown v. Board of Education was a 1954 U.S. Supreme Court case in which the Court held that segregation of students in public schools violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution, because separate facilities are inherently unequal.¹ This Supreme Court decision mandated the desegregation of public schools across the country and paved the way for integration efforts to begin in earnest.² While New York City (NYC) is more racially diverse today than it was in 1954, its public schools are some of the most segregated in the country.³ Nationally, the “United States is resegregating, with the number of schools that are less than 40% white doubling between 1996 and 2016.”⁴

In March 2019, headlines of newspapers across the country centered on nine NYC high schools and the racial make-up of their student bodies.⁵ These schools, known as the specialized high schools, are the most competitive and sought after schools in the City’s school system.^{6,7} Media interest increased when DOE reported that only seven out of 895 admissions offers to Stuyvesant High School, the city’s most selective school, went to black students.⁸ Further, out of 4,798 admissions offers for all eight test-based specialized high schools⁹ for the upcoming 2019-20 academic year, 506 offers, or 10.6 %, were received by black and Hispanic students,¹⁰ while the overall NYC public school enrollment is 66.5 % black and Hispanic.¹¹

This stark contrast in the racial makeup of the specialized high schools compared with the school system as a whole has served as a catalyst for policy makers, students, parents, educators and community advocates to turn a critical eye towards segregation in schools throughout the city.

The country’s most diverse public school system is also one of the most segregated.¹² Segregation in New York City public schools is not simply one of race/ethnicity, but also socio-economic segregation¹³ and academic segregation.¹⁴

Racial/ethnic segregation

According to a 2014 UCLA report, New York State has the most segregated public schools in the country.¹⁵ New York State's numbers are heavily impacted by New York City, which has the third most racially segregated school system in the nation, according to a 2012 New York Times analysis.¹⁶

Socio-economic segregation

There are existing federal, state, and local laws that prohibit policies that effectuate racial segregation.¹⁷

“Public policies in housing, education, and infrastructure helped to create a segregated New York City,” as illustrated by Appendix A.¹⁸ “Colored infiltration a definitely adverse influence on neighborhood desirability”—that was a line from a report prepared by an appraiser tasked by the Home Owners’ Loan Corporation¹⁹, to summarize the prospects of the Bedford-Stuyvesant neighborhood for mortgage underwriting.²⁰ A long systemic pattern of government sanctioned housing segregation policies have “helped lead to a perpetual cycle of inequality in which segregated housing leads to segregated schools which leads to unequal educational opportunities which leads to disparities in income which leads to segregated housing.”²¹

Academic segregation/isolation

Concentrating students with low academic performance together can also have extreme adverse academic effects for those students.²² Examining 2017-18 DOE data, 90% of students in schools with 8th grade English Language Arts (ELA) passing rates below 25% are black or Hispanic, and 36% of students in schools with 8th grade ELA passing rates above 75% are black or Hispanic.^{23,24} A DOE report in 2008 conducted by The Parthenon Group²⁵ found “that the chances for graduation for a black or Hispanic ninth-grade girl with average test scores and attendance differed significantly depending on the proportion of academically challenged students in her school,”²⁶ showing that the makeup of the entire school with regard to academic achievement impacts outcomes for students.

Benefits of School Integration

Social science research since the late 1980s is clear and consistent that the racial and socioeconomic composition of schools influences short- and long-term student outcomes.²⁷ The findings indicate that segregation is harmful for all students, while racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic diversity is beneficial for all students.²⁸ Both racial and socioeconomic integration have benefits that are complementary and overlapping, which reinforces the importance of prioritizing schools that are economically, as well as racially, diverse.²⁹ Schools that are racially and socioeconomically integrated provide academic and cognitive benefits, social-emotional and civic benefits; as well as economic benefits.³⁰

Academic Benefits

With regard to academic benefits, research shows that students in integrated schools nationwide have higher average test scores.³¹ In New York City, a 2016 analysis by Citizens' Committee for Children of New York found that students in diverse schools were more than twice as likely to meet proficiency standards on the ELA test as students in intensely segregated schools.³² Integrated schools also help to reduce racial achievement gaps, since low-income minority students in diverse schools gain the most on proficiency tests.³³ Students in integrated schools are also less likely to drop out and more likely to enroll in college.³⁴ Other cognitive benefits for all students—including middle-class white students—in diverse classrooms have been documented by researchers who found that “students’ exposure to other students who are different from themselves and the novel ideas and challenges that such exposure brings leads to improved cognitive skills, including critical thinking and problem solving.”³⁵ These academic and cognitive benefits accrue to all students in all grades but are greatest in middle and high school suggesting that the effects are cumulative.³⁶ Further, the earlier students experience desegregated learning environments, the greater the positive impacts on academic success.³⁷

Social-Emotional and Civic Benefits

A number of social-emotional and civic benefits also result from attending integrated schools where students are exposed to peers of different backgrounds, including:

- A reduction in individual levels of racial and ethnic prejudice;
- An increase in cross-racial trust and friendships among youths and adults;

- An enhanced capacity for navigating multicultural settings;
- An increased likelihood of choosing to live in integrated neighborhoods;
- Less juvenile and adult involvement with the criminal justice system;
- Better health and wellness among graduates of diverse schools.³⁸

Moreover, research shows that learning in integrated settings can improve students' satisfaction and intellectual self-confidence and enhance students' leadership skills.³⁹ Racially diverse schools also have positive long-term effects on other life outcomes, including increased educational and occupational attainment, and higher income.⁴⁰

Economic Benefits

Integrated schools provide economic benefits to both students and society. Students who attend diverse schools are better prepared to succeed in a global economy.⁴¹ According to a report by The Century Foundation, “[n]inety-six percent of major employers, ... say it is ‘important’ that employees be ‘comfortable working with colleagues, customers, and/or clients from diverse cultural backgrounds.’”⁴² Students at integrated schools also benefit from more equitable access to resources, such as highly qualified teachers, better facilities, more challenging courses, and increased funding.⁴³

Further, research indicates that providing more students with integrated school environments is one of the most cost-effective ways to improve academic achievement.⁴⁴ According to one estimate, reducing socioeconomic segregation in schools by half would produce a return on investment of three to five times the cost of the programs.⁴⁵ Additionally, providing an integrated learning environment can be a more effective academic intervention than investing extra funding in a higher-poverty school.⁴⁶

Current Landscape of DOE Schools

As shown in Chart 1, the overall population of the NYC school system is very diverse with 40.5% Hispanic, 26% black, 16.1% Asian and 15% white.⁴⁸

Demographic breakdown of New York City Public Schools

For the 2017-18 school year

Source: DOE Demographic Snapshot

Despite this overall diversity, most New York City schools do not reflect the diversity of the public school system as a whole. Based on a review of data provided by the DOE pursuant to Local Law 59 of 2015 (the School Diversity Accountability Act), for the 2017-18 school year, 74.6% of black and Hispanic students attended a school that was less than 10% white, and 34.3% of white students attended a school with more than 50% white students.⁴⁹

As previously mentioned, in addition to race, DOE schools are also segregated by socioeconomic status. As illustrated in Chart 2, for the 2017-18 school year, 74.5% of Hispanic students, 71.8% of black students, and almost 50% of Asian students attended a school where more than 75% of their classmates experienced poverty.⁵⁰ Conversely, only 24.9% of white students attended a school where more than 75% of their classmates experienced poverty.⁵¹ Citywide, 74% of students experience poverty and the citywide ENI is 70.7%.⁵²

While race and socioeconomic status are important considerations when evaluating schools for diversity, other factors such as diversity among English language learners (ELLs), students with disabilities (SWDs), and students living in temporary housing (STH) should also be considered. An analysis of DOE's 2017-18 demographic data shows that while 25.2% of schools have a population of more than 20% ELL students, 47.4% of schools had a population of less than 10% ELL students.⁵³ In addition to this discrepancy, SWDs were also under-represented in many schools.⁵⁴ In fact, while 19.7% of students citywide were SWDs,⁵⁵ 6.06% of schools have a population that is less than 10% SWDs.⁵⁶ Furthermore, STHs were overrepresented in some schools and underrepresented in others. While 29.2% of schools have a population of more than 15% of STHs and 4.63% of schools do not have any STH.⁵⁷

Impact of School Zoning and Choice on School Segregation

Many schools, known as “zoned” schools, admit students based solely on residence in a specific school attendance zone.⁵⁸ At the elementary level, 29 out of the City’s 32 community school districts are divided into attendance zones, and the other three, District 1 (Manhattan), District 7 (Bronx), and District 23 (Brooklyn), are “choice” districts, which have no zoned schools.⁵⁹ Citywide, there are more than 100 zoned middle grade schools,⁶⁰ and most students attend their zoned middle school or a school within their community district.⁶¹ Therefore, elementary - and, to an extent, middle school - students living in a segregated community are highly likely to attend a segregated zoned school. Notably, while some high schools consider zoning during admissions, there are not a significant number of zoned high schools in NYC.⁶²

While neighborhood school zoning has a significant role in school segregation, research shows “school choice” further exacerbates school segregation. School choice gives students the option to attend a school other than their local public school, including private schools, charter schools, and public schools outside of their district.⁶³ As reported by the Center for New York City Affairs at The New School, students who participate in choice usually attend schools with higher test scores and fewer low-income students.⁶⁴ In contrast, students who attend their zoned schools are more likely to attend schools with higher concentrations of poverty and a higher number of peers who are multi-lingual learners.⁶⁵

While all ethnic groups and races exercise school choice at higher rates than they did 10 years ago, research shows that certain groups are more prone to participate in school choice.⁶⁶ Almost 60% of black students opt out of their neighborhood, zoned school, up from 38% a decade ago, and in 2016-17, 39% of Hispanic students opted out of their zoned school.⁶⁷ Unlike their black and Hispanic peers, Asian and white students are less likely to opt out of their neighborhood school, as they are more likely to be pleased with their zoned neighborhood schools.⁶⁸ Additionally, students who are eligible for free lunch and ELLs are less likely to opt out of their zoned schools than their higher income and English-proficient peers.⁶⁹

The Center for New York City Affairs’ analysis found that living in gentrifying communities is the largest predictor of choice out of all other student characteristics analyzed in their research, i.e. taking advantage of school choice.⁷⁰ In fact, students residing in gentrifying communities are 1.7 times more likely to exercise school choice than students living in non-gentrifying communities.⁷¹ White students in gentrifying neighborhoods exercised school choice significantly more than whites who were in non-gentrifying neighborhoods, with 46% of whites in gentrifying neighborhoods opting out of their zoned school, compared to 25% of them opting out in non-gentrifying neighborhoods.⁷²

Research shows that if all elementary students attended their zoned school, although the school system would still be segregated, it would be less segregated than it is currently.⁷³ Moreover, more than 6,000 additional kindergarteners would be enrolled in schools with free lunch rates that correlate with the City’s average, and approximately 2,300 additional kindergarteners would be enrolled in schools that are between 50 and 90% black and Hispanic.⁷⁴ Additionally, students would be more equally distributed by language status, race, and income level throughout the education system.⁷⁵

Impact of Screened Schools on School Segregation

Many middle schools and most high schools are unzoned; therefore, applicants have more flexibility to choose the schools they prefer to attend. Some researchers, however, argue that this process perpetuates racial segregation due to the screening processes used.⁷⁶ Screening processes allow schools to evaluate students based on auditions or other criteria such as their grades, standardized test scores, and attendance.⁷⁷ Moreover, these criteria limit choice for students who are struggling academically and students who have challenging behavior.⁷⁸ During school year 2017-18, of NYC's 277,521 high school students, 15% attended schools with academic screens and 40% attended unscreened schools.⁷⁹ About 18% of middle school students attended screened schools and 52% attended unscreened schools.⁸⁰

"Limited unscreened schools," which unlike screened schools do not consider academic and attendance records, grant priority to students who have attended a school's open house event, table at a high school fair, or information session.⁸¹ DOE acknowledges that such requirements may be an obstacle for parents who work long hours and who therefore cannot attend such events with their students.⁸² Moreover, students with high needs are less likely to be matched with a high-demand and high-performing limited unscreened school.⁸³

As reported by the Center for New York City Affairs at The New School, black and Hispanic students are concentrated in unscreened schools and Asian and white students have a higher likelihood of attending a screened school.⁸⁴

school, and information regarding students who attend school outside of the attendance zone in which students reside. The proposed bill would further expand upon Local Law 59 by requiring DOE to include information on charter schools under the jurisdiction of the DOE, as well as information on charter schools in the five boroughs, to the extent the DOE has such information. Additionally, the bill would require the DOE to report on admissions preferences established under the DOE's diversity in admissions pilot, and to report high school data regarding diversity efforts on an individual school level. The proposed bill would further amend Local Law 59 to require the DOE to report categories that contain zero as zero, unless reporting as such would violate student privacy laws. Finally, the proposed legislation would provide that the local law would take effect immediately.

Update to A version: Since the initial hearing on this bill, two minor changes were made. First, one of the reporting categories for students was changed from "public assistance from the human resources administration" to the "federal free or reduced prices meals program." Second, the reporting date was changed from November 1 to December 1, in order to align this reporting bill with Proposed Introduction 1550-A.

ANALYSIS OF PROPOSED INT. NO. 1550-A

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the establishment of a school diversity advisory group.

The proposed legislation would codify the establishment of a School Diversity Advisory Group to assist the Department of Education (DOE) in achieving diverse and integrated schools. The advisory group would be required to review DOE policies and engage parents, teachers, students, and other community members to formulate recommendations to the DOE. The group would consist of at least 23 members including teachers; principals; parents; students; and experts in culturally responsive curriculum, restorative justice school discipline policies, teacher education and training, and integration or education policy. The group would be required to meet at least once per quarter and to hold five public hearings to solicit feedback. The group would further be required to submit an annual report on findings and recommendations to the Mayor and the Speaker of the City Council and post such report on the DOE's website. Areas to be considered by the advisory group would include: setting racial and socio-economic diversity goals; supporting schools in diversifying their populations; professional development; inequities in funding formulas; accessibility and integration of students with disabilities; pedagogy and curriculum; school climate; restorative justice and practices; parent and teacher empowerment; and any other areas the advisory group deems necessary. The proposed bill would further require the DOE to include an addendum on future reports to include information regarding the implementation of any recommendations from the advisory group, including relevant timelines for implementation. The proposed bill would provide that the local law would take effect immediately.

Update to A version: Since the initial hearing on this bill, the bill has been amended by increasing the number of advisory group members to 27 from 23; providing the Public Advocate with one appointee to the advisory group; requiring the advisory group to maintain a public website to enable on-going solicitation of public feedback; requiring the advisory group to begin meeting no less than quarterly starting on September 1, 2020; and changing the due date of the first report to December 1, 2021 instead of December 1, 2020.

ANALYSIS OF PROPOSED INT. NO. 1552-B

A Local Law in relation to creating district diversity working groups.

