Overdose Deaths Among White New Yorkers, 2021

763 White New Yorkers died of a drug overdose.

Rates of overdose death among White New Yorkers were the highest among males and people ages 35 to 54.

Brooklyn had the largest number of overdose deaths among White residents.

Source: Overdose mortality data were limited to people ages 15 to 84 and taken from the New York City Office of the Chief Medical Examiner and New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene’s Bureau of Vital Statistics, 2021. Analysis by Bureau of Alcohol, Drug Use, Prevention, Care and Treatment. Data for 2021 are provisional and subject to change.