The proposed legislation would establish a working group in each community school district to review and make recommendations to foster and increase school diversity. The bill would require that each working group consist of at least 13 members, including teachers, parents, principals, students, community education council members, superintendents, and representatives of the Department of Education. The bill would further require each working group to partner with a community based organization and to create a plan to foster and increase school diversity, examining areas such as admissions, transfers, language access, and school transportation. Each working group would be required to meet at least once per quarter and hold at least one public hearing each quarter to solicit feedback. Each working group would be required to submit a report of its findings and plan to increase school diversity to the Mayor, the Chancellor, and the Speaker of the City Council. The proposed bill would provide that the local law would take effect immediately and would be repealed upon submission of the required plans.

Update to B version: Since the initial hearing on this bill, the bill has been amended to be less prescriptive and provide greater flexibility to the DOE in creating and facilitating the work of these working groups. The DOE will now be required to complete this work no later from five years of enactment of this bill and those community school districts that have either (i) created a plan to foster diversity within the 3 years of the effective date of this bill or (ii) have voluntarily engaged with the DOE to establish a working group as of the effective date of this bill will be exempt from the requirements of this bill.

ANALYSIS OF PROPOSED INT. NO. 1554-B

A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to reporting on the demographics of school staff in New York city public schools.

The proposed legislation would amend Local Law 59/2015 to require the Department of Education to annually report on the demographics of school staff. Such information would include the number of employees at each school, disaggregated by gender, race/ethnicity, length of employment, years of experience, highest degree earned, and job title. The bill would provide that such data would also be aggregated citywide and by community school district, and borough as applicable. The bill would provide that the local law would take effect immediately.

Update to B version: Since the initial hearing on this bill, the bill has been amended to no longer require reporting on charter schools and highest degree earned by a school staff member due to the Department of Education not tracking such information; and the term school staff was disaggregated out into the reporting categories: teaching staff, leadership staff and other professional and paraprofessional staff. Finally, the reporting date was changed from November 1 to December 1, in order to align this reporting bill with Proposed Introduction 1550-A.

UPDATE: On Thursday, November 14, 2019 the Committee passed Proposed Introduction Number 1547-B, Proposed Introduction Number 1550-B, Proposed Introduction Number 1552-B, and Proposed Introduction Number 1554-B by a vote of fifteen in the affirmative, zero in the negative, with zero abstentions.

Report of the Committee on Finance

Report for Int. No. 1780

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving and adopting, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to extending the rate of the additional tax on the occupancy of hotel rooms.

The Committee on Finance, to which the annexed proposed local law was referred on October 30, 2019 (Minutes, page 3623), respectfully

REPORTS:

BACKGROUND

The New York City Hotel Room Occupancy Tax (the “Hotel Tax”), is a tax imposed on the occupancy - or the right to occupancy - of a room or rooms in a hotel.¹ The term “hotel” includes an apartment hotel, motel, boardinghouse, bed-and-breakfast, bungalow, or club, whether or not meals are served.² The City charges a flat fee for rooms over $40 a night at the rate of $2.00 per day.³ The City also charges an additional tax of 5.875 percent on rent room charge.⁴ These two charges - the flat fee and the additional tax- comprise the Hotel Tax. The hotel tax is levied in addition to the combined City, State, and Metropolitan Commuter Transportation District (“MCTD”) sales tax (at 4.5 percent, 4.0 percent, 0.375 percent, respectively), bringing the aggregate hotel occupancy tax and sales tax on a hotel rental in the City to 14.75 percent. Combined, according to the Fiscal 2020 Adopted Budget, the hotel tax is expected to generate $627 million in revenue for Fiscal 2020.⁵

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

Chapter 161 of 1970 authorizes New York City to adopt and amend local laws imposing a hotel tax. The rates of the hotel tax are set by State legislation, which dictates the fee based on the daily rental value of the hotel room occupied.⁶ As authorized by State legislation, §11-2502 of the Administrative Code imposes a graduated tax upon the occupancy of hotel rooms in the City at a rate of $.50 per day if the daily rent for the room is $10 or more, but less than $20; $1.00 per day if the daily rent is $20 or more, but less than $30; $1.50 per day of the daily rent is $30 or more, but less than $40; and $2.00 per day of the daily rent is $40 or more.

The State legislation also allows the City to impose an additional tax on persons occupying hotel rooms in New York City. The State legislation provides the City with discretion in setting the rate for the additional tax, allowing the City to set the rate up to six percent.⁷ Under State law, if the additional tax is imposed at the rate of six percent or above, then 4 1/6 percent of the total amount of the tax, including interest and penalties, must be dedicated for the sole purpose of promoting tourism and conventions in New York City and deposited in a special tourism and convention fund.⁸ Seven-eighths of this dedicated revenue would fund the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau, pursuant to an annual contract with the City.⁹ The remaining one-eighth of the dedicated fund is required to be expended on the supplemental promotion of tourism and conventions throughout the City.¹⁰ The City Council can effectively increase the rate to slightly under six percent, thereby allowing all of the revenue generated by the increase to further the causes of the City and be placed in the City's general fund.¹¹

Until 1986, the tax imposed only a flat fee based on the daily rental value of the hotel room occupied. In 1986, an additional tax at the rate of five percent on the rent or charge was imposed.¹² As a result of the additional tax, tax collections increased from $26 million in 1986 to $79 million in 1987.¹³ In 1990, faced with tough economic times, the City increased the additional tax on hotels by one percent, from five percent to six percent, which triggered the tourism dedication requirement.¹⁴ In 1994, both the State and City acted to reduce the hotel occupancy tax burden. In 1994, the City repealed its one percent tax increase, returning the rate to five percent.

In 2008, the City Council passed legislation to increase the tax imposed upon the occupancy of hotel rooms from a rate of five percent of the daily rent of each room to 5.875 percent.¹⁵ In November 2011, the Council extended the rate of 5.875 percent to November 30, 2013.¹⁶ In November 2013, the Council extended the rate of 5.875 percent to November 30, 2015.¹⁷ In November 2015, the Council extended the rate of 5.875 percent to November 30, 2019.¹⁸

It is estimated by the Council's Finance Division that the additional tax, if extended at the current rate of 5.875 percent beyond November 30, 2019, would generate $68.6 million in Fiscal 2020 and $91.6 million in Fiscal 2021.

INT. NO. 1780

Int. No. 1780 would extend the 5.875 percent rate of the additional hotel tax from December 1, 2019 until November 30, 2023. Beginning on December 1, 2023, the rate of the additional tax would revert to five percent. The local law would take effect immediately except that if it becomes law after December 1, 2019, it is retroactive to and deemed to have been in full force and effect as of December 1, 2019.

On motion of the Speaker (Council Member Johnson), and adopted, the foregoing matter was coupled as a General Order for the day (see ROLL CALL ON GENERAL ORDERS FOR THE DAY).

At this point, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) announced that the following items had been preconsidered by the Committee on Finance and had been favorably reported for adoption.

Report for Res. No. 1152

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving a Resolution amending and restating the resolution computing and certifying base percentage, current percentage and current base proportion of each class of real property for fiscal 2020 to the state board of real property tax services pursuant to section 1803-a of the real property tax law.

The Committee on Finance, to which the annexed preconsidered resolution was referred on November 14 2019, respectfully

REPORTS:

Introduction. Section 1803-a of the Real Property Tax Law requires the City Council to certify to the State Board of Real Property Tax Services ("SBRPTS") certain calculations used in the process of updating the class shares from the previous year. These calculations are made every year by the Council to reflect the following changes in each class of real property:

- a. Changes in the market value of taxable real property (as determined by SBRPTS sample studies),
- b. Physical changes as a result of new construction or demolitions,
- c. Changes in taxable status, and
- d. Transfers of real property among the four classes of real property as a result of changes in use or for other reasons.

Under SBRPTS regulations, the Council must update the class shares by making two separate certifications. The action to be taken in the above-referenced resolution constitutes the first step of establishing the class shares of the four classes of taxable real property in the City to which the tax levy for the Fiscal 2020 budget will be applied. The purpose of this step is to give effect to the latest class equalization rates required by Article 18 of the Real Property Tax Law. Using these rates, new estimates of market values for each class are calculated.

The second step, certifying the "adjusted base proportions," is the subject of a separate resolution that takes into account all the changes that are included in the final assessment roll, after the Tax Commission's review of taxpayer protests. Attached hereto, as Exhibit A, are definitions of terms that are used in the analysis below.

Analysis. The class equalization rates described above produce prospective current base proportions that show a decrease in Class 3 and Class 4 below the Fiscal 2019 adjusted base proportion, or "class shares" (as shown in column R of SBRPTS Form RP-6700 attached to the above-captioned resolution), and increases in the class shares of Classes 1 and 2. Pursuant to Section 1803-a(1)(c) of the Real Property Tax Law, if the increase in any class exceeds five percent, the Council is directed to shift the excess (and only the excess) to any other class or classes so long as the shift does not cause the current base proportion of any other class to increase by more than five percent. However, pursuant to an amendment to the Real Property Tax Law enacted during the 2019 State legislative session and codified in Section 1803-a(1)(gg) of the Real Property Tax Law, the City is authorized to limit the increase for Fiscal 2020 so that the current base proportion of any class does not exceed the adjusted base proportion of the previous year. Class 1 and 2 exceed this cap. Therefore, in the above-captioned resolution, the excess above 0.0 percent from Classes 1 and 2 is shifted to Classes 3 and 4.

As shown in the chart below, the shift of the increase in class share from Class 1 to Classes 3 and 4 will result in the current base proportions of all four classes to show the following changes from their adjusted base proportions in Fiscal 2019:

Class	Percent Change Before Shifting Excess to Classes 3 and 4	Percent Change After Shifting Excess to Classes 3 and 4
2	+ 1.9	0.0
3	- 16.4	0.0
4	- 2.8	0.0

However, these current base proportions must still be adjusted for the physical changes and transfers among classes, which are contained in the final assessment roll. These adjustments will be made in a separate resolution constituting the Council's second step. The "adjusted base proportions" thus derived will be the class shares used for allocating the real property tax levy for Fiscal 2020.

EXHIBIT A

"Class equalization rate" represents the percentage that the total assessed value of each class is of the market value of the class, as shown in SBRPS sample studies.

"Base percentage" represents the percentage of total market value that each class constitutes in the 1989 base tax roll. The 1989 base tax roll is the one that was used in setting the tax levy for Fiscal 1990.

"Current percentage" is similar to the base percentage, but applies to the most recent year for which the SBRPTS has established class equalization rates (in this case, the 2018 tax roll).

"Local base proportions" are the class tax shares used to fix the tax rates for Fiscal 1991.

"Current base proportions" are the local base proportions modified to take into account the market value changes revealed by the latest class equalization rates.

Accordingly, this Committee recommends its adoption.

Preconsidered Res. No. 1152

RESOLUTION AMENDING AND RESTATING THE RESOLUTION COMPUTING AND CERTIFYING BASE PERCENTAGE, CURRENT PERCENTAGE AND CURRENT BASE PROPORTION OF EACH CLASS OF REAL PROPERTY FOR FISCAL 2020 TO THE STATE BOARD OF REAL PROPERTY TAX SERVICES PURSUANT TO SECTION 1803-a, REAL PROPERTY TAX LAW.

By Council Member Dromm.

Whereas, On February 19, 2019, the State Board of Real Property Tax Services (the "SBRPTS") certified the final state equalization rate, class ratios and class equalization rates for the City's Fiscal 2020 assessment rolls, required by Article 18, Real Property Tax Law; and

Whereas, Section 1803-a (1), Real Property Tax Law, requires the Council to compute and certify, to the SBRPTS, for each tax levy, the base percentage, the current percentage and the current base proportion of each class of real property in the City subsequent to the date on which the SBRPTS files with the Clerk of the Council a certification setting forth the final state equalization rate, class ratios and class equalization rates for the City's Fiscal 2020 assessment rolls, pursuant to Section 1212, Real Property Tax Law; and

Whereas, On June 19, 2019, the Council adopted a resolution computing and certifying the base percentage, current percentage and current base proportion of each class of real property for Fiscal 2020 to the State Board of Real Property Tax Services pursuant to Section 1803-a, Real Property Tax Law (the "June 19th Resolution"); and

Whereas, The June 19th Resolution reflects a 5.0 percent cap on any increase in the current base proportion for any class of real property, as compared with the previous year's adjusted base proportion; and

Whereas, After the adoption of the June 19th Resolution, Section 1803-a, Real Property Tax Law, was amended to lower the percent of increase in the current base proportion as compared with the previous year's adjusted base proportion to 0.0 percent;

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved by the Council of the City of New York as follows:

Section 1. Computation and Certification of Base Percentages, Current Base Percentages and Current Base Proportions for Fiscal 2020. (a) The Council hereby computes and certifies the base percentage, the current percentage and the current base percentage for the City's Fiscal 2020 assessment rolls as shown on SBRPTS Form RP-6700, attached hereto as Exhibit A and incorporated herein by reference (the "CBP Certificate").

(b) The Clerk of the Council is hereby authorized and directed to execute the CBP Certificate and to file it with the SBRPTS after the date on which the SBRPTS filed with the Clerk of the Council a certification setting forth the final state equalization rate, class ratios and class equalization rates for the City's Fiscal 2020 assessment rolls, pursuant to Section 1212, Real Property Tax Law.

Section 2. Effective Date. This resolution shall take effect immediately.

On motion of the Speaker (Council Member Johnson), and adopted, the foregoing matter was coupled as a General Order for the day (see ROLL CALL ON GENERAL ORDERS FOR THE DAY).

At this point, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) announced that the following items had been preconsidered by the Committee on Finance and had been favorably reported for adoption.

Report for Res. No. 1153

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving a Resolution amending and restating the resolution computing and certifying adjusted base proportion of each class of real property for fiscal 2020 to the state board of real property tax services pursuant to section 1803-a of the real property tax law.

The Committee on Finance, to which the annexed preconsidered resolution was referred on November 14, 2019, respectfully

REPORTS:

Introduction. The above-captioned resolution completes the certification procedure required by Section 1803-a of the Real Property Tax Law to establish the class shares used in levying the real property taxes for the adopted Fiscal 2020 budget.

In a separate resolution, the Council computed and certified the current base proportions for Fiscal 2020 (the "CBP Resolution"). The above-captioned resolution uses those current base proportions, together with data supplied by the New York City Department of Finance from the final assessment roll released on May 28, 2019, to determine the adjusted base proportions (or class shares) in accordance with the procedure established by the State Board of Real Property Tax Services (the "SBRPTS").

The current base proportion for each class of real property takes into account the market value changes in the class occurring between the assessment roll for the base period, 1989, and the latest roll for which SBRPTS has established class equalization rates, 2018. The CBP Resolution modified the class shares for the Fiscal 2020 property tax levy accordingly. The remaining step, to be taken in the above-captioned resolution, adjusts these current base proportions to take account of the various physical changes (such as demolitions, new construction, changes in exempt status and transfers among classes) that are reflected in the new final assessment roll. The computations called for in the SBRPTS procedure are designed to separate the effects of these physical changes from equalization changes made by local assessors.

Analysis. The calculations shown on the SBRPTS Form RP-6702 attached to the above-captioned resolution modify the share for each class to reflect physical changes. For Fiscal 2020, all property tax classes show modest physical changes. The Fiscal 2020 adjusted base proportions for Classes 1 and 4 show modest declines of an average of 1.2 percent from the Fiscal 2020 current base proportions. Classes 2 and 3, on the other hand, see increases due to physical increases pushing their adjusted base percentage up about 0.6 percent and 6.0 percent, respectively.

Pursuant to Section 1803-a(1)(gg) of the Real Property Tax Law which was enacted during the 2019 State legislative session (limiting the increase in Fiscal 2020 current base proportions to the Fiscal 2019 adjusted base proportions), the Fiscal 2019 adjusted base proportions become the Fiscal 2020 current base proportions for all four classes. Therefore, the changes in adjusted base proportions from Fiscal 2019 to Fiscal 2020, as reported in the table below, reflect the same changes to the Fiscal 2020 current base proportions discussed above.

Comparison of Class Shares for Fiscal 2019 and Fiscal 2020
Class	Fiscal 2019	Fiscal 2020	Percent Change
1	14.6808	14.4514	- 1.56
2	37.8078	38.0398	+ 0.61
3	6.2255	6.5989	+6.00
4	41.2859	40.9099	-0.91
Total	100.0000	100.0000

The tax rates resulting from the use of class shares, or adjusted base proportions, shown above for Fiscal 2020 are compared to the Fiscal 2019 tax rates in the following table.

Comparison of Tax Rates for Fiscal 2019 and Fiscal 2020 (Per $100 Assessed Value)
Class	Fiscal 2019	Fiscal 2020	$ Difference
1	$20.919	$21.167	$0.25
2	12.612	12.473	-0.14
3	12.093	12.536	0.44
4	10.514	10.537	0.02

Accordingly, this Committee recommends its adoption.

On motion of the Speaker (Council Member Johnson), and adopted, the foregoing matter was coupled as a General Order for the day (see ROLL CALL ON GENERAL ORDERS FOR THE DAY).

At this point, the Speaker (Council Member Johnson) announced that the following items had been preconsidered by the Committee on Finance and had been favorably reported for adoption.

Report for Res. No. 1154

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of amending and restating the resolution to provide the amounts necessary for the support of the government of the city of New York and the counties therein and for the payment of indebtedness thereof, for the fiscal year beginning on July 1, 2019 and ending on June 30, 2020, by the levy of the taxes on the real property in the city of New York, in accordance with the provisions of the constitution of the state of New York, the real property tax law and the charter of the city of New York.

The Committee on Finance, to which the annexed preconsidered resolution was referred on November 14 2019, respectfully

REPORTS:

Introduction. On April 25, 2019, the Mayor submitted the executive budget for Fiscal 2020 to the Council pursuant to Section 249 of the Charter. On June 19, 2019, the Council adopted the budget for Fiscal 2020 pursuant to Section 254 of the Charter (the "Fiscal 2020 Budget"). Pursuant to Section 1516 of the Charter, the Council must fix the annual real property tax rates immediately upon such approval of the Fiscal 2020 Budget. On June 19, 2019, by resolution, the Council fixed the real property tax rates for Fiscal 2020 (the "Tax Fixing Resolution") and authorized the levy of real property taxes for Fiscal 2020.

After the final adoption of the Fiscal 2020 Budget, the Governor signed into law Chapter 415 Laws of New York, 2019 ("Chapter 415"). Chapter 415 adds a new paragraph (gg) to subdivision 1 of section 1803-a, Real Property Tax Law, which provides that, in any special assessing unit which is a city (a "special assessing city"), for current base proportions to be determined in such special assessing city's fiscal year 2020, the current base proportion of any class shall not exceed the adjusted base proportion of the immediately preceding year.

In order to effectuate the provisions of Chapter 415, it is necessary to amend and restate the provisions of the Tax Fixing Resolution. In the amended and restated resolution, captioned above, fixing the real property tax rates for Fiscal 2020 (the "Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution"), the Council amends and restates the annual real property tax rates, as described in greater detail below, and authorizes the levy of real property taxes for Fiscal 2020.

Determining the Amount of the Real Property Tax Levy. In the Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution, the Council determines the amount of the real property tax levy for Fiscal 2020, pursuant to the provisions of Section 1516 of the Charter, in the following manner. (1) First, the Council acknowledges the amount of the Fiscal 2020 Budget to be $92,771,874,627 as set forth in the communication from the Mayor pursuant to Section 1515(a) of the Charter (the "Fiscal 2020 Budget Amount"). (2) The Council then acknowledges the estimate of the probable amount of all non-property tax revenues to be $63,156,842,627, as set forth in the communication from the Mayor pursuant to Section 1515(a) of the Charter (the "Fiscal 2020 Revenue Estimate"). (Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a description of the Fiscal 2020 Revenue Estimate, detailing all sources of revenues exclusive of real property taxes.) (3) Pursuant to Section 1516 of the Charter, the Council finally determines the net amount required to be raised by tax on real property to be $29,615,032,000, by subtracting the amount of the Fiscal 2020 Revenue Estimate from the Fiscal 2020 Budget Amount.

In order to achieve a real property tax yield of 29,615,032,000, however, due to provision for uncollectible taxes and refunds and collection of levies from prior years equal in the aggregate to $2,014,792,245, the Council determines that a real property tax levy of $31,629,824,245 is required. Such amount, levied at rates on the classes of real property as further described below will produce a balanced budget within generally accepted accounting principles for municipalities.

The Council also provides for the application of the real property tax levy (net of provision for uncollectible taxes and refunds and collection of levies from prior years) to (1) debt service not subject to the constitutional operating limit, (2) debt service subject to the constitutional operating limit and (3) the Fiscal 2020 Budget in excess of the amount of the Fiscal 2020 Revenue Estimate.

Authorizing and Fixing the Real Property Tax Rates. After having determined the amount of the real property tax levy, the Council authorizes and fixes the real property tax rates. On May 28, 2019, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance (the "Commissioner") delivered the certified assessment rolls for all real property assessable for taxation in the City in each borough thereof for Fiscal 2020 to the Council, pursuant to Section 1514 of the Charter (the "Fiscal 2020 Assessment Rolls"). On November 14, 2019, the Council will vote to amend and restate a resolution in which the Council computed and certified the current base proportion, the current percentage and the base percentage of each class of real property in the City for Fiscal 2020 (the "Current Base Proportion Resolution"), pursuant to Section 1803-a (1) of the Real Property Tax Law. On November 14, 2019, pursuant to Section 1803-a of the Real Property Tax Law, the Council will vote to amend and restate a resolution in which the Council adjusted the current base proportions of each class of real property in the City for Fiscal 2020, to reflect the additions to, and full or partial removal from, the Fiscal 2020 Assessment Rolls (the "Adjusted Base Proportion Resolution").

The following sections describe the determinations the Council must make before it fixes the real property tax rates and the process by which the Council fixes the real property tax rates.

Assessed Valuation Calculations. In the Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution, the Council sets out the assessed valuation calculations of taxable real property in the City by class within each borough of the City. Next, the Council sets out the assessed valuation by class of real property for the purpose of taxation in each borough of the City.

Compliance with Constitutional Operating Limit Provisions. In the Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution, the Council also provides evidence of compliance with constitutional operating limit provisions. The Council determines that the amount to be levied by tax on real property for the Fiscal 2020 Budget does not exceed the limit imposed by Section 10, Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of New York, as amended, and Article 12-A of the Real Property Tax Law (the "Operating Limit Provisions"). The Operating Limit Provisions require that the City not levy taxes on real property in any fiscal year in excess of an amount equal to a combined total of two and one-half percent (2 ½%) of the average full valuation of taxable real property in the City, determined by taking the assessed valuations of taxable real property on the last completed assessment roll and the four (4) preceding assessment rolls of the City and applying thereto the special equalization ratio which such assessed valuations of each such roll bear to the full valuations as fixed and determined by the State Board of Real Property Tax Services ("SBRPTS"), minus (i) the amount to be raised by tax on real property in such year for the payment of the interest on and the redemption of certificates of other evidence of indebtedness described in the Constitution and (ii) the aggregate amount of business improvement district charges exclusive of debt service. (Attached hereto as Exhibit B is a description of net reductions of the amounts to be raised by the Fiscal 2020 tax levy as authorized by New York State law for purposes of the Operating Limit determination.)

Adjusted Base Proportions. The Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution sets forth the adjusted base proportions for Fiscal 2020, pursuant to the amended and restated Adjusted Base Proportion Resolution, to be used in determining the Fiscal 2020 tax rates for the four classes of properties.

Tax Rates on Adjusted Base Proportions. Finally, in the Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution, the Council authorizes and fixes, pursuant to Section 1516 of the Charter, the rates of tax for Fiscal 2020 by class upon: (1) each dollar of assessed valuation of real property subject to taxation for all purposes of, and within, the City, as fixed in cents and thousandths of a cent per dollar of assessed valuation, as follows:

All One-, Two- and Three-Family Residential Real Property.....	0.21167
All Other Residential Real Property.....	0.12473
Utility Real Property	0.12536
All Other Real Property.....	0.10537

Authorization of the Levy of Property Taxes for Fiscal 2020. The Council authorizes and directs the Commissioner, pursuant to Section 1517 of the Charter, to set down in the Fiscal 2020 Assessment Rolls, opposite to the several sums set down as the valuation of real property, the respective sums to be paid as a tax thereon and add and set down the aggregate valuations of real property in the boroughs of the City and send a certificate of such aggregate valuation in each such borough to the State Comptroller. The Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution then requires the City Clerk to procure the proper warrants, in the form attached thereto, such warrants to be signed by the Public Advocate and counter-signed by the City Clerk.

The Tax Fixing Resolution, as hereby amended and restated, would remain in full force and effect as of the date it was enacted, and the Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution would take effect as of the date of hereof.

Accordingly, the Committee on Finance recommends adoption of the Amended and Restated Tax Fixing Resolution.

RE: Finance Committee Agenda of November 14, 2019 – Resolution approving a tax exemption for one Land Use item (Council District 27)

Item 1: J2

J2 is a mixed-use development project in Downtown Jamaica, Queens comprised of 543 residential units, one commercial space, a space for parking. The residential units include 110 studio units, 283 one-bedroom units, and 148 two-bedroom units (inclusive of two superintendent units).

Under the proposed project, Jamaica II Housing Development Fund Corporation ("HDFC") will acquire the legal leasehold interest in property and J2 147-07 94th Avenue LLC will be the beneficial leasehold interest owner and will operate the property. The HDFC and the LLC will finance the acquisition and construction of the property with loans from the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development (“HPD”) and the New York City Housing Development Corporation (“HDC”), and low income housing tax credits.

HPD is requesting that the Council approve a full 40-year Article XI tax exemption to support affordability of the proposed project. The HDFC and the LLC would enter into a regulatory agreement with HPD that would require that 53 units be set aside for homeless households, 163 units be rented only to households earning up to 50% of the Area Median Income (“AMI”), 162 units be rented only to households earning up to 120% of AMI, and 28 units be rented only to households earning up to 150% of AMI, while 135 units would remain at market rate rents.

Report of the Committee on Health in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law in relation to requiring the department of health and mental hygiene to report on the occurrence of diabetes and diabetes-related health problems and develop a plan to reduce diabetes-related health problems.

The Committee on Health, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on January 24, 2019 (Minutes, page 281), respectfully

REPORTS:

This legislation was originally heard at a hearing of this Committee on February 25, 2019, at which the Committee received testimony from the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH), advocates, and other interested parties. On November 12, 2019, the Committee passed this legislation by a vote of seven in the affirmative, zero in the negative, and zero abstentions.

BACKGROUND

Diabetes and Obesity

Diabetes

Diabetes is a disease involving a hormone called insulin, which is released by the pancreas to guide the body in storing and using the sugar and fat from ingested food.¹ Diabetes causes a production of too much or too little insulin, which causes the blood glucose (sugar) levels to rise higher or lower than normal.² Type 2 diabetes is the most common form of diabetes and occurs when the body's cells become resistant to the action of insulin, and the pancreas is unable to make sufficient insulin to overcome this resistance, causing sugar to build up in the bloodstream.³ Although not all causes of diabetes are known, Type 2 diabetes is caused by genetic and environmental factors, and is most closely linked with obesity and being overweight.⁴

In the United States, it is estimated that more than 100 million Americans have diabetes or prediabetes.⁵ Approximately 1 in 4, or 7.2 million, adults are living with diabetes, and an additional 84.1 million have prediabetes, which can lead to Type 2 diabetes within five years if not treated.⁶ In New York City, an estimated 987,000 New Yorkers have diabetes, many without knowledge of their condition.⁷ Diabetes in New York is also economically, racially, and ethnically determined, with black, Hispanic, and Asian New Yorkers being twice as likely as white New Yorkers to have diabetes, as of 2013.⁸ Diabetes disproportionately affects high-poverty communities in New York City, where the neighborhoods with the highest prevalence of diabetes were Fordham-Bronx Park (14.6%), East New York (14.4%) and Williamsburg-Bushwick (13.9%) in Brooklyn, Northeast Bronx (13.9%), and the South Bronx (13.9%), and the neighborhoods with the lowest prevalence of diabetes were Upper East Side-Gramercy and Chelsea-Village in Manhattan (4.4% and 4.1%).⁹ As of 2013, diabetes was almost 70% more common in high-poverty neighborhoods than in low-poverty neighborhoods.¹⁰ Interestingly, racial and ethnic disparities in diabetes persist across levels of household poverty, where white New Yorkers had the lowest prevalence of diabetes among the wealthiest New Yorkers and had a lower prevalence than both blacks and Hispanics among the poorest.

Obesity

Obesity rates in the United States have been climbing nationwide for decades and have led to massive increases in the prevalence of Type 2 diabetes, heart disease, and certain types of cancer.¹¹ Among children, 1 in 5 school age children and young people (6 to 19 years) has obesity.¹² Obese children and adolescents are more likely to become obese adults and even young children can develop chronic health conditions and diseases, including asthma, sleep apnea, bone and joint problems, Type 2 diabetes, and risk factors for heart disease.¹³

According to DOHMH, more than half of adult New Yorkers are overweight (34%) or obese (22%), while almost half of all elementary school children and Head Start children are currently at an unhealthy weight.¹⁴ In New York City, 1 in 5 kindergarten students and 1 in 4 Head Start children is obese. New York City has made strides in starting to reverse this trend by improving the food environment, making public spaces more amenable to physical activity, increasing the availability of tap water, and discouraging the drinking of sugar-sweetened beverages.¹⁵ However, obesity rates among NYC students is still too high, with over 20 percent of children categorized as obese and even more defined as overweight.¹⁶

BILL ANALYSIS

INT. NO. 1361-B

Int. 1361-B would require DOHMH to report twice a year on the rate of diabetes-related health problems in New York City. The information in such reports would be disaggregated by geographic area and demographic characteristics, where such data is available and while maintaining confidentiality on the individuals included in such data. The bill would also require DOHMH to compile a comprehensive report by December 1, 2021, and submit recommendations and a plan to reduce the occurrence of diabetes-related health problems and to implement the department's recommendations. The version of this bill that was originally heard required DOHMH to compile the aforementioned comprehensive report by June 1, 2019.

This bill would take effect immediately and would expire and be deemed repealed on June 1, 2022.

The Committee on Health, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on April 9, 2019 (Minutes, page 1350), respectfully

REPORTS:

INTRODUCTION

On November 12, 2019, the Committee on Health, chaired by Council Member Mark Levine, held a vote on Proposed Int. No. 1496-A (Proposed Int. 1496-A), a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to retrieval of companion animals by an animal shelter after an eviction or order or judgment granting legal possession, and Proposed Int. No. 1598-A (Proposed Int. 1598-A), a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to proper disposal of deceased animals. This legislation was originally heard at a hearing of this Committee on June 18, 2019, at which the Committee received testimony from the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH), Animal Care Centers of New York City (ACC), representatives from the horse carriage industry, and other interested stakeholders and advocates. On November 12, 2019, the Committee passed this legislation by a vote of seven in the affirmative, zero in the negative, and zero abstentions.

Animal Care Centers of New York City

Animal Care Centers of New York City (ACC) is a not-for-profit organization under contract with DOHMH with a mission to end animal homelessness in New York City.¹ ACC is the largest pet organization in the northeast and it takes in nearly 29,000 animals per year.² ACC is an open-admissions shelter system that does not turn animals away based on age, breed, health, behavior, or aggressive tendencies, and it performs numerous services, including receiving, adoption, sheltering, spay and neutering, lost and found services, owner-requested euthanasia and stray animal pick-up.³

In calendar year 2018, ACC received 28,706 animals, including dogs, cats, rabbits and other animals, into its shelters. Of those animals, 7,385 were adopted, another 12,923 were transferred to other shelters through the New Hope program,⁴ and 1,725 pets were returned to their owner.⁵ Excluding owner-requested euthanasia, 945 cats and 669 dogs were euthanized in 2018.⁶ ACC's live release rate for cats and dogs was 92.5 percent in 2018, meaning the animals were either adopted, reunited or transferred to placement partners.⁷

ACC's Board of Directors consists of 13 members, including three ex officio members from DOHMH, Department of Parks and Recreation, and the New York Police Department. Seven members are appointed by the Administration and three are appointed by the ACC Board.⁸

In 2000, the City Council passed Local Law 26, the Animal Shelters and Sterilization Act.⁹ The primary provisions of this law required a full-service animal shelter to exist in each of the five boroughs and mandated the sterilization of dogs and cats adopted from animal shelters or purchased from pet shops.¹⁰ A "full-service shelter" was defined as one that accepts dogs and cats 24 hours per day, seven days per week; has an adoption program seven days a week; and provides veterinary services.¹¹

In 2002, the Animal Shelters and Sterilization Act was amended by Local Law 12, which extended the date for the acquisition of sites for the Bronx and Queens shelters until July 1, 2004.¹² The shelters were to be fully operational by July 1, 2006.¹³ The 2002 law also required DOHMH to report to the Council the number of animals euthanized each month.¹⁴

On July 27, 2011, Mayor Michael Bloomberg, City Council Speaker Christine Quinn, Council Member Jessica Lappin, DOHMH Commissioner Thomas Farley, and several animal rights organizations announced an agreement to enhance services for shelter animals.¹⁵ As part of the agreement, the Bloomberg Administration committed to increasing its investment in animal shelters by nearly $10 million over three years, with the budget for animal shelters expected to top $12 million dollars by 2014, a 77% increase from the 2011 amount.¹⁶ The increased budget would allow for the hiring of up to 100 additional shelter employees to greatly improve the quality of care for animals at the shelters. This additional investment was made possible, in part, by repealing the requirement that there be full-service animal shelters in every borough.¹⁷

Local Law 59 of 2011 imposed several transparency requirements to the previously existing annual report that DOHMH was required to provide to the City Council and the Mayor, codified many of the details of the 2011 announcement, and repealed the requirement that there be a full service shelter in every borough.¹⁸ Instead, full service shelters operating 12 hours a day, seven days a week were required in three boroughs, one of which would be required to receive animals from the public 24 hours a day.¹⁹

Additional funding provided by the City since 2011 allowed ACC to hire veterinarians, veterinary technicians, staff to support adoptions and field staff to expand rescue, response and transport services.²⁰ By ²⁰ N.Y. City Dep't of Health & Mental Hygiene, 2013 Annual Report to the Council on Animal Care and Control, Feb. 28, 2014.

January 2014, ACC staff had increased 71 percent since Local Law 59 was adopted in 2011.²¹ A new medical director was also hired in January 2014 after four years of this position being vacant.²²

At a City Council hearing in 2015, then DOHMH Commissioner Mary Bassett testified that “there is a commitment on the part of this administration to full service shelters in all boroughs.”²³ Since then, DOHMH has dedicated $98 million in its capital plan for the construction and renovation of the City’s Animal Care Centers. On January 23, 2018, the de Blasio Administration announced the location of a new, full service animal shelter in the Baychester neighborhood of the Bronx.²⁴ Subsequently, in early 2019, ACC secured the location for a full service animal shelter in Ridgewood, Queens.²⁵

Finally, in June 2018, the Council passed Local Law 123, which requires DOHMH to ensure that full-service animal shelters are operated in all five boroughs by July 1, 2024.²⁶ The new shelter in the Bronx went through the City’s Uniform Land Use Review Procedure (ULURP), and was approved by the Council on November 14, 2018.²⁷

This bill would take effect 30 days after it becomes law.

INT. NO. 1598-A

Int. No. 1598-A would require the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to provide information regarding city services available for the proper disposal of deceased animals, and to post such information online.

This bill would take effect 90 days after it becomes law.

Report of the Committee on Health in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the establishment of an office to provide support to those in need of burial assistance.

The Committee on Health, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on May 29, 2019 (Minutes, page 1898), respectfully

REPORTS:

INTRODUCTION

On November 12, 2019, the Committees on Health, chaired by Council Member Mark Levine, held a vote on Proposed Introduction Number 1559-A (Proposed Int. 1559-A), a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the establishment of an office to provide support to those in need of burial assistance, and Proposed Introduction Number 1580-A (Proposed Int. 1580-A), a Local Law in relation to the creation of a task force on public burial and related issues. This legislation was originally heard at a hearing of this Committee on May 30, 2019, at which the Committee received testimony from the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation (Parks), the Department of Transportation (DOT), the Human Resources Administration (HRA), advocates, and other interested parties. On November 12, 2019, the Committee passed this legislation by a vote of seven in the affirmative, zero in the negative, and zero abstentions.

BACKGROUND

DOC maintains and operates the City Cemetery, commonly known as Potter's Field, located on Hart Island, in Long Island Sound, off the coast of City Island in the Bronx.¹ The cemetery occupies 101 acres of Hart Island

and is purportedly the largest tax-funded cemetery in the world.² By many estimations, there are over one million people buried on Hart Island.³

Hart Island was first used by the City as a public cemetery in 1869 for the burial of people who died indigent or whose bodies went unclaimed after their death.⁴ During the cemetery's first year of operation, 1,875 burials were performed.⁵ Hart Island is the only location the City currently uses to bury the bodies of the unclaimed or unidentified;⁶ however, Hart Island is the tenth Potter's Field in the City's history, as previous fields were located at the current sites of Washington Square, Bellevue Hospital, Madison Square, the NYC Public Library, Wards Island, and Randall's Island.⁷

In 2018, 1,213 individuals were buried on Hart Island, including 303 fetal remains, 81 children, and 829 adults.⁸ Most of the individuals buried on Hart Island (approximately 62 percent in 2018) have a next of kin who opted for a public burial, while others may have a next of kin who is unknown or unreachable (33 percent).⁹ Others are unidentified or do not have a next of kin.¹⁰ Over the past ten years, between 1,000 and 1,300 individuals were buried on Hart Island annually, with the exception of 2014, when only 962 individuals were buried there.¹¹ Each year, 15 people or fewer are unidentified, and about 21 percent of the burials are for fetal remains.¹²

In addition to its use as a cemetery, Hart Island has had various uses since 1869, including, among other things, the operation of several jails, a missile base, and a rehabilitation center.¹³ Pursuant to section 21-110 of the New York City Administrative Code, Potter's Field on Hart Island operates under the control of DOC and the burial of the deceased is governed by rules and regulations established by the joint action of HRA and DOC.¹⁴ In cases of disagreement between the agencies, the cemetery operates under regulations established by the mayor.¹⁵

Four days each week, seven DOC staff members and eight incarcerated individuals travel by DOT ferry from City Island to Hart Island.¹⁶ Both the staff and work detail are responsible for the burial of remains, and the staff and work detail are also responsible for tending to the Island's upkeep.¹⁷ The bodies of the deceased that are transported to the Island are placed in pine boxes marked by black permanent marker; the boxes are sometimes marked with a name, but usually just with a number used to identify the person.¹⁸ The boxes are stacked three deep in a trench 36 inches below the surface, burying between 150 to 162 adults and 1,000 infants per trench.¹⁹ DOC has informed the Council that the estimated Hart Island annual operating cost is approximately $772,000, which includes staff salaries and overtime.²⁰

The Council has had previous hearings regarding Hart Island, first in 2011 and most recently in 2016.²¹ During these hearings, the Council discussed transferring the jurisdiction of Hart Island from DOC to Parks, the public availability of Hart Island burial records, the public dissemination of Hart Island visitor protocols, and general oversight of Hart Island.²² Since then, DOC has posted Hart Island burial information online.²³

DOC now provides regular, monthly visits to Hart Island, as a result of a lawsuit and lobbying by advocates.²⁴ According to DOC, there are two options visitors may choose from when seeking to visit Hart Island, both of which operate on predetermined schedules: monthly gazebo visits for any member of the public and monthly gravesite visits for family.²⁵ Visitors must register with DOC before a scheduled visit day and provide a valid, government-issued photo ID if over the age of 16.²⁶ Gazebo visitation records from September 2018 through December 2018 show an average of twelve visitors scheduled each month for public visits.²⁷ During that same period, there was an average of seven visit groups (approximately 27 total visitors) scheduled each month for family visits.²⁸

HART ISLAND ADVOCACY

Over the past several years, advocates have criticized the process leading to burial on Hart Island as well as the operation of the Island by DOC.²⁹ Advocacy efforts have included the creation of: (i) the Hart Island Project, (ii) the Potter's Field Campaign of Picture the Homeless, and (iii) the Interfaith Friends of Potter's Field. According to its website, the mission of the Hart Island Project is to assist families and individuals with limited resources in accessing public burial records and information about Hart Island, as well as increase the public's awareness of Hart Island.³⁰ The Hart Island Project maintains a database of public burial records from 1980 to the present.³¹ Picture the Homeless began its Potter's Field Campaign because of the loss of its co-founder, Lewis Haggins, on December 23, 2003, who was buried on Hart Island before being returned to his family.³² The Campaign worked to improve access to Hart Island, and, after a year, the City changed its restrictions on Hart Island visitations.³³ The Potter's Field Campaign and the Interfaith Friends of Potter's Field successfully lobbied DOC for access to Hart Island and currently conduct bi-monthly memorial services on the Island.³⁴

While access to the Island and its burial records have improved, there are still concerns about Hart Island's accessibility. Although DOC has received positive feedback for its service, family members, friends, and members of the public have testified that they prefer to not feel as if they are visiting a prison when going to visit their loved one and/or pay their respects at Hart Island.³⁵ According to advocates, by requiring photo ID and other measures in order to visit Hart Island, DOC deters members of the public from being able to visit.³⁶ Furthermore, because of the nature of DOC's work, the visiting schedule is rigid and can act as a barrier for members of the public.³⁷

BURIAL ALTERNATIVES

In New York City, there are alternatives for those without means to be buried outside of Hart Island. One alternative is accessing funds from HRA, which provides financial assistance to individuals in need of support to meet funeral expenses, including burial.³⁸ These funds are available when a resident of New York City dies without leaving funds to cover their burial expenses and there are no relatives or friends willing or able to pay the funeral expenses.³⁹ HRA will pay up to $900 towards a funeral that costs no more than $1,700.⁴⁰

Additionally, there are charitable and religious organizations, such as The Hebrew Free Burial Association ("HFBA") and the Society of St. Vincent de Paul ("SSVDP") that assist with burials. According to its website, the HFBA is dedicated to assuring that every Jewish person, regardless of financial means or religious affiliation, receives a dignified, traditional Jewish funeral and burial.⁴¹ Since its inception in the 1880's, the HFBA has buried nearly 65,000 indigent Jews.⁴² The SSVDP provides referrals to Catholics for low cost funerals, as well as assistance in receiving reimbursement from HRA and provides "non-title" plots in Calvary Cemetery.⁴³ Additionally, the U.S. Department of Veteran's Affairs (VA) works with partners to ensure the dignified burial of veterans who are indigent.⁴⁴

OCME states that it refers the families and friends of the indigent deceased to organizations that may fund burials, and to the HRA burial assistance program. OCME refers all burials of veterans to the VA.⁴⁵ However, according to advocates and the press, those in need of these and other options are not always told of their availability or given enough details to make an informed decision before authorizing the burial of a loved one on Hart Island.⁴⁶ Such was the case with Jacqueline Quinoz, whose son Elijah Romero was born stillborn at Flushing Hospital in Queens in the spring of 2009.⁴⁷ Reports indicate that less than an hour after the delivery, a hospital social worker entered Ms. Quinoz's room and told her she had two options for Elijah's burial, namely, (1) a Catholic service in a special cemetery, or (2) burial at Potter's Field at no cost.⁴⁸ Reportedly, since she was not Catholic and did not have the means for a private burial, she signed a form releasing her son's body to the City.⁴⁹ OCME and New York City Health + Hospitals (H+H) both provide information about Hart Island to one's next of kin, yet there is no City-wide standard process in place to educate individuals about our public burial process.⁵⁰

THE AIDS EPIDEMIC

In 1985, when the first people identified as AIDS victims arrived on Hart Island, they were buried in an isolated area away from the remains of other individuals.⁵¹ Unlike other remains, they were buried in deep individual graves, under several feet of dirt instead of the typical three.⁵² Hart Island staff at the time, like many others, did not know how AIDS could spread and acted out of an overabundance (and unnecessary level) of caution.⁵³ As the New York Times points out, “the island would go on to receive scores, if not hundreds, of people who died during the AIDS epidemic, which during the 1980s and 1990s killed more than 100,000 people in New York, about a quarter of AIDS deaths nationwide during the same period.”⁵⁴ While it is currently impossible to know exactly how many people who died from AIDS are on Hart Island, burial records indicate that many who died in the few hospitals who cared for those with AIDS were sent to Hart Island.⁵⁵ Thus, Hart Island may be the largest cemetery for victims of the AIDS epidemic.⁵⁶

BILL ANALYSES

Int. 1559-A: A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the establishment of an office to provide support to those in need of burial assistance

This bill would require the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to establish an office to provide support and assistance to individuals who have lost a loved one and need information about and help accessing public burial, a burial allowance, or any similar program. The bill would take effect June 15, 2020.

Int. No. 1580-A: A Local Law in relation to the creation of a task force on public burial and related issues

This bill would require a public hearing on public burial to allow the public the opportunity to discuss the laws, rules, regulations, policies and procedures related to public burial, to recommend changes to these programs and to consider the feasibility of alternative programs. Following the hearing, the Department of Social Services would submit a report with recommendations to the Mayor and the Council.

The version of this bill that was originally heard required the creation of a task force to study public burials, rather than a hearing.

This bill would take effect immediately.

Report of the Committee on the Justice System

Report for Int. No. 1156-A

Report of the Committee on the Justice System in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the New York city charter and the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring the office of nightlife to report on multi-agency response to community hotspots operations and the mayor's office of criminal justice to ensure reporting on inspections overseen by the office of special enforcement, as well as providing establishment owners with a notice about conduct or complaints that could lead to a multi-agency response to community hotspots operation and the opportunity to provide information relevant to such notice.

The Committee on the Justice System, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on October 17, 2018 (Minutes, page 3884), respectfully

REPORTS:

I. INTRODUCTION

On November 13, 2019, the Committee on the Justice System, chaired by Rory Lancman, will vote on Proposed Introduction Number 1156-A (Prop. Int. 1156-A). The Committee heard a previous version of this bill on February 11, 2019. Representatives of the New York Police Department (NYPD) and various advocates, stakeholders, and members of the public testified at that hearing.

II. BACKGROUND

The Cabaret Law was first introduced in 1926, during the Prohibition era, nominally to crack down on establishments run by racketeers by prohibiting dancing in any venue selling food or drink that did not have a cabaret license. Some academics argue that the law's true aim was to prevent interracial mingling in Harlem jazz clubs.⁵⁷ Even without an explicit racial impetus, cabaret licenses were expensive, only available in certain zoned areas, and required the approval of multiple agencies. In 2017, only 97 out of almost 25,000 eating and drinking establishments actually had a cabaret license.⁵⁸

Despite numerous legal challenges, the laws stood for 91 years. In Club Winks v. New York City,⁵⁹ a New York State Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional the provisions of the Cabaret Law authorizing the denial or refusal to renew a license based upon a broad listing of criminal convictions and requiring the disclosure of stockholders holding a minimum of ten percent stock interest in a corporation and the source of their money. In *Chiasson v. City of New York*⁶⁰ a State Supreme Court found that the City failed to articulate a legitimate interest in restricting performance of live music to piano, organ, accordion, guitar or any stringed instrument. The Court further invalidated the portion of the Cabaret Law that restricted performance of live music to not more than three musicians.⁶¹ Despite the courts striking down several provisions of the Cabaret Law, most of the unconstitutional provisions remained codified until the laws were repealed in 2017.

Notwithstanding several problematic provisions, courts did not strike down the Cabaret Law in its entirety due to concerns for public safety. In Festa v. City of New York,⁶² a New York State Supreme Court upheld the Cabaret Law, despite its questionable history, recognizing that as it stood, “the legitimate purpose of the City's licensing requirements includes the protection of the health and safety of the people of New York City. ... [T]he additional burden of verifying compliance is justified where there is risk of injury and loss of life in establishments which offer dancing.”⁶³ Many venues with dancing did not possess a cabaret license, and as a result, encountered police enforcement – often with disproportionate effects on communities of color.⁶⁴

Regulating the nightlife industry is certainly not a unique issue to New York City. Cities across the United States and indeed the world have taken unique approaches to address concerns with the nightlife industry. One approach spearheaded by the city of Amsterdam in the Netherlands is the introduction of a nachtburgemeester – or “night mayor,” who is responsible for nurturing the nightlife economy and improving relations between nightlife businesses, residents and government. This model was recently adopted by the New York City. In 2017, the city started an Office of Nightlife, and finally repealed the Cabaret Laws.⁶⁵

However, advocates fear that the spirit of those laws still linger in how the city monitors nightlife establishments, especially in neighborhoods of color or “DIY venues.” As the population of New York City continues to grow, people and businesses are moving into the outer boroughs, resulting in higher demand for bars, restaurants and entertainment spaces. Between 2000 and 2015, business in the city grew, but businesses in the Downtown and Midtown Central Business Districts fell from 39% to 31%. In the City's gentrifying neighborhoods, business grew by 45%.⁶⁶ Among such establishments is the growing popularity of “do-it-yourself venues” or “DIY venues,” often located in vacant warehouses, office spaces, waterfront parks, and even laundromats. For example, the Metro Community Laundromat in Williamsburg became one such location

⁶⁵ Local Law 214 of 2017 repealed all aspects of the Cabaret Laws, with two safety requirements: establishments previously required to obtain a cabaret license still must, and establishments must install security cameras.

⁶⁶ Office of the New York City Comptroller, The New Geography of Jobs: A Blueprint for Strengthening NYC Neighborhoods (Executive Summary), April 25, 2017, <https://comptroller.nyc.gov/reports/the-new-geography-of-jobs-a-blueprint-for-strengthening-nyc-neighborhoods/>

hosting the “Dirty Disco Laundrette Party.”⁶⁷ This growth has also coincided with an increase in the number of resident noise complaints, particularly in the Brooklyn neighborhoods of Williamsburg and Bushwick.⁶⁸ It has also led to concerns over safety. In December 2016, a deadly fire during a pop-up type party in a warehouse space in Oakland, California placed the spotlight on the dangers of illegal clubs that do not meet safety standards. That fire resulted in 36 deaths from smoke inhalation. The building was in violation of fire and electrical codes.⁶⁹ The tragedy caused cities across the nation to take notice of DIY venues operating illegally and the potential risks they pose.⁷⁰

Even after the Cabaret Laws, establishments that cater to more nightlife outside of dining are more heavily regulated. For example, restaurants must only install automatic sprinkler systems if their capacity exceeds 300, whereas any club is so required regardless of their capacity. As such, some club owners complain that the costs are excessive for smaller venues.⁷¹ City officials argued that dancing presents additional safety concerns beyond those present in establishments without dancing, hence the need for more stringent zoning restrictions.⁷² Various provisions of the Zoning Resolution provide additional justifications for the measures, which include the need to limit crowds and lineups in front of establishments; to maintain a distance from residential districts; to limit undue vehicle and pedestrian traffic; to limit noise; and to preserve the character of surrounding residential or mixed-use neighborhoods.⁷³ As such, establishments that offer dancing are still susceptible to an enormous amount of potential penalties.

III. M.A.R.C.H. OPERATIONS

The Multi-Agency Response to Community Hotspots (M.A.R.C.H.) was started by then Mayor Giuliani to crackdown on nightclubs using the Cabaret Law in response to reports of injury and deaths from drugs and violent fights.⁷⁴ According to media reports, the program was part of Giuliani’s larger broken window initiatives,⁷⁵ which involved the increased enforcement of quality of life laws to make the city safer. Despite shifting political leanings, M.A.R.C.H. operations have continued under successive administrations. In the first year of Mayor Bloomberg’s first term, M.A.R.C.H. enforcement actions increased 35 percent over the previous years.⁷⁶ And enforcement has continued under the current administration; in the first quarter of 2017, the city issued 27 criminal court summonses for “unlawful cabarets.”⁷⁷

Little is known about the inner workings of M.A.R.C.H.. What is known about the program comes from a 2014 NYPD Operations Order, retrieved by a journalist in 2017 via a FOIL request.⁷⁸ According to that order, M.A.R.C.H. is overseen by the Mayor’s Office of Criminal Justice (MOCJ) and is comprised of representatives from the NYPD, the New York City Department of Building (DOB), the New York City Fire Department (FDNY), the New York City Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH), and the New York State Liquor Authority (SLA).⁷⁹ These agencies work collaboratively on quality of life enforcement against venues that negatively impact the quality of life in the community.⁸⁰

Per the order, NYPD identifies venues for M.A.R.C.H. operation based on 311 complaints (e.g. noise and quality of life complaints), the number of incidents that have occurred within the space or surrounding area, and whether the venues has a history of cooperating with authorities.⁸¹ The later category can be particularly vague – the “Operational Considerations” section of the order states “[a]n establishment’s lack of cooperation with members of the service regarding incidents and other matters of importance to the Department or unwillingness to implement recommended crime prevention measures or assist the Department in combating crime or other concerns, would also merit inclusion in a M.A.R.C.H. operation.”⁸² That consideration has nothing to do with an establishment’s keeping to code, only their perceived cooperation with their local precinct. The stakes of that perception are high - venues that are placed on M.A.R.C.H. list are subject to NYPD-led raids.⁸³

A court case revealed that about 30 or 40 people, comprised of NYPD officers and personnel from agencies that are on M.A.R.C.H. taskforce, raid targeted venues to conduct inspections concerning, for example, building safety, food quality, and liquor stock and issue citations and fines where venues are not in compliance with applicable regulations.⁸⁴ Generally, these raids take place during peak weekend hours without prior notice to the venues and business owners.⁸⁵ Because of that timing especially, advocates and business owners have described the raids as an economic hit that has a lasting financial effect on businesses. Many venues that are raided must pay thousands of dollars in fines for numerous violations.⁸⁶ Others are forced to close their doors due to numerous fines and loss of patrons.⁸⁷ Advocates have found that many Latinx- and Black-owned businesses are forced to close their doors due to the lack of financial and legal resources needed to reopen after receiving numerous fines for violations.⁸⁸ These advocates have expressed concern that this is speeding up the process of gentrification because it is “more likely that gentrifying businesses would be able to afford those fines—not to mention the pending legal fees—than longstanding minority-owned business.”⁸⁹

While the Cabaret Laws have been repealed, and the Office of Nightlife has been established, advocates indicate that M.A.R.C.H. continues a troubling history of discrimination against establishments that cater to communities of color. The NYC Artist Coalition collected information from the NYPD via a Freedom of Information Act request on the number of M.A.R.C.H.. raids. The graph below plots those raids by Council districts. This data does not include the race or ethnicity of the businesses that were raided.

FIG. 1. M.A.R.C.H.. RAIDS 2012-2017, MAPPED BY COUNCIL DISTRICT⁹⁰

However, it is clear that the communities with the lowest number of raids – Bay Terrace and Richmond Valley in southern Staten Island, Marine Park and Mill Basin in southeast Brooklyn, Bayside and Maspeth in Queens, the Upper West Side and Yorkville in Manhattan – tend to be whiter.⁹¹ In contrast, the neighborhoods with the highest number of raids tend to be communities of color – Stapleton in Staten Island, Bushwick in Brooklyn, Corona in Queens, Chinatown and Washington Heights in Manhattan, and Highbridge and Mott Haven in the Bronx. The disparity is not explained by number of establishments, or number of liquor licenses – otherwise, for example, Midtown Manhattan or Yorkville, some of the densest collection of bars in the country, wouldn't have fewer raids than the South Bronx. For context, the New York State Liquor Authority granted more than five times as many “night” permits – allowing later selling of alcohol – in Manhattan than the Bronx.⁹² The number of raids then is not dependent on the number of licenses, or businesses – in fact in some neighborhoods it seems to be inverse.

⁹⁰ Data compiled by NYC Artist Coalition, available at <http://nycartc.com/march/>

The data underlying the graph in Figure 1 also raises questions about the efficacy of M.A.R.C.H. operations. According to this data, 48% of raids resulted in “no enforcement action taken.”⁹³ If almost half of the raids find no issue, it is questionable whether they are worth the costs, both to the taxpayer and to the business that is raided. As discussed below, this lack of any needed enforcement action makes the lack of notice and the aggressiveness of the operations all the more problematic.

Advocates and business owners have expressed less issue with the idea of inspections than the lack of notice and excessive theatrics of the way M.A.R.C.H. raids are conducted. According to John Barclay, a club owner and advocate, “no one knows how you end up on their list... We don’t know why they show up. They won’t tell you. They just show up... write a bunch of tickets, and they leave and go to the next one.”⁹⁴ The opacity of the raids came up again before the Committee on Consumer Affairs at their June 19, 2017 hearing, where Rachel Nelson, testifying again on the impact of the methods of enforcement, noted “[M.A.R.C.H.] has no website, no known boss, no one to call, no[] way of knowing the predictability of if they will come once a year, on[c]e a month or never at all. There is no way of knowing if you’ve made it to their list, and there is no person to contact in order to get you off that when you’ve fulfilled your obligations.”⁹⁵

The manner in which the raids happen tend to be dramatic enough to scare away customers and convince neighbors the business being raided is dangerous. At the June 19, 2017 hearing on the Cabaret Laws, Barclay described the M.A.R.C.H. like “a SWAT team... like a counter-terrorism raid.”⁹⁶ Similarly at the September 14, 2017 Consumer Affairs hearing, Nelson, an owner of several small clubs in Brooklyn, described M.A.R.C.H. as an, “unknown, unregulated paramilitary enforcement agency.”⁹⁷

Finally, M.A.R.C.H. operations do not allow venues to fix health and safety requirements before issuing citations and fines – summonses and tickets are handed out on the spot, regardless of how quickly an issue is, or could be, resolved.⁹⁸ Both advocates and venue owners have expressed their frustration with the lack of opportunity to comply with health and safety standards before citations and fines are issued. This is especially problematic because of the number of zoning laws that cover nightlife establishments, meaning that a single M.A.R.C.H. raid could put a club out of business as a result of only minor infractions.

IV. ANALYSIS OF PROP. INT. NO. 1156-A

This bill would require the Office of Nightlife to report on M.A.R.C.H. operations conducted across the city, gathering data from each agency involved and then comparing them. The bill also requires the NYPD to deliver written notifications at least 30 days prior to a potential M.A.R.C.H. operation. The notification would warn the establishment that they are at risk of being included in a M.A.R.C.H. operation, including specifics on what conduct or infrastructure needs to change.

Finally, the bill also requires the MOCJ to report on the activities of the Office of Special Enforcement (OSE). While separate in jurisdiction from M.A.R.C.H., OSE also conducts multi-agency operations similar in scope, and often including nightlife establishments.⁹⁹

This bill would take effect 120 days after it became law.

V. AMENDMENTS TO PROP. INT. NO. 1156-A

Prop. Int. 1156-A has been amended since it was heard as Int. No. 1156. The bill now dicates that the Office of Nighlfe, and not NYPD, compile the report on MARCH operations. Because much of the information required by the bill is only in the possession of the particular agencies involved in each MARCH operation, an office with a broader scope is the more appropriate entity to be responsible for the report.

The new version of the bill also adds the requirement that an establishment must be given written notice at least 30 days prior to being part of a MARCH operation, unless the circumstances fall into one of the law enforcement exceptions detailed in the bill. That notification must also include contact information for the Office of Nightlife.

In terms of the data points that are now required in the report, the bill now omits any information that could be linked to a particular entity – for example, identifiers for any summonses given. In addition to data on MARCH operations, the bill now also adds reporting on the Office Of Special Enforcement’s activities, compiled by MOCJ.

A Local Law to amend the New York city charter and the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring the office of nightlife to report on multi-agency response to community hotspots operations and the mayor's office of criminal justice to ensure reporting on inspections overseen by the office of special enforcement, as well as providing establishment owners with a notice about conduct or complaints that could lead to a multi-agency response to community hotspots operation and the opportunity to provide information relevant to such notice

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision e of section 20-d of the New York city charter, as added by local law number 178 for the year 2017, is amended to read as follows:

e. Reporting. 1. Within 18 months of the effective date of the local law that added this section, and annually thereafter, the director shall prepare and submit a report to the mayor and the speaker of the council that shall include, but not be limited to, the activities of the office and any recommendations developed by the director pursuant to this section.

2. The office shall submit to the council and post to the office's website, in a machine readable format, a report on multi-agency response to community hotspots operations consistent with paragraph 3 of this subdivision. For the purposes of this section, the term "multi-agency response to community hotspots operation" or "operation" means an enforcement effort involving multiple city agencies or offices directed at an establishment which has been the source of community complaints, coordinated by the police department's civil enforcement unit. Such reports shall include the following information for each operation during the previous six months:

(a). The borough, council district, and zip code of the operation.

(b). The conduct or complaint that resulted in an establishment being the subject of an operation, including any relevant 311, 911, department of building, department of health, or other form of complaint and the number of such complaints.

(c). The number of times each establishment was the subject of an operation and the basis for each operation.

(d). The date and time of each operation, including the time each operation commenced and the average time spent inside each establishment, and whether the operation resulted in the closure of the establishment for the duration of the operation.

(e). The agencies present for the operation, including the number of personnel from each agency.

(f). Any civil or criminal summonses as defined in section 14-101 of the administrative code, issued during an operation and the agency responsible for each such summons.

(i). The number of written notices provided, as defined in section 14-181 of the administrative code, and the number of times, and reasons why, such written notice was not provided due to a law enforcement exception, as defined in section 14-181 of the administrative code.

3. No later than two months after January 1 and July 1 in each calendar year beginning in 2020, the office shall publish the information required in paragraph 2 of this section in the aggregate for the periods ending on the preceding December 31 and June 30 respectively. Such information shall include the number and percentage of each data point, provided that such information that cannot be aggregated need not be included in such report. Such reports must be machine readable, and shall be stored on the police department's or the office of nightlife's website for at least ten years.

4. No information that is otherwise required to be reported pursuant to this section shall be reported in a manner that would violate any applicable provision of federal, state or local law relating to the privacy of information.

§ 2. Title 14 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new section 14-181 to read as follows:

§ 14-181 Multi-agency response to community hotspots.

a. Before an establishment becomes the subject of a multi-agency response to community hotspots operation, as defined in subdivision e of section 20-d of the charter, the department shall provide written notice to such an establishment at least 30 days prior to commencing such an operation, unless (i) providing such notice or complying with such waiting period would compromise an active criminal investigation or (ii) the department has specific reason to believe that providing such notice or complying with such waiting period would pose a serious risk to the health or safety of persons inside the establishment or in the vicinity thereof or to the health or safety of a particular person. Such notice shall contain information about the alleged conduct or complaint that could warrant making such an establishment the subject of such an operation and provide a means for the establishment owner, or an agent acting on behalf of such establishment, to provide information or materials to the department relevant to the resolution or attempted resolution of the conduct or complaint described in the notice. Such notice shall include contact information for the office of nightlife and a notice that such recipient may contact such office with any questions or concerns.. The department shall make such written notice available to any establishment, upon request, during or immediately subsequent to an operation.

b. Nothing in this section shall be construed to create a private right of action on the part of any person or entity against the city of New York or any agency, official, or employee thereof, to enforce the provisions of this section.

c. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the city of New York or any agency, official, or employee thereof, from taking any action within its jurisdiction, including but not limited to enforcing any law, rule or regulation.

§ 3. Chapter 3 of title 9 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new section 9-307 to read as follows:

§ 9-307 Office of special enforcement reporting.

a. Within one month after the calendar year quarter ending December 31, 2019, and within one month of each quarter thereafter, the office shall ensure that the office of special enforcement submits to the council and posts to its website, in a machine readable format, a report on inspections of nightlife establishments overseen by the office of special enforcement. Such reports shall include the following information for each such inspection during the previous quarter:

- 1. The borough and council district of the inspection.*
- 2. The conduct or complaint that resulted in the inspection, including any relevant 311, 911, department of building, fire department, finance department's sheriff's office, or other form of complaint.*
- 3. The duration of the inspection, including the time the inspection commenced and the time spent inside the establishment.*
- 4. The agencies present for the inspection, including the number of personnel from each agency.*
- 5. Any civil or criminal summonses issued or criminal complaints filed, as defined in section 14-101, as a result of the inspection, as well as the agency responsible for issuing each such summons.*
- 6. Whether the targeted establishment was ordered to cease operations during such inspection, and the duration of such closure.*

b. The term "office of special enforcement" means the office of special enforcement, as established under executive order number 96 for the year 2006, or such other agency as the mayor may designate by executive order.

§ 2. This local law takes effect 120 days after it becomes law.

By Council Members Salamanca and Adams.

WHEREAS, the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development (“HPD”) submitted to the Council on September 24, 2019 its request dated September 23, 2019 that the Council approve a real property tax exemption pursuant to Section 577 of the Private Housing Finance Law (the “Tax Exemption Request”) for property located at Block 6, Lots 20 and 30, Borough of Queens, Community District No. 2, Council District No. 26 (the “Exemption Area”);

 - e. "Exemption Area" shall mean the real property located in the Borough of Queens, City and State of New York, identified as Block 6, Lots 20 & 30 on the Tax Map of the City of New York.
 - f. "Expiration Date" shall mean the earlier to occur of (i) a date which is forty (40) years from the Effective Date, (ii) the date of the expiration or termination of the Regulatory Agreement, or (iii) the date upon which the Exemption Area ceases to be owned by either a housing development fund company or an entity wholly controlled by a housing development fund company.
 - g. "HDC" shall mean the New York City Housing Development Corporation.
 - h. "HDFC" shall mean South Point Housing Development Fund Corporation or a housing development fund company that acquires the Exemption Area with the prior written consent of HPD.

Report of the Committee on Parks and Recreation

Report for Int. No. 906-A

Report of the Committee on Parks and Recreation in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to a transfer of control over Hart island from the department of corrections to the department of parks and recreation, and to provide for the repeal of section 9-103 of the administrative code of the city of New York, relating to the segregation of prisoners on Hart island.

The Committee on Parks and Recreation, to which the annexed proposed amended local law was referred on May 9, 2018 (Minutes, page 1845), respectfully

REPORTS:

INTRODUCTION

On November 13, 2019, the Committee on Parks and Recreation, chaired by Council Member Peter Koo will hold a hearing to consider Proposed Int. No. 906-A, A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to a transfer of control over Hart island from the department of corrections to the department of parks and recreation, and to provide for the repeal of section 9-103 of the administrative code of the city of New York, relating to the segregation of prisoners on Hart island. This legislation was originally heard at a hearing held on May 30, 2019, during which the Committee received testimony from the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation (Parks), the Department of Transportation (DOT), the Department of Correction (DOC), the Human Resources Administration (HRA), advocates, and other interested parties.

BACKGROUND

DOC maintains and operates the City Cemetery, commonly known as Potter's Field, located on Hart Island, in Long Island Sound, off the coast of City Island in the Bronx.¹ The cemetery occupies 101 acres of Hart Island and is purportedly the largest tax-funded cemetery in the world.² By many estimations, there are over one million people buried on Hart Island.³

Hart Island was first used by the City as a public cemetery in 1869 for the burial of people who died indigent or whose bodies went unclaimed after their death.⁴ During the cemetery's first year of operation, 1,875 burials were performed.⁵ Hart Island is the only location the City currently uses to bury the bodies of the unclaimed or unidentified;⁶ however, Hart Island is the tenth Potter's Field in the City's history, as previous fields were located at the current sites of Washington Square, Bellevue Hospital, Madison Square, the NYC Public Library, Wards Island, and Randall's Island.⁷

In 2018, 1,213 individuals were buried on Hart Island, including 303 fetal remains, 81 children, and 829 adults.⁸ Most of the individuals buried on Hart Island (approximately 62 percent in 2018) have a next of kin who opted for a public burial, while others may have a next of kin who is unknown or unreachable (33 percent).⁹ Others are unidentified or do not have a next of kin.¹⁰ Over the past ten years, between 1,000 and 1,300 individuals were buried on Hart Island annually, with the exception of 2014, when only 962 individuals were buried there.¹¹ Each year, 15 people or fewer are unidentified, and about 21 percent of the burials are for fetal remains.¹²

In addition to its use as a cemetery, Hart Island has had various uses since 1869, including, among other things, the operation of several jails, a missile base, and a rehabilitation center.¹³ Pursuant to section 21-110 of the New York City Administrative Code, Potter's Field on Hart Island operates under the control of DOC and the burial of the deceased is governed by rules and regulations established by the joint action of HRA and DOC.¹⁴

In cases of disagreement between the agencies, the cemetery operates under regulations established by the mayor.¹⁵

Four days each week, seven DOC staff members and eight incarcerated individuals travel by DOT ferry from City Island to Hart Island.¹⁶ Both the staff and work detail are responsible for the burial of remains, and the staff and work detail are also responsible for tending to the Island's upkeep.¹⁷ The bodies of the deceased that are transported to the Island are placed in pine boxes marked by black permanent marker; the boxes are sometimes marked with a name, but usually just with a number used to identify the person.¹⁸ The boxes are stacked three deep in a trench 36 inches below the surface, burying between 150 to 162 adults and 1,000 infants per trench.¹⁹ DOC has informed the Council that the estimated Hart Island annual operating cost is approximately $772,000, which includes staff salaries and overtime.²⁰

The Council has had previous hearings regarding Hart Island, first in 2011 and most recently in 2016.²¹ During these hearings, the Council discussed transferring the jurisdiction of Hart Island from DOC to Parks, the public availability of Hart Island burial records, the public dissemination of Hart Island visitor protocols, and general oversight of Hart Island.²² Since then, DOC has posted Hart Island burial information online.²³

DOC now provides regular, monthly visits to Hart Island, as a result of a lawsuit and lobbying by advocates.²⁴ According to DOC, there are two options visitors may choose from when seeking to visit Hart Island, both of which operate on predetermined schedules: monthly gazebo visits for any member of the public and monthly gravesite visits for family.²⁵ Visitors must register with DOC before a scheduled visit day and provide a valid, government-issued photo ID if over the age of 16.²⁶ Gazebo visitation records from September 2018 through December 2018 show an average of twelve visitors scheduled each month for public visits.²⁷ During that same period, there was an average of seven visit groups (approximately 27 total visitors) scheduled each month for family visits.²⁸

Over the past several years, advocates have criticized the process leading to burial on Hart Island as well as the operation of the Island by DOC.²⁹ Advocacy efforts have included the creation of: (i) the Hart Island Project, (ii) the Potter's Field Campaign of Picture the Homeless, and (iii) the Interfaith Friends of Potter's Field. According to its website, the mission of the Hart Island Project is to assist families and individuals with limited resources in accessing public burial records and information about Hart Island, as well as increase the public's awareness of Hart Island.³⁰ The Hart Island Project maintains a database of public burial records from 1980 to the present.³¹ Picture the Homeless began its Potter's Field Campaign because of the loss of its co-founder, Lewis Haggins, on December 23, 2003, who was buried on Hart Island before being returned to his family.³² The Campaign worked to improve access to Hart Island, and, after a year, the City changed its restrictions on Hart Island visitations.³³ The Potter's Field Campaign and the Interfaith Friends of Potter's Field successfully lobbied DOC for access to Hart Island and currently conduct bi-monthly memorial services on the Island.³⁴

While access to the Island and its burial records have improved, there are still concerns about Hart Island's accessibility. Although DOC has received positive feedback for its service, family members, friends, and members of the public have testified that they prefer to not feel as if they are visiting a prison when going to visit their loved one and/or pay their respects at Hart Island.³⁵ According to advocates, by requiring photo ID and other measures in order to visit Hart Island, DOC deters members of the public from being able to visit.³⁶ Furthermore, because of the nature of DOC's work, the visiting schedule is rigid and can act as a barrier for members of the public.³⁷

In New York City, there are alternatives for those without means to be buried outside of Hart Island. One alternative is accessing funds from HRA, which provides financial assistance to individuals in need of support to meet funeral expenses, including burial.³⁸ These funds are available when a resident of New York City dies without leaving funds to cover their burial expenses and there are no relatives or friends willing or able to pay the funeral expenses.³⁹ HRA will pay up to $900 towards a funeral that costs no more than $1,700.⁴⁰

Additionally, there are charitable and religious organizations, such as The Hebrew Free Burial Association ("HFBA") and the Society of St. Vincent de Paul ("SSVDP") that assist with burials. According to its website, the HFBA is dedicated to assuring that every Jewish person, regardless of financial means or religious affiliation, receives a dignified, traditional Jewish funeral and burial.⁴¹ Since its inception in the 1880's, the HFBA has buried nearly 65,000 indigent Jews.⁴² The SSVDP provides referrals to Catholics for low cost funerals, as well as assistance in receiving reimbursement from HRA and provides "non-title" plots in Calvary Cemetery.⁴³ Additionally, the U.S. Department of Veteran's Affairs (VA) works with partners to ensure the dignified burial of veterans who are indigent.⁴⁴

OCME states that it refers the families and friends of the indigent deceased to organizations that may fund burials, and to the HRA burial assistance program. OCME refers all burials of veterans to the VA.⁴⁵ However, according to advocates and the press, those in need of these and other options are not always told of their availability or given enough details to make an informed decision before authorizing the burial of a loved one on Hart Island.⁴⁶ Such was the case with Jacqueline Quinoz, whose son Elijah Romero was born stillborn at Flushing Hospital in Queens in the spring of 2009.⁴⁷ Reports indicate that less than an hour after the delivery, a hospital social worker entered Ms. Quinoz's room and told her she had two options for Elijah's burial, namely, (1) a Catholic service in a special cemetery, or (2) burial at Potter's Field at no cost.⁴⁸ Reportedly, since she was not Catholic and did not have the means for a private burial, she signed a form releasing her son's body to the City.⁴⁹ OCME and H+H both provide information about Hart Island to one's next of kin, yet there is no City-wide standard process in place to educate individuals about our public burial process.⁵⁰

THE AIDS EPIDEMIC

In 1985, when the first people identified as AIDS victims arrived on Hart Island, they were buried in an isolated area away from the remains of other individuals.⁵¹ Unlike other remains, they were buried in deep individual graves, under several feet of dirt instead of the typical three.⁵² Hart Island staff at the time, like many others, were ignorant of how AIDS could spread and acted out of an overabundance (and unnecessary level) of caution.⁵³ As the New York Times points out, "the island would go on to receive scores, if not hundreds, of people who died during the AIDS epidemic, which during the 1980s and 1990s killed more than 100,000 people in New York, about a quarter of AIDS deaths nationwide during the same period."⁵⁴ While it is currently impossible to know exactly how many people who died from AIDS are on Hart Island, burial records indicate that many who died in the few hospitals who cared for those with AIDS were sent to Hart Island.⁵⁵ Thus, Hart Island may be the largest cemetery for victims of the AIDS epidemic.⁵⁶

BILL ANALYSIS

Proposed Int. No. 906-A: A Local Law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to a transfer of control over Hart island from the department of corrections to the department of parks and recreation, and to provide for the repeal of section 9-103 of the administrative code of the city of New York, relating to the segregation of prisoners on Hart island

This bill would transfer jurisdiction and control over Hart Island, the City's public burial ground, from DOC to Parks. The transfer would occur at the earlier of when the commissioner of DOC lays out additional Potter's Fields, or by July 1, 2021. It would also repeal section 9-103 of the administrative code, which currently provides that the lands and buildings on Hart Island be utilized for the segregation of prisoners transferred there by DOC. This bill would take effect 180 days after it becomes law.

SPONSOR(S): By Council Members Rodriguez, Holden, Lancman, Constantinides, Adams, Powers, Kallos, Lander, Ampy-Samuel, Cohen, and Ayala.

REPORTS:

INTRODUCTION

On November 13, 2019, the Committee on Transportation, chaired by Council Member Ydanis Rodriguez, will hold a hearing on Proposed Int. No. 909-B a local law in relation to the establishment of a Hart island public travel plan. This is the second hearing on this item. The first hearing on Proposed Int. No. 909-A was held on May 30, 2019, at a joint hearing with the Committees on Health, chaired by Council Member Mark Levine and Parks and Recreation, chaired by acting chair Council Member Andrew Cohen. The Committees heard testimony from the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation (Parks), the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner (OCME), the Department of Correction (DOC), the Department of Transportation (DOT), the Human Resources Administration (HRA), advocates, and other interested parties.

BACKGROUND

DOC maintains and operates the City Cemetery, commonly known as Potter's Field, located on Hart Island, in Long Island Sound, off the coast of City Island in the Bronx.¹ The cemetery occupies 101 acres of Hart Island and is purportedly the largest tax-funded cemetery in the world.² By many estimations, there are over one million people buried on Hart Island.³

Hart Island was first used by the City as a public cemetery in 1869 for the burial of people who died indigent or whose bodies went unclaimed after their death.⁴ During the cemetery's first year of operation, 1,875 burials were performed.⁵ Hart Island is the only location the City currently uses to bury the bodies of the unclaimed or unidentified;⁶ however, Hart Island is the tenth Potter's Field in the City's history, as previous fields were located at the current sites of Washington Square, Bellevue Hospital, Madison Square, the NYC Public Library, Wards Island, and Randall's Island.⁷

In 2018, 1,213 individuals were buried on Hart Island, including 303 fetal remains, 81 children, and 829 adults.⁸ Most of the individuals buried on Hart Island (approximately 62 percent in 2018) have a next of kin who opted for a public burial, while others may have a next of kin who is unknown or unreachable (33 percent).⁹

Others are unidentified or do not have a next of kin.¹⁰ Over the past ten years, between 1,000 and 1,300 individuals were buried on Hart Island annually, with the exception of 2014, when only 962 individuals were buried there.¹¹ Each year, 15 people or fewer are unidentified, and about 21 percent of the burials are for fetal remains.¹²

In addition to its use as a cemetery, Hart Island has had various uses since 1869, including, among other things, the operation of several jails, a missile base, and a rehabilitation center.¹³ Pursuant to section 21-110 of the New York City Administrative Code, Potter's Field on Hart Island operates under the control of DOC and the burial of the deceased is governed by rules and regulations established by the joint action of HRA and DOC.¹⁴ In cases of disagreement between the agencies, the cemetery operates under regulations established by the mayor.¹⁵

Four days each week, seven DOC staff members and eight incarcerated individuals travel by DOT ferry from City Island to Hart Island.¹⁶ Both the staff and work detail are responsible for the burial of remains, and the staff and work detail are also responsible for tending to the Island's upkeep.¹⁷ The bodies of the deceased that are transported to the Island are placed in pine boxes marked by black permanent marker; the boxes are sometimes marked with a name, but usually just with a number used to identify the person.¹⁸ The boxes are stacked three deep in a trench 36 inches below the surface, burying between 150 to 162 adults and 1,000 infants per trench.¹⁹ DOC has informed the Council that the estimated Hart Island annual operating cost is approximately $772,000, which includes staff salaries and overtime.²⁰

The Council has had previous hearings regarding Hart Island, first in 2011 and most recently in 2016.²¹ During these hearings, the Council discussed transferring the jurisdiction of Hart Island from DOC to Parks, the public availability of Hart Island burial records, the public dissemination of Hart Island visitor protocols, and general oversight of Hart Island.²² Since then, DOC has posted Hart Island burial information online.²³

Public Access to Hart Island

DOC now provides regular, monthly visits to Hart Island, as a result of a lawsuit and lobbying by advocates.²⁴ According to DOC, there are two options visitors may choose from when seeking to visit Hart Island, both of which operate on predetermined schedules: monthly gazebo visits for any member of the public and monthly gravesite visits for family.²⁵ Visitors must register with DOC before a scheduled visit day and provide a valid, government-issued photo ID if over the age of 16.²⁶ Gazebo visitation records from September

2018 through December 2018 show an average of twelve visitors scheduled each month for public visits.²⁷ During that same period, there was an average of seven visit groups (approximately 27 total visitors) scheduled each month for family visits.²⁸ In order to access Hart Island, individuals must travel by ferry which leaves from the east end of Fordham Street on City Island.²⁹ DOC recommends carpooling or taking public transportation due to the limited parking near the City Island ferry dock.³⁰

While access to the Island and its burial records have improved, there are still concerns about Hart Island's accessibility. Although DOC has received positive feedback for its service, family members, friends, and members of the public have testified that they prefer to not feel as if they are visiting a prison when going to visit their loved one and/or pay their respects at Hart Island.³¹ According to advocates, by requiring photo ID and other measures in order to visit Hart Island, DOC deters members of the public from being able to visit.³² Furthermore, because of the nature of DOC's work, the visiting schedule is rigid and can act as a barrier for members of the public.³³

ANALYSIS

This bill would require the Department of Parks and Recreation, or another agency designated by the Mayor to consult with DOT to develop a plan for public travel, including ferry service, to and from Hart Island. In developing the plan, the Department of Parks and Recreation (or any other designated agency) would have to consider factors such as changing conditions and future uses of Hart Island. The agency would have to submit a report on its plan within one year of the bill's effective date. The bill would take effect on the date of transfer and control of Hart Island to the Department of Parks and Recreation as required in section 21-110 of the Administrative Code. The legislation is deemed repealed following the submission of the report.

Res. No. 1169

Resolution approving the decision of the City Planning Commission on ULURP No. C 190251 MMQ, an amendment to the City Map (L.U. No. 554).

By Council Members Salamanca and Adams.

WHEREAS, Peninsula Rockaway Limited Partnership, filed an application pursuant to Sections 197-c and 199 of the New York City Charter for an amendment to the City Map involving:

- the establishment of a portion of Beach 52nd Street between Rockaway Beach Boulevard and Shore Front Parkway;
- the adjustment of grades and block dimensions necessitated thereby;

including authorization for any acquisition or disposition of real property related thereto, in accordance with Map No. 5033 dated April 17, 2019 and signed by the Borough President, which in conjunction with the related actions would facilitate a new mixed-use development with affordable housing, commercial, and community facility uses within a large-scale general development (LSGD), on property generally bounded by Beach 50th Street, Beach Channel Drive, Beach 53rd Street, and Rockaway Beach Boulevard (Block 15843, Lot 1, Block 15842, Lot 1 and p/o Lot 100, and Block 15857, Lot 1 and p/o Lot 7) in the Edgemere neighborhood of Queens, Community District 14 (ULURP No. C 190251 MMQ), (the “Application”);

WHEREAS, the City Planning Commission filed with the Council on September 26, 2019, its decision dated September 25, 2019 (the “Decision”), on the Application;

WHEREAS, the Decision is subject to review and action by the Council pursuant to Section 197-d of the City Charter;

WHEREAS, upon due notice, the Council held a public hearing on the Decision and Application on October 3, 2019;

WHEREAS, the Council has considered the land use implications and other policy issues relating to the Decision and Application; and

WHEREAS, the Council has considered the relevant environmental issues, including the positive declaration, issued on March 16, 2018 (CEQR No. 18DCP124Q) and a Final Environmental Impact Statement (FEIS) for which a Notice of Completion was issued on September 13, 2019 which identified significant adverse impacts with respect to community facilities (public schools and childcare), active open space, transportation (traffic, transit bus and pedestrians), mobile air quality, and construction activities related to noise and traffic and potential significant adverse impacts related to hazardous materials, stationary air quality and noise would be avoided through the placement of (E) designations (E-532) on the project site. In addition, the FEIS analyzed the revised application called the Flexibility Alternative as an alternative to the original application, and concluded that the modified application would result in the same or similar impacts as the original application and the identified significant adverse impacts and proposed mitigation measures are included in the Restrictive Declaration attached as Exhibit A to the decision for C 190366 ZSQ.

RESOLVED:

Having considered the FEIS with respect to the Decision and Application, the Council finds that:

- (1) The FEIS meets the requirements of 6 N.Y.C.R.R. Part 617;
- (2) Consistent with social, economic and other essential considerations, from among the reasonable alternatives thereto, the action is one which minimizes or avoids adverse environmental impacts to the maximum extent practicable; and
- (3) The adverse environmental impacts disclosed in the FEIS will be minimized or avoided to the maximum extent practicable by incorporating, as conditions to the approval, pursuant to the restrictive declaration attached as Exhibit A to City Planning Commission report for C 190366 ZSQ, those project components related to environment and mitigation measures that were identified as practicable.

The Decision, together with the FEIS constitute the written statement of facts, and of social, economic and other factors and standards that form the basis of this determination, pursuant to 6 N.Y.C.R.R. §617.11(d).

Pursuant to Sections 197-d and 199 of the City Charter and on the basis of the Decision and Application, and based on the environmental determination and consideration described in this report, C 190251 MMQ, incorporated by reference herein, and the record before the Council, the Council approves the Decision for an amendment to the City Map involving:

Res. No. 1150

Resolution calling upon the New York State Legislature to pass, and the Governor to sign, S.2886/A.5315, requiring teachers colleges to incorporate a course of instruction in mental health.

By Council Members Cohen and Louis.

Whereas, The National Institute of Mental Health has confirmed that, at present, there are more than 10 million students who are in need of mental health support; and

Whereas, the National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) has observed that schools are in a unique position to serve as a resource for vital connections to mental health resources and supports for young people who might feel overwhelmed and isolated when facing a mental health crisis; and

Whereas, NAMI estimates approximately 46 percent of the 55 million students who attend school in the United States will experience a mental health disorder at some point within their lifetime; and

Whereas, NAMI reported one in five young people are currently living with a mental health condition, and due to a lack of capacity within school systems to deliver or make referrals for mental health services, less than half of those students are able to receive treatment; and

Whereas, Effective July 2018, New York State Education Law § 804 requires that mental health be part of the curriculum of health education mandated in schools; and

Whereas, The New York State Education Department, the New York State Office of Mental Health and the Mental Health Association of New York State established the New York State Mental Health Education Advisory Council to provide guidance to schools on how to incorporate mental health curricula; and

Whereas, The Advisory Council's guidelines recommended nine core elements be part of mental health education in all schools including teaching the concept of mental health as part of wellness, how to identify early signs of mental health problems, how negative stigma and attitudes toward mental illness can contribute to discrimination against people and cause people to avoid getting help and how to access appropriate resources for help and support for someone facing a mental health crisis or problem; and

Whereas, Although the Advisory Council has created an online resource center that includes teacher trainings, lesson plans and information, these are broad guidelines that do not define how the mental health education should be delivered to students in accordance with the new regulations; and

Whereas, New York State Senate Bill S.2886, sponsored by State Senator Julia Salazar, and New York State Assembly Bill A.5315, sponsored by Assemblymember Marcos A. Crespo, would require teachers colleges to incorporate a course of instruction in mental health; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the New York State Legislature to pass, and the Governor to sign, S.2886/A.5315, requiring teachers colleges to incorporate a course of instruction in mental health.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

Res. No. 1151

Resolution calling on corporate and government entities operating in New York City to divest from agricultural industries that benefit from deforestation and the acceleration of global warming.

By Council Members Constantinides, Brannan and Kallos (by request of the Brooklyn Borough President)

Whereas, On April 18, 2019, the Council passed the New York City Climate Mobilization Act, targeting energy sources and greenhouse gas emissions and requiring an eighty percent reduction in citywide emissions by 2050 to offset the globe's changing climate; and

Whereas, On June 20, 2019, the New York State legislature passed the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act, to require statewide reductions in greenhouse gas emissions and achieve net zero emissions in all sectors of the state economy by 2050; and

Whereas, According to the University of Michigan's Center for Sustainable Systems, the production of food accounts for 83% of all carbon dioxide equivalent emissions associated with food consumption in U.S. households, with nearly half of all food-based emissions stemming from livestock; and

Whereas, According to a 2018 article published by the American Association for the Advancement of Science entitled "Reducing Food's Environmental Impacts Through Producers and Consumer," producing one pound of beef alone requires 592 square feet of land on average; and

Whereas, The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations has stated the global consumption of beef is rising at a rate of 5% annually; and

Whereas, Earlier this year, to cope with rising demands for beef, Brazilian farmers set fires in the Amazon rainforest to clear land for more cattle farms, as reported by Brazil's National Institute for Space Research, which captured satellite images of 41,000 fire spots across the country; and

Whereas, According to the New York Times, the Amazon's rainforest is now burning at record rates, with an 80% increase of forest fires since 2018, straining the earth's ability to store carbon and produce oxygen; and

Whereas, Members of the European Union have condemned the destruction of the Amazon rainforest by cattle farmers and called for an urgent review of the possibility of banning Brazilian beef imports for their connection to environmental damage; and

Whereas, According to the Center for International Policy's Mighty Earth Campaign, soy products have a related effect on global deforestation, as 75% of the world's soy is used as feed for raising livestock including chicken and fish across the globe; and

Whereas, In 2017, the Global Environmental Change Journal described the rising global demand for soybean production as an underlying driver of global deforestation, as pressure mounted for farmers across South America to partake in large-scale forest-clearing to establish more cropland for soy cultivation; and

Whereas, According to the World Wildlife Fund, global supply-chains, shipments, and storage across international agricultural trading companies have created visible impacts on the world's climate as seen by the presence of increasing droughts and heatwaves; and

Whereas, The United Nations' Food and Agriculture Organization issued a statement entitled "Livestock a Major Threat to Environment," stating that animal agriculture is responsible for approximately 65% of all human-related nitrous oxide emissions, which causes heat to be trapped at an estimated rate 296 times stronger than carbon dioxide, and is guiding our global temperature towards a climate tipping point; and

Whereas, Many multinational corporations that distribute beef and soy products in New York City are not signatories to the New York Declaration on Forests, which ensures a commitment from companies to end deforestation by 2030; and

Whereas, Any buyer in New York City, be it a city agency, private corporation, or otherwise, should proactively uphold climate protections by refraining from purchasing agricultural products that fail to meet the sustainability standards set under the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act; and

Whereas, In order to achieve the commitments made by New York City and State to reduce greenhouse gasses and carbon emissions in all sectors of the economy, it is imperative for public and private sectors to divest from agricultural industries that contribute to climate change; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls on corporate and government entities operating in New York City to divest from agricultural industries that benefit from deforestation and the acceleration of global warming.

Res. No. 1156

Resolution calling on Wendy's to join the Fair Food Program and support farmworkers' human rights.

By Council Members Levine, Lander, Louis, Rosenthal, Adams, Rivera, Kallos, Ayala, Reynoso, Moya, Brannan, Levin, Van Bramer, Menchaca, Rose, Chin, Cohen, Richards, Dromm and Cornegy

Whereas, In 2011, the Fair Food Program (FFP) was created by the Coalition of Immokalee Workers (CIW) in an effort to bring together farmworkers, consumers, major food retailers and growers to achieve humane labor standards and better wages in United States agriculture; and

Whereas, The FFP works by having "Participating Buyers" of farm produce agree to purchase covered produce, mainly tomatoes, only from "Participating Growers"; and

Whereas, These Participating Growers are farms that meet strict standards required by the Fair Food Code of Conduct, which was designed by farmworkers themselves and is independently monitored by the Fair Food Standards Council, that include certain requirements for farmworkers, such as the right to work free from sexual harassment and assault; safe and non-abusive working conditions including shade, water and clean bathrooms in the fields; the ability to report mistreatment or unsafe conditions without retaliation; know-your-rights trainings; access to breaks and safe transportation to work; and

Whereas, In addition to certain labor standards, Participating Buyers pay Participating Growers a small premium on the purchased produce, known as the "Fair Food Premium," which goes to supplement farmworkers' regular paychecks; and

Whereas, To solidify these partnerships, the FFP and thus, the Fair Food Code of Conduct, are backed by legally-binding agreements between the CIW and many of the world's largest produce buyers, such as McDonald's and Subway, with farms that fail to comply with these standards facing risk of suspension from the FFP and losing the ability to sell their produce to Participating Buyers; and

Whereas, As the CIW has established that there is an underlying imbalance of power between farmworkers and corporations, it has focused its efforts on engaging with large corporations at the top of the agricultural supply chain to become Participating Buyers; and

Whereas, Currently, the FFP's Participating Buyers include Walmart, Chipotle Mexican Grill, Trader Joe's, Burger King, Subway and McDonald's; however, there still exist corporations that do not participate in the FFP and thus, may not ensure farmworkers are provided basic protections and fundamental human rights in their work; and

Whereas, The popular and large fast-food corporation Wendy's is one such company that has yet to join the FFP, having faced considerable criticism and protests over its refusal to participate, with a number of cities passing resolutions urging Wendy's to join the FFP and advocating for the boycott of Wendy's, according to the New York Times; and

Whereas, In New York City, Wendy's has locations throughout the five boroughs, including nine in Brooklyn and 10 in Manhattan, and is one of the only major fast-food chains to reject the opportunity to join the FFP; and

Whereas, In March 2018, over 100 farmworkers and supporters fasted for five days outside the Park Avenue offices of the hedge fund investment firm, Trian Partners, one of the largest shareholders of Wendy's, calling on the fast-food company to join the FFP, with over 2,000 New Yorkers joining in protest through midtown Manhattan on the last day of the fast, according to the CIW; and

Whereas, In New York State, and thus, New York City, there are a substantial number of farmworkers, as a September 2018 New York State Comptroller report indicates that New York State's more than 35,000 farms generated $4.8 billion in revenue in 2017, accounting for up to 80,000 farmworkers within the state; and

Whereas, In New York City, specifically, there are approximately 31 farms located in all boroughs except for Manhattan, according to a March 2015 New York State Comptroller report; and

Whereas, In addition, there are 530 GreenThumb registered community gardens and 735 registered public school garden projects in New York City, according to the 2018 New York City Food Metrics Report required pursuant to Local Law 52 of 2011; and

Whereas, As New York has a large number of farmworkers, encouraging Wendy's to join the FFP would ensure that farmworkers that provide produce to Wendy's are provided with the benefits, wages and work conditions that they deserve; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls on Wendy's to join the Fair Food Program and support farmworkers' human rights.

§ 22-1203 Commercial rent guidelines board. a. Composition. There shall be a commercial rent guidelines board consisting of nine members appointed by the mayor as follows:

1. One public member to serve as the chairperson of the board, who has had at least eight years of experience in finance or economics;
2. Two members representing commercial tenants which are not chain businesses;
3. Two members representing commercial landlords; and
4. Four public members, each of whom has had at least five years of experience in finance, economics, real property management or community development.

b. Terms. The members of the board, except the chairperson, shall serve staggered terms of two years. Four members of the board originally appointed, comprising one member representing tenants, one member representing owners and two public members, shall serve until January 1, 2023. The other members of the board originally appointed, excluding the chairperson, shall serve until January 1, 2024. Thereafter, all members shall serve two-year terms on the board until their successors have been appointed and qualified, except the chairperson, who shall serve at the pleasure of the mayor.

c. Removal. The mayor shall fill any vacancy that may occur in the same manner as the original appointment. A member of the board, other than the chairperson, may only be removed by the mayor for cause after an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel, in the member’s defense, upon at least 10 days’ written notice.

d. Duties of the chairperson. The chairperson shall be the chief administrative officer of the board, and among the chairperson’s powers and duties, the chairperson shall have the authority to employ, assign and supervise the employees of the board and enter into contracts for consultant services. The commissioner shall cooperate with the board and may assign personnel and perform such services in connection with the duties of the board as may reasonably be required by the chairperson.

e. Compensation. The members of the board shall be compensated on a per diem basis for no more than 25 days per year at a rate to be determined by the commissioner, and the chairperson shall be compensated on a per diem basis for no more than 50 days per year at a rate to be determined by the commissioner.

f. Guidelines. The board shall establish initial guidelines for commercial rent adjustments by July 1 next succeeding appointment of the last member of the board. Thereafter, the board shall establish annual guidelines to be filed in accordance with subdivision g of this section. In determining whether to adjust rents for commercial spaces subject to the commercial rent stabilization provisions of this chapter, the board shall consider, among other things:

1. The economic condition of the commercial real estate industry in the affected area, including such factors as:

- (a) Commercial real estate taxes and sewer and water rates;
- (b) Gross operating and maintenance costs (including insurance rates, governmental fees, fuel and labor costs);
- (c) Costs and availability of financing (including effective rates of interest); and
- (d) Overall supply of commercial spaces and overall vacancy rates;

2. Relevant data from the current and projected market values of commercial rentals in the affected area; and

3. Any other relevant data available to the board.

g. Annual filing. Not later than July 1 of each year, the board shall file with the city clerk its guidelines for the preceding calendar year, and shall accompany such findings with a statement of the maximum rate or rates of rent adjustment, if any, for all commercial spaces subject to the provisions of this chapter authorized for leases or other rental agreements commencing on the next succeeding October 1 or within 12 months thereafter. Such guidelines and statement shall be published in the City Record.

h. Public hearing. Prior to the annual adjustment of the level of rents provided for under subdivision d of this section, the board shall hold at least two public hearings for the purpose of collecting information relating to all factors set forth in subdivision f of this section, and any other relevant information as may be necessary for establishing the annual adjustment guidelines. The board shall provide notice of the date, time and location and a summary of the subject matter of the public hearings, to be published in the City Record daily for the period beginning eight days prior to the hearing date, and at least once in one or more newspapers of general circulation at least eight days immediately preceding the hearing date.

i. Limitation on rate adjustment. Maximum rates of rent adjustment shall not be established more than once annually for any commercial space subject to the provisions of this chapter. Once established, no such rate shall, within the one-year period, be adjusted by any surcharge, supplementary adjustment or other modification except as provided in section 22-1208.

§ 22-1204 Stabilization provisions. a. Upon renewal of a lease for commercial space, the rent charged for the first year of the new lease shall not exceed the initial legal regulated rent or legal regulated rent adjusted pursuant to section 22-1208 until the end of any lease or other rental agreement in effect on the effective date of the local law that added this chapter until such time as a different legal regulated rent shall be authorized pursuant to guidelines adopted by the board. No owner subject to the provisions of this chapter shall charge or collect any rent that exceeds the initial legal regulated rent or legal regulated rent adjusted pursuant to section 22-1208 until the end of any lease or other rental agreement in effect on the effective date of the local law that added this chapter until such time as a different legal regulated rent has been authorized pursuant to guidelines adopted by the board. For any lease exceeding beyond one year, the rent charged for any subsequent year shall not exceed the legal regulated rent as authorized pursuant to the most recent guidelines adopted by the board. If the rent charged for the first year of the new lease is less than the initial legal regulated rent or the legal regulated rent adjusted pursuant to section 22-1208, the rent charged for any subsequent year shall not exceed the first year rent adjusted by the rate authorized pursuant to the most recent guidelines adopted by the board.

b. The initial regulated rent for a commercial space subject to the provisions of this chapter is the rent charged in the lease or other rental agreement for such commercial space in effect on the effective date of the local law that added this chapter.

c. The initial regulated rent for a commercial space subject to the provisions of this chapter that is not subject to a lease or other rental agreement on the effective date of the local law that added this chapter shall be the rent charged in the first lease or other rental agreement for such commercial space that becomes effective after the effective date of the local law that added this chapter, provided that such rent shall not include any pass-alongs. However, if a claim alleging commercial tenant harassment pursuant to chapter 9 of this title is brought against the owner by the previous tenant as the means by which the vacancy was effected and such previous tenant's claim is upheld by a court of competent jurisdiction, such owner shall be liable for damages of 10 times the proposed new lease's monthly rent or $50,000, whichever is greater, to be payable to the previous tenant, in addition to consequential damages and any other remedy available at law or equity.

d. Upon a finding of commercial tenant harassment pursuant to chapter 9 of this title, the rent for the new tenant shall be no higher than the rent that could have been charged to the previous tenant pursuant to subdivision a of this section, retroactive to the beginning of the new tenancy. All other terms and conditions of the lease shall conform to the provisions of subdivision a of this section.

§ 22-1205 Enforcement and procedures. a. Subject to the conditions and limitations of this section, any owner who, upon the complaint of a tenant, is found by the commissioner, after a reasonable opportunity to be heard, to have collected an overcharge above the rent authorized for a commercial space subject to the provisions of this chapter, is liable to such tenant for a penalty equal to three times the amount of such overcharge. If the owner establishes, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the overcharge was not intentional, the penalty shall be the amount of the overcharge plus interest assessed from the initial date of the overcharge. After a complaint of rent overcharge has been filed and served on an owner, the voluntary adjustment of the rent and/or the voluntary tender of a refund of rent overcharges shall not be considered by the commissioner as evidence that the overcharge was not willful.

b. The legal regulated rent for purposes of determining an overcharge is the rent indicated in the annual registration statement filed and served upon the tenant six years prior to the most recent registration statement, or, if more recently filed, the initial registration statement, plus in each case any subsequent lawful increases and adjustments. The commissioner, in investigating complaints of overcharge and in determining legal regulated rent, shall consider all available rent history which is reasonably necessary to make such determinations. As to complaints filed within 90 days of the initial registration of a commercial space, the legal regulated rent is deemed to be the rent charged on the date six years prior to the date of the initial registration of the commercial space or, if the commercial space was subject to this chapter for less than six years, the initial legal regulated rent, plus in each case, any lawful increases and adjustments. Where the rent charged on the date six years prior to the date of the initial registration of the commercial space cannot be established, such rent shall be established by the commissioner based on, among other things, the factors set forth in paragraph one of subdivision f of section 22-1203.

c. Complaints under this section may be filed with the commissioner at any time, however any recovery of overcharge penalties shall be limited to the six years preceding the complaint.

d. An owner found to have overcharged a tenant may be assessed the reasonable costs and attorney's fees of the proceeding and interest from the initial date of the overcharge at the rate of interest payable on a judgment pursuant to section 5004 of the civil practice laws and rules.

e. A tenant may, upon the expiration of the period in which the owner may institute a proceeding pursuant to article 78 of the civil practice law and rules, file and enforce an order of the commissioner awarding penalties in the same manner as a judgment.

f. The commissioner shall enforce the provisions of this section and is authorized to issue rules and regulations pursuant to this section.

§ 22-1206 Rent registration. a. Each owner of a commercial space subject to the provisions of this chapter shall register such space with the administering agency within 120 days of the effective date of the local law that added this chapter using forms prescribed by the commissioner. The information to be provided on such forms shall include the following:

- 1. The name and address of the building or group of buildings or development in which such commercial space is located and the tenant thereof;*
- 2. The number of commercial spaces belonging to such owner in the building or group of buildings or development in which such commercial space is located;*
- 3. The number of commercial spaces in such building or group of buildings or development subject to the provisions of this chapter;*
- 4. The rent for the commercial space charged on the registration date; and*
- 5. The square footage of each commercial space named pursuant to paragraph 1 of this subdivision.*

§ 22-1207 Fees. a. The department of finance shall collect from the owner of each commercial space registered pursuant to section 22-1206 an annual fee in the amount of $100 per year for each commercial space subject to this law, in order to defray costs incurred in administering this law.

b. Failure to pay the fee imposed by subdivision a of this section constitutes a charge due to the city. All such fees due to the city constitute a debt recoverable from the owner and the city may commence an action or proceeding, file a lien upon the building or take any other lawful action for the recovery of such fees.
